I say to you that if you are sincere men,—and I know that individually you are—let us see whether you are sincere men collectively and let us vote to put these amendments into the bill and, thereby, rid this State of something with which it should have never been afflicted, an act of the Legislature which gives the communities the right to tax anybody or anything that walks, breathes, flies or crawls.

I want to say that if you are sincere in your effort to relieve the counties outside of Philadelphia, join me in my sincerity, and Senator Lane in his, in relieving the communities which are now being taxed and the residents of the communities who are being taxed, although nonresidents of the taxing community.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. I ask a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

I suppose that the sponsors of this bill must have consulted with somebody or they would not have put in this piece of legislation. I would suggest they get in touch with Miss Blatt so that they might be able to answer my questions next week.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, who is the chairman of this committee?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Harney is the chairman. He is not at his desk at the moment.

Mr. BARR. I guess we will have to wait until he comes back. I cannot speak for him. I know Senator Harney will be glad to have Miss Blatt come before the committee and the bill will be held until such time as that can be arranged. Is that a gentleman's agreement?

Mr. PECHAN. We will let the bill go over until next Monday, until next week, Mr. President.

The House met at 2:00 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Dr. Orville J. Fleming, Pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Creator and Ruler of mankind, as we bow our heads before Thee, we offer our thanks for this great Commonwealth and those who lead in this state.

We humbly begin the work of this week remembering our weakness and limitations. We read in Thy word That the Lord gives wisdom; from His mouth comes knowledge and understanding.

Now we pray for these representative leaders of our state as they approach their task, that wisdom may come unto their hearts, discretion watch over them and understanding guard them. May they have desire and determination to do the will of God and so execute His purposes in this state.

We earnestly pray in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. P. G. MURRAY.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 712, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 33 of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 468) entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department * * *" by changing the percentages of payments to be withheld by the Secretary of Highways pending satisfactory completion of contracts for the construction of State highways and bridges and by providing for payment of interest on amount withheld and on final payment.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 33) page 11, lines 5, 6 and 7 by striking out "or after the work under the contract has" in line 5, all of line 6 and "be" in line 7 and inserting in lieu thereof "and accepted by the Department of Highways."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. JOHNSON.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1278, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system, etc. . . ." providing for the employment of professional and temporary professional employees of county boards of school directors regulating the employment dismissal suspension and demotion of such employees and providing for their rights and obligations.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman please explain the meaning of this bill for the information of the Members of the House?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in the 1955-1956 session we put in and the Governor signed a bill for the expansion of education of handicapped children, both physically and mentally handicapped children. Under that act quite a program was set up.

If a school district did not have a large enough class to put in the program itself, the act contained provisions for setting up classes on a county-wide basis.

That particular thing happened in Blair County, and I suppose in a lot of other third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties. In Altoona, it being a second class school district, the same as most of the other third class cities are, a good many of them, we had enough to form our own class. But outside of the city, and I suppose the same has occurred—in fact, I know it has—in many of the other counties throughout the state, the school districts were so small that they did not have enough pupils to set up special classes in a particular district. Therefore, they had to set them up on a county-wide basis, taking in all the school districts in the county.

When they came to employ teachers for those county-wide classes, the applicants for teaching jobs asked whether or not there was tenure. Of course, the answer was that there was not, because there is no provision under the Tenure Act for teachers as it exists today providing for tenure on a county-wide basis. It is simply on a school district basis alone.

This bill would put tenure on a county-wide basis. It takes care of this class of teachers for these mentally and physically handicapped children.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman for his very clear explanation.

I regret his absence last week when the bill was called up for final passage, I think if he had been here and we had understood more fully what it meant, the bill probably would have passed.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, on the record I have no alibi, but off the record I do. That is the best I can say to the Members of the House.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODLING. I am sorry I am not quite as well informed on the bill as the Minority Leader is with your explanation, Mr. Auker.

I do not know if I am for or against the bill and I want some information. On page 2 of the bill, Section 2, "for a limited time," would we be discriminating against the regular teachers under this bill with that wording?

Mr. AUKER. No, Mr. Speaker. This bill is to take care of this particular class. There is an entirely new section added to the Act of 1949, known as the "Public School Code of 1949." This entire bill merely copies the limitations, and so forth, set up for tenure and as exists under the School Code of 1949. In other words, before teachers can get tenure under this bill they must go through practically the same process as they have to go through now for tenure under the School Code of 1949.

Mr. GOODLING. They do not serve the same probationary period as a regular teacher, is that correct?

Mr. AUKER. I understand they do. I am not too familiar with the School Code of 1949, but I understand this is the same provision that exists under the School Code of 1949, the same probationary period. If the gentleman will read through the bill thoroughly, he will find that those limitations, ratings, and so forth, are all set up.

Mr. GOODLING. As I read this bill, on page 4 they are to be rated on the "last four months of the second year of such service." That is in lines 2 and 3 of page 4. The regular teacher, as I recall, must serve a probationary period of two full years. I believe that is correct.

Mr. AUKER. That I am sorry to say I cannot answer.

Mr. GOODLING. As I read the bill hurriedly, I believe we are discriminating against the full-time teachers, inasmuch as we are not requiring as much of a probationary period as we are for the full-time teacher.

I think we should know that before we can vote intelligently on this bill.

Those are all the questions I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the questions which were raised by the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling, I believe can be cleared up without any difficulty.

I am not sure that Mr. Auker's bill covers the item word for word as it exists in the present school law, but teachers at the present time teaching in a school district are rated by the county superintendent of the respective county and by the particular superintendent of schools of the respective city each year at the end of the year, and teachers teach for three years on a certificate and are rated each year to the department when they are making a certificate permanent.

Now, teachers teach for two years on a probationary period, using the term literally, if that answers Mr. Goodling's question. I did not quite hear all of it because I was interrupted, but I caught the last part of his questions to Mr. Auker. This does not, in my opinion, discriminate against any of the teachers on the county-wide plan employed by the county directors. I believe it gives them the same rights which exist in school districts at the present time.

Does that answer the gentleman's question, sir?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, in further clarification of the language of the bill to which the gentleman from York has addressed himself, particularly to page 4, lines 2 and 3. That language, as I understand it—means that at the end of the second year of these temporary employes of the county school board the superintendent of the county board will certify the professional competency of the particular temporary employee.

At the end of the two year period, the impermanency of employment having been completed, that professional employe of the county board then will come under the permanent clause of the Tenure Act and be a full-time permanent professional employee.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. JOHNSON.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of Senate Bill No. 327, entitled:

An Act authorizing the board of directors of railroad companies to constitute an executive committee from among their number and conferring such authority upon the committee as the board shall provide

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have made diligent inquiry of a number of persons in whom I have confidence and I am convinced that after all the proponents of this measure were not engaged in an attempt to commit some kind of legislative murder.

Therefore, I changed my mind and I will support the bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I notice it is a Senate Bill, but I believe someone in the House called it up and I would like to interrogate that gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman explain to the House whether railroads are incorporated under the General Business Corporation Law of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, they are not.

Mr. GELFAND. Can the gentleman explain to the House why railroads are not incorporated under the General Business Corporation Law of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe there is a separate act having to do with railroad companies.

Mr. GELFAND. I am aware of that. The gentleman answered that question before. My question is, why?

Mr. JOHNSON. Your question is why is there a special act in incorporating railroad companies?

Mr. GELFAND. That is right, sir.

Mr. JOHNSON. I presume that historically railroads played such a unique part in the development of Pennsylvania—in fact, the history of Pennsylvania is really the history of our railroad system—that the Legislature in its wisdom decided to pass special acts concerning them, because they are a public utility and are engaged in a vital necessity, that of transportation.

Mr. GELFAND. Then the gentleman would say that railroads are incorporated under special laws because they are vested with the public interest.

Mr. JOHNSON. Railroads are a public utility and that is the definition of a public utility, that to be one they must be affected with a public interest and the public has an interest in the use, that is right.

Mr. GELFAND. Does the gentleman know how many directors are required in an ordinary business corporation? Does the gentleman know what the General Business Corporation Law says about directors?

Mr. JOHNSON. Your question is, what does the Business Corporation Act of 1933 require as a minimum board of directors? I believe it is three.

Mr. GELFAND. Does the gentleman know what the Act dealing with the incorporation of railroads requires in so far as directors are concerned?

Mr. JOHNSON. I am sorry, the figure 10 is in my mind, but I could be wrong on that.

Mr. GELFAND. As a matter of enlightenment, I will advise him that the Act requires 12.

Mr. JOHNSON. Twelve. Yes, I knew it was 10 or 12.

Mr. GELFAND. Does the gentleman know what the General Business Corporation Law requires with regard to a quorum at a meeting of directors, under the General Business Corporation Law of 1933?

Mr. JOHNSON. Your question is, under the Corporation Code of 1933 what would a quorum be?

Mr. GELFAND. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe it would be a simple majority of those present.

Mr. GELFAND. Is the gentleman aware that there is a specific provision in the Act regarding railroads as to how many are required for a quorum of the board of directors?

Mr. JOHNSON. If the gentleman has that answer, I would like to have him state it.

Mr. GELFAND. The answer is that the Act under which railroads are incorporated specifically says there must be seven directors, or six directors, plus the president of the corporation.

Can the gentleman give us any reason why there should be this difference between railroads and a general business corporation?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say this, the original Railroad Act was passed at any early time in the history of our country and railroads occupied a unique position in our field of transportation.

No doubt the act attempted to throw safeguards around that particular enterprise. I believe the reason for the rule no longer exists today and the law could well be amended to place railroads on the same basis as a business corporation. I can see no reason today for the difference.

Mr. GELFAND. Is the gentleman stating that railroads are no longer vested with a public interest?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, I did not say that. Railroads are vested with a public interest, so is truck transportation and so is airplane travel. We have a greater field of competition today in the field of transportation than we had in 1874, when the original Railroad Act was passed.

Mr. GELFAND. Would the gentleman say there still is some reason to protect the public in so far as railroads and utilities are concerned, whereas it may not be necessary in so far as private business enterprises are concerned?

Mr. JOHNSON. The public today is protected through the rule of the Public Utility Commission Act, which is of recent vintage considering the Railroad Act.

I would say the number of directors that a railroad might have or not have today would be more a protection to the shareholders rather than to the public, because I think the public is adequately protected by the regulation of the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. GELFAND. The gentleman said more as a protection for the shareholders. Will the gentleman advise us who selects the board of directors?

Mr. JOHNSON. The shareholders would in the election of a board of directors.

Mr. GELFAND. Would the gentleman say in the election of a board of directors by the shareholders that the shareholders are delegating authority to the directors?

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is axiomatic.

Mr. GELFAND. Is the gentleman acquainted with the principles of the law of agency?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say that I am reasonably acquainted with the rule of respondeat superior.

Mr. GELFAND. Is it customary for an agent to be able to delegate authority which a principal has delegated to an agent without the principal's permission?

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not believe you are speaking into the microphone. I am just wondering whether your questions are germane to the subject?

Mr. GELFAND. I am positive my questions are germane to the subject. If the gentleman will listen to the inquiry, I am sure he will know they are, also.

In a situation where a principal delegates authority to an agent, is it permissible for the agent thereafter without the principal's authority, to delegate the authority which has been delegated to him as agent?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say it depends on the type of agency established. Some are for a limited purpose, some would conceivably be for a general purpose and the agent would have the right to substitute others and expand his authority to others. I believe that is right. The original donor could give the agent that power.

Mr. GELFAND. If the donor does not give the agent the power to delegate the authority, that is, the shareholder does not give it to a director, does the agent thereafter have the power to delegate the authority which has been granted to him?

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not believe that is the question before us. The question before us is whether this Legislature, as we have in the business code, will permit an executive board to operate.

Mr. GELFAND. If you will, Mr. Johnson, please answer the question yes or no. We are not debating the question, I am merely making a query to which I would like a yes or no answer.

Mr. JOHNSON. Would you please restate your question?

Mr. GELFAND. My question was, where a principal delegates authority to an agent to act on his behalf, does the agent thereafter have the power to delegate that same authority? A simple answer of yes or no is required.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say it depends on the nature of the agency. In a strict type of agency where it is a personal matter between the principal and agent, I would say the agent could not delegate his authority in a personal service contract.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, those are all the questions I have.

As apparent from this interrogation, railroads have always had a peculiar position in our community in that they are vested with a public interest. They have been under regulation for a long time by the Public Utility Commission, as the gentleman says. Because of the requirements of the economy, railroads have more than been controlled and regulated by the Public Utility Commission, but they have historically been created under separate corporation laws.

To that effect we have a special corporation law which deals with the organization and operation of railroads in Pennsylvania. Generally, all other corporations are regulated, organized and incorporated, under the business corporation laws of Pennsylvania under the Act of 1933, which provides for the election of directors and all the other particular activities and operations of the corporation. This general business corporation law of 1933 indicates there shall be only three directors required, although the by-laws and the articles of the general business corporation can require more.

However, the Act under which railroads are incorporated requires 12 directors. These are required because of the peculiar position which railroads play in the community. The Act even goes further in that it requires there be seven members of the board present to make up a quorum. This is because, historically, railroads have operated through their board of directors. So you see, on the one hand, a railroad corporation is effected with the public interest and regulated separately. In addition to that, inasmuch as it is a corporation, it also has to have a certain amount of responsibility to its shareholders who elect the directors.

The reason for my query to Mr. Johnson about directors having a right to delegate the authority from the shareholders is this, if they operate under the principles of agency, which is a common field of law, one of the basic principles of agency is that if a principal gives certain power, delegates certain authority, to his agent, the agent thereafter cannot delegate that power to a separate person, the reason being that the principal relies on the agent's judgment, skill and knowledge.

What we are doing here is making a change in the railroad law. This law is evidence of the fact that railroads are affected with a public interest, and what we are doing now is when a shareholder elects a certain group of men to a board of directors we are saying that that board of directors upon whom the shareholder and upon whom the community relies to exercise its judgment, skill and knowledge can thereafter delegate that same right to a small group of men. This, I think, is unwise, because it will give tight control to a small body of men within the board of directors and will take away from both the public and the shareholders their ability to control their own corporations.

For these reasons I would suggest that this bill be voted down.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, last week I argued against the passage of this bill, but after giving it more thought I concluded I was in error in taking that position for the reason that I believe the minority shareholders' and the minority members' of the board of directors rights are protected, even though this bill should become law.

I must take issue with the gentleman from Philadelphia who has so ably argued his side of the matter. I agree that railroad business is a business vested with the public interest, as are many others. However this bill does not allow the board of directors who are selected by the shareholders to absolve themselves of all liability for the acts of the persons they may designate to act in accordance with the resolution they adopt. The directors are still liable for the actions of that smaller group and they also have the right to take away the authority delegated to a smaller group, whether it be two, three, or four.

Furthermore, the minority shareholders can at any time go into court and seek relief, if either the board of directors or a smaller group, as provided for in this bill, should do anything illegal or improper as far as that corporation's affairs are concerned.

I was not aware last week when I was arguing this matter that the Corporation Code of 1933 has allowed this to be done with other business corporations. I now understand that is the fact. To my knowledge, there has been no abuse of the power given under the Act of 1933. So long as the directors selected by the shareholders remain the persons liable for the propriety of the acts taken by them or by any of the people working under them, whether they be other directors or other employees, I see no harm that can come from changing the law in this respect.

I am, therefore, asking the Members on this side, who can see fit to do so, to vote for this bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, unlike Mr. Andrews, my suspicions have not been allayed and I, therefore, would like to pose a question.

If the Act setting up railroad companies specifically prohibits the board of directors by resolution from setting up an executive committee to do the work of the board, it seems to me that that particular Act should be amended. I think if there was no provision in the Corporation Code of Pennsylvania, the proper procedure would be to amend that Code. I cannot, for the life of me—and it is the reason why I am a little suspicious—see why we do not amend the Railroad Act.

I would appreciate it if the Majority Leader would explain that to me, if he can, why the Railroad Act is not amended to allow the board of directors by resolution to do this?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the law today, of course, there is more than one act which refers to railroad corporations. This bill goes on to say that any railroad incorporated by any special act, or general act, shall have the power to do business through an executive board.

As I understand the law of railroad corporations today, there is no prohibition in the Act which says you cannot do business through an executive board, but there is no specific power in the Act saying you can.

What this bill does is to provide that a railroad corporation can do business through an executive committee. In this day and age with the intricacies of business, the details which now go into managing a business, the tremendous tax burdens, and everything it seems expedient that they should be allowed to do business that way so they can have maybe one executive committee which would handle, say, taxation matters alone and another which would handle I. C. C. matters. The average large railroad corporation today is in and out of the Interstate Commerce Commission practically every week on different matters.

What this bill is designed to do is to give the power which is not presently prohibited but apparently is absent today. That is the way I understand it.

Mr. McCORMACK. My question, Mr. Speaker, is this: Why do we not amend the particular act creating railroad companies by giving them that power rather than by passing a special act which has no relation to the Railroad Company Act. Why do we not do it that way, which is, I submit, more logical?

Mr. JOHNSON. The answer is we all know that before the Constitution of 1874 we had just many, many, many acts incorporating specific companies. That is the situation that obtains in many of the railroad Acts today. I suppose you could go through our compact of laws today, you would have to, of course, and amend each individual law. This, I grant you, is a blanket authorization that any railroad corporation organized under a special act or under general law would be allowed to do business through an executive committee.

Mr. McCORMACK. The reason, as I understand it, Mr. Speaker, is that it would require an amendment to many different acts if we were to amend the railroad company acts?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is as I understand it.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, as a point of clarification, Mr. Johnson is correct when he says that many companies were organized under separate corporation acts prior to the passage of general corporation laws.

Unfortunately for him, he is incorrect on this point because there is a railroad act, I think the date is 1898, if I am accurate, which provides for the incorporation of railroads and which could be easily be amended if that were the policy to be followed.

Also, I would like to clarify one other point he has made, and that is this. There is a proviso in that Act which says that executive committees cannot be appointed from the board of directors because it specifically provides that no action of the board of directors shall be taken unless a majority of the board of directors is present—rather, I should say, a quorum, and a quorum is seven.

Also, I think he is getting his corporate law a little confused because all corporations have both directors and officers. The officers are those who handle the general operation of the corporation on a day-to-day basis, and those are the groups that would necessarily go before the Public Utility Commission, the Railroad Tariff Commission, and so forth. The board of directors rarely goes before those commissions. That is another reason why I think this bill should be voted down, because the board of directors is there to give its conglomerate viewpoint and exercise its full judgment, not to delegate its right of judgment to another smaller group.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, none of the proponents of this bill have as yet advanced one single reason why there is a pressing need, if there is a pressing need, for this type of legislation. In view of the fact that this represents such a radical departure from what has been the established law of this Commonwealth, I am indeed very hesitant and reluctant to go along with this type of bill.

I feel there is an even more compelling reason for voting against this bill. I think all the lawyers who are Members of this House will agree that the heart and the mind of any corporation is its board of directors. The board members by their combined knowledge and interchange of ideas run the business which has been placed in their hands by the shareholders.

If we are going to vest two or three men who have been designated by a board with the power to completely run a business—and this bill does give them that power—then we are eliminating the voice of the minority director, we are eliminating the opinions, the valued comments, which might be made and which might be enlightening, which could be of assistance in helping the board to reach an intelligent decision. In other words, if you have 12 men sitting down around a table to decide a course of action upon a policy for that business, through the interchange of ideas they will eventually conclude what is the best course of action for that corporation to take. But, if you give this same power to only two men, as can be done under this bill, then you are depriving the other 12 men on that board from adding their comments and hoping the corporation will adopt a course of action that they are recommending.

It is for these reasons that I am going to vote against this bill.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. JOHNSON.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of Senate Bill No. 559, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "Liquor Code" permitting liquor licensees to elect to operate under daylight saving time when such time is generally being observed in that municipality.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill which was defeated last Thursday by a short House. Some of the Members were not here and I merely want to state briefly the purpose of this bill.

This bill permits a licensee to elect when he shall open, whether it will be one hour before the so-called legal time or at the legal time.

I said on Thursday this was a bill which would create confusion in the enforcement of the law, and I repeat that statement today.

I said on Thursday this bill was primarily intended to get money from men who are leaving the mills on a late hour shift. I repeat that statement today.

I do not think this bill is in the public interest and, therefore, I believe it should be defeated a second time.

Mr. LOVETT. May I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman admit, Mr. Speaker, that Daylight Saving Time is a law which confuses everybody?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I am only debating the bill today, not Daylight Saving Time.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if Daylight Saving Time is not the effect of this original bill?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not think so.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not feel that due to the fact that we have Daylight Saving Time this bill is now before us?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. No. As far as I can see, the men who leave mills have their time adjusted according to the time of the community in which they work.

In truth, the purpose of this bill is a mystery to me. I can visualize under the existing law today where a licensee can own two taverns, one he will have on the regular time and the other one he will have on the other time so he will get the late-goers and the early-goers both. I cannot see any necessity for this bill whatsoever.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that licensees had those taverns in the same community?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. It is possible under the law today.

Mr. LOVETT. Under this present law that you are trying to pass now he would have to operate under the time set in that community, is that not correct?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Under the law today a man can have two licenses, the only provision is that he would have to have a manager in the other place.

Mr. LOVETT. But he would have to operate both of his establishments on the same law, is that not correct?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. No, each license is separate and apart.

Mr. LOVETT. But if the time in that particular community is Daylight Saving Time, he must operate under Daylight Saving Time, and if it is Standard Time, he must operate under Standard Time, if he has made that request.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I am satisfied if everybody in the same community operates under the same time, but I do not want the man in your town opening his tavern or closing his tavern at a different hour than his competitor across the street. I say that the police department, which receives reimbursement from the state, and the Liquor Control Board would be better aided in law enforcement if they had regularity and uniformity of time. That is the reason why the bill is not a good bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman not agree that if we had uniform time throughout the state of Pennsylvania it would be much better for everybody?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. As far as I am concerned, I would like to have uniform Daylight Saving Time, but I know some people who are farmers do not like it. When we have the issue before the House, I will be glad to vote in accordance with my convictions.

Mr. LOVETT. But will the gentleman not agree that Daylight Saving Time is one of the main principles in this particular bill?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not, and I do not think the question is material.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, to my mind, the fact that we have Daylight Saving Time is the reason we have this question before us at all. If we had Standard Time throughout the state, we would not have this question before us at this time.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 543, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 30, 1915 (P. L. 34) entitled "An act to promote the health and efficiency of firemen in cities of the second class * * *" further regulating the hours of duty of firemen in cities of the second class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if this bill prescribes the maximum hours firemen may work each week?

Mr. VAUGHAN. At the present time, Mr. Speaker, they are working 55 hours. This bill would be a 48 hour bill, they would work 48 hours.

Mr. KAMYK. My question is, Mr. Speaker, under his bill would they work 48 hours each week?

Mr. VAUGHAN. No. No.

Mr. KAMYK. If this bill should pass, how many days each week would a fireman in Pittsburgh work during the day?

Mr. VAUGHAN. During the week he worked day turn, he would work 40 hours.

Mr. KAMYK. How many hours per day?

Mr. VAUGHAN. Ten hours per day.

Mr. KAMYK. That would mean four days a week?

Mr. VAUGHAN. That is correct.

Mr. KAMYK. If this bill should pass, how many nights would a fireman work?

Mr. VAUGHAN. He would work four nights a week, 14 hours a night, 56 hours a week.

Mr. KAMYK. It is true, then, that if this bill passes the firemen in Pittsburgh will be off three days out of every seven throughout the year?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I do not know about that, Mr. Speaker. I think under the existing law they could be for three consecutive days. Is that what you are referring to?

Mr. KAMYK. That is right.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Three consecutive days?

Mr. KAMYK. Three days—

Mr. VAUGHAN. I doubt that. I doubt that.

Mr. KAMYK. I did not say consecutive days. He would be off three days a week.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Certainly he would be off. I am taking it for granted he would. Remember, he has already finished his 48 hours for that week, or 56 rather during the night and 40 during the day.

Mr. KAMYK. In simple mathematics, if a man works 10 hours per day for four days, that is 40 hours, and that is the maximum time he can work during the day. So that leaves him three "off" days during the week.

Mr. VAUGHAN. That is right, and that is exactly what our state employes are working now, 40 hours a week, and that is what the firemen will be working, 40 hours a week.

Mr. KAMYK. At night they are working 14 hours a day to put in their 56 hours, which would take four days, and then they would get three full days off during the week?

Mr. VAUGHAN. That is right, but they would still be putting in 56 hours for that week.

Mr. KAMYK. I would also like to ask the gentleman, in his opinion, what would this reduction of hours cost the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. VAUGHAN. From the figures I have received—and I believe every Member of this House received a letter to that effect—breaking down the working hours which were worked in 1951 and 1952, keeping the same manpower, if they will go back to that system, it would not cost the city of Pittsburgh one penny.

Mr. KAMYK. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, in principle I am not opposed to shorter hours for any group, but I am opposed to the enactment of House Bill 543.

This bill has been advertised and labeled as a 48 hour bill. But this is a misnomer, it should be labeled a four day week bill.

At the present time firemen in Pittsburgh work a week day turn followed by a week night turn, then back to day turn, and so on. Under the present schedule set in May of 1953, or shortly thereafter, while on day turn a fireman works 10 hours per day for four days. He has three off days during his day turn week. He then works night turn, five nights at 14 hours per night, a total of 70 hours. During his night turn week, therefore, he has but two days off. Thus in a two week period, a Pittsburgh fireman has five days off, under the present plan.

If this bill is passed the fireman will work only four nights on his night turn week, which will result in a four day week every week of the year. The city of Pittsburgh will be losing one man per 14 hour shift every other week, or seven hours per man per week.

Careful figuring by experienced and qualified personnel has indicated that the cost of replacement in manpower to the city of Pittsburgh will amount to over $600,000.

The sponsor contends otherwise, so I move to recommit House Bill 543 to the Committee from whence it came for further study. I repeat, for further study, as I have no intention of killing this bill, but I think that maybe the proponents and the opponents can get together and we may get some results.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities—Counties—First-Second and Second Class A for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker. I rise to oppose this motion because the city of Philadelphia has 48 hours, the city of Duquesne has 48 hours for their firemen, and I think at least the city of Pittsburgh firemen are entitled to their chance and their day off in Allegheny County.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote, fifty-four Members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred eight in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask the House to pass this bill on the grounds that we here today are not acting as just a House of Representatives where somebody has come and asked for something that is not fair. We are sitting here today more or less as a higher court where these gentlemen or the firefighters from the city of Pittsburgh, are seeking this through an appeal. They went to city council, in the city, they went to the mayor, and they have been turned down.

A lot of people say it is home rule. I do not feel that this is a case into which home rule enters. These men are asking for a 48 hour week based on a two-week period.

I do not believe any other city employe, or county employe, or borough employe, throughout the state is forced to work more than 48 hours a week. The Pittsburgh firefighters are in a class, I would say, of very hazardous work. When they work, they work hard, and it is very hazardous work.

You people on the other side of the House, supposedly, in all your campaigns up and down the state said you were for the little man. Well, here is a chance for you to show if you really are for the little man. Here are 1,085 firemen in the city who want nothing more than what the average man in any walk of life has.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I again rise to oppose this bill.

First of all, I want to oppose it on the home rule principle because the city administration has the right to set the hours at the present time. Since they will have to make provisions to pay the bill, they should also have the right to set the time for their employes. Therefore, on the home rule principle I am opposing this bill.

Also, the sponsor of this bill says it will not cost the city of Pittsburgh any money. By simple mathematics I know if you have 1,053 men working 14 hours less every two weeks, then either the city of Pittsburgh will become more hazardous, as far as fires are concerned, to its citizens and their safety, the safety of the citizens of Pittsburgh will be jeopardized, or the administration will have to find $616,000 to pay this bill. So, in my opinion, the argument that it will not cost the city of Pittsburgh any money is rather silly.

To give you some statistics, there are 142 captains in the city Fire Department and 929 hose and ladder men, a total of 1,071 men. Eighteen of these men are doing special detail, so that leaves 1,053 firefighters. Each firefighter under this bill would work seven hours a week less, so the city of Pittsburgh through its firefighting personnel would lose 7,371 hours a week. For a two-week period that would be 14,742 hours. If each man works 96 hours in a two-week period and 14,742 hours are lost, by simple mathematics it will take 154 men working 96 hours in two weeks to replace the work hours lost. One hundred and fifty-four new men in a year would cost $4,000 for each man, so that is simply $616,000.

So, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I ask you for sincere consideration of this bill and I hope you can oppose it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I think we may have a solution to this bill if the sponsor can come up with an idea where they could ban fires for three days of each week.

Mr. VAUGHN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Kamyk, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAMYK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VAUGHAN. If he can, Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me how much money the city of Pittsburgh saved, the Fire Department saved, last year in not filling vacancies for the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. KAMYK. I do not have any idea.

Mr. VAUGHAN. If you do not have the figures, the figures are that just in vacancies alone, they saved the department $155,137 last year.

Further, Mr. Speaker, I would like to state for the record that I did not state that it would not cost the city of Pittsburgh one penny, it was the word of the firefighters and their economist, that it would not cost the city of Pittsburgh one penny. They have given every Member of this House a system of how they would work them so, there would not be any additional money added to the expenses.

Therefore, I ask the members of this House to give these firemen of Pittsburgh 48 hours.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me sometimes I have spent half of my adult life trying to adjudicate matters of local dispute in our two large metropolitan cities.

I think we have trouble enough here trying to serve as a General Assembly without endeavoring to function as a city council for Pittsburgh, all the boroughs, Philadelphia and every other community which has a local quarrel and for which it has the machinery to adjudicate. It is in derogation of our dignity as a legislative assembly that we should serve as a municipal council. That is what we are asked to do.

The attention we give to these local affairs, if we took the time that we spend considering them could be devoted to better purpose, if we gave our attention to matters of state-wide import.

I have actually been asked during the last three weeks to sponsor a measure that would regulate the coffee breaks in city hall in Pittsburgh. Yes!

If we keep going at this pace, taking up every local quarrel, that is what we will be doing, regulating coffee breaks.

So I am saying to the rural Members particularly, these large cities have the machinery to adjudicate their local matters and it is an imposition to bring these quarrels here, these local differences which can properly be settled only by the representatives who legislate for and on behalf of these cities.

I hope we will give some credence to the doctrine of home rule in which I believe, and now is the time to take a stand and say to Pittsburgh, to Philadelphia, to Harrisburg and to everybody else, take your local affairs back home and settle them on a local basis.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, you do not see me up in front of the microphone very often. I am a labor man and all my life I have been fighting for shorter hours, better wages—all my life—and it was really an uphill fight all the way.

I do not like to enter into politics on a question of this kind, and the Members of this House should dismiss the idea. But I cannot keep from saying that this is the smallest political bill I have ever debated.

You know, in Pittsburgh we are having an election of a city administration, a mayor, nine councilmen and other minor positions. There is where this question belongs. There is where the firefighters should put up their fight, as I understand they did. No. They came here to the General Assembly—see, we only have 28 Members from Allegheny County. Those 28 ought to be pretty familiar with the tax situation as it confronts the people of Allegheny County and especially the city of Pittsburgh. Out of the 210 at least 182 Members of this House are sitting here to decide and tell the taxpayers of Pittsburgh, the mayor and the city council what they can do and what they cannot do. I want you to think of it from that standpoint. Suppose this bill affected your own community.

Let the people, as the previous speaker said, take the responsibility they were elected for and let these questions come before them. Those were the people who would be confronted with the situation and would understand it. How many Members out of the 182 who do not live in Allegheny County are familiar enough with this tax situation as it confronts Pittsburgh to vote intelligently on this bill and be satisfied they have done a good, fair job?

If I were one of you, I would say, I do not know—if I were one of those who lived outside of Allegheny County.

I am asking you for your consideration along those lines. Let the city officials of Pittsburgh assume their own responsibility, why do we want to be loaded with them?

In one remark made here trying to embarrass the Democrats, the gentleman said, I thought you were for the little fellow. Ask any man who has been working for a living since 1935, he will tell you who has been for the little man. The record proves that 100 percent, and you cannot deny it. I know you do not like it, it is embarrassing, but that is the case and you cannot get away from it. The little man has constantly been taken care of by the Democratic party. That is their slogan and that is what they have been doing in the past. You know where you stand and what you have done in the past—

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. The gentleman is not speaking on the bill and I object to his remarks.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not speaking on the bill. The Chair would request the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard, to confine his remarks to the bill before the House.

Mr. LEONARD. I thank you, but I answered the remark already made to which there were no objections. That is the reason for my statement.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to move that the remarks of the speaker that the Republican party is never for the little man be stricken from the record.

The SPEAKER. The motion is not in order at this time.

The gentleman from Allegheny has the floor and will proceed. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the membership to consider the plight you put the Pittsburgh administration in if this applied to your particular district. We will see later just how you feel about handling cases that affect other people. Be sure your conscience will be clear and vote the way you think is right, and I am sure you will vote our way.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, we of the Philadelphia delegation are very much in sympathy with the firemen of Pittsburgh. However, we feel this problem should be settled on a local basis, and for that reason we of the Philadelphia delegation are going to vote against this measure.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state that there are some of us on this side of the House who are opposed to this bill, not because of the arguments advanced by the other side, but rather in spite of them.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not rising to oppose concurrence by the Democratic Members in these Senate amendments, but before the vote is taken I think it should be pointed out that after House Bill 1040 arrived in the Senate considerable thought was given to certain amendments suggested by the administration through the Attorney General's office.

To my knowledge, there were at least four or five conferences held with the Attorney General and representatives of the Senate and the House to discuss the possibility of further procedural amendments to the Sales Tax Act. Some of the items were agreed to and a considerable number of changes were made in the procedural sections of the Sales Tax Act. The Democratic Members meeting with that committee were not satisfied with the bill as finally amended by the Senate and now before us. Some of the suggestions made by the Attorney General's office to put more teeth into the enforcement sections of the Sales Tax Act were rejected by the controlling group in the Senate.

Another amendment was made, which is now in the bill before us, in which the word "assigns" was added to the section relating to tax refunds by taxpayers who felt they had overpaid the tax and were claiming they were entitled to a refund. The inclusion of this word could lead to some very unpleasant conclusions. Corporations having alleged claims against the Commonwealth for refunds could sell those claims and assign them to persons who might be interested in going about buying them for the purpose of trying to realize the full amount of the claim.

Other amendments suggested, such as the one relating to the taxability of equipment of a contractor who is doing mainly construction work for utilities, were rejected.

However, House Bill 1040, in my opinion, does make the Sales Tax Act a great deal more enforceable and sensible, and for that reason I am urging the Democratic Members of the House to vote for this bill, even though, in our opinion, it is far from what it should be.

I have reason to believe that another bill will probably be introduced in either the House or the Senate taking out of the law that word "assigns." We had asked that it be done in this bill and that has been refused, but it is my hope that such a bill will be introduced and will be passed so that we do not run into a lot of trouble in the future with the assignment of claims to speculators.

I am, therefore, suggesting to the Democratic Members that we do concur in the Senate amendments in the House Bill 1040.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Floor Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, my memory is getting a little foggy over the many years as a legislator.

This House Bill 1040 we now have before us is the bill we had in this House that you were in such a hurry to get to the Senate of Pennsylvania and get to the Governor's desk before we recessed for Easter, is that correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would further like to ask the gentleman if the original printer's number was 216?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is right, it has been amended three different times.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if at that time the bill contained two pages?

Mr. JOHNSON. Scarcely one page.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman further if the next printer's number was 243?

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is correct.

Mr. LOVETT. And at that time the bill contained 30 pages?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct. The bill was amended here at 11 o'clock at night and then copies of the bill, as amended, were mailed to every Member of this House the next day when it was printed.

Mr. LOVETT. The gentleman has answered the next question, because I was going to ask if that is the 30 pages we sent to the Senate.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is correct. The second printer's number would be when we amended it on that particular evening and sent it over to the Senate and mailed all Members copies of the bill.

Mr. LOVETT. We then have Printer's No. 254, which amendments then applied to the Senate, if I am correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is correct. I believe those amendments were placed in the bill in the Senate Committee before the bill was released to the floor and then the final printer's number which we have before us today were amendments inserted in the bill on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman if at that time the bill contained 24 pages?

Mr. JOHNSON. That could be correct, if you have the bill in front of you.

Mr. LOVETT. Now we have Printer's No. 312, and the bill contains 25 pages, is that correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is probably correct.

Mr. LOVETT. Let me say to the gentleman and to the Members, I do not do this in order to plague Mr. Johnson or the Members on that side of the House. I am in sympathy with Mr. Johnson and the Members on that side of the House.

I want to be very careful that I do not insult Senate Members because it is a great, honorable body, this Senate of Pennsylvania. I want to know if I am on safe ground when I say those things about the Senators of Pennsylvania. They are a great body. I want to say to those men I think they are doing their duty as they see it in Pennsylvania. The only difference between my views and their views is that we now find this bill which we have before us makes sure that the people who are supposed to be exempted under this bill are exempted.

The sad part of this story is, this great honorable body of Senators is only working for one class of people, to my way of thinking. They are making sure that the people are exempted who do not have to pay this tax. I am interested in the poor people who do have to pay the tax, and, I say to you that the Senate has spent much time making sure the people whom I maintain should help carry the burden of this tax load in Pennsylvania are exempt from the tax. That is beyond me.

I come from a coal county—understand. I unders'tand this bill makes clear that coal is exempted in Pennsylvania. When we exempt coal in Pennsylvania, are we exempting the poor people in Pennsylvania who use coal? Not in this day and age. We are exempting the manufacturers and those who use coal in Pennsylvania. I say to you, every move here has been to make sure that those people do not have to pay the tax in Pennsylvania.

When we drafted the original act, the Floor Leader praised it to the sky, he said it was almost like a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania. That is the greatest stretch of imagination anybody ever heard of. I say honestly to you that this bill as you now have it puts the burden of taxation on those least able to pay in Pennsylvania and takes the tax away from those who are best able to pay in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, I say to you I could not possibly agree even on these amendments which my Floor Leader says make the bill somewhat more workable. For what? To get the tax from the poor people of Pennsylvania?

May I just once more interrogate the Majority Floor Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman knows how this particular sales tax in Pennsylvania and its exemptions compare to the sales tax in Ohio and their exemptions?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say it compares favorably with Ohio. We have tried to write into the bill practically the same requirements for manufacturing corporations to pay as they have done in Ohio by regulation.

I do not believe clothing is taxed in Ohio, nor is food taxed in Ohio. That is true under our Pennsylvania law. I would say that the law today is quite similar. Ohio could be a little more drastic in some phases.

Our Sales Tax Law today is unique in Pennsylvania. Our Sales Tax Law is what we call a categorical sales tax law. Only those things are taxed which are specifically set out to be taxed under the bill.

I know the gentleman a few weeks ago said he would like to see a general sales tax at a percentage which would tax food, clothing and everything. But we do not do that under our act. We only tax things in the categories at three percent.

With respect to coal, I think coal as such today, even without this bill, is not in a category of a taxable item. However, I come from a natural gas community and center, and I should be in here pitching to have natural gas free. I have not done that. Fuel oil is presently subject to the sales tax. If a householder buys coal, the small man who is burning coal, he was not taxed on his coal. He was not taxed before nor will he be taxed now.

However, the reason this coal amendment was put in, the reason coal is specifically exempted under this bill now, is that the Attorney General said to all of us that it is quite possible coal conceivably could be taxed under the heading of a commercial supply, because a commercial supply is a taxable category under the bill. As far as coal used by a manufacturing corporation is concerned, being a supply or a raw material used in the manufacturing process to make goods which when they are made and resold are subject to the sales tax, it would not have been taxed anyhow to a manufacturing corporation, because it is part of the manufacturing process.

That is true in every sales tax state of the union. We do not tax the instruments of production in any state. Why? Because it would put manufacturing corporations in a given state at an extreme disadvantage with manufacturing corporations in another state who would enjoy that tax advantage. So coal would not be taxed, and in order to get around the possibility of coal being taxed as a commercial supply, coal is specifically written into the bill now as an exemption.

There is a feeling, because the economy of Pennsylvania is based on coal and iron and because of the fact that coal has generally been a sick industry, that we owed it to that industry just like we did the shipbuilding industry to foster it, to promote it, because we are the greatest coal state in the union. That is the reason for giving coal that particular exemption.

I am not saying you should or you should not because, as I say, I come from a natural gas community where we would have loved to see natural gas exempt.

I would not press to have natural gas exempt, nor did some of the fuel oil people here want to have fuel oil exempt. They feel that coal, because of the situation in the coal mines and because of the situation in the last three or four years when coal cars were lined up around Johnstown and through that area for miles on the sidings, that we should foster that industry and not subject them to the tax.

That is the reason why coal not only was not taxed in the category, but is specifically exempted now as an exclusion from the Act.

I realize I have given you a long dissertation, but I feel that the House deserves that explanation and your question has prompted it.

Mr. LOVETT. May I further interrogate the gentleman and ask him if I understand by this act that if a manufacturer buys equipment for his office it is not taxable?

Mr. JOHNSON. Anything that a manufacturing corporation buys for purposes of administration is taxed. Office furniture, office machines, business machines, typewriters, automobiles not used directly in the manufacturing process, are taxed today to manufacturing corporations.

The only things that a manufacturer does not pay the sales tax on are items which go directly into the manufacturing process. That goes for the machinery that manufactures the product; it goes for the raw material, that is tax free. As a result of previous Act No. 337, the foundation on which the machinery is placed is tax free, in order to carry out our intentions.

A manufacturing corporation pays a tax on its sales expense items, on administration, and on maintenance of their buildings. All that is spelled out in the law.

Mr. LOVETT. But not on the building itself?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes. When a manufacturing corporation builds its manufacturing plant, it is subject to the three percent sales tax, but the foundation on which machinery rests is tax exempt. Under the law before this session and under our amendments this session, buildings of a manufacturing corporation are still taxable. We have only relieved them of the tax—and that has always been true—on things that go directly into the manufacturing process. That is as it should be. That is sound economy and sound taxation, in my opinion.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman further if utilities are under the same setup as manufacturers?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes. By our Act of 1953, by the Act of 1955, and by this Act. We said anybody engaged in anything that was directly manufacturing would be exempt.

There are certain industries which fabricate, but are not truly manufacturing industries. One, I believe I said, was the printing industry. That we have spelled out and said is manufacturing, and have exempted that. We have said that certain phases of the public utility industry were manufacturing, so anything which goes directly into the manufacturing process, including maintenance of public utility property, under our law, is tax free, that is correct.

We went on and said that if you are engaged in farming you are engaged in manufacturing and anything that goes directly into the farming process is exempt. The farmers' trucks, and so forth, are taxable as well as a lot of the stuff around his farm, but anything that goes directly in the farming is tax free. That is true, as I have said, of printing, and of farming.

We have also defined coal mining and quarrying as manufacturing. We have said anything which goes directly into that process is manufacturing and is tax free, but anything that is administrative, or maintenance, or for their selling department, is subject to the sales tax.

I cannot see anything wrong with doing that very thing, the way our sales tax is written today. As I say, in Ohio it is done the same way, but it is done by regulation rather than by bill.

We wanted the Justice Department to draw up regulations the same as Ohio, but they would not do it. That is the reason we wrote House Bill 337.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that in Ohio the law does not say so, it is done by the department or the regulations of the department?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct in Ohio. In Ohio they say anything that is used directly in manufacturing is not taxable. Then by regulation they have written into the law what is or is not directly in manufacturing. I mean, they have done it by regulation in Ohio. Those regulations in Ohio have been subjected to numerous court decisions and they have a pretty good basic sales tax law now in Ohio based on the law itself and based on court decisions construing regulations in Ohio.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the stamp plan is still in the Ohio plan?

Mr. JOHNSON. It is still in, but I understand—and this is for the information of the House—the Speaker of this House has received a message from the Speaker in Ohio stating that the question of eliminating the stamp plan in Ohio was up for a vote there, and we have been informed that the House voted in Ohio to eliminate the stamp plan.

It is now before the Ohio State Senate.

Mr. LOVETT. I was going to ask you, do they have a State Senate in Ohio?

Mr. JOHNSON. I did not hear your question?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I was asking if they had a State Senate in Ohio?

Mr. JOHNSON. They have a bicameral legislature in Ohio, that is correct.

Mr. LOVETT. The gentleman would not guarantee what would happen in the Senate in Ohio any more than he would in Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not know.

PARLIMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is this a post-graduate seminar on taxes, or is it pertinent discussion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is not sure just what the answer to that question is, nor does the chair believe there is anyone else in the House able to answer that question.

The Chair would request the gentleman to confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I might say to my friend from Johnstown, Mr. Andrews, while I do not know whether it is a post-graduate course, whether it is pertinent, or whether it is not pertinent, I know a lot of you are just the same as I am, you do not know all the answers to this. Mr. Andrews does not know them. The Attorney General and the Senate of Pennsylvania has been debating the thing for the past couple of weeks trying to find out just what it is all about.

I want to thank the Majority Floor Leader for his statements. I sympathize with him. I know he does not get everything he wants from this great honorable body of fine Senators which we have in Pennsylvania to take care of the needs of those best able to pay in Pennsylvania. I am sure he does not.

Getting back to the original tax act which we are now amending, I say honestly to you Members here, we are wrong when we place this burden of taxation on the people of Pennsylvania. You know and I know the right thing to do in Pennsylvania is to move to set up our state government so that we may have a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania, then we can have a fair and honest tax in Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not confining his remarks to the question before the House. The question before the House is concurring in the Senate amendments to House Bill 1040.

The Chair has tried to be very lenient and trusts that the gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LOVETT. I apologize to the Speaker. I will admit I sometimes get led astray when I discuss this issue. I want to stay on the question and I want to say to you that with this tax program which we have and which we have now passed, and with these amendments to the Act which we have passed and which became law some time ago, how they are enforcing that Act I do not know. I suppose by these amendments we still have with us that that is not the right form of taxation which we should have in Pennsylvania.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to take too much of the Members' time, but I would like to conduct a very brief undergraduate seminar on the sales tax question and for that purpose I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOVETT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has from time to time on the floor of this House characterized the Sales Tax Act as one which is paid by the poor people.

I would like to ask the gentleman if the people of Pennsylvania pay a sales tax on the food they purchase and eat in their own homes?

Mr. LOVETT. They do not.

Mr. AGNEW. Do the people of Pennsylvania pay a sales tax on the clothing they buy for themselves and for their families?

Mr. LOVETT. They do not.

Mr. AGNEW. Is there any such thing as a sales tax on a man's monthly mortgage payment or monthly rental payments?

Mr. LOVETT. I didn't quite get that question.

Mr. AGNEW. Does the sales tax apply to the money a man spends every month for rent, for shelter?

Mr. LOVETT. To my knowledge, it does not.

Mr. AGNEW. Then, will the gentleman agree that food, clothing and shelter are exempted under the Sales Tax Act?

Mr. LOVETT. I agree with that.

Mr. AGNEW. I would like to state, Mr. Speaker, the position of the Republican Party, as I understand it, on exemptions for the shipbuilding industry and the coal industry.

The gentleman from Westmoreland states that he comes from a coal county, Westmoreland, and he apparently objects to the fact that the people who buy coal do not have to pay a sales tax when the people who heat their homes with gas do.

I think no one would seriously argue the question that people who burn coal to heat homes are generally of a lower economic level than people who heat their homes with gas. I think the gentleman would also agree that the coal industry is a distressed industry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, if not throughout the country.

We are not doing a favor for the coal industry. We are doing a favor for the people who heat their homes with coal. We are doing a favor for the coal industry in that we want the coal industry as long as it is able to to provide jobs for the people of Pennsylvania.

That is the same reason we exempted the shipbuilding industry, Mr. Lovett, from the provisions of this sales tax. Every state which has a sales tax exempts its shipbuilding industry. If we did not exempt the shipbuilding industry of Pennsylvania, the shipbuilding industry in Pennsylvania would go out of business. Then what would they do with those 2,800 jobs in Philadelphia, put them on the city payroll?

We are not for industry when we do something like this; we are for jobs for Pennsylvanians.

Mr. READINGER. We have been so far afield from the actual question we have before us that I would like to have just a word before we get to voting.

We are not concerned at the moment with the rightness or wrongness of the philosophy of the sales tax. The only thing we are voting on in House Bill 1040 is whether we should have a properly enforceable sales tax act. We already have the sales tax.

While nobody has raised the point of order, including myself, we are certainly not concerned with anything today except, shall we have a good sales tax act that is enforceable in the viewpoint of the people who must enforce it, or shall we have an imperfect one?

I say House Bill 1040 makes it a lot clearer, it spells out more clearly who must pay and who must not pay as far as procedures is concerned, and I see no reason why anybody should vote against House Bill 1040 even though he detests a sales tax.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as we are having a tax seminar and inasmuch as nobody has been ruled out of order, I would like to speak a little bit about the amendments, the exemptions and the reasons possibly why the various industries were exempt. Recently in the Senate —

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, rise?

Mr. BELL. A parliamentary inquiry as to whether the gentleman is in order. If he wants somebody to challenge him, I will do so.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has requested the Members to confine their remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. McCORMACK. Recently, March 19th to be exact, they were discussing exemptions in the Senate and I am looking at a speech by Senator Dent and certainly —

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in order. He cannot quote from discussions in the Senate.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am incorporating the words of Senator Dent as my own. I would like to speak —

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in order.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak concerning the exemption of coal in this 1040.

The SPEAKER. That is one of the questions before the House. The gentleman is in order and may proceed.

Mr. McCORMACK. We are talking about the poor consumer and the fact that the coal industry is a sick industry. I would like to point out that the leaders of the coal industry are not too sick. I see they have contributed $28,500 to the Republican Campaign Committee and I suggest —

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in order.

Mr. McCORMACK. I withdraw my remarks, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I just reply in a few words to my friend from Allegheny County?

I live in a community where I have people surrounding me who use gas and I have people surrounding me who use coal. In my mind, those using coal are wealthier people than those using gas because I know these people.

The gentleman in his remarks in regards to my question of the tax on coal must realize that I was for amending the bill to have a sales tax without any exemptions in Pennsylvania. If you are going to use this as a broad-base tax, and no other form of taxation, that is what you should do.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rabbi PHILIP DAVID BOOKSTABER, of The Reform Temple, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.
How lovely are Thy dwelling places, O Lord of Hosts; better is a day in Thy court than a thousand elsewhere. In this great season of spring, when everything opens in nature, with joy in our hearts and with our families and friends, may we likewise in human nature receive the birth of new ideals and visions wherein our inner nature may develop so that, friend to friend, we may have respect for one another in their opening of higher and nobler horizons.

Give each and every one of us here, as we assemble toward the end of the year, that yearning which comes to us at all times to come to the knees of our mothers and ask them to tell us the good stories of our youth, that our youthful days are the best days of our lives and all we need is to make them mature and to continue in perpetuity.

We ask Thy blessing upon this august assembly and as children come here to view the Sessions, that they may go home inspired, that their representatives here really take account of the home, the school and the church, which triangle gives us the high ideals for noble adventure. We pray that we may return from week to week as stewards of those who have sent us here, to be ideals for character, citizenship and Americanism.

We thank Thee for nature and human nature that we may emerge every week to our friends and say, "We have come, we have conquered, we serve." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. DERK, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

STUDENTS FROM LIVINGSTON SCHOOL, ALLENTOWN, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I have the pleasure to present to the Senate of Pennsylvania a group of Sixth Grade students from the Livingston School, in Allentown, Pennsylvania. They are here today accompanied by their teacher, Miss Esther S. Moyer, and representatives of the Parent-Teachers Association of the school, Mrs. Raymond Heilman, Mrs. Joseph Vince and Mrs. Frances Brey.

I would like to present them to the Members of the Senate at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Will this group please stand, in order for us to see you?

The Chair, on behalf of all the Members of the Senate, wishes to state that we are very happy to have you with us here this morning. We hope that you will have a nice visit and will come back again at a later date.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the other day I received a telephone communication from the Secretary of the Meadville Chamber of Commerce. He told me that the bus situation in Meadville, Pennsylvania was very critical. The bus company has been losing passengers and it is almost out of business. He told me that it was his job to go out among the merchants, and others, in the city of Meadville to raise approximately $1800 in order to obtain new registration plates for the buses so that they might have bus transportation in the city of Meadville.

I also understand that the city of Erie is similarly struck with a vital bus transportation problem. I understand that other cities throughout the Commonwealth are similarly situated and confronted with this type of mass transportation problem.

We all know that if the buses in the State of Pennsylvania, especially the city buses, go out of business, it is going to cause a great amount of confusion and hardship. The downtown merchants, especially, will be hurt because people will not be able to get downtown except by the use of their private automobiles to do business with the downtown stores. Therefore, there will be a slackening of business in the downtown stores. Also, Mr. President, traffic jams will become more prevalent, due to the fact that people will have to drive their own individual cars into the downtown areas.

It is the job of this Legislature, Mr. President, when it sees an industry which is sick and needs help, to come to their aid, if they may, by adequate legislation. I have prepared bills which I am about to introduce that will, first, reduce the license plate fees on the city buses to one dollar per year and, second, exempt them from payment of the liquid fuels tax and the diesel fuels tax.

Senator Mallery has a similar situation in his town of Altoona. He has joined with me on these bills and I will ask any Senator, who has a similar situation in their particular District, to join me on these bills. I notice Senator Blass motioning to me that he would like to sign the bills. I might add that this applies to the Democratic Senators as well as the Republicans. Everyone is welcome.

When these bills are signed by the various gentlemen, Mr. President, I will send them to the desk.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. HAYS, DENT, BERGER, SCHMIDT, SEYLER and DERK read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 752, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," extending the powers and duties of the Advisory Council on Affairs of the Handicapped to include rehabilitation; changing organization, membership and quorum provisions and making editorial changes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

SENIOR CLASS OF COUDERSPORT JOINT HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I want to present to you, and to the Members of the Senate, forty-four members of the Senior Class of the Coudersport Joint High School. They are here visiting the State Capitol, on their way to Washington, D. C. They are accompanied by their class sponsors, Mr. Burton R. Shirey and Miss Marion Park.

The PRESIDENT. Will this group please rise in order for us to get a look at you?

The Chair, on behalf of all the Members of the Senate, welcomes this group here this morning. We hope you will enjoy your visit with us and will come back and visit us again at a later date.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like you and these youngsters to know that at one time, back in 1926 and 1927, I was a teacher in that famous Coudersport High School.

The PRESIDENT. We are very proud to have the distinguished Senator with us this morning, too.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am now about to present the bills to which I referred a little while ago. I almost have enough sponsors to insure their passage.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to present to the Senate a release which was made by the outgoing State Treasurer, Weldon B. Heyburn. I do not want to take the time of the Senate to read it, but I do want to see that it is made a part of the record.

The important thing here is that the receipts in the State Government have gone up tremendously in those four years. Yet, the State Treasurer shows that he practiced economy while he was in office and was able to reduce the number of people on his payroll from 439, when he took office, to 368 in March of 1957, or a reduction of seventy-one persons.

I think this entire release is very interesting and I offer it, to be made a part of the record.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, together with statement of Hon. Weldon B. Heyburn, former State Treasurer, will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

State Treasury Department
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

May 5, 1957.

STATEMENT OF WELDON B. HEYBURN, STATE TREASURER

At the end of my term as State Treasurer, it seems appropriate to inform the people of Pennsylvania of some of the accomplishments of the Treasury Department during the past four years.

Under the law, the State Treasury Department deposits all moneys of the Commonwealth, including moneys not belonging to the Commonwealth but of which the Treasury Department or State Treasurer is custodian, in State depositories approved by the Board of Finance and Revenue.

The State Treasurer is the custodian of all securities owned by or deposited with the various agencies of the Commonwealth.

In the four-year period ended March 31, 1957, total receipts into all Commonwealth funds in the State Treasury amounted to $8,005,397,000 - more than $2,000,000,000 a year.

By investing idle funds the State Treasurer was able to earn $9,889,000 in interest during this four year period. This figure takes on added significance when it is compared with the amount of $2,903,000, the total appropriation for Treasury Department administration for the four year period ending May 31, 1957.

On May 3, 1953, active daily balances of Commonwealth funds were deposited in 126 check-writing bank accounts. Under Act 102, Session of 1955, which was prepared in this department and introduced and passed at my request, these bank accounts were reduced to 23 with a resulting decrease in total daily working balances of approximately $11,000,000. This money was invested in short term obligations of the U. S. Government at an interest income of approximately $325,000 for the period from July 1956 through March 1957.

During the four years, deposits in 30-day time accounts at 1% interest in various banks were reduced $35,000,000. $7,000,000 of this reduction was deposited in 90-day time accounts at 2% and the balance invested in U. S. Treasury 90 day bills at varying rates of interest up to 3.26%. The present rate is 3.10%.

On March 31, 1957, total investments in these bills amounted to $128,440,375 representing monies in all Commonwealth funds not required for immediate disbursement.

Securities in the custody of the State Treasurer increased approximately $285,000,000 from May 3, 1953 to April 12, 1957 as shown below:

Securities in custody April 12, 1957	$1,225,300,057
Securities in custody May 3, 1953	939,892,608

When I took office on May 3, 1953, I found that few, if any, changes in accounting procedures had been made in the Treasury Department for more than a quarter-century, notwithstanding the revolutionary improvements in business methods and systems during recent years.

After thorough study and planning, we converted our appropriation ledgers from handwritten books to electric accounting machines. We then completely reorganized our disbursements bureau, placing check-writing operations on IBM electronic computing and accounting machines. These changes have already saved the Commonwealth thousands of dollars and savings will become increasingly apparent as time goes on. Through the use of punched cards checks on IBM machines and with the assistance of the banks, one bureau in the Department, that of Audit and Control, was completely eliminated.

As a result of these changes, personnel of the department was reduced more than 16% as indicated below:

Number of persons on payroll March 1953—	439
Number of persons on payroll March 1957..	368
Reduction in number of persons on payroll	...71

These accomplishments could not have been made without the cooperation of the employees of the Department. I wish to express my appreciation to them for their loyal assistance during these four years.

WELDON B. HEYBURN
STATE TREASURER

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PECHAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 758, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 9, 1949 (P. L. 982) entitled "An act authorizing and directing the Department of Property and Supplies to convey to the Board of Trustees of the University of Pittsburgh a certain plot of ground and the building thereon . . .," authorizing the use of the property for other university purposes approved by the board of trustees.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR EDWARD J. KESSLER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, yesterday, through some oversight, we forgot to mention the fact that it was Senator Kessler's thirty-ninth birthday, I hope that this belated announcement will not take away anything from the pleasure we all take in wishing the Senator a very happy thirty-ninth birthday, and more of them to come in the future.

Mr. KESSLER. Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to congratulate the Senator on his thirty-ninth birthday. I just had my thirty-ninth birthday about a month ago.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, while I was busy at the Attorney General's office a few minutes ago on business pertaining to the Commonwealth, a bill that I was very much interested in was sent back to committee, which was perfectly normal and all right because the majority vote sent it back.

I just want to state to the Members of the Senate that this particular bill was aimed at erasing what I think is an injustice.

Prior to World War II, medical schools in various foreign countries were recognized in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as being schools meeting the standards required by the medical profession and the Licensure Board of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The graduates of these schools were permitted to come into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and take an examination and if they could meet the necessary requirements in the Commonwealth, they could practice medicine in this State.

During the war, under the National Securities Acts of the Nation, all of these foreign schools were automatically cut off. Now the war has been over quite a number of years. A number of students have applied in Pennsylvania who have graduated from schools in some of the foreign nations, particularly Italy and I understand Switzerland, Poland and other countries where their schools were approved prior to the war. The Pennsylvania Medical Board has refused to honor the graduates of these schools on the pretext that they have to make a physical examination of the school itself, to approve or disapprove that particular educational facility.

A few years ago, Senator Mahany and I tried to break down this rather obstinate position, and we put through a resolution calling upon the State Medical Board to recognize those schools which met the requirements. They, of course, ignored the resolution since it did not have the force of law. Therefore, we thought that the time had come when we should put in legislation. Prior to that, a commission was named to make a study of the situation and that committee reported to this General Assembly. Every Member was given a copy of their findings and their recommendations. As a result of that study, this bill was introduced.

There is nothing wrong that cannot be remedied without legislation. We agree on that. However, if the Medical Board maintains its position, they are not only keeping out of practice in Pennsylvania those who are residents of these foreign nations who come here under the quotas and under the laws of immigration, but they are barring from practice, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, citizen members of this State.

I have in mind a very young man who is graduating this June from, I think, the University of Bologna, the oldest medical university on the face of the earth. He was born and reared in the town of Jeannette. The schools in this Commonwealth were filled and he could not enter them. His grades were sufficiently high, but the classes were too large and you just cannot get into medical school just by wanting to get in. All of us know the problem. We graduate in Pennsylvania some 8,000 pre-med students, and we only have room in our medical colleges for less than 800. Therefore, nine out of ten of these Pennsylvania graduates have to seek an opportunity to further their studies somewhere else. Many of them have gone to Italy, to Ireland, to France, Mexico and to other places.

Now, for instance, you approve the medical university in Monterey, Mexico and yet you do not approve in Pennsylvania these old, time-honored institutions which were created even before this Country was born. It is a position taken by the Medical Board which is unjust, it is unfair and it is unreasonable. I believe that this boy, who was born and reared in a community of Pennsylvania and who had to go to some foreign country to get his medical education, should be permitted to practice in his home State. Under this attitude and ruling of the Medical Board of this Commonwealth, that boy will be denied the right to practice medicine in his own home State. He can go to New York, yes; he can go to New Jersey, yes; he can go to Ohio, yes; he can go to every State in the Union except Pennsylvania. It reminds you of the old saying that everybody is out of step except my Sammy.

I honestly believe that this bill should have been given a lot more serious consideration than what it was given by this Senate. We not only act on this Senate floor upon legislation dealing with the dollars and cents of economy, but we deal in the fundamental rights of the citizens of this Commonwealth and we are here to protect their rights. We are here, and we should be here, to see to it that no act of the Legislature destroys nor any Board's ruling destroys or reduces a man's personal rights and privileges.

I beg of you to reconsider your action. If there are features of this legislation which need correction, if the contents of the bill itself, other than the aim that we are shooting at, need amendments, offer the amendments. Do not close the door, because today it is a boy from my town, tomorrow it may be a boy from your town. I beg of you to reconsider the action taken by this Senate this morning and to reconsider the bill in whatever form you may desire it to be, but to wipe out an injustice created by an autocratic rule.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman on the other side that perhaps we were a little hasty yesterday in reporting the bill out. The bill was in my committee. I am a co-sponsor of this legislation. I want to assure the gentleman that the bill was not recommitted for the purpose of killing it or for burial. The bill was recommitted for the purpose, as he explained, of further possible amendments.

It is my understanding that this would be a tremendously costly problem to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to adjudge every school in the world which teaches medicine and make a report to this Legislature. I would like to quit the Senate and be appointed as one of these fellows who would travel all over the world to find out whether or not the schools are all right. It would take a tremendous amount of money to make a report on these various schools.

Mr. President, it is my understanding that an international commission has been set up and that the United Nations is making a study toward this end. If my information is not correct, let me assure Senator Dent that this bill will again be reconsidered in my committee.

Referring to what Senator Dent said, I want to say that I know any number of Pennsylvanians who would like to attend our medical schools. I think Senator Dent gave a figure of 800 new students. I think his figure is a little high. I do not believe that the Pennsylvania colleges, which teach medicine, can accomodate 800 freshmen.

We have one university, the University of Pittsburgh, whose enrollment of freshmen is ninety-nine per cent Pennsylvanians. The one per cent comes from other States. We have the University of Pennsylvania we have Temple University, we have Woman's Medical College, and we have Hahnemann. Their percentages drop as low as thirty-eight per cent of Pennsylvania students. Senator Dent gave a figure of the number of boys and girls who take pre-medical courses and are denied the right to study medicine because many of our State-aided schools—those which I mentioned are all State-aided—take more than fifty per cent out-of-State students. I agree that you are going to have to reciprocate with other States.

We set up Woman's Medical College in Philadelphia and I think, although I am not sure about this figure, their enrollment is somewhere between thirty-five and forty per cent Pennsylvanians. The other students come from out of State. That is Pennsylvania taxpayers' money. The cost of tuition in a medical school does not begin to cover the cost of the education which that boy or girl receives in medicine or in any of the other healing arts.

Therefore, Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman on the other side that this bill was not recommitted for the purpose of burial. It is going to be reconsidered. However, if it is an international problem and the United Nations assures me that it is making a study and will make a report, then the bill will not see the light of day.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman from Armstrong that I knew of the feature which compelled the physical site examination of the school, no matter where it might be. However, we must understand that that requirement in the bill had to be in there to meet the very requirement which is now demanded by the Medical Board. That is why it is in the Act. There is no way you can change that unless you put in an Act of the Legislature. They now say that they cannot, and will not, approve a school unless they have visited and examined the school and its curriculums, the physical plant and its curriculum of study.

The American Medical Association can do it, but Pennsylvania has refused to accept the American Medical Association's findings in regard to their own approval of the school, and the present Medical Board has demanded that Pennsylvania examine the school.

If Senator Pechan can at least approve that citizens of Pennsylvania, who attend schools other than the approved national schools and who want to come back to their native State, be given consideration; you want to bar foreign nationals, I do not object to that, if you feel that is the kind of international policy we should follow. However, I just cannot understand spending billions and billions and billions of the taxpayers' dollars trying to create good will with countries on the other side of the oceans and then to deny them cultural exchange. I do not see how we are making friends if we say to them, "We will feed you, but we will not allow you to associate with us."

Mr. President, I believe that this problem is one which demands serious consideration by the Committee on Public Health and Welfare. I know that Senator Pechan is a co-sponsor of the bill. I know that Senator Pechan, Senator Mahany and others have expressed their sincere wish to do something about this matter. If you can find anywhere any ruling or can get a ruling from the Medical Board that it will accept the United Nations recommendations of the International Examining Board, I would be happy to accept that. However, I believe that you will have difficulty in getting the present Medical Board in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to say they will accept anybody as an examining agency other than their own Medical Board in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. If they are willing to change their position, then this bill is not necessary. Until they are willing to sit down with a committee of this Senate and work out some solution that will be fair and equitable, at least to the sons of Pennsylvania, native born citizens of this State are being denied the right of a livelihood. First, they are denied the right to attain the necessary education and, secondly, after they do attain it, at great expense and great sacrifice, they are denied the right to put it into practice in this Commonwealth. There can be no excuse. There can be no excuse for that kind of ruling and regulation in any agency of this Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I again want to assure the gentleman that the bill will be considered. I would like to remind him that the gentleman to his right, Doctor Sarraf, is a member of my committee and he should attend the next meeting. Are you listening to me, Doctor Sarraf?

I would like, when we do consider the bill, to extend an invitation to Senator Dent to present before the committee the facts, because I know that you have made a study of the problem. I would like you to bring your medical adviser, Doctor Sarraf, with you. I will also invite the representatives of the Medical Society to give us their views.

I just want you to know that this bill was not recommitted for the purpose of burial.

The PRESIDENT. You mean consultant, rather than adviser, do you not, Doctor?

Mr. PECHAN. Well, I was going to use Doctor Sarraf as a consultant, too, but he does not show up at committee meetings. He is always busy doing something else.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SARRAF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I want to thank you for calling me a consultant. I will be very happy to be at your meeting.

I did serve on the committee which investigated this situation. For the benefit of the Senators, the bill was drafted to take care of students of our State who went out of our State to various countries to attend those universities and were graduated.

I agree wholeheartedly with Senator Pechan in the recommitment. This sounds odd, but I also agree with my friend, Senator Dent. I do know that something definitely should be done about this problem. Whether an act of the Legislature will clear this situation and whether this particular bill will do it, I am not certain. I do not feel that this bill, as formulated, will clear this situation.

These delaying tactics on the part of the board, I wish to condemn. I do think that some method can be devised. What that particular method may be, I do not know, but the board should have some method even if they have to go across the ocean to examine these various schools, not only the Italian schools but the Irish schools, the schools of Switzerland and the schools of Mexico. They must begin to realize that these students are American citizens and, especially, that the Pennsylvanians need help since the board adjudicates or checks these applicants as they come in to practice in our State. When they come back here, there is not even a formula wherein they can make up the credits which they require. Something should be done to allow a student—maybe your own son cannot get into the medical schools of our State and goes elsewhere, whether it be in the United States or whether in Canada or any foreign country and graduates—to bring up his standards and take an examination in this great State of ours.

One impression I wish to leave with you is that I am very proud of the medical situation in Pennsylvania. I am not stretching out for foreign people to come here. However, I am interested immensely in the American and the Pennsylvanian, particularly in this instance, who goes to another State to practice. That should be definitely studied. I think if this bill does no more, it should get this Board to understand that there are problems. As Senator Dent and Senator Pechan both noted, this has been going on for years, since 1941, and it has to be corrected in some manner.

Finally, though, I wish to state that I do not feel this bill is the type of legislation needed. As Doctor Pechan stated, it would require a lot of money. I think we can get somewhere if we recommit the bill and study it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny. I have been wondering since the first of January when the vocal Senator, who came over from the House, was going to make his maiden speech. I am very happy that I was the cause of his getting on his feet for the first time in the Senate. I want to congratulate him. He did a nice job. He always did a terrific job when he was in the House, and I want to congratulate the gentleman.

I am happy to know that when we do have a Public Health and Welfare Committee Meeting and Senate Bill No. 368 is discussed, he will make an attempt to be present.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, we have now had about one-half hour's debate on this question and I am sure it is worth it. However, I would like to point out to Senator Mahany, Senator Pechan and the other Members of the Rules Committee that we spent all that time debating a bill, and we have also sent back to committee a bill which most of the Members on the floor at this time have not had a chance to read because this is a bill which came out of the committee in the pink. Therefore, it was not placed on the Member's desks, and so most of us have been sitting here trying to understand what was going on.

Of course, we had three highly lucid explanations but we did not have the bill to read. I would again make a plea to Senator Mahany, and the Rules Committee, to please allow the people to put whether they are in order or not, the pink bills, which are brought out of committee, on the Members' desks in order that we all may know what you are talking about instead of just a few. I am beginning to think Senator Mahany does not want me to read these bills or know what is in them.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know why the Senator does not have the bill on his desk. It is on my desk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, then I would like to be admitted to that specially privileged group which has these pink bills on their desks. If there is such a group, I would like to join it. I would like to become a full-fledged Member of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understood that the Sergeant-at-Arms places all of the bills which are on the Calendar on the desk of every Member. If that is not being done, I certainly will be happy to instruct our Sergeant-at-Arms to carry out that function. Starting next Monday, Senator, if you do not have on your desk the same package of bills which I have, please let me know.

I also want to add, Mr. President, that I note in the newspaper that two present members of the Medical Education and Licensure Board, Dr. Charles Shafer and Dr. Elmer Hess, have been displaced and Governor Leader appointed two new men, Dr. Max M. Strumia, of Penn Valley, Narberth, and Dr. George S. Klump, of Williamsport. It looks as though the Democrats might have more control or more say in relation to this matter. I would suggest that perhaps they can get the new board to go along with their suggestions and they might not need a bill.

STUDENTS OF CATASAUQUA HIGH SCHOOL, SOUTHERN LEHIGH HIGH SCHOOL, EMMAUS HIGH SCHOOL OF EAST PENN UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT,

Mr. VAN SENT. Mr. President, I would like to introduce to the Members of the Senate today a group of students from Lehigh County, from Catasauqua High School, from Southern Lehigh High School, Emmaus High School of the East Penn Union School District, and also from Fountain Hill. They are accompanied by faculty members, Mr. Paul Larash, Mr. Charles Grider and Mr. Paul Woodroffe. The Chair also wishes to welcome this group to the Senate this morning. We hope that you have enjoyed your brief visit with us and that you can come back some future date.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in answer to Senator Mahany, I would like to say in regard to the pink bills being pulled, they were in our Caucus Room on Monday and Tuesday. However, today somebody overslept. In other words, they were not there.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, May 8, 1957

The House met at 12:00 noon EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Robert S. Nagle, Pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Our Saviour, Coatesville, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary of the forming of its congregation this week, guest Chaplain and guest of this week's Chaplain, Reverend Orville Fleming and and the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Brown, offered the following prayer:

Dear Father in Heaven: help us to remember the folks back home! As they went to the polls, they voted for legislators whom they believed would best serve the cause of honesty and freedom and justice in this great Commonwealth. We want to show them that their choice was wise. But we realize our complete inadequacy without Thy divine wisdom to guide our every thought and word and action. And so, we invoke Thy Blessed Presence here with us so that in every avenue of our endeavor, Thy will may be done. We pray for Thy blessing and favor in the Holy Name of Jesus. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, May 7, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. BARTON. RESOLUTION No. 98.

In the House of Representatives, May 7, 1957.

On Route 11 and 15, in Perry County, north and south of Marysville and south of Duncannon, there are areas where a large number of accidents have occurred, causing property damage, personal injuries and sometimes death. The accidents have been a direct result of the falling of large rocks from hills adjacent to the highway which are loosened by heavy rains and change in temperature.

This hazardous condition creates a continuous danger to school buses transporting children to and from school and to the general public.

The Department of Highways, despite the seriousness and frequency of accidents occurring on this highway, has failed to correct the conditions, therefore be it

Resolved, That, in the interest of public safety and the health and welfare of school children, the Governor be requested to order and direct the Pennsylvania Department of Highways to immediately take the necessary action to eliminate the hazardous condition on the highway north and south of Marysville and south of Duncannon.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. JIM.

RESOLUTION No. 99.

In the House of Representatives, May 7, 1957.

On September 4, 1758 work was begun on a fortified camp named Fort Ligonier. The fort was destined to serve a vital purpose in our history as the "Key to the West." Although severely attacked by the French and Indians one month after work on its construction started, all attacks were repulsed and it was never taken by the enemy. The fort served as a place of refuge for settlers through the Indian wars, and along with Fort Pitt, was the only stronghold that did not fall during the Pontiac wars of 1763. After serving through seven colorful and eventful years, the fort was officially abandoned in 1765.

On February 4, 1947, the architect Charles M. Stotz was commissioned by the Fort Ligonier Memorial Foundation to supervise a project to establish as far as possible, the exact location and layout of Fort Ligonier. An accurate topographical survey was made in 1951 and the workings, drawings, and specifications for the reconstruction project were completed in early 1953.

Several months ago, the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier became officially registered as a nonprofit organization, incorporated for the purpose of recalling through proper celebration, the valiant exploits of our pioneer ancestors two hundred years ago as they inscribed the name of Pennsylvania and Westmoreland County high on the pillar of eternal fame. An untiring effort on the part of the association has been made toward the success of the celebration to be held from September 21 to September 27, 1958; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier for the great work they have done toward reflecting well-earned glory upon the State of Pennsylvania and Ligonier Valley as forerunners of freedom; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. A. H. Sweeney, President of the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Messrs. KELLER, GIBSON, THOMAS H. W. JONES and STROUP. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 100.

In the House of Representatives, May 7, 1957.

Whereas, The people of Pennsylvania have delegated to the government of the Commonwealth many powers and responsibilities that daily affect the lives of all of its millions of citizens; and

Whereas, The government of the Commonwealth is supported, as are all democratic governments, by the proceeds of taxes paid by its citizens; and

Whereas, The operations of government become increasingly complex and the faithful and competent discharge of their duties by public servants becomes increasingly important to the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the operations of civil service and other merit systems for public employment used by the federal government and the governments of other states, including their organization, salary schedules, and personnel turnover rates, and the advantages and disadvantages of introducing similar systems for public employment in the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly, together with such drafts of legislation as may be necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. MARSH.

RESOLUTION No. 101.

In the House of Representatives, May 7, 1957.

This year of 1957 is an important anniversary in the History of Aviation. On May 27th is the 30th anniversary of the Charles Lindberg non-stop flight from New York to Paris.

This year of 1957 marks the Fiftieth anniversary of the United States Air Force.

A native Pennsylvanian, Earl Sandt, born in Brookville, Jefferson County was a pioneer airman who foresaw the glorious future of aviation.

At age 15, he wired his father's home for electricity, at sixteen he bought the first motor-cycle in Brookville and a year later bought the first automobile seen on the streets of Brookville.

At twenty-one he became fascinated with infant aviation and sought out Lincoln Beachey to learn this new and dangerous art.

Earl Sandt was the first airman to fly over Lake Erie, from Erie. Returning he crashed on the ice floes and wrecked his plane. After acquiring a new plane, he was the first airman to fly over the city of Pittsburgh, under the auspices of the old Pittsburgh Post.

On June 29th, 1912 he returned to his home town of Brookville for his memorable non-stop 20 mile flight from Brookville to Punxsutawney. The plane came boxed in crates from Pittsburgh by railroad freight and was re-assembled by a mechanic from the Curtiss Plant. When the plane rose into the air, church bells rang, the fire whistle blew, the whistle on locomotives in the railroad yards were tied down. A big touring car, with nurses and doctors aboard in white uniforms, and loaded with stretchers, medicines and bandages, raced across country following a course near to the line of flight, to be on hand just in case the plane fell.

The drama and excitement of this 18 minute flight as seen through the eyes of a small boy was written for a national flying magazine by the author of this resolution.

Earl Sandt fell with his plane in Grove City, Pennsylvania on June 20th, 1913, and this intrepid pioneer airman died on June 22nd, 1913 at the age of 25, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives pay tribute to the memory of Earl Sandt, and thus give recognition to his pioneering efforts as a valuable contribution to aviation, and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Mary Margaret Sandt, Jane Sandt and Mrs. Charles Taylor, nieces of Earl Sandt, living in Brookville, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. AUKER and STRAUSSER. RESOLUTION No. 102.

In the House of Representatives, May 7, 1957.

It has been considered as an established fact that twenty-five to thirty percent of graduates from Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges do not teach in Pennsylvania.

A large percentage of the cost of educating such teachers is furnished by the taxpayers of the State and therefore due to such a large percentage of teachers not teaching in the State, the taxpayers receive no benefit from the education of such teachers.

The education of graduates of State Teachers Colleges who do not remain to teach in the State of Pennsylvania becomes a very serious financial burden upon the taxpayers of the State without any advantage being derived therefrom and such a situation should not be allowed to continue.

The cost of educating students in the State Teachers Colleges has risen tremendously in the past fifteen years and the charge made to each student attending such State Teachers Colleges has not risen in proportions.

The Pennsylvania public school system is vitally in need of every teacher that can be obtained for the public school system; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the education of students in State Teachers Colleges, the cost thereof, the benefit to our public school system and methods which would result in maximum benefits and minimum expenditures to the Commonwealth in educating teachers for our public school system; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS and VARNER. RESOLUTION No. 103.

In the House of Representatives, May 7, 1957.

There still survive what is probably a very small group of persons who suffered the great misfortune to develop silicosis prior to the inclusion of that disease under the disability provisions of "The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act."

The plight of these individuals, probably few in number, appeals to the sympathies of their more fortunate fellow citizens; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission: (1) survey the cases of those whose total disability, medically established, stems primarily from industrial employment conditions encountered prior to the inclusion of silicosis under The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act, and (2) determine the feasibility, and if affirmatively, the ways and means for bringing such persons suffering from silicosis under the benefits of The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act," and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KAMYK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, yesterday we passed House Bill No. 543. This bill clearly violates the doctrine of home rule.

Today, for the purpose of record, I would like to read an editorial that appeared in a morning edition of The Pittsburgh Post Gazette. It appeared this morning, May 14th, and I am reading the editorial:

Douse the Fire Bill.

Pittsburgh's Fire Department is operating with the minimum number of firemen that can be put on a piece of equipment. That's because the State Legislature created a man-power problem when it reduced the work week for firemen in 1951 and again in 1953.

The City's approximately 1,000 firemen are working 55 hours a week as compared with the 66½ hour week before the first cut was made in 1951.

But now there is a bill before the Legislature which would further reduce the work week from 55 to 48 hours. It has been estimated by City officials that to compensate for the resultant loss of man-hours would cost at least $600,000 thousand a year, or the equivalent of an additional tax of almost one mill on buildings and half a mill on land.

The firemen argue, as usual, that the reduction can be made in the work week without adding any more firemen. Flying squads, they contend, can be reassigned to provide adequate manpower without hiring more men.

The trouble with that argument is that the flying squad system was installed after the last reduction in the work week. Which is to say, the City's fire protection is already on a minimal basis.

If the bill now before the Legislature becomes law, the City will either have to go to the expense of hiring more firemen or will have to cut fire protection to the point of peril.

The question of pay and working conditions for firemen, as for other city employes, is properly one for the Mayor and Council. Why then didn't the firemen make their request for a shorter week when City Council was holding budget hearings last fall?

The answer is, of course, that the firemen, like the policemen, have learned that they get more through the Legislature—which sets working conditions without having to give the money to finance them—than, it can through City Hall, which has the financial responsibility.

Clearly, this is a cockeyed situation crying out for reform. Why should Legislators from all over Pennsylvania, who know nothing of this City's fiscal problems and probably care less, set conditions governing the City's employes? They have it in their power to bankrupt the cities.

The cities must find a way to obtain a greater measure of home rule. They are at the mercy of a Legislature which can follow the most irresponsible course. The firemen's bill should be defeated and the City Council should determine what is best for the City and its firemen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, first I wish to congratulate the Pittsburgh Post Gazette on its fine editorial; however, it was a day late.

I would like to remind the Members of this House that maybe we are doing things a day too early; we are not taking enough time to determine what bills are good for the people and what bills are not. So, let us hesitate, let us look before we leap, let us listen to the story of home rule. It should have something to do with that. After all these Members here are responsible and should look before they leap from here on.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. GELFAND for himself for Thursday, because of urgent business.

Mr. SHIELDS for himself for Thursday.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DONALDSON from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as amended, House Bill No. 968, entitled:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code" approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) authorizing the county court for the County of Allegheny to appoint minute clerks.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, when you were under the heading of Leaves of Absence, in the first part of the session today, I was at the rostrum.

At that time, I observed the general geographical location of where the request came from. I was very pleased that we had very few, if any, requests on the Republican side for leaves of absence, but I noted that there were numerous requests, particularly on the Democratic side from Democratic Members from Philadelphia.

I just want to make this statement that we have quite a calendar of bills yet on the calendar and we are going to roll many of them today. We expect to have a non-consent controversial calendar tomorrow, and we expect to do the same thing from here on out for the remainder of the session.

I am just giving you Members from Philadelphia and elsewhere who will not be here tomorrow the admonition that we expect to do business and you will, of course, have to answer to your constituents for requests for leaves of absence where you did not give any substantial reason for your absence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I note that the Majority Leader says that he will be prepared to do business with a full head of steam tomorrow and each succeeding day that the General Assembly is in session.

I rather imagine if the gentleman knows what he is talking about and has this full head of steam, it will make very little difference as far as the results of contention upon the floor are concerned, whether Philadelphia or Kamchatka is here. All that Philadelphia or Pittsburgh or Podunk can do is appeal to reason.

A program has been set and that has been definitely determined upon. That has been decided by an official of the dominant party whose warrant runs with absolute certainty and who has heralded this bill for funeral and that bill for triumph. The result is predetermined. Debate really in so far as the findings are concerned, becomes a useless operation, because, Mr. Speaker, we have faced bills that have gone down in defeat, and Members of the opposition party have come to me and said "We are sorry we could not vote with you yesterday on that bill because we believe you were right."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have always, from the time I was a freshman in this House, rebelled against the principle that new Members of this House, like children, were supposed to be seen and the less heard from them the better.

I regret the fact that there are Democratic absentees. I would not resent the fact if the House sent for them if they did not have proper excuses. But that is a power that is not vested in the minority. So in line with the word of the distinguished Majority Leader, those who are absent have it upon their own political conscience and the conscience of their backers in their respective districts.

I regret the fact that Democratic county chairmen, throughout this Commonwealth do not insist that Democrats elected to posts in the Legislature are not present all of the time. But I notice that while the Democratic organization does not always function, that are signs of limping and of weakness upon the part of the powerful organization of the majority.

I wonder, I just wonder, how powerful your head of steam will be on the Friday following the primary. I wish you luck.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1025, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the second paragraph of section 5 of the act approved April 29, 1874 (P. L. 73) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" providing for action of directors in writing and without meeting and for an executive committee of the board of directors.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 19, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 19, 1913 (P. L. 534) entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables" defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 394, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) requiring the refusal of licenses to places within three hundred feet of churches hospitals charitable institutions and playgrounds.

The first and second sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to move to recommit this bill.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will withdraw its decision as to the first and second sections and title having been agreed to. The Chair hears none.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I don't want to have a repetition of what has happened, but I rise to a point of order. Namely, that this House agreed to the bill on second reading. Now is it within the province of the Speaker to withdraw his decision or has the House already made a decision that the bill was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia has raised a point of order.

If there is objection to the Chair's withdrawing his decision as to the title and the first and second sections of the bill having been agreed to, then, of course, in order to change that decision a motion would have to be made to reconsider the vote. If the gentleman insists—

Mr. McCORMACK. No, I do not insist, Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to get a ruling.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's point of order is well taken.

The Chair heard no objections to the Chair's withdrawing its decision as to the title of the bill having been agreed upon or the first and second sections having been agreed to.

The question recurs,

Will the House agree to Section 1 of the bill?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, rise?

Mr. AUKER. I rise to a parliamentary injury.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of clarification, before the Speaker makes a decision as to the bill having been passed on second reading or first reading, it is not always the Speaker's prerogative when he does so. At least I have heard it time and time and time again that if there is no objection, the Speaker makes such a ruling, and it is on that basis that these things are done. So, if anybody has any objections, they can state them, and then the Speaker will rule. But, if there is no objection raised, the Speaker can make his ruling.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct. The Chair always asks unanimous consent of the House to withdraw his decision. Then if there is objection, it is up to the House to make its decision.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Liquor Control for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 794, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) authorizing the issuance of notice to appear before magistrates sitting in central traffic court in cities of the second class.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 882, entitled:

An Act amending the "Business Corporation Law" approved May 5, 1933 (P. L. 364) changing notice requirements to stockholders when increase in indebtedness shall be considered at meetings.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1138, entitled:

An Act amending "The Third Class City Code" approved June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932) authorizing the mayor or any alderman to hear and determine violations of certain ordinances and to impose penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1139, entitled:

An Act amending "The Class City Code" approved June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932) revising the provisions relating to zoning ordinances.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1180, entitled:

An Act authorizing courts to alter modify * * * any order decree judgment or sentence for a period of forty-five days from the date of entering of record the order decree judgment or sentence.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 97, entitled:

An Act to define and prohibit unauthorized interception divulgence or use of telephone and telegraph communications without warrant defining conditions under which an interception warrant may issue and providing certain safeguard procedures with respect to interception by warrant providing criminal penalties and civil damages including attorney's fees for the violation thereof and regulating the admissibility of evidence.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TOLL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED IN THE ACT NO" and inserting in lieu thereof "No."

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 3, by inserting after "of" "one of."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain to the Members of the House what this amendment does.

Senate Bill 97 came over from the Senate generally prohibiting wire tapping. When this bill came out of the House Committee, it was amended by the House Committee to permit wire tapping under certain conditions such as by the Chief of Police and the District Attorney, subject to the approval of the Court.

Now this amendment is for the purpose of restoring the bill to the version which was passed by the Senate. That is, eliminating wire tapping of any kind by anyone, and eliminating the conditions which were put in it by the House Committee.

I am not going to give you the reasons, but I would like to yield, if the Speaker will permit, to the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, who will give you the reasons for this request to amend.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, yields to the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill we have before us today, Senate Bill 97, dealing with wire tapping, is probably one of the most important pieces of legislation that we will consider in this session outside of those bills that deal with the operation of our state government.

I would like to discuss, briefly I trust, what are the implications of wire tapping today. One of the first things that comes to mind is the fact that wire tapping is not a tap on a conversation. Wire tapping is a tap on a telephone line. It is impossible for anyone tapping a wire to listen to specific conversations that might deal with the commission of a crime. He must listen to everything that goes over that telephone wire. For example, a recent case in New York indicated that a police agent when he tapped a line, listened to conversations involving the Julliard School of Music, Brooklyn Law School, Consolidated Radio Artists, Western Union, three banks, several restaurants, a drug store, a real estate company, an importer, a stationery store, a dry cleaner, many bars, a garage, The Prudential Insurance Company, a health club, dentists, brokers, engineers, a New York Police Station and many lawyers.

This is the sort of thing that police stations, or their personnel who tap wires, listen to. I might mention the Supreme Court, in a Federal court case, reversed a criminal conviction in a lower court, on the basis that it was shown at the trial that a police agent monitored and cut a record of the defendant's conversation with a lawyer. These conversations recorded by the very prosecution that was to try the case included the discussion, the preparation of trial briefs, testimony of witnesses, contents of papers to be admitted into evidence, plans to subpoena witnesses and even trial strategy.

How many people here in the House, Members of the House, thinking back over the last several weeks, can recall conversations that they might have had that they would not like anyone to hear, save the person on the other end of the wire? I think it is important that we note that the higher a man rises in public life, be it in business, in the ranks of labor, or in public life, such as we are, the more likely that sometimes during his career his wire is going to be tapped.

Then again, it is very easy to misconstrue telephone conversations, either accidentally or deliberately. Something said in jest by the speaker when reduced to the black and white of cold print may have an entirely different meaning than the way in which the sentence was originally said. Or, it can be deliberately changed, and with modern tapes and modern recording devices that is very simple.

I would like to read you a brief statement from the testimony taken at the hearings of a subcommittee of the United States Senate investigating this very problem in which it was brought out that Winston Churchill addressed the House of Representatives of the United States Congress. A tape recording was made of his speech. He had just had some new teeth put in, and as a result of which the reporters missed some of his speech. They asked if they could come up and hear the tape. Now Winston Churchill in one part of his address on this particular day said:

I come not to ask you for money. I come to ask you for military aid. We English are putting out all we can towards this effort * * *

A little later the reporters, having missed this, came up to hear these tapes played back, and the engineers who recorded it thought they would have a little fun with it. They changed the tape around so that Winston Churchill instead said:

I come here to ask you for money. The English do as they please. What we do with your money is our business.

The reporters came into the room and started to take down this testimony, and they took it down with a completely straight face. They did not even notice the difference, even though they had heard the original speech, until it was called to their attention some time later.

Wire tapping is also generally an invitation to corruption. Inevitably the sort of conversation that passes over our telephone wires, much of it or some of it in any event, is something that a good many people would not want others to hear.

New York State does permit limited wire tapping. A study made in New York recently showed corruption, blackmail, misuse of wire tap procedures, and not to forget, a complete failure to prevent unauthorized wire tapping.

Michael Von Moschzisker, former First Assistant District Attorney in Philadelphia, in writing in "The Shingle," a publication of the Philadelphia Bar Association, on this subject had this to say:

The tapper and any persons to whom he sells copies of the tape, obtain not only information which can be bartered to others, but also material which can be used in blackmail. We know it is a fact of life that when the fodder of blackmail is handed a number of police officers, blackmail by some of them will not be far behind. Not because they are police, but because they are human. We deny the validity of the argument that no innocent person should mind if a policeman knows his intimate secrets. Indeed we do not think it is good to shake down the guilty. It corrupts the potential blackmailer.

There is really only one argument for wire tapping and that is it is a potent weapon in fighting crime. There are many other potent weapons that could be used in fighting crime, too, that we have barred today.

Justice Musmanno has this to say on this particular subject:

It is urged that wire tapping is a potent weapon in fighting criminals. There was a time when the rack, the dungeon, the water cure and the thumb-screw were used in fighting criminals, and assumed criminals. There was a time when the homes of criminals, and assumed criminals, could be invaded without search warrants. Before Magna Charta and the writ of habeas corpus, the State and those presumably acting in its behalf, could imprison criminals and supposed criminals without warrant of arrest or court order or any judicial proceeding.

There was a time when criminals and supposed criminals were harnessed in stocks, their ears lopped off and their bodies branded with hot irons. Not long ago police used third degree methods which included rubber hose whippings, forced sleeplessness and other tortures to extract confessions from criminals and supposed criminals.

It was argued in their time that to abandon these police methods against criminals would be to place society at the mercy of the lawless. But all these measures were eventually condemned and forbidden, and society did not perish.

He goes on to say that in other jurisdictions which permit wire tapping, such as New York, New Jersey, and Louisiana, criminal law enforcement has not been proven any better than in other jurisdictions such as the Federal government in which it is forbidden.

Our society has consistently paid the price of an occasional criminal escaping justice in order to foster the atmosphere of freedom and respect for individuality. We already have many escape hatches in the law to protect the rights of those accused. We have the requirement that prosecution witnesses tell their story in open court. We have the privilege against self incrimination, the right to prevent one's spouse or one's lawyer from testifying in court. We require proof beyond a reasonable doubt. We have a rule against unlawful search and seizure of our homes, persons or papers, without a warrant.

No doubt, many of these devices are availed of by the guilty at times. But, we have felt consistently that in order to protect the rights of everyone, we must allow in a few cases the guilty to be free.

Arguers for wire tapping will tell you that limited wire tapping such as proposed here is much like search and seizure, but there are many differences between the two. For instance, the search warrant must specify the object that is being sought after, and it may only be the tools with which a crime is committed or the proceeds of the crime. Search of evidence is forbidden. With a search warrant also, the person whose house it is knows that it is being searched, but with the wire taps no one knows because the listener hides in darkness and in secrecy. The person whose wire is tapped never knows that his conversations are being listened to by someone else.

We have here, too, with the bill as it has been amended the involvement of our courts in law enforcement procedures. This is the first and, to my knowledge, the only time that the court which is supposed to impartially try the case is gone to by the prosecution, whose job it is to secure convictions, before the case ever comes to trial and is involved in the messy business of attempting to procure evidence by the law enforcement officers.

What sort of an impartial trial do you think an accused, either in a civil or criminal case, might get where the judge has had the opportunity to listen to unrestricted wire taps of his telephone, evidence which would not be admissible in court, evidence which the judge should not properly hear.

Briefly, the main argument for allowing wire tapping is that it makes it easier for police officers to perform their duties, but the experience of centuries has shown that making things easier for the police is not necessarily synonymous with public interest.

This is important legislation, as I have indicated. I think we must realize today that the law enforcement net cannot be drawn tighter to help catch the guilty without enmeshing more of the innocent. I think we must realize that decent law enforcement is possible without impairing the safeguards which we have set up to prevent injustice. I think we must realize that the worth of our society is measured not by the number of criminals we imprison or electrocute, it is measured by the degree of liberty experienced by the great body of our people.

Finally, I think we should bear in mind that there have never been in the history of the world more determined law enforcers than Nazi Germany or Soviet Russia.

I would ask the Members of this House to support these amendments and to banish this dirty business of wire tapping from our state.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, if I am in order I would like to yield to my colleague, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments to Senate Bill 97. In doing so, it is not easy for me to oppose Governor Leader and Attorney McBride. Nor is it easy to buck the hysteria that has grown up in favor of an outright ban of wire tapping. Further, at the risk of angering many of my constituents in particular, I am now doing what I think is right.

In considering what to do about wire tapping it is important to know what the situation is now. In Pennsylvania today there is no legislation on the subject. Anybody can wire tap without fear of prosecution. There is a Federal law against wire tapping, but this law only prevents the use of wire tap information in Federal courts. In effect, it operates only in preventing FBI agents from testifying as to the information received from wire taps. The Federal law is not even effective in this limited area. There has been only one prosecution under the Federal law in over 20 years. The reason is that the Justice Department is loathe to prosecute anyone for a practice that it is itself engaging in. So we can say that we are now considering regulation in an area that has not previously been regulated at all.

Senate Bill 97 as amended by the House Judiciary Special Committee, would provide a penalty of a maximum of one year in prison and/or a fine of up to $5,000 for any violation. Also, anybody suffering from any violation might recover civil damages of at least $100 plus his attorney's fee.

Under the bill as amended only the chief of police, or district attorney, or attorney general, could go to the quarter sessions court and apply for a warrant. The application must show probable cause of a serious crime, and name the person whose line is to be tapped. Very important is the feature that the judge must be satisfied there is no other feasible way of obtaining evidence.

The warrant to wire tap would be good for only 30 days, but on proper cause shown would be renewable. The wire taps intercepted would have to be shown to the judge, who must order their destruction on the expiration of the warrant. After the wire tap period, the application for the warrant would become part of the public record.

Those who favor Senate Bill 97 as originally drawn in the Senate, which is a complete ban on all wire tapping, are concerned with the great invasion of the right of privacy involved. I, too, am concerned with the evil involved, and am against wire tapping, but feel that there are times when we must balance the right of the individual against the need for public security. I am, therefore, against all private wire tapping, and the amended bill so provides, but feel that extraordinary circumstances may arise which require the use of wire tapping to fight organized crime. I might add that the United States Supreme Court has held that wire tapping does not constitute unlawful search or seizure under the Fourth Amendment nor violate rights against self-incrimination under the Fifth Amendment.

There are those who doubt that wire tapping is really effective. United States Attorney General Brownell states that every United States Attorney General over the past 20 years has favored wire tapping.

I wrote to District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York City for his experience. New York has had a controlled wire tap law on its books since 1942. He wrote back that it has been a great aid. I should just like to quote him when he said:

I cannot discern any logic in the position that because occasional abuses in legal wire tapping procedure may turn up here and there, that this practice, so effective in combating the underworld, should be abolished. That is no more rational than a contention that the police should be deprived of their guns because occasionally some officers misuse them.

My own experience as an assistant district attorney in Philadelphia indicated to me the value of wire tapping. Many times I prosecuted a little man in an organized racket, and felt frustrated because the "brains," or the leader, was beyond reach, the legal evidence to arrest and convict him being unavailable. I learned from first-hand experience that the leader of an organized racket takes very few chances personally with the law. Convicting one of his underlings would not normally root out the racket.

In passing, I remember investigating, and subsequently convicting, a well-known racketeer in Philadelphia.

Through wire tapping I learned that his romance with a girl friend was on the "rocks." A personal visit to his girl friend, who was very willing to talk, drove the nails into his coffin.

Several organizations have come out for Senate Bill 97 in its original form. I ask how many of them, or members in them, have had experience in prosecuting and fighting crime. One of the most vociferous organizations for the total ban is the American Civil Liberties Union. Yet Morris L. Ernst, who has appeared as counsel for this organization in many cases, said:

We shudder to authorize wire tapping and other forms of spying. But they seem necessary if we are to preserve our freedom. They have been forced upon us by the underground.

At a meeting called by the Philadelphia Bar Association two years ago, of which there are over 2,500 members, 161 voted for an outright ban, while 125 voted for controlled wire tapping. This vote should be taken for what it was, an expression of a close majority of those present, and not the expression of the 2,500 members of the Association, nor that of the over 4,000 lawyers in the city of Philadelphia.

Critics of our amendments have stated that wire tapping is like the thumbscrew or the rack, as referred to by the last speaker. But wire tapping is not the rack and screw. It is not a coercive procedure. It does not tend to produce the conviction of innocent people. Rather, it tends to insure the conviction of guilty people. It is an "ear witness" of crime, almost, if not as good as, an eye witness.

In considering the safeguards built into the amended bill, it must be remembered that only a judge, and not simply a magistrate as in the case of a search warrant, can issue the wire tap warrant. For those who say you can always find a judge who will do the bidding of the police, the New York experience shows that many applications are turned down. In Philadelphia it is proposed to rotate the authority to issue wire tap warrants among all the judges. Further, if a judge cannot be trusted, he should be removed from office by proper legal procedure.

In New York State any police officer over the rank of sergeant can get a wire tap warrant. We suggest that only the chief of police, or district attorney, or attorney general, be so authorized. In New York the warranty is for six months. Here it would be for 30 days.

I should also like to emphasize that the Court must be satisfied that there is no other feasible way of obtaining evidence, that there must be a full disclosure and that complete destruction of the record taken must be ordered by the judge who issued the warrant when the term of the warrant expires.

The search warrant is part of the American tradition. I ask you, is there any difference between the invasion caused by the search warrant and what we propose? In the case of the search warrant the police go in, even when no one is at home, and examine, and touch, and feel, all the contents of the house, including that which may be innocent and embarrassing. In the case of wire tapping only the hearing sense is involved. Is there any real difference in the invasion of the right of privacy?

In the case of the search warrant any police officer can go to any magistrate for it. You may be sure that there are many violations of the law in this procedure. Again, I emphasize, in the case of the wire tap, only the chief of police, or the district attorney, or attorney general, can get a warrant, and only from a judge, or one trained in the law.

On Monday of this week we received in our mail boxes a letter from John Patrick Walsh, Chairman of the Committee on Criminal Justice and Law Enforcement of the Philadelphia Bar Association. He says that the Association is in favor of the outright ban. I repeat emphatically that his authority is only by a vote of 161 to 125 two years ago out of more than 4,000 lawyers in Philadelphia.

He says judges should not be allowed to issue secret orders. As a practical matter, a search and seizure warrant is a secret order issued by a magistrate or justice of the peace. I think judges can be relied upon more than magistrates.

He says judges who read wire taps might prejudice cases. But judges arriving at their decisions are limited to admissible evidence, and they can be reversed if their verdicts are improper.

Mr. Walsh says the New York police use wire taps to see how much business gamblers are doing, so they might be in a position to demand tribute. Nevertheless, I have letters in my possession from Frank S. Hogan, District Attorney of the County of New York, and Edward S. Silver, District Attorney of Kings County, Brooklyn, attesting to the value of police wire tapping. Surely, these district attorneys are not corrupt, too.

Mr. Walsh says the district attorney of Philadelphia has been using wire taps to meddle in the affairs of labor unions. In reply, Mr. Blanc's wire tapping revealed racket-infested Local No. 410 and effected the dismissal of the officers thereof, men with long criminal records. Also, United States Senator McClellan's labor investigation was sparked by this Philadelphia investigation.

Mr. Walsh says the D. A.'s office has improperly divulged wire taps. If so, this would be expressly prohibited by Senate Bill 97 as it is before you. He says politicians might tap politicians. If they do so, under Senate Bill 97 they commit a crime and can be prosecuted.

He says the conversations of innocent people might be overheard. Isn't that the case in ordinary investigations where wire-tapping is not involved?

Mr. Walsh says that persons who talk to their lawyers might be overheard. The lawyer-client relationship is a confidential one, but if you have something really confidential to tell your lawyer, shouldn't you tell him in person?

Mr. Walsh says police have been doing a good job for 170 years without legalized wire tapping. Nevertheless, Police Commissioner Tom Gibbons of Philadelphia says we may look for a very substantial increase in crime as occurred in Los Angeles, if all wire tapping is banned. He points this out particularly with reference to Los Angeles.

Finally, Mr. Walsh says that wire tapping is not similar to search and seizure warrants, that property once seized can be returned, but secrets cannot be returned. I say they are similar. When the police go through a property, what they see and learn while they go through is no more forgotten.

In conclusion, we should not have to wait for a racketeer to slip before we catch him. We should be allowed to listen in while he discusses his plans and operations. And, yes, as we listen in, we shall sometimes find that he is in touch with government officials, including legislators. Shouldn't we know these tie-ups?

Further, we need to wire tap not merely to get gamblers, but to get narcotics pushers, as was recently accomplished in the Philadelphia raids, and others where the taking of human life or the national security is involved.

I think it is indeed ridiculous to prevent the district attorney, or the head of a police department, under proper supervision to listen in on those who are in the act of destroying honest government, endangering human life or jeopardizing the safety of the nation.

I ask you to vote down these amendments.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak against the amendments offered by Representative Toll.

It is with some misgiving that I oppose these amendments because I realize that His Excellency, the Governor, and the Attorney General, are very much in favor of an absolute proscription.

I received a House calendar from the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor today and I find they too favor the prohibition of wire tapping in Pennsylvania. But I say this, it is my firm conviction that this bill is not concerned with labor. The legitimate aims of labor have nothing in common with the bill which would permit wire tapping on a restricted basis, such as contained in this bill now before the House.

There has been an analysis of this original bill without the amendments by Representative Eilberg and I think from what has been said you gentlemen will realize that all the safeguards that are possible to bring into a bill permitting wire tapping on a very limited and restricted basis are in this bill—all of the safeguards, and I ask you to examine it.

When Mr. Gailey spoke against wire tapping, he told you of the abuses which existed in New York, but what he failed to point out to you was that those abuses were by private citizens, by private detectives and investigators. I think I am correct in saying that those abuses were not by the law enforcement agencies.

If there were abuses which the law prohibited, then I say there would be abuses in Pennsylvania if this law would prohibit wire tapping if these amendments were passed. There are going to be abuses by those who disregard the law and have no care for the fact that it is a crime to tap a wire without adhering to the safeguards inherent in this bill.

You also heard what is commonly known as the academic view by Mr. Gailey. I say to you it is a view that we must disregard for the greater good of the community. It is very nice to speak about tapping private conversations, but we have to realize the greater good which would be done if we permitted the attorney general and the district attorney to tap a wire after a warrant is issued by a court of quarter sessions.

The one case which represents the law in Pennsylvania is the case of Commonwealth vs. Chait, a Superior Court case, and I believe it was one of the first decisions by Judge Woodside. The court held that evidence obtained by the use of wire tap in this Commonwealth is admissible in evidence.

The court was careful to point that there is nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent wire tapping. That it is not a violation of the Fourth Amendment prohibiting search and seizure, or a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment, but it is a violation of the Federal Communications Act of 1934, Section 605, as construed by the Supreme Court, I believe, in the Nardone case. Whether or not they were correct is not for me to say, but nevertheless, they so construed it so as to prohibit the admissibility of evidence obtained by wire tapping.

I read again today the decision by Judge Woodside and I think it would be in order for me to just quote a few pertinent provisions of that decision and I think you will realize that the meat behind a wire tap has not been brought out by the gentlemen in favor of this amendment which would prohibit it.

With your permission I would like to quote very briefly wherein Justice Woodside said, and I quote:

"How many secrets vital to our national defense may have passed into unfriendly hands because of the Federal limitation on wire tapping no man will ever know.

To suggest that tapping wires by police is "dirty business" is beside the point. Shooting a man, "Justice Woodside said," is dirty business too, but we approve of our police officers carrying loaded revolvers. Police officers cannot apprehend the enemies of society while carrying "The Age of Chivalry" in one hand and Emily Post's latest edition on "Etiquette" in the other.

It is not the most pleasant thing to realize, that some unknown person may be listening to your telephone conversation, but neither is it pleasant to contemplate that the enemies of society may be planning on the telephone to kidnap your child, to rob a bank, and so forth, while we say, "Don't listen in, it is not polite, it is not nice."

Justice Woodside pointed out in a footnote in this decision that many of the rural areas in Pennsylvania have never known what it means to have a private conversation on the telephone. He refers to those rural sections where the telephone rings and three or four people pick up the telephone, whether inadvertently or by design, and listen to your conversation. So this business about the sanctity of the telephone conversation is not, I submit, too apropos.

Recently I read in the newspaper a story out of New York, and I have it here, the headline reads, "Coplin Spy Case Considered Dead." You gentlemen will recall that Judy Coplin was a convicted spy who spied on our Country for Russia. She was twice convicted, I believe, and both times the conviction was set aside because they used wire tap evidence to convict her.

Ladies and gentlemen, the attorney general says the case for all intents and purposes is dead. Can you equate that with the sanctity of the telephone conversation? I say the extreme academic view is not the view that is sound.

We discussed the sales tax and we made constant reference to the fact that Ohio had a sales tax. The Journal is replete with statements as to the efficacy of the sales tax. We know that in New York today, as has been brought out, they have a wire tap bill similar to this bill which is on the calendar today. I think we ought to listen to what the District Attorney of Kings County had to say in a letter to Vicor Blanc, he District Attorney of Philadelphia, and I will quote just a few pertinent provisions. I ask your indulgence, but this bill is so vitally important that I feel I must give full debate to it.

Among other things, he points out, and this is his experience with wire tapping:

People must keep in mind the distinction between wire tapping of law enforcement agencies and by private individuals. The District Attorneys' Association of the State of New York is unanimous in favoring any legislation, no matter how harsh, against wire tapping or "bugging" by individuals.

A survey conducted in this State covering the five years ending 1954, showed that all the District Attorneys in our State, sixty-two in number, in a state with some seventeen million persons, procured a total on the average of 462 wire tap orders per year. This is just a little over one a day for all 62 District Attorneys. Surely this would indicate that the law enforcing agencies use the privilege of wire tapping with care and circumspection.

Ladies and gentlemen, I might say there is no reason to believe that the New York authorities would be any different from the authorities in Pennsylvania.

He further points out:

All the District Attorneys were also most emphatic in this survey in their expression that the instrument of wire tapping in the fight against crime was a most necessary instrument and in what I am sure you know is already a tough fight. Without it, we would be stripped of the most important weapon against procuring "higher-ups" in our fight against the narcotic evil, homicides and corruption in public office.

In my jurisdiction—that is, Kings County—where we have some three million people in a small area of eight by ten miles, we procured on the average about 50 orders a year. What is even more significant is that the ratio between wire tap orders and convictions is over 80 percent. I think this shows we do not use this method out of curiosity and do it only where we can say under oath that we have reasonable grounds to believe that evidence of crime can be procured."

He goes on further, but those points I wish to emphasize

The District Attorney of Philadelphia, Victor Blanc, who has led this fight—and ladies and gentlemen, I say this should rise above politics. If it were a political issue, I would be in favor of this amendment which would prohibit it absolutely, but I say it is not a political issue.

The District Attorney of Philadelphia said they used it in Philadelphia very sparingly. He went on to say that in three important matters he used wire tap. He pointed out, one, I believe, he said it was the Rickibini case, which was an arrest and a conviction for trafficking in narcotic drugs. You all admit that is indeed an nefarious business. Rickibini was sentenced to seven and a half to 15 years in prison. The evidence they got was procured by the use of wire tap. He went on to speak about the flourishing teen-age model and vice ring in Philadelphia and other suburban counties. He said the evidence was all obtained through the use of wire tap.

Again, as Mr. Eilberg said, it was wire tap evidence that led the United State Senate Committee to examine into and find the corruption that existed in various locals of certain unions. He mentioned the name of Jimmie Hoffa, with which we are all familiar because of the notoriety he recently achieved in the newspapers.

There is a gentleman in Philadelphia, and he is a Doctor of Osteopathy by profession, who writes very lengthy letters and who has great concern for law enforcement in Pennsylvania. Believe me, when you get his letters, they are difficult to read because they are three and four pages of single spaced type. I might add that the gentleman is a cripple. He is in a wheel chair and he is not able to get about. He writes letters and indeed, when you read them, you really have to do some soul searching, because he recognizes the problem and everything that he says is meaty.

He is not able to be here, he is not able to attend public hearings and put forth questions, so he asked Mr. Blanc in the event the city council held public hearings would it be permissible for him to ask a few questions of those proponents of the bill favoring the prohibition of wire tapping.

For that reason, if I may interrogate, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this amendment and put forth the three questions that Dr. Edward R. Gaffney of 1419 Comly Street, Philadelphia, has asked in his letter.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOLL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, and again I submit these are the questions I received, or rather Mr. Blanc received from Edward R. Gaffney.

Who will profit most if all wire tapping, even in its legal use by our law enforcement agencies while under the strict supervision of our courts, the law enforcement agencies, the public at large, the community, or the Communists, criminals, and possibly their legal representatives, were prohibited? Who would profit the most?

Mr. TOLL. You mean who would profit the most from the . . .

Mr. McCORMACK. If your amendments were to prevail?

Mr. TOLL. I think the people of this country, the people of this Commonwealth, would profit the most.

Mr. McCORMACK. What academic reason do you give for that?

Mr. TOLL. I am not giving an academic reason, I am giving you a real, practical, honest-to-goodness reason that they are taking away one of the rights which you have as an American citizen in their effort to expose so-called syndicated crime, which involves only a few. They are trying to take away the liberty and the rights of 10 million.

Mr. McCORMACK. What rights of individual citizens are you referring to?

Mr. TOLL. The right of privacy and the right to speak to other persons without intervention by anyone, police officials, district attorneys, or anybody else.

Mr. McCORMACK. Where did you get that right?

Mr. TOLL. It is the right of free speech. It is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. McCORMACK. There is nobody prohibiting free speech merely by tapping a wire, is there?

Mr. TOLL. Yes, it does. This interferes with it and practically prohibits it because—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz rise?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. This is very illuminating, but it reminds me of yesterday when we had the tax seminar. I think there is quite enough debate so far, there is going to be some more, this cross-floor conversation between the two eminent Representatives from Philadelphia is taking up a lot of time.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I rose to a point of order, Mr. Speaker. I do not think the discussion taking place is a parliamentary inquiry in the strict sense of the word.

The SPEAKER. As long as the gentlemen are on the subject before the House, the interrogation is in order. The interrogation may proceed on that basis.

Mr. McCORMACK. I ask, Mr. Speaker, do you really believe that because you think wire tapping is a dirty business and an invasion of the individual's privacy that this most important weapon against crime should be banned? If so, will you tell me, in case one of your loved ones were attacked, assaulted and then murdered by some thieves, or in case one of your loved ones were kidnapped and held in custody, would you refuse to allow the use of wire tapping to help our law enforcement agencies to get information which might lead them to the fiend responsible for the crime in time to save the life of the victim?

Mr. TOLL. I would be glad to rely upon the experience and the efforts of good detectives and good prosecuting attorneys, that have been in vogue in Pennsylvania for 170 years, and they did not need this particular method. I am sure good enforcement officers would be able to perform their duties without wire tapping.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, that is not my question. I say, assume it is an hypothesis. Assume you were unable through any other means to determine who this person was, would you then be in favor of permitting a wire tap by the police if they went to court and stated they had probable cause to believe that this particular person was involved in the crime? I would appreciate a yes or no answer, sir.

Mr. TOLL. No, I would not want to inflict it upon the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCORMACK. Does the gentleman really believe, Mr. Speaker, that by outlawing all wire tapping, whether it is a legal use or an illegal use, in all respects by law enforcement agencies when and where they think it necessary, it will aid in prosecuting them?

Mr. TOLL. Yes, this will give us a chance to prosecute them.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I think in this short period of time I have presented the arguments in favor of a very restricted, narrow and limited bill permitting law enforcement agencies to tap a wire or a line, as Mr. Gailey said.

I ask you to go into this with open hearts and open minds and not be swayed by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor or by His Excellency, the Governor. You know what happened last week in the Senate on the horse race bill. Do not be influenced by outside sources. Listen to the debate here, listen to the meat of it, listen to both views, the realistic view and the academic view, and I will be satisfied with the answer that you ladies and gentlemen on both sides of the House arrive at.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, it should be pointed out in the very inception that this is a non-political, non-partisan bill. It is good that it can be debated on the floor without the necessity of trying to draw party lines, for once, on a measure before the House.

Frankly, I am in favor of the Toll amendment which would restore this bill to its Senate version. However, I state that if the amendments are defeated and the bill comes to the floor for a vote in its present form, I will vote for it because I feel that some control of wire tapping is better than none at all.

The previous speaker spoke about the Coplin case. The only thing that happened in that particular case was that the prosecution was a little over-zealous. They had a conviction, they had a conviction without the use of wire tapping, but unfortunately they used the evidence so obtained. Perhaps the previous speaker does not know that.

At the present time there is no ban at all on wire tapping. In his presentation the district attorney told us of only three or four cases where wire tap was actually used. I submit to the House that if the persons detailed to wire tap in those particular cases, three of four instances, went to a circus, or went to a taproom in a bad neighborhood and sat down for the evening and had a few drinks, they would probably pick up as much information as they could during the time they spent tapping that wire.

The thing that really occurs to me is the question of the star chamber proceedings being introduced by the House amendment to this bill. It becomes especially important in some of the rural counties where you have one judge for a county or you have one judge for two or three counties. Now, judges are human just like anybody else. The judge has to listen to that wire tap then the wire tap is destroyed, but you tell me how in God's name that judge or anybody else who listened to that wire tap is going to turn a faucet in his mind and forget what he heard. It is just impossible to do. That judge will then forget what he heard on the wire tap, but he certainly cannot do it successfully. He may sit on a particular case where the accused has waived a jury trial. He cannot differentiate evidence, he cannot possibly forget what he heard on that particular wire tap.

I submit to you, today a telephone is just like a gas range in your home, or just like a toilet, if I can use that expression. It is something that over the years we have become very much used to. We use it for all kinds of purposes other than its original intent.

I understand over in Europe the telephone is used strictly for arranging appointments. That is not so in this country. The telephone is something which has been with us and is going to be with us.

You may not know this, but in order to wire tap it is not necessary to hook right into the line. Somebody can come along and lay an instrument a couple of feet from your line and tap your conversation. You know and I know that you use the telephone for every purpose. Members of your family use it. Of course, we do not intend to be bad, but sometimes things happen in the family which you would not want other people to know. I might be talking to my rabbi, you might be talking to your priest or minister about something pertinent and close to your family life. The person tapping that line must pick up that conversation. An unscrupulous person could use that particular information gained for unscrupulous ends. I say if you have to judge between the innocent and the guilty, I would rather see one guilty person go free because of a ban on wire tapping than see one innocent person harmed because we permit wire tapping in the state of Pennsylvania.

I request the Members of the House to vote in favor of the amendment.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would remind one of the prior speakers who rose to oppose the amendments that it is the selfsame academic view which he seeks to slough off which has kept us free. It has kept our Constitution strong, and it has kept would-be attackers from chipping away at the walls that guarantee our personal freedoms, the rights we have been given under our Constitution and Bill of Rights. I would remind you not to treat the academic view so lightly.

I rise to support these amendments and I would bring to the attention of this House that this same legislation was before this House in the 1955-1956 session. This House of Representatives by a vote of 135 to 34 passed a bill completely banning all forms of wire tapping, either by the police officials, the attorney general or the district attorney. At that time amendments were likewise sought to be introduced which would enable the police officials by court ruling to tap wires. But those amendments were defeated and the bill then went over in a form completely banning wire tapping to the other chamber. Unfortunately, that bill never got to see the light of day over there.

Even the proponents of a modified form of wire tap admit that wire tapping is at best a dirty business. Although I recognize that we must strike some sort of balance, between the interests of the public and the right of the individual, and no matter how delicate that balance may be we cannot sacrifice individual right when the end does not justify it.

There is yet to stand up here today anyone with specific and concrete information which would lead us to believe that the right to tap wires is an indispensable right of law enforcement agencies. As a matter of fact, one of the previous speakers, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, quoted some statistics as to the infrequency with which wire tap has been employed by the police in Kings County. That speaks for the fact that we should have a complete ban and not against the fact, because if the police can effectively undertake to do their work without the aid of wire tapping, then we should not give them such a right, when giving them such a right means such an insidious invasion of the rights which have been guaranteed to us, the right to be secure in our homes, in our personal thoughts and in our personal papers.

These people who want wire tap argue that it is an effective and absolutely necessary aid to the police in combating crime, that to be without the right to wire tap would be a hindrance, an obstruction. I respectfully submit, of course it would be an obstruction. Of course it would be a hindrance. But I dare say that every constitutional limitation we have had on police investigation and on police investigative methods has likewise been a hindrance.

One of the previous speakers said that at times in the olden days we had the right of the police to browbeat a suspect in the rear room of some local precinct, to rubber-hose him into a confession, the right to coerce a confession through the use of the rack or the thumb screw. All these things when they were taken away from the police of course presented obstructions to the police.

I respectfully submit if we are going to be concerned only with the idea of catching criminals without regard for our individual rights of privacy there is much more we can do to help the police than merely give them the right to wire tap. We could authorize the placement of a recording device in a confessional where sins are recounted every day in the week. Could we not give them the right to rifle our mail? What difference is there between a message which has been reduced to writing and a message which has been reduced to a mechanical medium such as a wire tap? There is none. But we do not give them that right because these rights that we are protecting must remain strong. If we give one, if we yield on one, we will suddenly find ourselves in a position where the wall, as I stated before, protecting these rights will be chipped away.

Some of the previous speakers have made a great to-do about statements which have been proffered to them by some law enforcement officials attesting to the fact that wire tapping is of tremendous assistance and a vital need to them. There is quite a bit of dispute among law enforcement officials as to whether wire tapping is needed. As a matter of fact, the top police enforcement official in this country, J. Edgar Hoover, has said that wire tapping is inefficient, it is archaic and it encourages the police to neglect more efficient and more proper methods of police investigation.

You heard a statement that the former first Assistant District Attorney of the Philadelphia County, Michael von Moschzisker, was opposed to wire tapping. The Attorney General of this Commonwealth, even prior to assuming that office, was opposed, and his experience in the office of Attorney General has not convinced him as yet to the contrary. He likewise is opposed.

I would like to ask the indulgence of the House for just a moment in this connection. What is most interesting are some statements that appeared in an opinion written by Justice Hofstadter of the New York County Supreme Court. The State of New York, as you know, has limited wire tapping. In this particular case a police official presented an application to Judge Hofstadter for a wire tap, and this is what Judge Hofstadter, a man who was confronted with these applications daily, had to say about this situation:

Some years ago I instituted the requirement that every application to me for an interception order be supported by the indorsement of an officer of rank in the police department, and that written reports of the results obtained from any interception ordered be thereafter submitted to me. Even with these restrictions I have granted the orders with reluctance.

And this is the important part of his statement:

The reports received by me, instead of allaying my anxiety, merely deepened it. These showed some arrests and fewer convictions and then rarely, if ever, for a heinous offense. The sense of uneasiness born of this situation, as well as the current discussions of wire tapping, have led me to give the problem further study.

The thing that is most offensive about wire tapping is the fact that wire tapping has as a necessary result an extensive intrusion on the right of privacy of innocent persons. When a tap is placed on a wire, that tap is maintained day and night, 24 hours. Every conversation, no matter how foreign to the stated objective of the wire tap, is heard. Every conversation, no matter how confidential, how intimate, whether it concerns professional advice, business, or confidential matters, is laid bare. Every conversation to the phone where the tap is placed is overheard. Every conversation from the phone where the tap is placed is overheard.

I respectfully submit it would be a severe intrusion on our right of privacy to give the police even this limited right of wire tap, and it is for that reason I ask the Members of the House to support these amendments.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I approach the apparently impossible task of clarifying this situation in the course of three minutes.

I am for the bill as is. I say to the House that the one way to destroy the need for wire tapping in criminal cases is to permit it, because as soon as you permit wire tapping in criminal cases the criminals will cease to use the telephone. And that is axiomatic.

So if we permit the use of wire tapping in criminal cases and increase the penalties for the use of wire tapping in cases that are not criminal, you just solve the entire situation as far as wire tapping is concerned.

Miss DUFFY. Mr. Speaker, if the FBI probably the most effective law enforcement agency in the world, does not need wire tapping, I do not think we need it either. I think it is merely a substitute for good police service.

We will have to remember that under the present proposed bill when the police or the D.A. apply for a warrant, they do not have any direct evidence and they do not have any indirect evidence which would convict the suspected person of a crime, otherwise the warrant could not issue because the law provides that they cannot issue unless there is no other method of obtaining evidence. Therefore, the warrant is issued in a star chamber proceedings on a mere suspicion alone. The judge has no evidence at all to go by. This means the police can be in the employ of private detectives who wish to obtain evidence for other reasons. They can walk into court and obtain a warrant and therefore obtain a cloak of righteousness to do something which would be otherwise illegal.

I will vote for the amendments, but if they are defeated because of this cloak of righteousness that is given to an illegal act, I will have to vote against the bill.

I think the bill itself is a monstrous thing and I request everyone to support the amendments.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, we have presented to you the finest of Philadelphia lawyers here this afternoon with their facts and figures.

I would like to take a minute to ask every Member of this House to sit down and use common sense.

How many of you Members are called by your constituents during your week-end stay at home? How many are interested in House Bill No. 1 or Senate Bill No. 4? How many asked you to go along with their views? If one of your opponents had a tap on your wire, he could immediately use that as influence.

If you go back to the oath we took, we are not to be influenced by anyone but our own good judgment.

If the police of Philadelphia—I say Philadelphia because I am familiar with those great big heroes—if they do not know who the narcotic peddlers are, or the numbers rackets people or bookies, they have no right being on the police department. I can go down the street and name each and every one of them, if I wanted to put the finger on them. I do not need a telephone tap on them.

When they invade our privacy, we are likely to not answer our phones to find out whether Mr. Johnson has called me or Mr. Readinger, or Mr. Speaker, to ask me about something because there is a little tick on that phone 24 hours a day. Why? Because I have been elected by the people to represent them, and because if they are in trouble I am going to try to help them. Then the police are permitted immediately to use words of information. If they spoke the truth from their reports on wire tapping, it would be fine, but they cut out the words on a tap they do not want used and immediately make their own stories from the tape.

We are not in Russia today. We are in America. We are in the good Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Why is it the state troopers of Pennsylvania do not use the wire tap? We have enough intelligent men to go out and do a job. If they can do it, let the rest of the police forces in Pennsylvania do it.

I say let us vote for the Toll amendments. Let us free ourselves from this stink of wire tapping.

Mr. SHIELDS. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this bill in its amended form and I support Mr. Toll's amendments wholeheartedly.

I have always been against wire tapping in any form. I think it infringes upon the private rights of individuals. One of the great heritages we enjoy under our American Constitution is freedom of speech, and I would think that that freedom of speech is included in conversation over the telephone.

When it comes to the place where you cannot conduct a conversation over the telephone when you are in terror, a man is helpless. Take the freedom away from the people and you have a great problem on hand.

I recall the days of inner Reich Germany and the terror and the fright and the insecurity of the German people. Why? Just because such a condition existed.

I support Mr. Toll's amendments wholeheartedly. I appeal to the Members on each side of the House to support them because whether we consider it or not, it is a great issue to be decided, and I think we should be very much concerned about it in voting.

I appeal to you to support Mr. Toll's amendments.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia and to urge that this House defeat the amendments and then tomorrow pass Senate Bill No. 97 so as to give this Commonwealth, I believe, the best wire tapping statute of any state in this Union.

This is not a New York statute. This is a new type of statute replete with every conceivable safeguard of rights of privacy.

I submit to you that under this Act as it is now written, these tapes cannot be used in evidence. In fact, they must be destroyed at the time of the expiration of the original warrant which runs only for a period of 30 days, unless it is renewed by a second application to the court.

I submit to you that basically there are the two fundamental reasons why this is a good bill in its present form. One reason was very well stated by the distinguished gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

This bill, by allowing the police officers to wire tap in proper cases prohibits the widespread use by criminals, by the very existence of the bill, of their best means of communication, the telephone, to carry on illicit activities particularly of narcotics and of gambling and those types of activities.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, I respectfully submit the distinguished gentleman who proposed the amendments is tilting at windmills. The only conceivable way under this bill in which wire tap evidence could be used in labor disputes for blackmail purposes, or shakedowns or to reveal political secrets, if any there might be, would be for the police officers involved to violate this statute by so using that information. If they did violate it, they would be guilty of a misdemeanor herein set out subject to all the penalties herein set forth.

If the amendments of Mr. Toll were adopted, exactly the same situation would prevail. If the police officers are going to be crooked, wires could be tapped in violation of the statutes, and they could use that evidence in the same manner.

I submit to you that we have a choice between trusting the police officers of this Commonwealth or trusting those people we know who are engaged in criminal activities. Therefore, I urge the defeat of these amendments.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I also urge the House to vote down the amendments of the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll.

I think about everything has been said on this subject which is worthwhile saying. I would like to add one thing about the rights of privacy. I think all those who are not attorneys who are Members of the House should understand that the right to privacy is not a constitutional right. In fact, as used in the sense in which it has been used in debate on the floor today, I am not just exactly sure what it means. I suppose essentially it means merely a privilege not to have your telephone conversations listened to by outsiders.

Of course, there have been many cases on this, and it is the type of issue which involves the sort of privilege on which courts have split five to four and on which reasonable minds may differ.

However, reduced to its essentials, in my view, what you have to do is balance society's interest in the prevention of crime against the privilege each of us has not to have our telephone conversations listened to. And for my part, I would much prefer to have my own telephone line tapped and perhaps some of my business secrets listened to than I would to think that a narcotics peddler or some other type of vicious criminal would escape if my line were not tapped.

The last thing I want to say as Chairman of the Committee out of which this bill came, the fact which influenced me a great deal in making up my mind, was the statement of the Philadelphia District Attorney who stated that this whole subject is now being studied very seriously under a grant of $40,000 from the Ford Foundation. I would hate under these circumstances to take away prematurely from our police force any weapon that combats the rising crime rate in Pennsylvania.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, having been a sponsor of a bill last year similar to the one that is now on the calendar, I oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, and favor the bill in its present form on the calendar.

I would merely like to make one remark in connection with those made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Amarando.

I would have no objections whatever to anybody taping my wires to find out who called me in connection with legislation. So far as my constituents or the people of Pennsylvania are concerned. I am their public servant. They have the right under our Constitution to petition us and to seek us out to express their views in connection with legislation. However, should that person who calls me offer me $500 to vote for a bill, that becomes another matter, and I do not know but what your wires should be tapped.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the proponents of these amendments lay great stress upon the fact that they are sustaining the basic rights of citizenship. I would like to take exception with their viewpoint and remark briefly that no American citizen has any right that is absolute. All our rights are conditioned and are qualified.

The right to own property, for instance, is subject to the greater right of the public in eminent domain. The right to own property is subject to the greater rights of the neighborhood in that that property cannot be used to commit a nuisance and to interfere with the rights of others. And so it goes with every right we have, including this rather vague right of privacy.

I do not know what it is that the proponents of these amendments are afraid of. I do not know what it is in their lives that they are ashamed of, and particularly I cannot understand what type of telephone conversations they indulge in that they are so concerned about. I would say the only argument made by the proponents of these amendments which makes any sense at all to me is that if we cannot trust our law enforcement agencies, we cannot trust our courts. I believe the proponents of these amendments, because of that apparent belief of theirs, have apparently lost faith in the due processes of our constitutional government.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, because he has not yet spoken.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, yields to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

I think this is a case where the cure is more harmful than the disease. I would not, for one moment, question the good intentions of the gentleman who spoke, and the lady who spoke, in favor of these amendments. However, seriously, I believe under these amendments the chief benefactor would be the felons, the miscreants, the racketeers and possibly the subversives.

I ask the ladies and gentlemen on both sides of the House to defeat the amendments, and incidentally I am against the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make two brief statements.

One, I do not think there is anybody in this House who can testify the FBI does not tap wires. As a matter of fact, I specifically cited to you the Coplin case where the court threw it out on the basis that wire tap evidence was used to convict. I think that the lady from Philadelphia was not correct when she said the FBI does not tap wires, if she said that.

Two, I want to point out to you that the various proponents of the amendment have cited the various devices to obtain confessions, such as the torture chamber and the rack and the screw. Those are not analogous to this because they are involuntary. Those methods were designed to extract confessions that were not truthful for fear of bodily harm. People subjected to those torture devices plainly confessed to crimes they did not commit because they did not want to be harmed, but certainly tapping a wire is the most voluntary thing. It does not hurt the person involved, and it simply is not analogous. I just cannot, for the life of me, understand why they would bring up those torture devices.

Mr. FINEMAN. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AGNEW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Will the gentleman tell me if he is honestly of the belief that we who have argued for these amendments take this position because we are concerned lest some wire-tapping official might find something on our record that might show us in a light not too favorable?

Mr. AGNEW. No. I believe the proponents of these amendments are sincere.

Miss DUFFY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to Mr. McCormack, I wish to say that probably what I should have said is that the FBI does not use wire tapping with the permission of J. Edgar Hoover.

J. Edgar Hoover does not allow wire tapping. If it goes on, it goes on without his permission.

Here is what he has to say about it:

"... an archaic and inefficient practice which has proved a definite handicap or barrier in the development of ethical, scientific and sound investigative techniques."

In this quote he means wire tapping. He also said in 1938 that he had "men who are expert in tapping wires, but if we let them practice it to any extent they would turn crooks in no time."

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, anyone who has lived with a party line can live with this bill.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House. It seems almost everyone who has spoken favors restriction as far as tapping wires is concerned. Some favor total restriction; some favor partial restriction. Obviously, it is bad to tap wires. Apparently those who oppose my amendments feel it is for some people, like the police captain or district attorney as approved by a court, to do the tapping.

Let me ask you a question about the privacy that you get in your mail. When you receive a letter, it is absolutely prohibited for anyone to open the letter that someone sends to you. If you recommend this method of getting information by police officials from tapping wires, would you recommend that Congress should permit the opening of mail that is sent to suspects? I do not believe you would think of such a thing.

The Senate debated this thing thoroughly and the vote was 48 to 2. I hope the sentiment of the Senate on the original bill which came here will be supported by the House and that you will support these amendments.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on behalf of the Toll Amendments.

I have heard some opponents of these amendments indicate to the House that possibly there is a narrow group and a narrow few in favor of amending this bill so that it provides for an absolute ban on wire tapping.

I would like to read a short list of some of the people who are in favor of an outright ban on all wire tapping: The Pennsylvania CIO Council, the Berks County Bar Association, Clearfield County Bar Association, Lackawanna County Bar Association, Montgomery County Bar Association, Northampton County Bar Association, Philadelphia Bar Association, Wyoming County Bar Association; Pennsylvania Bar Association, Committee on Criminal Justice and Law Enforcement; Pennsylvania Council of Churches, Legislative Committee; Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends, Civil Liberties Committee; American Jewish Congress, Philadelphia Council & Women's Division; American Civil Liberties Union, Greater Philadelphia Branch, and the Women's International League, Pennsylvania Branch.

This is a listing of the groups in favor of an outright ban on wire tapping.

I would like to read a paragraph from the Scranton Times entitled, "Lawyers Oppose Wire Taps."

Directors of the Lackawanna Bar Association, in taking a firm stand against the use of wire tapping in criminal cases under any circumstances are in a large measure reflecting growing public sentiment against this furtive practice. The use of evidence obtained by this method is abhorrent to the entire American system of justice.

I would like to read a paragraph from the Reading Times in which they are discussing wire tapping and a partial ban on wire tapping:

"In this connection—" that is partial ban on wire tapping—"it will be remembered that in 1954 Congress refused to pass a bill, requested by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, which would have legalized wire tapping by law enforcement officers. Much testimony was taken by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which in the end concluded there was no need even for the restricted sort of wire tapping represented by a bill which would require judicial permission for every specific tap. Not even the necessities of national security justified wire tapping, the committee decided, so didn't recommend the legislation.

One of the speakers who spoke before me indicated the District Attorney Hogan of New York seemed to think it was a great thing to have wire tapping, and it was a great aid in the prosecution and obtaining evidence to obtain convictions of criminals.

I would, as a matter of statistics, indicate this to you. Over a 13-year period from 1942 to 1954, during that time—these are accurate statistics—over 300,000 criminal prosecutions were instituted by the District Attorney and the Police Department of New York. During that 13 year period, there were 70 applications per year, or less than one-tenth of one percent of all the criminal prosecutions that were instituted. Of the total of 900 applications that were made over that period, convictions resulted in 300-and-some cases, one-third of one per cent of all the criminal prosecutions during that entire period.

If anybody can indicate to me why it is so necessary, if we have efficient police operation, to have limited wire tapping, and in over a period of 12 years handling over 300,000 indictments, to have less than one-tenth of one percent of effective prosecutions, I would like him to get up and explain it.

Two years ago when we debated this same bill, Mr. Eilberg and Mr. McCormack very, very eloquently got up here and gave us the same information they are giving us today and indicated the absolute need for police permission to use wire tapping. However, what they do when they give us this type of discussion is this: they do it from the narrow concept, they do it in the hysteria of these times. You must realize that as Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes has said, "Wire tapping is a dirty business," and every proponent of wire tapping, no matter who he be, has indicated that it is a dirty business.

The people who speak in favor of wire tapping on a limited scale always indicate that it is "dirty, but." This is the situation exactly. How far can we go with that "but."

It reminds of the story about the man who had a daughter who was slightly impregnated. As he looked around trying to find a husband for this daughter, whenever he saw a prospective husband and was asked the question as to how pure and undriven his daughter was, he said "Well, she is only slightly pregnant."

Now what difference does it make as to how far gone she is, and what difference does it make as to how dirty this business is. If it is dirty to any extent, then the police should not use it.

Mr. Andrews has indicated to us that if we had a partial ban on wire tapping and allow it to a limited extent, it would be just axiomatic that criminals would not thereafter use telephones because they would know they were going to be caught. The truth of the matter would be that at the present time there is no ban whatsoever on wire tapping; and if the police do watch over wires and they do tap wires, not excessively but to a great extent, under no occasion has any criminal not used the telephone because he knew his wire was being tapped.

The proponents of this type of legislation use the fact that maybe we will catch some "syndicated crime"; maybe it will stop some large scale invasion into public decency. But I also say this, since when do we justify the end by the means? If that were so, then we could create any type of police incursion into the rights of the individual and say it is all right because we are catching some criminals.

We must view this on a long-scale basis. We must realize what we are doing here is creating an incursion into privacy, and that if we allow this little bit to be done, sometime in the future we will just allow a little more, and a little more until we find instead of only allowing little things to be done we have allowed an erosion of all our privacies.

We must realize if we start with small things, over a long period of time these small things can become magnified. If we give away our rights one at a time, in the end we will have no rights. From that aspect, realize that it will be your telephone conversation that will be heard.

I am not saying anybody here is a criminal or anybody here has any thoughts about performing a crime, but how do you know what the people to whom you speak are doing? How do you know that what you say will not be heard because you are talking to somebody whose wires are under surveillance.

I leave this for your digestion and I trust you will realize what you are doing to the liberties that we hold sacred if you fail to vote for the Toll Amendments.

Mr. O'DELL. May I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELFAND. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'DELL. Did I understand the gentleman to read a list of organizations which are opposed to wire tapping?

Mr. GELFAND. Yes, I did.

Mr. O'DELL. Was the ADA on that list?

Mr. GELFAND. Yes, the ADA was on the list.

Mr. O'DELL. It was on the list. That is all I wanted to know, thank you.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I am no lawyer. I think a layman is crazy to get into a debate with a lawyer. But I do take exception to one remark that was made here on this bill.

I would like to interrogate Mr. Tompkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, you made a statement that somebody is liable to offer $500 for passing a bill in this house. Do you know of anything like that ever happening?

Mr. TOMPKINS. No, I do not. I was merely pointing up a distinction between tapping in a conversation which Mr. Amarando referred to and stating that I would be perfectly willing to have mine tapped because anybody has the right to contact me.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman has any foundation for making a statement like that. I think it is very much out of place to publicize something like this in this House.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not say that anybody had been offered that. I said if they had been offered that, it would constitute a bribe, and they should have the wire tapped.

Mr. HEAVEY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, while I am on my feet, I want to pay my respects to you personally and also to the Members of this House. I cannot conceive of any finer body in this United States than the ladies and gentlemen within the walls of this Chamber.

Mr. KNECHT. Mr. Speaker, when Mr. Andrews mentioned something about a party line a while ago, it brought to mind an incident in my experience on wire tapping

As a school teacher in Oklahoma in 1912, I boarded with a family who had a telephone on a 12-party line. Every time the telephone rang, every receiver on that line was lifted.

On one particular morning I was eating breakfast and had my horse saddled. I waited about a half hour for my lunch to be packed since it was not ready. I was about to ask the woman of the house whether she wouldn't please hang up the receiver and fix my lunch when she made this remark. "Say ain't you all gonna stop talkin? My arm is getting tired holding this here receiver."

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I certainly do not want, as the result of the remarks of Mr. Heavey, anybody in this House to think I was implying anybody in this House has ever done what was suggested. I have just as high a regard for every Member of this House today, and all the previous Members that I have ever served with, as Mr. Heavey or anybody else. I do not like the implication he threw out in connection with it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, in regard to the telephone conversations the gentleman referred to on a 12-party line, I want to inform him that there is a bill in this House at the present time limiting the number of people on a party line.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. SCHWARTZ and TOLL and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 637, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) changing the definition of the term "trailer".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Light.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Light, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIGHT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to inquire the purpose of this bill, just why it was introduced and what we are attempting to correct, that is all.

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, the word "trailer" is added following the word "wagon" in line 6, page 3. To clarify the meaning and the use of what may be termed and classified as a trailer by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, I have a definition from Bob Shreffler that I think ought to be read into the record to clarify this one word.

Every vehicle without motive power, designed to carry property or passengers or designed and used exclusively for living quarters wholly on its own structure, and to be drawn by a motor vehicle or tractor: Provided that wagons and agricultural machinery—and following the word "and" we inserted the word "trailer"—drawn by motor vehicles or tractors for the transportation of the agricultural products of the owner of such wagons, trailers or machinery, or returning from such transportation, shall not be included within such definition, and no fees shall be required to operate such vehicles.

At the present time it is doubtful whether you could attach for instance, a manure spreader or any other four-wheeled wagon, unless it was strictly a wagon, to a tractor and move it on the highway. In order to cover the items that are not strictly a wagon, is the purpose of putting the word "trailer" in this amendment.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, as I look at the bill, it is my understanding we were eliminating the word "trailer" and adding to it a "wagon equipped with trailer hitch." That is why I am wondering whether or not this bill is correct.

Mr. LIGHT. No. Mr. Shreffler rules that a wagon must have a hitch to a tractor in order to qualify to move on the highway. Because of other things that may be used in place of a wagon, manure-spreader or any other four-wheel contrivance on which you can lay things, this word trailer was put in.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, Is the word "trailer" being eliminated from the bill now?

Mr. LIGHT. No. The word "trailer" is not eliminated. May I just continue reading the other paragraph of Bob Shreffler's answer.

"The Vehicle Code defines a vehicle as follows: 'Every device in, upon, or by which any person or property is or may be transported or drawn upon a public highway, excepting tractors, agricultural machinery, devices moved by human power or used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks: Provided, That, for the purpose of Article X of this act, a bicycle or a ridden animal or a tractor or any device moving upon wheels on a public highway, except a device moving upon wheels upon stationary rails or tracks on a public highway, shall be deemed a vehicle.'"

And the word "trailer" was inserted in there for the purpose of adding to or allowing the use of something that may not be strictly a four-wheeled wagon.

Mr. LOPRESTI. The way I read the bill, the word "trailer" is being eliminated and I am just asking the gentleman whether or not that is what he intends to do by this bill?

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Strausser just handed me this amendment which I did not have on this bill:

"Provided that wagons equipped with trailer hitch" is the amendment that I should have had instead of simply the word "trailer." It would mean now, Provided that wagons equipped with trailer hitch and agricultural machinery drawn by motor vehicles" and so on.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I still come back to my original question. As I read the bill, on line 7, wagons and trailer had been in, and trailer is now stricken out and "wagons equipped with trailer hitch" has been added. Now, are we eliminating trailer? Is this a bill limiting rather than granting an additional privilege? That is what I am afraid of. I am just wondering.

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, the original intent was that trailer should be added to wagons to cover those instruments or pieces of equipment that are not strictly like wagons, such as manure-spreaders and four-wheeled wagons. In the amendment that was prepared later, "wagons equipped with trailer hitch" was inserted in place of "trailer." And the new amendment as it now stands is, "that wagons wagons equipped with trailer vehicles" and so on.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Is the bill now in the form that the gentleman wants?

Mr. LIGHT. That is correct, wagons equipped with trailer hitch.

Mr. LOPRESTI. And trailer is to be left out?

Mr. LIGHT. That is right.

Mr. LOPRESTI. All right. That is all I wanted to know. I just wanted to understand it.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. PIPER.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 802, entitled:

An Act requiring the Secretary of Health to rename the Charles H. Miner Sanatorium located at Hamburg Berks County Pennsylvania the Hamburg State Sanatorium

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, last week when this bill was debated, I pleaded on behalf of Dr. Miner's reputation and character that the bill be defeated.

I again arise for that purpose for the reasons that everyone has heard and I will not elaborate on those.

However, I would like to bring this to the attention of the Members. Last week the Berks County delegates in force on both sides of the House said all they wanted back was their hospital in Hamburg. For the information of the membership I have since found the startling news that the hospital is not in Hamburg. It is in the Township of Windsor. Three miles out of Hamburg.

I have also found out that it never was known as the Hamburg State Hospital. It was known as the State Tuberculosis Hospital No. 3.

I have also in the past hour received a telegram from Dr. Charles H. Miner. Originally I said these hospitals' names, four in all, been changed and if that was wrong, all names should be changed back. However, I must now retract that after reading this very moving and stirring telegram from Dr. Miner. This is addressed to me and to the Legislature:

"Deeply appreciate the efforts of the Luzerne County Representatives and others in support of the action of the Advisory Health Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Health in redesignating State Tuberculosis Sanatorium No. 3 at Hamburg, the Charles H. Miner State Hospital. The cause of public health can be better served than by controversy over the name of a hospital and resistance to those who oppose the designation in my name.

I urgently request, however, that the redesignation by the advisory health board of State Tuberculosis Sanatorium No. 1 at Mount Alto, No. 2 at Cresson and No. 4 at Philadelphia in honor of Drs. Samuel G. Dixon, Lawrence F. Flick and Henry Landis shall remain unchanged as these men whose names have been so honored have made great contributions to the public health of the people of Pennsylvania which should be given lasting recognition." Signed, Charles Howard Miner, Md.

I ask you again this week to vote down this bill for the preservation of a name. The 22nd Chapter, the first verse of Proverbs says, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favor rather than silver and gold."

I ask you to preserve the name of Charles Howard Miner.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I again want to say Berks County nor Hamburg is casting any reflections on Dr. Miner. Since 1914 the hospital has been known as the Hamburg State Sanatorium. It is true on the records is Hamburg Tuberculosis Hospital No. 3.

The first fire company of Hamburg was formed at that hospital. The people who were employed at that hospital have always been from Hamburg the vicinity of Windsor Township.

We are only asking that for what is rightfully belonging to Hamburg in Berks County be called the Hamburg State Sanatorium.

Shall the bill pass finally?

I think the House has been very orderly and we have done a good job. I personally want to congratulate everybody on a job which I feel was well done today. I feel the Speaker will join me in this statement.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman and agrees entirely with that statement.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, May 9, 1957

The House met at 9:00 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Dr. Orville J. Fleming, Pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, who in former times didst lead our fathers forth into a great place, and set their feet in a large room, give Thy grace, we humbly beseech Thee, to us their children, that we may always approve ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will.

Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Defend our liberties; preserve our unity, save us from lawlessness and violence; from discord and confusion; from pride and arrogance and from every evil way.

Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom we entrust leadership, may they this day stand tall and think clearly, to the end there may be good government at home, and in Thine own good time, peace with all the world. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail.

All this we ask in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DUNN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 104.

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1957.

The mining of anthracite coal has been an active and extremely important industry in the Commonwealth. Anthracite coal has been to be procured many times by a method called "strip mining" which entailed the clearing away of much forest land and excavating large areas of the surface of the land. Unfortunately years of such activity have resulted in leaving many acres of our countryside in a razed and cavernous condition. The stripped areas surrounding most of the communities are dangerous to life and property, an ugly eyesore not only to the people that are compelled to live there because of family and economic ties, but also to the traveler, visitor and tourist. The unsightly scar is not the symbol of beautiful Pennsylvania or modern civilization but a mark of indifference due to the lack of information to many that could take a hand in removing some of the ugly sight near most of those communities.

It is sincerely believed that such a vast rebeautification and reforestation program will do much to enhance the natural beauty of our country side and will do much to attract industries, businesses, recreation centers, parks, visitors and tourists to these areas that have been capable of having their former natural beauty restored. However, prior to embarking upon this laudable course of action, many facts and much information will have to be made available; therefore be it

Resolved (That Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission conduct a thorough study of the matter and determine among other things the total acreage that has been excavated and razed by strip mining activities in the Commonwealth, the total estimated cost of a restoration program, and the possible means by which such a project can be financed; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislature to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. DAVIS.

RESOLUTION No. 105.

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1957.

Farmers and garden owners of Pennsylvania suffer considerable losses from the feeding and preying of birds upon growing crops, vegetable produce and domestic fowls.

Various birds under Pennsylvania statutes are unprotected predators. Nevertheless depredations of birds continue; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission study the effects of such depredations upon the garden and farm economies of Pennsylvania with special attention given to the features of (1) whether or not the list of predator birds should be expanded to include more common varieties of birds which feed upon vegetable gardens, (2) whether it be feasible to set up some form of fiscal, actuarially sound, insurance as added protection to farmers and garden owners against such losses, and (3) a review of tested methods for countering the feeding and preying of birds against farms and gardens, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. LIGHT, GOODLING, STONER and BREISCH.

RESOLUTION No. 106.

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1957.

The protection of the public health includes both the prevention of adulteration and misbranding of foods and the imposition of positive duties upon food manufacturers, processors, and sellers to offer pure, wholesome food, accurately and truthfully labeled.

While the laws enacted by the Federal Government dealing with both the misbranding and adulteration and the truthful labeling and representation of foods, in their application to interstate commerce, operate to some extent to protect the citizens of the Commonwealth yet the Commonwealth's obligation to provide safeguards for the health of its citizens is not discharged by a reliance upon the Federal Government, and it remains the right and duty of the Commonwealth to take whatever steps necessary to insure that foods manufactured, processed, and sold within our State be wholesome and be completely and accurately labeled.

The Commonwealth's food laws deal primarily with preventing the adulteration and misbranding of foods and but infrequently provide for the complete and accurate labeling and advertising of foods therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the safeguarding of the health of the citizens of the Commonwealth both through the prevention of manufacture and sale of misbranded, adulterated, unwholesome, or deleterious foods and through requirements for complete and accurate labeling and advertising of foods.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(The House sang "Happy Birthday")

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair requests the Speaker to return to the rostrum.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the lady from Montgomery for so ably presiding during the first reading calendar.

The Chair also extends birthday congratulations to the lady. The Chair was not aware of the fact that it was the lady's birthday. However, we feel we should also thank the ladies of the House who sang.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am proceeding today on the assumption that all of those who are interested personally, or by reason of the constituency they serve, in measures listed on today's calendar, are present in the Hall of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would not be so naive as to expect the Majority leadership would be inclined to tailor action for purpose of serving the convenience of absentee Legislators, irrespective of whether they are members of the majority or the minority party.

The majority party leadership in this House is composed of men who have had handed to them a legislative program which they desire to enact as soon as it is legislatively possible to do so.

I would be grateful, Mr. Speaker, if the Chair would indulge me to the extent of considering a legislative inquiry.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRIES

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we have on today's calendar a considerable number of bills with which the membership generally is not familiar.

Would it be in order, Mr. Speaker, for those who are in doubt concerning the purpose which any particular piece of legislation, particularly the measures on second reading, is designed to serve to ask that the measure in question be explained to the House by its sponsor?

The SPEAKER. In answer to the gentleman's parliamentary inquiry, the Chair feels that would certainly be a proper request.

Mr. ANDREWS. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. And a bill on second reading is subject to debate.

Mr. ANDREWS. Would the Chair indulge me in considering a further parliamentary inquiry?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it in order, when a controversial bill is pending on second reading, to move that it be recommitted to the committee from which it came?

The SPEAKER. Such a motion would be in order, but it is understanding of the Chair that there has been an agreement with the leadership that such motions would be made because of Members desiring more time to study the bills on second reading.

Mr. ANDREWS. A further parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

If a motion to recommit fails and the measure in question is admittedly controversial, is it in order to ask for a roll call as to whether or not the measure in question should pass on second reading?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the Constitution provides that any two Members of this House can demand a roll call on bills on second reading.

Mr. ANDREWS. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

One further parliamentary inquiry.

Is it always in order, when a measure is pending on final passage, to ask for a roll call which would require every Member present to answer distinctly when his name is called? In other words, is not a fast roll call evidence, in and of itself, of a consent calendar, and therefore a procedure to which any Member of the House is privileged to object?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct. If any person demands a slow roll call, or objects to a fast roll call, the roll must be called at length.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the Speaker.

And now, Mr. Speaker, if the Members present will indulge me, I would like to make a further brief statement.

At the present time, two constitutional powers would seem to be in a state of balance. One power is the power that a majority of this House enjoys of enacting legislation which it approves.

The other power is the power of the executive, who at his discretion, can veto the legislation which the General Assembly in its wisdom enacts.

It would therefore seem to me that if the leadership of this House desires to conserve its time and energy, the executive branch of our government and the leaders of the majority party in the General Assembly should reach, so far as is humanly possible, an understanding concerning the outlines of the legislative program which the majority party proposes to enact.

We will not conserve time if we reach the stage where the majority party endeavors primarily to place the executive in the hole politically by means of legislation which the executive must needs veto, while the executive, on the other hand, endeavors to place the majority party in the hole, as it functions in the House and Senate, through the exercise of his veto power.

Mr. Speaker, you will find that the minority has no disposition to obstruct the orderly procedure of this House, but by your answers to the parliamentary inquiries you have indicated that there are certain very proper procedures to which any Member of this House can resort, if it becomes apparent there is an undue haste, a haste so insistent that it makes it impossible for the Members of this House actually to acquaint themselves with pending legislation.

I have made these parliamentary inquiries so that it may be on the record that certain steps can be taken to make certain that this House proceeds in orderly fashion in conformity with the traditions which have been established during past sessions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this particular bill I believe is one which, from the standpoint of Allegheny County, is highly controversial. I would like to suggest they be given a little time to reconcile the differences, if possible, concerning this bill. It would obviate, I think, debate if that could be done.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader with regard to this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have a copy of the bill before him?

Mr. JOHNSON. I was in the act of getting it.

Mr. GAILEY. I would refer the gentleman to page 1 of the bill, Section 1, and ask the gentleman to advise the House under the terms of this bill how many members would be on this committee from the majority party and how many from the minority party?

Mr. JOHNSON. There would be two of the minority party from each Chamber on the committee.

Mr. GAILEY. And four from the Majority Party from each Chamber, is that correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Gailey, I am sorry there is a reverberation from your microphone and I cannot seem to hear the gentleman.

Mr. GAILEY. I do not know whether it is my reverberant voice or the reverberant microphone.

I would ask the gentleman, am I correct that this bill provides for eight members from the majority party and four members from the minority party?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say that that is the way it would work out, yes.

Mr. GAILEY. Now I refer the gentleman to page 3 of this bill—

Mr. JOHNSON. May I interrupt the gentleman?

It would, of course, depend on how we were situated, whether the House was Democratic or whether the Senate was Republican, and so forth.

Obviously, the chairman of the committee would be of the majority party and we, of course, have a split Legislature occasionally as well as vice versa.

Mr. GAILEY. Under the present representation in both chambers, it would be, however, eight to four, is that not correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say so.

Mr. GAILEY. On page 3, Section 2 of the bill, am I correct in saying section 2 provides for subcommittees to be appointed by the chairmen of those particular committees?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct. That is the language of the bill.

Mr. GAILEY. So the membership on any given subcommittee would be purely up to the discretion of the chairman, is that not so?

Mr. JOHNSON. There is no limitation on or indication of whom he might appoint on a subcommittee. That is correct.

Mr. GAILEY. I refer the gentleman to page 4, Section 4, subsection (3). I would ask the gentleman whether or not he is of the opinion that the language contained in that subsection covers the very area which the Auditor General is expected to cover?

Mr. JOHNSON. Conceivably there could be some overlapping. I believe if you realize the importance of this bill to a legislative body and the necessity of regarding us in the General Assembly who are accountable to our constituents for the conduct of the government, in the opinion of good sound government as expressed by many states in the Union, this type of approach to legislative control seems to be the answer to sound economy as far as our government is concerned.

Mr. GAILEY. The answer to my question was a qualified "yes?"

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say the answer is yes with qualifications; that there could conceivably be some overlapping. He is an independent fiscal officer and is not amenable to the General Assembly. We are amenable directly to the people.

Mr. GAILEY. I would refer the gentleman to pages 6 and 7 of this bill, Section 10, and ask whether or not the duties of the legislative controller as set forth in that section do not fall within the same category and are not in effect the same duties as the Budget Secretary, a present member of the Executive Staff?

Mr. JOHNSON. My answer is yes. Conceivably the Budget Director of the Governor's Office could obtain this information. Unfortunately, once he has obtained it, it is not available to the General Assembly; and if it is made available, it is an abbreviated form and has been thoroughly edited and is practically valueless to us in trying to appraise the budget.

Mr. GAILEY. Do I take it then that once again the gentleman's answer is a qualified "yes?"

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say that is correct.

Mr. GAILEY. I call the gentleman's attention to page 5, Section 6, wherein the duties and the authority of this committee or a subcommittee are set forth. I would ask the gentleman whether or not there is any aspect of state government which could not be looked into by such committee under the provisions of this section?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say the powers of the committee would be vast and, in my opinion, that is as it should be.

Mr. GAILEY. One final question. Am I correct in stating the Joint State Government Commission under legislation passed in the last Session of this General Assembly does not have the same powers and authority as is put into this committee under the terms of this bill?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question, it is true we have endowed our Joint State Government Commission with new powers.

I am sorry I do not have the bill from the last Session in front of me to read it. Perhaps the gentleman has. But there is a strong feeling the Joint State Government Commission should be, and is, a research arm of the Legislature. I believe there is a feeling once they get into the position of acting as a watchdog for the government, they lose their efficacy as an impartial research agency, and in many states in the Union by reason of that problem, this separate committee we are endeavoring to set up here, has been found to be a good answer to the situation. I believe that prevails in some 30 states where we have the two agencies.

This recommendation that we are voting on today has come from the Council of State Governments as a recommendation for sound budgeting.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentlemen.

Mr. Speaker, so far during this Session it has always been an easy matter to tell when a political bill has been introduced into this chamber.

First you hear a blast of trumpet. Then the doors of the Republican State Committee Headquarters swing wide, and the voice of George Bloom rings out castigating the Democrats, setting forth how the legislation as proposed will rectify the evils of the Democratic party by the assembled strength of the Republican party.

This bill has not been introduced with such fanfare. It was a sleeper. Nonetheless this bill is a political bill. We would set up here, should this legislation be passed, a permanent investigating committee of the General Assembly of our state. This investigating committee would have the powers, as you have heard the Majority Leader state here today, to investigate every aspect of state government.

I would suggest in view of the corruption that has been uncovered by this administration and past administrations, that this investigating committee will cover this state for the balance of this year and for all of next year in an attempt to uncover facts detrimental to the present Democratic State Administration.

I have no fear as to what they will uncover. I have no fears that the present Democratic Administration is not behaving quite properly in all aspects of state government. However, I do not object to the Republican party playing politics. That is their prerogative when they are in the majority and can pass this type of legislation. I will object to this bill very strongly, however, on another ground, and that is that it is a very bad law.

You have heard the Majority Leader, in answer to my questions, state this committee will perform and invade the very territory in which the elected post of Auditor General, an executive post, is supposed to perform. Can it be that they do not trust their own Auditor General, just elected and just sworn in, to uncover the very facts which they hope to uncover with this committee?

In addition to that they have invaded the prerogative of the executive in the area of the Budget Secretary by setting up this legislative controller to take over the very duties which the executive should have, and is rightfully given under our present law.

I would suggest to the Members of this House that this bill may be good politics but it is very bad legislation.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GAILEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from York to state he was objecting to publicity by the Chairman of the Republican party, George Bloom, and by Republican leaders concerning pending legislation?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, in reply to that question, I have no objection to that, that is the function of the State Chairman.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from York not know that the government of Pennsylvania during this administration has been government by statements rather than government by action?

Mr. GAILEY. In answer to the gentleman's question, do not know that.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Does not the gentleman from York know that the various bureau heads and the Governor of this state have been prone to issue daily statements in great numbers?

Mr. GAILEY. In answer to the gentleman, I will say I have obviously observed, as has the gentleman from Allegheny, that the executive and those deputies who serve under him have issued statements. Of course, that is their prerogative just as it is that of George Bloom.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman from York know that some of the leaders on his side are anxious to have the Members of the Legislature act as a watchdog against spending by the executive?

Mr. GAILEY. I am well aware of that, Mr. Speaker, but does the gentleman question my right to debate this bill or to oppose this legislation?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not question his right to debate the bill, but I question the soundness of his argument.

Does the gentleman know that the Congress of the United States has a "watchdog" similar to this?

Mr. GAILEY. I am not aware of it, but I will accept the gentleman's word for it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is the gentleman not aware that in the public press a great Democrat, a Senator from Virginia, Senator Byrd, is daily calling to the attention of the public the expenditures of the Congress and the executive department and that his work has done a great good for the country?

Mr. GAILEY. I am well aware of the statements issued by the Senator from Virginia, Senator Byrd. However, I will state for the gentleman's information that I am frequently not in accord with the gentleman's policies.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Of course, that last answer did not take me by surprise.

Would the gentleman say that the "watchdog committee" of Congress has not done a good job for the taxpayers of the United States?

Mr. GAILEY. In answer to the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker, I am not sufficiently acquainted with that area to be able to give an unqualified answer.

I will say, however, that the "watchdog committee" of Congress has in many cases hamstrung not only prior Democratic administrations, but the present Republican administration, in the carrying out of those functions necessary for the welfare of the people of the country.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. That is all, Mr. Gailey, thank you.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is sound and in the interest of good government.

If my recollection is correct, the former Speaker of this House, Mr. Andrews of Cambria County, often bewailed the fact that the Members of House and Senate in Pennsylvania were too little aware of how our money was being spent. I think the passage of this bill will bring about a situation whereby we who provide the moneys will know where the moneys are being spent.

I am not afraid of having two "watchdogs," the Auditor General and our committee as provided for by this bill. The people should have as many watchdogs as possible to make certain that the tax dollars are being spent correctly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Floor Leader permit himself to be interrogated to clear a point.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as to the query of the gentleman who interrogated the Majority Floor Leader a moment ago regarding the chairman of this committee appointing subcommittees, would it not be true that the subcommittees appointed by the chairman would have minority representation if the House or the two chambers were in their present form?

Mr. JOHNSON. My answer to that is, it does not seem conceivable to me that in our system of two-party government there would be any subcommittee appointed which did not have a minority representative. I think that principle is so firmly and thoroughly imbedded in our way of legislative life that no chairman would do such an unconscionable thing as not putting a minority member on any committee.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, then would not the subcommittee dealing with some specific subject or part of this particular program submit its report or recommendations to the entire committee before it is acted upon?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, am one of the gentlemen on this side of the House which Mr. Goldstein of Allegheny spoke about who intends to vote in support of this bill.

I think all of the points have been cleared so far as I am concerned on the establishment of the committee, the establishment of the subcommittees and the action of the subcommittee with the committee as a whole.

In my opinion, it is sound legislation which many of us can vote for even though it can be used politically, and possibly may be used in that respect. If this should become law and it is used in that respect, it is our responsibility, as the minority party, to see that we become the majority party. Then we, in turn, can handle the situation in the same manner.

On those grounds and because I believe it is good legislation, I intend to vote for this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, when I first became acquainted with the proceedings in this House the minority was a silenced constituency. The motion to place the previous question was invariably invoked. When I became acquainted with the proceedings in this House, first, the Minority Leader did not have a place to hang his hat. The Minority Leader did not have any secretarial assistance. He had no office. His office was in his hat.

There may be those who have been more brilliant than I in their advocacy of the rights of the minority in the House, but I say there has been no one more earnest and more consistent in standing for the rights of a majority.

I am bound, if not by reason—and I am bound by reason—by a past record. For 20 years I have advocated insistently legislation of this type.

I first became rather intimately acquainted with the proceedings in this House back in 1907, that is a long period. I had seen the situation change until at a session when the Republican party was not the majority party in this House the Minority Leader inherited not only an office, but a secretarial force and an equality in the matter of contingent accounts.

I am not so unsophisticated as to believe that under the terms of this bill there may not be deliberate attempts to embarrass this administration. I am rather of the impression that in times past I may have been a part of proceedings designed to cause some embarrassment to Republican governors, to Republican administrations.

We have little by little been reaching the point where there was an agreement that the committees of this House be staffed adequately by technical people. All of the principals of this House, all of the committees of this House and those who have been long in this chamber know that no one more than myself has regretted the gradual accretion of power in so far as our executives are concerned. We are soon to face the problem of whether municipalities shall have weak mayors or strong mayors. We have in times past had a strong executive and a weak legislative branch of the government.

So I am in thorough sympathy with the objectives which this bill is designed to accomplish. I regret some of the methods, because it has been my contention—and I believe during the years and during my brief tenure as Speaker I endeavored to balance the commissions and groups of this House on an equal political basis.

When I became Speaker, the House had one Member of the Joint State Government Commission, but it came about that, although the Republicans were in the minority, so far as could be done the Republicans on that Commission were given equal representation.

I have found during the years that an honest, militant minority has no need to fear devious action upon the part of the majority. I have never found when I had opposed what I believed to be, and what proved to be, improper action upon the part of a majority but that the turn came and that majority became a minority.

The purposes which this bill is designed to serve are not compatible with the functions of a Budget Secretary. If we buy so many refrigerators for such and such an institution, we want to know the refrigerators are there. Supplies, there has been a trickling away from some of our state institutions of the materials they purchased. That is something the Governor cannot do and he does not have any established agency to do it for him, to check up on the inventories of all of our institutions. The Budget Secretary is the appointee of the Governor, and I do not imagine we will ever reach the point under our present Constitution and our present laws where the Budget Secretary will be at variance of opinion with the man who names him.

We operate in a different theatre with different powers and different responsibilities. If abuses arise, we have a voice with which to carry the story of those abuses to a public, and ultimately that voice will be heard.

So I say that the purposes this bill is designed to serve are a Democratic party tradition. It is confirmation that the stand for which we have contended over these many years has been right. We have not yet sufficiently armed this General Assembly with the instrumentalities and the instruments which it needs if it is adequately to serve the people and to give to the institutions the exact measure of financial support which the demands upon them indicate they should have.

Neither am I afraid in the long run that malice upon the part of any legislative commission can long condemn honest, efficient administration of the affairs of our Commonwealth.

So because in a little way I have had a part in this hour I welcome this legislation. It is a beginning. We have not armed our Appropriations Committee with the force it should have. The Chairman of the Judiciary Committee should have a year-round office with year-round secretarial help. There are other committees which should function on a year-round basis because of the duties they have to perform.

I hope today we have made a beginning in rounding out by means of instrumentalities and financial support those agencies of this House which will enable us over the years serve the people with ever increasing efficiency.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, this question is somewhat deep. In my mind there are many angles to this

As a Member for many years, I cannot help but get up and say to the Members of this House that public sentiment in the state of Pennsylvania has accomplished many things in this House of Representatives. I came here when the very questions that my Whip speaks of rattled the ink wells, when they refused to let you talk, when they refused to recognize you. My friends, public sentiment changed that in Pennsylvania as it has changed it all over the world.

With respect to this piece of legislation we have here today, creating this committee, there is not anything this committee can do that this legislative body cannot do. The only sad part of this, in my mind, is that the only time this committee will be of any use to a great extent, is when we find ourselves in the position we are in today, with the executive branch of the government being controlled by one party and the legislative branch being controlled by another.

My friends, I hesitate to vote for this bill, while there are many good things, possibly, in it. I say to you the membership of this House can do anything that this committee which you are now setting up can do. I say to you as Members of this House, it is a disgrace that we do not have sufficient staffs on our committees so that we can get the exact figures and points of interest in regard to our status in Pennsylvania as compared with the other states which we have to sift out if we can. That should be furnished. There is no reason why it could not be done by the membership of the House of Representatives without this committee.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

STUDENTS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a delegation of students from the Junior High School of Biglerville, Adams County, under the supervision of their teachers Miss M. Walter, Mr. Richard Allison and Mr. Albert Drachbar.

They are the guests of the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

HOUSE BILL No. 797 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 797, Printer's No. 369 on page 14 of today's calendar, bills on third reading be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 797.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 797, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The General County Assessment Law" approved May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853) designating items to be included in the valuation of industrial property.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Jenkins.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, yields to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Jenkins.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Jenkins.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state my protest to having this House bill acted on now because the Commissioners of Allegheny County sent a letter to all of the boroughs and townships including the city of McKeesport, Clairton and Duquesne, to summon them to a meeting at the Allegheny County Court House on May 15th to get their views on this bill. I would like to be guided in my vote on this bill from this meeting after Wednesday, May 15th. That is why I would like to have the bill recommitted.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. The meeting that the gentleman mentions is undoubtedly a very important meeting. The County Commissioners of Allegheny County have summoned the public officials of the boroughs and townships in which a great deal of this assessment is placed to decide how they can best re-distribute those assessments and relieve machinery of the tax. Therefore, I ask that you vote this motion down.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, on the repeal of this law it will affect maybe 606,000 people and 34 boroughs and townships. All we ask is a little time so that these people and these boroughs and townships can be heard.

Out of the meeting on May 15th will come their protests and their decisions on how they feel about the machinery tax repeal. All we ask is that the Members of this House vote to give us a little more time, until May 15th, next Wednesday.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, and Members of this House, in support of this motion to recommit, all we are asking you Members here from the farm areas and the other areas in this industrial area, is to clear our houses.

I am an assessor for the County of Allegheny. As I stand here today, I am confused as to what is machinery and what is real estate in Allegheny County. When you gentlemen visualize a mill, you consider it is a mill of walls and the roof and the machinery in it. Industry looks upon it that way and so do the banking institutions when these industrial leaders go down to borrow money.

Take a blast furnace for instance. It is three stories in the ground and about five stories above ground. We in Allegheny County assess this as machinery. Coke ovens, strip mills, conveyors, the large car dumpers, the ore bins, the soaking pits, we assess them all as machinery. We feel if you Members will send this back to the committee, give us time in Allegheny County to put our house in order—what we want to do is have a public hearing.

This is very vital to us in the Allegheny Valley district. We want to call in industry. We have called them in before on tax problems and they have been very fair. We want to call in the heads of the municipal governments, like my colleague, Mr. Jenkins, who is the Burgess of Monroeville. We want to call in the school districts and ask them, how can they live with this bill? Will they agree that we take this blast furnace where the building constitutes 90 percent and 10 percent of it is machinery? That situation presents a problem and I feel we can work this problem out, if given enough time, in our own back yard.

I would hesitate at any time to come on this floor or to vote for a measure that was affecting the farmers because I know nothing at all about farming. So in fairness, and as my friend from Westmoreland County says, let's be fair and let's be consistent. Let us give the people in Allegheny County the chance to work out their own destiny. I feel if you gentlemen will do that, you will help not only the municipalities but you will help Pennsylvania.

The Economy League made a very extensive study on this, and they will come up with the idea that we can use Act 481, or the "tax-anything law" to work out our salvation.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have used our real estate transfer tax, the per capita tax and the other taxes that are disposable and now all we have left is to put on a wage tax.

If you consider the GI aspect, we brought kids back from Korea, and we are going to give them a bonus. These boys have bought homes under the Veterans' Administration policy.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is trying to be as lenient as possible with the gentleman, but the Chair suggests that the gentleman confine his remarks to the motion to recommit and save his remarks on the merits or demerits of the bill until the actual debate on the bill.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, you can't blame me for trying, but I do wish the membership of this House would take into consideration our problem in Allegheny along these rivers. I ask you to support this motion to recommit.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, all I can say is that the gentleman asks for a little time. This bill was introduced March 12th, it was released from Committee April 30th and it has been discussed thoroughly in the Pittsburgh newspapers. The machinery tax itself, as I understand it, has been in effect in Allegheny County for 100 years.

It seems to me there has been enough time spent and it is time now for action. Therefore, I ask you to vote down this motion.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, all we are asking for here is just a little bit of time, that is, until the 16th. We would appreciate it very much if this House would go along with us.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman mentioned that this bill has been discussed in the Pittsburgh papers. I do not think that is the proper place for this bill to be discussed, it should be discussed on the floor of this House. I think the newspapers have their job to do and we have our job to do. Let's do our job.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I think when the gentleman talks about discussing the bill in the House, that is what we are doing at this present moment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to express an opinion.

I believe if there could be a binding agreement that this bill will be acted upon at an early date, in the long run, and I say in the long run, the time of this House would be conserved.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. FILO and ANDREWS.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 797, Printer's No. 369, be placed upon the third reading postponed calendar, and I desire a roll call.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he will take the same roll call on this motion.

Mr. ANDREWS. No, Mr. Speaker.
Mr. JOHNSON. Then your motion is obviously dilatory, is it not?

Mr. ANDREWS. It is not. There is a very great difference, a marked difference, as the gentleman knows, between recommitting a bill and postponing action upon a bill. On the one hand, the bill is returned to the keeping of the committee, on the other hand, the bill remains in the keeping of the House.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I object to that motion and request that we vote it down.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is the gentleman's privilege.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman a second is not necessary to this motion.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart HELM) IN THE CHAIR

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 201), page 3, lines 15 and 16, by striking out "fifty-eight" and inserting "sixty." Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 201), page 4, line 9, by striking out "fifty-nine" and inserting "sixty-one." Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 201), page 4, line 17, by striking out "sixty" and inserting "sixty-two." Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 201), page 5, line 5, by striking out "sixty-one" and inserting "sixty-three." Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 201), page 5, line 14, by striking out "sixty-two" and inserting "sixty-four." Amend Sec. 3, page 7, line 20, by striking out "immediately and inserting January 1, 1960.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, while the amendments read may seem difficult certainly they are simple amendments.

The only change it makes in this piece of legislation that is before us today is changing the effective date. The present bill calls for immediate effect upon passage. This amendment would change it back to January 1, 1960.

The reason for this amendment is that in 1953 we passed the same Act removing the machinery tax from 66 of the 67 counties in Pennsylvania. At the time Act 226 was passed, signed by the Governor in July of 1953, the effective date of that piece of legislation was January 1, 1956.

In these amendments I am only asking what you gentlemen in your wisdom at that time saw fit to do when the machinery tax had been removed from 66 of the 67 counties. I ask for the same consideration in this bill.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, the effect of these amendments presented by the gentleman from Allegheny would be to delay the effective date of this law for two more years.

The bill we are considering today has already been amended to spread the effect of the bill, or the effect of replacing of these amendments, over a period of five years starting with next year at the rate of 20 percent a year.

Therefore, I do not feel it is necessary to have another two-year period. Five years is certainly plenty of time. I would call your attention to the fact that during the last five years Allegheny County has lost 159 different industries. We have 159 less industries in Allegheny County today than we had five years ago. So that if this thing is spread out for another seven years, the effect on the economy of Allegheny County may be disastrous.

Therefore, I request you vote down these amendments.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman did make a wonderful statement. He says the effect on these communities would be disastrous, and that is what it is going to be unless these amendments are adopted.

Certainly the situation was not the same when the machinery tax was taken off the other 66 counties. In Allegheny County it is going to be a terrific burden upon the people of that county to make such a drastic reduction in their economy.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. THOMPSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman were receiving a $5,000 salary and his employer told him that next year we are going to cut down his salary by 20 percent, what effect would it have upon the gentleman?

Mr. THOMPSON. Well, I already have been told that back in the early days of the great depression, back in the '30's. The effect is that it is according to conditions.

I say this machinery tax apparently is ruining the industries in Allegheny County and is having a very bad effect on them. It is time the thing was taken care of and removed.

Mr. FILO. Then the gentleman will state the 20 percent reduction in salary would affect them?

Mr. THOMPSON. Oh, there is no question about it. As I said, it is according to conditions. The 20 percent reduction in salary with conditions going down as they were at that time, certainly it was not pleasant but it was necessary. I agree with that.

Mr. FILO. I am glad the gentleman agrees with me.

Mr. Speaker, if the employer told him there would be a further reduction in the next four years of 60 percent, what would the gentleman do?

Mr. THOMPSON. Well, that also would be subject to conditions. Maybe by the time he saved that 20 percent on me—and of course you cannot compare me exactly with a machine because I think we sort of consider human beings slightly different—but if I would sort of figure that conditions are going to pick up, maybe he would not do that to me. But in this case we have to eliminate this machinery tax or we are going to destroy the economy of Allegheny County.

Mr. FILO. The thing I am trying to bring out, Mr. Speaker, is that if the salary of the gentleman was cut 60 per cent, I am sure the gentleman would agree with me that he would have to go out and look for a job to get more revenue. Is that true?

Mr. THOMPSON. Well, I do not know. If living conditions fell in comparison to my salary, with the cost of living, I would have to do that. I think your example is rather far-fetched compared with what we are speaking about here today.

Mr. FILO. It is not far-fetched, Mr. Speaker, because by the same token you are directing these communities which have machinery taxes to, in effect, tighten their budget.

If I know the boroughs and the third class cities in my district, they work on a tight budget. You will agree with me they have to. Certainly if we are going to take 20 percent one year, 40 percent the next year and then go down along the line to 100 percent, I am sure there are going to be difficulties encountered.

With this amendment you are only giving what you gave to the other 66 counties. Give it to the one county, the 67th county. Is Allegheny County an orphan in Pennsylvania? Certainly it is not. In fact, I believe Allegheny County, with the exception of Philadelphia, pays more taxes to the state of Pennsylvania than any other county.

I am only asking for what is right. What you Members in the Legislature did here in your wisdom three years ago you should do here today. Give those people a chance to make a study of their problems. You just cannot go out and say you cannot have $100,000. The people at home are going to demand—

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like a ruling against the gentleman. Is he in order; is he discussing the bill? Is he interrogating me or is he speaking on these amendments?

Mr. FILO. I certainly am, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, has completed his interrogation?

Mr. FILO. I have.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest the gentleman confine his remarks to the amendments.

Mr. WALSH. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made a statement that Allegheny County has lost 159 or 157 industries due to the machinery tax? Is that correct?

Mr. THOMPSON. I do not know as I said just that wording. I said during the last five years we have lost 159 industries out of Allegheny County, that is correct.

Mr. WALSH. Did the gentleman not make the statement that it was due to the tax on industries?

Mr. THOMPSON. I would say the tax on industry has a great deal to do with that loss, yes.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where he got the figure of 159 industries leaving Allegheny County?

Mr. THOMPSON. Well, those figures, according to the article I have in my hand here, says it is especially destructive to industry, and this refers to a report by Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs, and according to this, it states "Allegheny County has during the past five years suffered a decline in industrial plants from 2079 to 1921, a loss of 158." I am sorry I made a mistake of one. "No wonder Pittsburgh is practically stationary population-wise." That is from an article I have here.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the fact that these figures of Genevieve Blatt—and incidentally this is the first time I have heard them, and although she is a member of my party, I do not agree that this was caused by the machinery tax.

I would like to ask the gentleman if he is familiar with the fact that in McKeesport, my town that I know something about, the National Tube Company started to expand. They are figuring on spending somewhere around $85 million in the first ward of the city of McKeesport. Is the gentleman aware of that?

Mr. THOMPSON. I will accept the gentleman's statement. I do not know as I have read about it but I will accept that statement.

Mr. WALSH. Would the gentleman not imagine that the planners of this addition to the National Tube Company in the city of McKeesport knew that we had a machinery tax on in Allegheny County? Does the gentleman think if this was going to be disastrous to them, they would spend this kind of money in the city of McKeesport?

Mr. THOMPSON. It is very possible that the National Tube Company is putting in a plant where they produce basic steel or materials that do not require the use of too much complicated machinery. And it is very possible, plus the fact that McKeesport has been the headquarters of the National Tube plant for a good many years, it is probably cheaper for them to put in new installations than to move out further.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. WALSH. I am not through with my interrogation of the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALSH. No, not at this time. I shall after I finish with the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, wish to continue?

Mr. WALSH. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, states he declines to be interrogated at this time. He desires to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson.

Mr. WALSH. The gentleman made a statement that the National Tube Company is bringing in plants and a lot of other machinery. Does the gentleman know—I do not think he does know, but I will tell him for his information—that one of the mills which was moved out of McKeesport about eight or nine years ago and taken to a town in Ohio is now being brought back into Allegheny County to the city of McKeesport for the simple reason that the people of McKeesport, the men of McKeesport, the laborers of McKeesport, have the know-how to make pipe. They have steel in their blood and that is the reason this mill is coming back.

If they are willing to spend $85 million in the city of McKeesport, the gentleman's statement that the machinery tax is running industry out of McKeesport or out of Allegheny County is not on a very good foundation.

Also, the largest industrial building in the state of Pennsylvania, or the eastern part of the United States since World War II was the Fairless Works, right outside of Philadelphia, right across the border from New Jersey. The U.S. Steel spent upwards of $600 million at which time Pennsylvania had a machinery tax.

If the gentleman wishes, I will subject myself to interrogation now.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I do.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Walsh, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALSH. I shall.

Mr. THOMPSON. I just want to ask one question.

The gentleman has asked me about $85 million plants. Does the gentleman know that in my district, the Fifteenth Legislative District, we lost a $25 million plant just a few months ago. That plant, the Universal Cyclops Steel Company, went to Ohio to build, and among other things they said it was because of the Allegheny County machinery tax?

Mr. WALSH. I am not aware of that.

Mr. THOMPSON. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALSH. I would still like to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know the law under which assessments were made in Allegheny County? Does the gentleman know the form under which they work?

Mr. THOMPSON. No sir, I am not exactly familiar with that. I cannot answer that particular question under this bill we are talking about here today.

Mr. WALSH. Does the gentleman realize that the assessments for 1958, the next year, in Allegheny County one-third of it is now in the triennial assessment, and that takes in the Mon and Yough Valley, McKeesport, Rankin, Homestead, West Mifflin, and so forth. They are in what we call a triennial year. Under the law, the books of existing assessments must be closed as of September 1st of this year? Is the gentleman aware of that?

Mr. THOMPSON. No sir, but I will accept the gentleman's word for it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, in view of that would the gentleman not have changed his bill in order to make this 20 percent come off each year? Would he have not said we will wait for three years, then start taking it off gradually, and that by taking this 20 percent off for 1958, if this bill becomes a law, these municipalities only have about two months in which to put their houses in order.

It will be impossible to pick up that 20 percent. Next year they are not in the triennial. The year following they are not in the triennial, but three years from now they could pick it up.

In view of that, Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not think it would be fair to postpone the amendment to this law, as this amendment has asked, for three years and let these industries have a chance to put their houses in order?

Mr. THOMPSON. May I ask the gentleman a question, Mr. Speaker, in answer to his question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield to permit the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, to interrogate him?

Mr. WALSH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. THOMPSON. If as the gentleman says the assessment for 1958 will be closed as of September 30, will those assessments not apply to next year?

Mr. WALSH. I do not understand the question. I said September 1st is the close of the books of existing assessments. I mean by that that a mill that is assessed or has been assessed, if the books are closed on September 1st, any new properties or anything in the course of construction they have until December 31st of this year, then we should put them on the books.

Mr. THOMPSON. In case this bill becomes a law and it goes into immediate effect, does that mean the gentleman will have to revise his assessments for next year?

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I do not see under the law how they can do it because the books are going to be closed September 1st and that is for a three-year period, unless we would come in here with another bill and revise the whole structure of the assessments.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me if the gentleman is in the assessment office and is familiar with the practices which take place there and the laws that regulate it, in that case the assessments will be made as of September, this year, and there will be no change made next year.

Mr. WALSH. That is correct, Mr. Speaker, but how are they going to pick up that 20 percent from now until next year, or from now until September? How are they going to pick up that 20 percent that we are to lose? How will they pick it up next year, or the year following? I say this year because we make our assessments in 1957 for 1958. We are always a year ahead.

Mr. THOMPSON. Do you not assess machinery?

Mr. WALSH. We assess machinery as machinery, yes.

Mr. THOMPSON. Does that tax go into effect at the same time as your other assessments go into effect?

Mr. WALSH. It does, yes, on existing machinery or existing equipment, it all goes in on September 1st.

Mr. THOMPSON. If your assessments have already been made for next year, then your assessments will stand, will they not?

Mr. WALSH. They will stand as they are on the books as of September 1st, yes.

Mr. THOMPSON. Then there will be no change in your machinery tax next year? The bill says we are going to take off 20 percent effective as of January, 1958, but you say you do not change it after September 30th?

Mr. WALSH. I said September 1st.

Mr. THOMPSON. September 1st?

Mr. WALSH. Keep that date in mind because there is 30 days in there.

I say these municipalities cannot go out and dig up this extra 20 percent. The machinery tax is to remain the same. Say we have a blast furnace set at $2 million—

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I am of the opinion that the gentleman and I are wasting time interrogating each other. I would like to cease this interrogation, I think we are boring the House and I do not think either one of us is overly brilliant in our conclusions. I would like to conclude—

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the speaker talk for himself.

Mr. THOMPSON. I would like to make a brief statement. Has the interrogation ceased?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the interrogation has been completed.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, before this bill was introduced and I think rather than debating the amendment we are debating the bill itself, we held meetings with tax experts of the various large industries in Allegheny County which probably will be affected by this bill. Those gentlemen were of the opinion that at this meeting, which will take place between the county commissioners and the local officials very shortly, the assessment matter would be discussed and arrangements would be made so that the majority of this assessment which will be cut off of machinery will be picked up by the real estate involved in these plants.

So I think the gentleman is chasing hobgoblins. I do not believe there will be any great change in the assessments these local communities will have to pick up. It will be gradually transferred from machinery to real estate, and these industries are perfectly willing to accept their share.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has said he had a meeting with the large industries. That is very fine, we have to have the industries. But did the gentleman call in the municipalities affected? Did he call in the people who are going to pay the tax? He talked to the industries.

The idea of this amendment is to give us some time. If you realize we are breaking down a tax structure that has been in existence for 100 years in Pennsylvania. We are breaking that down overnight. We are going to these municipalities and we are going to say, you are no longer allowed to tax machinery. The speaker has said these industries are willing to accept some of that on real estate. The law says the buildings must be assessed uniformly. If you will allow us to defer the effective date, we can sit down with industry and we can say to them, your mill down here has so many machines in it. Your blast furnace is so high. What will you accept? Will you accept 75 percent of that as real estate and we will go out and find the other 25 percent? I can see a lot of lawsuits in the courts of Allegheny County on what is machinery and what is not machinery.

So, all we are asking you to do is to be consistent, like you were three years ago. Let us in Allegheny County sit down with industry, let us sit down with the taxpayers, let us sit down with the burgesses, like Burgess Jenkins from Monroeville, and the school directors and see how much money we should have. I think we can work it out ourselves.

I ask you to vote for these amendments, please.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was going to ask the Acting Minority Leader whether we could use the same roll call with any possible changes.

I would like permission to interrogate the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would like to repeat my question whether we can use the same roll call on the previous motion with any possible changes to be made indicated by members rising or otherwise indicating their change.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that would be quite all right as far as I am concerned, but I believe it is a matter which I should leave to the discretion of the gentlemen who are personally interested in this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, yields to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo.

Mr. FILO. I would like to interrogate Mr. Johnson, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I certainly would like to go along with the gentleman, but there is a difference of opinion among the House Members on the roll call on this vote on this amendment. I am sure since I voted against the removal of machinery for the 66 counties, which had a later effective date, that the other Members can go along with this.

I sincerely believe I am going to have support on the other side of the House.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we would allow for those changes.

Mr. FILO. I will ask for those changes if Members desire to go along with my amendments and the changes will be made. I am willing to go along.

Mr. JOHNSON. We would like to get as much done as we can today and leave adequate time for debate, rather than take up time with slow roll calls. So it will be appreciated if you can go along.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the question would be whether there would be any shift. The inquiry should be addressed to the Majority Leader whether he will ascertain if any Members on the majority side have shifted their position as far as these amendments are concerned and are not governed by the previous vote.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on the amendments. I voted "aye" on putting it on the postponed calendar.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would advise the gentleman from Allegheny to accept the roll call as it has been recorded, because there is no evidence of any shift in position.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, accept the previous roll call?

Mr. FILO. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, ordinarily I would have not wanted a roll call, but I really do because the roll call will reveal the fact that Members of this House who should have been here today are not here.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Is was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Thompson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I will forget about the interrogation, but I have a question here—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny withdraws his request for interrogation.

Mr. FILO. I yield to Mr. Walsh.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, yields to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I sent to the desk a couple days ago two clarifying amendments. These amendments were for the purpose of defining what was machinery and what was not. I realize we have taken up a lot of time on this, but I will ask that these be placed on the record.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 201), page 2, line 12, by inserting after "wharves" blast furnaces, coke ovens, ore conveyors, steel making furnaces, steel rolling and finishing mills, soaking pits, hydraulic presses

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 201), page 2, line 14, by inserting after "establishment" which are not securely and permanently attached to lands or buildings

I will accept the same roll call that we had before.

Mr. ANDREWS. Will the record show that the gentleman from Allegheny has offered certain clarifying amendments which were defeated by the previous vote.

The SPEAKER. The record will so show.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson?

Mr. FILO. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me why this bill was necessary?

Mr. THOMPSON. Yes, sir. This bill is necessary because it deals with the tax on machinery in Allegheny county, which is a destructive tax. It is destroying the productive activity of our county. At one time Pittsburgh was known as the workshop of the world. As I have already pointed out, in the last five years we have lost 158 different industries.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I am sure the gentleman is aware of the booklet called, "Industrial Development Projects Announced in Pennsylvania in 1956." If the gentleman would have perused this book which was issued by the Department of Commerce, he would have noticed that under this plan there are 40 new industries which are to be built, contemplated, or under construction.

Is the gentleman aware of the fact that that is in this book?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I think I have seen the book, but let me just say this and maybe we can get this done with as far as I am concerned.

It stands to reason that in Pennsylvania we have a very high tax rate on business. We have a higher tax rate on business than in other surrounding states. In addition to that, in Allegheny County we have a machinery tax, which is also a tax on business. Therefore, Allegheny County's tax rate on business is higher than is the tax rate in the rest of the state and in surrounding states.

If you as an industrialist were looking for a place to put your plant, I think you would weigh this very carefully before you would move into such a situation.

Therefore, we are not getting the business in Allegheny County which we need. What we need in Allegheny County is fabricating plants. We need plants which have a great deal of machinery, not just basic industry plants but fabricating plants, plants that take the basic steel and turn it into finished or semi-finished products. We cannot get those plants if we continue to tax the machinery which they require.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I enjoyed the speech. I want to point out to the Members of the House that Allegheny County has been taxing under the laws which have been on the books for 100 years, yet Allegheny County is maintaining its position as one of the greatest industrial areas in the state, if not in the nation, knowing full well that a machinery tax was in effect in that county.

I want to further point out under this same "Industrial Development Projects announced in Pennsylvania in 1956" industry has not been taxed by the machinery tax in Erie and industry has not been taxed by the machinery tax in Beaver County since 1956. Do you know how many plants are being planned for Erie? I want to remind the gentleman, Mr. Thompson, that only nine plants are contemplated in Erie and only three in Beaver County.

I would like to further interrogate the gentleman. It is going to be a long interrogation, Members.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Who is for this legislation? Just briefly tell me who is for it?

Mr. THOMPSON. The people who are for this legislation are practically all of the people in Allegheny County. Some of them do not know it yet. But if you have this machinery tax maintained and people start losing their jobs and are put out of work, you will very soon find who is for the legislation. It is the people who believe in economic development, the people who believe in prosperity, the people who want good jobs.

Mr. FILO. How many letters do you have from industrial plants favoring this machinery tax bill in your possession as of today?

Mr. THOMPSON. I do not know, because I received some letters that I have not saved.

Mr. FILO. You do not know?

Mr. THOMPSON. That is right.

Mr. FILO. If there was any legislation affecting me, I certainly would know how many letters were in my possession.

I want to inform the gentleman that I have to date only one letter and that is from a Bell Manufacturing Corporation in Coraopolis asking for the removal of the machinery tax, just one letter, and you say the people are for it.

I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

Is the gentleman in accord with the report made by the Pennsylvania Economy League?

Mr. THOMPSON. What is that report?

Mr. FILO. The report has been sent to you, just as it has been to me.

Mr. THOMPSON. I have it in my hand.

Mr. FILO. You have the report in your hand?

Mr. THOMPSON. Yes.

Mr. FILO. Are you in accord with their views, and plans and their ideas?

Mr. THOMPSON. In general, yes. I believe we should transfer this machinery tax to other sources.

Mr. FILO. All I want to know is whether you are in accord with it?

Mr. THOMPSON. That is right.

Mr. FILO. If the gentleman will turn to the introduction of the report, it says, "In this connection it should be understood that the city and school district of Pittsburgh are not involved." Is the gentleman in accord with that statement?

Mr. THOMPSON. I will accept the statement. I presume it is correct.

Mr. FILO. On page 1 of the introduction, Mr. Thompson.

Mr. THOMPSON. Are you asking me if that is a true statement?

Mr. FILO. Yes, if you are in accord with the statement?

Mr. THOMPSON. This is merely a statement. I mean, it is merely a statement of fact.

Mr. FILO. Do you think that they are right in making such a statement?

Mr. THOMPSON. I think if they make that statement it is probably correct.

Mr. FILO. Would you not consider the people of Pittsburgh a part of a school district or a part of the city itself?

Mr. THOMPSON. Certainly.

Mr. FILO. You would, sir?

Mr. THOMPSON. The people of Pittsburgh are part of the city of Pittsburgh, yes.

Mr. FILO. That is true. Then this statement says they are not connected, it says they are not involved. Isn't that true, it says that they are not involved? Yet I point to this, if the machinery tax is removed in Allegheny County, the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh are going to be burdened with an additional amount of tax. Is that not correct?

Mr. THOMPSON. I do not believe that is correct. I understand the city of Pittsburgh does not assess machinery.

Mr. FILO. That is true, sir. But the County of Allegheny assesses machinery. Therefore the city of Pittsburgh is a part of the county and they are going to be taxed for the loss of this machinery.

Mr. THOMPSON. As I understand it, I think the statement has already been made, or I have seen it printed, that probably Allegheny County real estate millage will have to go up about maybe one or one and a quarter mills over a period of time—

Mr. FILO. That is true.

Mr. THOMPSON. Over a period of five years, is that correct?

Mr. FILO. That is true. Then you will have to agree that this statement which was made by the Economy League is wrong, is incorrect.

If the machinery tax is removed from Allegheny County, what other taxation would there be for the various municipalities?

Mr. THOMPSON. There are different communities in the county which have no extra taxes at all other than the real estate tax. They will have to pick up some taxes under 481, no doubt, in some cases. They can also raise the real estate assessment. It is going to be raised, without question.

Mr. FILO. Did the gentleman just state he was in accord with the statement made by the Economy League? Therefore, in their statement, Mr. Speaker, they said that the offsetting factors could be made by using a wage tax. Are you in accord with the statement made by the Economy League? Are you for this wage tax?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not like a wage tax any more than you do, but I pay one in the Township of Mt. Lebanon and I pay it there—

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman if he desires to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny that he confine his questioning to as brief a form as possible, and also that the answers be made as brief as possible. The Chair is of the opinion that we are getting far afield in the answers and in the questions.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to be very brief in my questions, but I always get a speech over on the other side. I am willing to go along—

The SPEAKER. The Chair is not directing his remarks particularly to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, but to both Members, the Member asking the questions and the Member answering. The Chair requests the cooperation of the Members. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FILO. I would like to ask the gentleman, who pays the Economy League for a report like this?

Mr. THOMPSON. I do not know.

Mr. FILO. Could you tell me what role a man by the name of Jim Malone is playing in this legislation?

Mr. THOMPSON. No part that I know of.

Mr. FILO. I would like to ask the gentleman this question. If the sponsor of this bill represented the people of Homestead or Duquesne where his Senator comes from, would he sponsor this legislation?

Mr. THOMPSON. I do not know, because I do not live there. I would face that question if I did.

Mr. FILO. I would like to answer the gentleman that he would never come down here as a Legislator if he did.

Mr. THOMPSON. I don't know about that either.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman.

I would like to point out to the Members of the House that this state certainly is not a bad state in which to locate industry. I have a statement here which was in the local paper last week, and the statement reads, "448 Industries Expand And Build In The State In 1956." So Pennsylvania must not be a bad state to locate machinery and factories. It certainly must not be.

As to this cry of industrialists that they are being taxed and burdened, I would just like to refer them to a man by the name of Mr. Wilson, the statement he made just recently about people crying.

Certainly, ladies and gentlemen, if industry settles in the district, that industry should help to pay.

I might say that in my district alone, the population according to the census of 1940 was 8,694, in the population census of 1950 it was 17,929, now it is about 25,000.

Industry has located in my district knowing full well the machinery tax had been on the statutes knowing full well they would have to contribute something towards these municipalities where they locate their plants. I think I have a very good item to show you just why these industries should pay and should help the various municipalities.

The American Society of Planning have worked up a formula, and it says, "What 100 New Families Mean To A City," or a town, or a borough. I think this is well worth listening to because you will be affected sometime in the near future.

It goes to say:

"The American Society of Planning Officials has worked up an answer to that question. Following are some of the highlights of the society's findings.

One hundred new families are approximately 450 new people. The children will create a need for 2.2 more grade school rooms and 1.65 high school rooms, which will cost approximately $120,000. About 50 of the children will be in grammar school, 25 in junior high, and 25 in senior high. Four more school teachers will be needed. In all, the 100 families will add $30,000 a year to the operating budget of the school system.

The families will mean more street cleaning, more garbage collecting, and more tax collecting. City parks and city health will need more looking after. The water department will have to pump 10,000 extra gallons of water a day. The city will have to buy approximately four acres of land; one for each grammar school, high school, parks, and play areas.

This will mean hiring more municipal employees. The city will need 0.84 new employees in the police department and two-thirds of a new firemen. Probably four others will have to be added to the city payroll. The new staff will raise the police budget $4,510 a year, add $2,820 to fire department expenses, and boost the general payroll by an amount ranging from $12,000 to $15,000.

Other things which the society says the 100 new families will require include: a new hospital bed (price, $10,000); 500 new books for the library (adding $675 to the library's annual budget); and a fraction of a cell in the jail.

The reason I am pointing this out, ladies and gentlemen, certainly when an industry locates in an area it causes the area to build up and there is need. There is need in the industry for these people to settle about this factory.

Industry at the present time is crying for trained scientific men. Certainly, if they are to get them, they should help pay a share for education.

The Economy League goes on to state that if the machinery tax is removed they could use Act No. 481, or a wage tax, or they could get aid from the state of Pennsylvania. This aid, in turn, from the state of Pennsylvania means more taxes on the people of Pennsylvania. You will have to agree with that.

The only thing I am afraid of, ladies and gentlemen, is maybe that state aid will not be forthcoming. Just recently I saw an article in the paper, the Sun-Telegraph of Tuesday, May 7th, where the school aid is cut to the city. By the same token, if it is going to be cut to the boroughs and the various municipalities affected by this bill, then I am sort of in a quandry about what is going to happen.

May I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny for a couple more questions?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not agree that during the past session of this Legislature and this session we are helping industry in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. THOMPSON. We are making a start, yes.

Mr. FILO. Is it not true that the industries have been given quite a few concessions under the present Sales Tax Act?

Mr. THOMPSON. As I say, we are starting to recognize the fact that we cannot take all of our money from industry, that is correct.

Mr. FILO. You will agree that there are some concessions made? Do you not agree that the capital stock tax is to be removed in 1958 and that it will be helpful to industry?

Mr. THOMPSON. You will have to ask that question of the Majority Leader.

Mr. FILO. I believe the gentlemen on that side have been committed to that statement. Does the gentleman think someone is going to renege?

Mr. THOMPSON. If the gentleman wishes to interrogate as to Republican policy, I suggest that he interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I was at an affair here recently where the chamber of commerce was so nice to us and they were overwhelmed by the fact that they were going to get this reduction of the capital stock tax. I thank the gentleman.

I could go on and on, but I do want to point out these two factors that the property owners in a borough by the name of West Homestead would be tripled for the school levy and also tripled for borough purposes if this bill is passed and signed. In North Braddock and Rankin the homeowners in these communities would have their borough and school taxes doubled.

In Homestead, East Pittsburgh, West Mifflin, Munhall, Wilmerding and Neville, the homeowners in these municipalities would be subject to 50 percent increase in local and school tax bills.

Clairton. In this city the homeowners would find their tax rate boosted from 15 to 27½ mills for city purposes and 18 to 33 mills for school operations. This boost would result in total city taxes for Clairton of 60½ mills exclusive of county taxes.

In Duquesne homeowners would have their present tax levy for city purposes increased from 14 mills to 22 mills, and the school district tax levy increased from 16 to 25½ mills.

In McKeesport, I will let Mr. Walsh talk about that. I hope you gentlemen can see fit to vote down this bill.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I want to apologize for taking up so much of your time. I have been in here six years and I have never abused the privilege of this floor, but I feel this is not just an ordinary bill. It might be boring to some of you members, but to us this is vital, this is our lifeblood.

The gentleman from Allegheny said the people of Allegheny County are for this bill. I do not know what you call the people in our village. I think we are people. There is a delegation of steel workers here, men who work with their hands, who work in these mills. They are down here and they are against this bill.

He also made the remark that we want to bring fabricating plants into Allegheny County.

There is a very big fabricating plant just came in from Ohio, the A. B. Murray Company. So far as industry is concerned I have a clipping here where Willing-Price and Westinghouse Company on May 2, 1957, in the Brad-dock Free Press said: "New orders booked in the first quarter were the largest in any quarter." Their earnings, their sales are up $4,750,686.

I do not believe the city tax is running industry out. Gentlemen, we consider a lot of bills here during a session, but this bill was conceived in haste, it is going to be enacted into law in confusion and God knows what the effect is going to be on the communities in that valley.

Coming up here trying to plead our case, reminds me of an old story. When I was in the contracting business I went to one of the little suburbs and bid on a road. There were a couple of my friends who were members of the council. I was not the lowest bidder, but they said, "We are going to give you the contract." I said, "You can't legally do that." The president of the council said, "Oh, yes we can. We've got the votes."

When we get to the point that because one side has the votes they vote for the best interests of the Republicans or the Democratic side of the House and do not vote for the best interests of the people who are affected by the legislation, then we are in a sad state of affairs.

I know there are other important bills coming up and I just want to make this observation. We are going to pay the Korean War veterans a bonus for their service over in Korea. Let us just picture this kid. I can speak with authority on this phase, I have two sons and three sons-in-law who are building homes under the VA.

When these kids went down to make application at the bank for their loan they were working seven days a week. Two of those days were overtime. They were at the highest peak of their earning power. The lender talked with them and said, All right, we will sell you this house. The government is going to guarantee a certain amount of it. Your payments are X-plus dollars.

That kid at that time could go ahead and buy a house. But since then he is working 40 hours a week, he has lost the two days overtime. He had to buy a refrigerator or a stove. He became a proud father, he had to buy shoes, but that payment on his house has remained constant. Lots of time now he is only getting by with the bare necessities and when payday comes around, after he has paid his VA payment and his payments on his appliances—he wants to live like we in America want him to live—he has no money left.

Gentlemen, I would say to you it would be better if we told this Korean War veteran, "Thank you for your services, but forget this $500 bonus we were going to give you and quit taxing him out of house and home. I am not going to take any more time for my remarks, but I want you men who were servicemen to talk to the veteran back home. Tell him the condition he is in today.

Industry can afford to pay these taxes and is willing to pay these taxes. Let us go back to Allegheny County and sit down with the commissioners of Allegheny County, sit down with the school boards and industry. Do not put us in that position with the commissioners in Allegheny, or the mayor of the city of McKeesport, or the superintendent of schools in McKeesport. Let us work out our own salvation.

I ask that these remarks be spread on the record. I want to thank you for your indulgence and the only reason. I have taken up so much of your time is, after you vote today you are finished with it, but we have to live with it the rest of our lives.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I have in my possession 16 or 17 resolutions from the boroughs and townships in my Legislative District which are or will be affected by the repeal of the machinery tax. I would like to have these resolutions placed in the record.

I wish to state this: I have studied this problem and I think the boroughs and townships are going to be placed under a tax problem which will wreak havoc with their assessments and with their millage.

I now present these resolutions and I ask my fellow Members of this House to just think of the small property owner and the wage earner in my large industrial district and vote "no" on 797.

Mr. STEVENS filed the following resolutions:

City of Duquesne
Turtle Creek Public Schools
East Pittsburgh School District
Township Commissioners, North Versailles Township
Borough of Liberty
Borough of Glassport
(Filed in the Office of the Chief Clerk)

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, just briefly, we feel we should give the Members of this House some of the reasons why those of us from Allegheny County who favor this bill are asking them to vote for it.

We are asking you Members of the House to give Allegheny County the same industrial competitive advantage that the other 66 counties in this Commonwealth enjoy.

I admit it would be to the interests of those Representatives of Westmoreland County, Beaver County, Armstrong County and the other counties surrounding Allegheny County to vote against this bill. I would ask the gentleman from Westmoreland and the other Members of the House to be fair. Why should the people from Allegheny County suffer because their industry is at a competitive disadvantage with other industries of this Commonwealth.

We of Pennsylvania feel it is incumbent upon us to give our industry every competitive advantage with the other states in this country. We do not do that for industry so much, but we do it for the people who must have the jobs which industry provides. We believe that what is good for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the other 66 Counties is good for Allegheny County. We also believe what is good for Allegheny County is good for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I think the proponents of this bill are short-sighted and I believe they are short-sighted for this reason, it only stands to reason as a matter of common sense that if industry in Allegheny County is under a competitive disadvantage industry will not settle in Allegheny County, but they will settle in other states or in the counties surrounding Allegheny County. It also stands to reason that if the present industry in Allegheny County can reasonably do it, they will not expand in Allegheny County, but they will move out of the county into other counties. We do not believe it fair to the people in Allegheny County, we do not believe it is fair to the people in Mr. Filo's district or Mr. Walsh's district.

We ask the Members of this House to give Allegheny County the same break that you gave the rest of the counties in this Commonwealth in 1953. We also ask the Members of this House to keep in mind that we are not interested in any corporate balance sheet or any corporate profit and loss statement, because a corporate financial statement does not breathe, it does not live. But people do, and the people cannot live without jobs whether it be in Allegheny County or anywhere else.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is certainly pleading his case but he is giving a little double talk along with it.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Bell. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I believe under Rule 61, a Member is entitled to talk but twice on a single question. I recall Mr. Filo, during his questioning of Mr. Thompson, made several speeches. He then made a speech in rebuttal, and I raised the question of procedure, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair regrets that the gentleman has raised this point of order. That rule is in the Rules of this House for the purpose of making it possible for every Member of the House to be heard.

Since very few Members of the House have taken part in the debate, the Chair would like to be as lenient as possible and has allowed Members to speak as many times as those Members saw fit.

The Chair would ask the gentleman to withdraw his point of order.

Mr. BELL. At the request of the Chair, I will withdraw it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman for his courtesy, Mr. Speaker.

The only thing I wanted to bring out was the fact that the gentleman who just spoke before me had not pleaded for the same thing with regard to the 67th county as the other 66 counties, but when it came time to vote on an amendment that would give the 67th county the same provisions as the other 66 counties, he did not see fit to vote that way.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, my remarks will be very short.

I have voted for every means of delaying this vote today and giving Allegheny County an opportunity to be heard any way they chose to be heard.

I want to say to you that in being fair remember back when we took the tax away from the rest of the counties, and some of the Members from Allegheny County were very hard at work eliminating that tax for the rest of us.

The gentleman from McKeesport says that his only means of salvation now would be a wage tax. I want to say to him and to you that our only means of salvation in the rest of the state was a wage tax. We had to take it whether we liked it or whether we did not like it. I do not like it; you do not like it. The bad feature of the wage tax is that some of our people are paying it and some are not. The same thing applies to this legislation.

If the 67 counties of this state are deprived of the tax on machinery, then Allegheny County, in my mind, has no right to pay that tax. I believe in the tax on machinery. I fought to keep it in the rest of the 67 counties, but I say to you the biggest thing that is wrong with our state today is that we have this form of taxation where some people pay and other people do not pay.

I have pleaded with you to change our Constitution. Give us the right whereby we can have a means of taxing all of the people fairly and squarely in Pennsylvania. Therefore, I must vote to eliminate the tax in Allegheny County.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I assure you I will be very brief.

Mr. Speaker, some time ago, before my time in this Legislature, this General Assembly enacted a bipartisan package of bills known as the "Pittsburgh Package." Under that package, the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County have undergone a renaissance that is the wonder of the nation and of the world. This is the ultimate and the final bill in the Pittsburgh package. You can build all the parks you want; you can build all of the fine new office buildings in downtown Pittsburgh, but unless you have jobs for the people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, the renaissance is incomplete.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, Abraham Lincoln, when he traveled to Pittsburgh one time remarked about the great state of Allegheny. Referring again to Mr. Lincoln this is another Emancipation Proclamation for the great State of Allegheny.

We earnestly hope you support this measure.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, for the record: Three years ago when this bill came up to take the tax off the other counties, I thought it was a bad bill then and I voted against it. I still think this is a bad bill. I would like this House to know that Pittsburgh is not Allegheny County.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. Speaker, so that the Members will know the plans for the rest of the day, we are going to take up the wire tapping bill. I understand there will not be any debate on it, since we debated it thoroughly yesterday. Following that, we will take up several non-controversial bills on the third reading calendar. ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time would like to express its appreciation to the Members of the House for their splendid attention and cooperation today.

The Majority Leader just informed me that in the army it is not customary to thank the members for service within the line of duty, but it is customary to make special mention of service over and beyond the call of duty.

The Chair thinks because the Members were so cooperative in missing their lunch and paying such splendid attention to the debate it deserves special mention.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, if I have caused anyone to miss their lunch, I publicly apologize for it.

JUNIOR HISTORIANS FEDERATION AND STUDENTS FROM MUNCY JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL WELCOMED

The Chair would also like to welcome to the Hall of the House today, Douglas Shoemaker, of Muncy, Pa., the Second Vice President of the Pennsylvania Junior Historians Federation, and a group of students from

They are the guests of the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr Brand.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 18, entitled:

An Act requiring bills introduced in the General Assembly to be printed with punctuation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I was under the impression at the beginning of this Session that we were going to attempt to save money on printing. I cannot, therefore, see that this is a step in that direction.

Secondly, I can also readily see that any time amendments are placed in a bill and they are not correctly punctuated, it could ruin the bill. For many, many years, we have been going along and passing bills without punctuation, and having that punctuation put in by the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office. I think this is rather silly.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman whether punctuating bills is the custom in most of the State Legislatures and our National Legislature.

Mr. PECHAN. I could not answer that question. I understand it is done in New York. However, I have only ever served in one Legislature and that is this one.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman. I would like to further ask him whether he knows from the experience of New York, if that is the only State he knows of which has adopted this, what has been the increase in cost,—the increase in the amount of printing, of course, which would occasion the cost—in this only State that we know of which has had the experience?

Mr. PECHAN. I could not answer that question.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the gentleman, in the interest of knowing whether the question raised by Senator Barr that this would be an expensive process is correct or not, that we delay action on this bill until the Senator is able to provide us with information on it.

Mr. PECHAN. I appreciate that suggestion from both you and Senate Barr. Let us, therefore, put the bill over in order until we know a little more about it.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 18, Printer's No. 99, on final passage, go over in its order.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Fleming, Senator Camiel and myself, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 12), page 5, line 4, by inserting after "life": "For any offense the penalty for which is provided in this paragraph the imposition or execution of sentence shall not be suspended and probation or parole shall not be granted." Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thought a request was made for a slow roll call on that motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On a motion to recommit, the roll is not called unless request is made by two or more Senators, and such request was not made. A voice vote was taken and the majority voted in favor of recommending the bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like the record to show that if I had known Senator Pechan was unable to find anyone else in this Senate to second such a motion, I would have seconded it.

HOUSE BILL No. 39 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from Page 2 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 39, Printer's No. 259, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 5, 1932 (P. L. 45) entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes . . .," prohibiting the imposition of wage income or occupation taxes on nonresidents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this House Bill No. 39 is a bill that appears in this Assembly every Session. Its purpose is to exempt the people who live outside of Philadelphia, in the suburbs and other places, from the Philadelphia income tax.

Mr. President, this imposition of a tax on nonresidents has been upheld by our Supreme Court. Not only is it in force in Philadelphia, but it is in force in some 200 other communities in the State of Pennsylvania.

It seems rather strange that last week, when Senator Lane introduced an amendment to extend this exemption to other municipalities and boroughs in the State of Pennsylvania, Senator Mahany got up and asked all the Republicans to vote against it. The reason that he gave for asking the Republicans to vote against it was that it would upset the budget of those municipalities.

The question before us today is, is Philadelphia a part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or not? If it upsets the budgets in other municipalities, certainly it will upset the budget in Philadelphia. It would take out something like $14,000,000 from the budget of Philadelphia.

We, in Philadelphia, had to raise our taxes to maintain some kind of a semblance of a good city. We had to raise our taxes by some thirty-five per cent in the past five years. The people of Philadelphia pay in taxes to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania some $300,000,000; yet, it seems that Philadelphia has been regarded as the stepchild of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Not only is this an attempt to discriminate against Philadelphia on the question of exempting nonresidents, we have been, as Senator Barr suggested, a stepchild in other respects. We are excluded from the county health plan, and we are the only county out of the sixty-seven that is so excluded. The Philadelphia General Hospital, a nonsectarian hospital treating thousands of needy patients, has never received an appropriation from the State of Pennsylvania.

Furthermore, when it comes to supporting our public schools, Philadelphia raises seventy-five per cent of the cost of public instruction in Philadelphia and receives an appropriation only to the extent of twenty-five per cent. The average for the State is 50.2%. Some districts get as high as ninety, ninety-five and one hundred per cent. Philadelphia gets twenty-five per cent, and under a bill now in the House, its appropriation will be reduced further.

Mr. President, this is a question of whether we are to regard Philadelphia as part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or is it to be the stepchild of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it has been said many times that consistency is the hobgoblin of small minds. The action being taken today certainly denotes that there are no small minds, at least, on the Republican Side. They must all be beyond being consistent.

The reason our group will have to vote "no" is because when we attempted to give this same type of legislation to all of the other citizens of this Commonwealth who live in an untaxed district and are paying tribute to a taxing authority, over which they have no control or vote in the management of that particular taxing authority, we were defeated in our attempt to do that. We now take the position that if it is not good for the rest of the Commonwealth, then how can it be good for Philadelphia?

I agree, in part, with what the gentleman from Philadelphia said when he called attention to the health program and the fact that the city of Philadelphia does not participate, as well, too, with the other features about which he talked. However, we must remember, too, we who do not come from the city of Philadelphia, that we recognize their need, but way back some time some of their own leaders failed to recognize their need. While the rest of us were struggling in this General Assembly to have an over-all bill which would include the city of Philadelphia in the health program, some Philadelphia leadership determined that they should be exempted and wanted to pay their own way. Now it is difficult to bring them back under the fold where they belong.

All of us know that it is unjust to tax the citizens of Philadelphia to pay for the health programs in the other counties of the State and yet, at the same time, have to pay their own. However, some of that fault can be laid at the shortsightedness on the part of Philadelphia officials at a certain time in the history of this State. That is true all along the line.

Mr. President, I do not agree with anyone who calls Philadelphia a stepchild. I think for a long, long time, while Philadelphia held sway in this State as a dominant factor in the halls of the Legislature, the rest of us little country boys were the stepchildren. However, now we have come to the stage in Pennsylvania where we must recognize that all citizens are alike and that all must be treated alike. What you are doing today is further adding to the injustice which has been perpetrated in the years past by a group of persons in Philadelphia who wanted Philadelphia left alone as an entity of its own; sort of a kingdom aside from the rest of the sovereign States.

Mr. President, this bill on the Calendar just adds to that fallacy. What we should do today is defeat this bill definitely or amend it to include the rest of the citizenry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Unless you start allowing the citizens in the townships outside of the various cities and communities, who are acting under Act No. 481, to tax nonresidents, then you have no call to vote for this bill today. Unless you do that, I am hoping that all of us on this side, and some of you on the other side who recognize that this is legislation designed to give relief only to an area and not to the entire State, will vote with us and vote "no." Let us all get together and put in legislation allowing taxing authorities to tax only those who are under their jurisdiction and not others.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, if I were an official on the local level, I would not vote for a wage tax. However, the wage tax in Philadelphia has been on the books for many years and is needed to finance the budget of the city. At this time, I do not want to disturb the financial situation in that city.

For that reason, Mr. President, I will vote against this bill.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am amazed. It looks as though they have outfoxed me a little bit. I thought they would all talk and I looked for a big rush up to the microphones. It appears that the boys got together, and are going to find out what I am going to speak about today and then they will talk a little longer.

I really do not know why we must debate this bill again. I thought by this time all of the people on the other side would be ready to vote for a bill like this, thereby getting rid of a malicious tax which I think is hated by everybody in the State of Pennsylvania. I also felt that after Governor George M. Leader was elected to the high pinnacle of the Governorship of the State of Pennsylvania, certainly the job would be done. I really am surprised that we have to debate this bill at all. I thought it would be just a fast roll call and we would get it all over with.

Inasmuch as there is opposition by Senator Silvert, and I imagine Senator Donolow will be next, and Senator Mullin and probably a few other speakers and they wanted a little ammunition before they speak, therefore, I am going to give them a little ammunition. I will give them something on which to go.

In the first place, Mr. President, I know none of you want me to go back to the Boston Tea Party. You all understand very thoroughly that we fought the English due to the fact that they were taxing us without representation, without any voice in how the money was spent. You remember what happened in Philadelphia and I am sure you do not want to hear all of that again. However, I say to Senator Silvert, who complains about his health and welfare plan, that I am again amazed. I thought Senator Silvert would talk about the use of the Philadelphia streets and he did not do it. I thought he would say something about the use of their lavatories and things like that in Philadelphia and he did not do it. We now have another approach.

I would also like to say to Senator Silvert that as far as the health plan in Philadelphia is concerned, they asked for it and we gave it to them. Philadelphia wanted to rule itself. It wanted to take itself out of the realm of other governments and did not want the State of Pennsylvania telling it what to do. Therefore, they created a charter and they created a new government. Their health problems are their problems, and it does not fit in on this Philadelphia wage tax at all.

I can say to the gentlemen of the Senate that this tax is most distasteful to 140,000 people. This applies not only in Delaware County, but in Montgomery County, Bucks County, Chester County and in Camden, across the river, which is still a neighbor and is being taxed unfairly. I say that this tax is hurting the city of Philadelphia. I say that manufacturers are moving from the city of Philadelphia, due to this tax on nonresidents and the wage tax which they have in Philadelphia. They are moving out of Philadelphia to get away from Philadelphia so that they will not have to tax their employees. I think they justly should.

Going back to our friend, Governor George Leader, Senator Dent made a remark last week that he would only veto this bill if it were put on his desk. I can say that if Governor Leader vetoes this bill, it is the same George Leader whom I know. This remark will probably bring the Senator from York to his feet. It is the same promising-Governor who told the people that he would do this and do that and who changed his mind in the end.

The election was on November 2, 1954. This pamphlet I understand was distributed to 250,000 in Delaware County, in which Governor George M. Leader said—and please, Mr. President, do not call me to order; I have to read these statements—the following:

"To accomplish the end, we pledge to abolish the sales tax.

"Eliminate wasteful extravagance by adopting the Chesterman Commission Reorganization Proposal which will save millions every two years.

"End widespread tax refunds in favor of corporations by making the facts known to the public."

Here is the one which I want you to listen to:

"End the Philadelphia wage tax payment by residents of Delaware County."

Now, Mr. President, I understand that the Governor is going to veto the bill. I am told by the Minority Leader that Governor Leader will veto this bill if it is put on his desk. If he has the courage to veto it after campaigning my county and all of the other counties adjoining Philadelphia that he was going to repeal the tax on nonresidents, then it is just another Leader story. It is the same story that he told when he campaigned about there being no sales tax nor an income tax. We were going to run this government on golden eggs that were laid in York County or somewhere. If Senator Dent is correct, we have the same thing here. I can say to him, however, that 140,000 people will not forget it if Governor Leader vetoes this bill. They will not forget that he told them he was for the repeal of this tax. If he does veto this bill, it will be a repetition of another bill which was just in here last week and I will not be surprised. This will not help him in his build up that he is trying to put over, because the people are beginning to understand. I hope he will take a turn for the better and that he will start keeping his word to the people of Pennsylvania, especially the people of my county and the adjoining counties on this Philadelphia wage tax.

I ask every Member on the Democratic side to vote for the repeal of this tax. I do not agree with Senator Dent, Mr. President. We cannot amend this bill, even though he has advice to the contrary from somebody. I would rather have Senator Dent's advice than some of the advice which he receives. I respect his advice much more. However, Senator Dent knows that he is just trying to make the road easy for the fellow on the high pinnacle. Senator Dent wants to give Governor Leader the excuse to veto this bill so that he then can say that it is unconstitutional, because you cannot amend the Sterling Act to take out the tax applied under Act No. 481. Senator Dent knows as well as I do that it cannot be done. Therefore, I hope we are not going to give him that pleasure.

I do not know how the Republicans are going to vote over here. I had a pretty stormy session today. I do not know what mail was received by some of them. I do not know whether I have twenty-six votes or not. Therefore, I am asking some of you good Democrats to vote for this bill today.

I would like to say something else about the "City of Brotherly Love." We Delaware Countians like the city of Philadelphia very much and we do not want to see Philadelphia move over into New Jersey, as I heard someone say. We want to see Philadelphia stay in Philadelphia. We respect the old city. We realize that Philadelphia does have a tax problem. However, I want to call to your attention that we have that same tax problem in Delaware County, and you are setting up the barriers in Philadelphia which will not permit us to use an income tax. You will not permit us to use an income tax because if we were to put that on, we would have to tax our people and we cannot tax your people again. We could not go that far. If we cannot tax nonresidents, it is not fair for Philadelphia to tax them. I would like to call to your attention, too, that there are 35,000 Philadelphians working in Delaware County who do not pay the Philadelphia wage tax or any tax in our county. They drink our water, too, which we are happy to give them.

Mr. President, I say that we do love the "city of Brotherly Love," but we do not love it well enough to pay its taxes. I want that fact known. We love their theaters and when we go to them, we pay to go and we pay the taxes. When we use their buses, we pay the fares. We pay for everything we receive from Philadelphia. If the Philadelphia people do not want us to come to Philadelphia, I wish one of you Philadelphia Senators would make that statement, thereby giving me something on which to go. Perhaps, then I could entice some of our people to boycott Philadelphia, which I would not like to do. Nevertheless, I am sick and tired of the story we get that, "You use our city. You enjoy our benefits and, yet, you do not want to pay our taxes."

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I ask all of you to vote for House Bill No. 39.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. Dent. Senator, do you think when they had the Boston Tea Party, which sparked the American Revolution, they were fighting only to free the counties outside of Philadelphia from taxation without representation or do you think that it included Westmoreland County?

Mr. WATKINS. I would not know what they were thinking about. I think the Boston Tea Party was an attack against taxation without representation. If I remember it right, their argument was with England.

Dr. DENT. That is true. However, then you said that it was the principle upon which you were acting today, that it was taxation without representation. Do you think that principle is also involved in the townships, boroughs and cities in my county where the people are nonresidents of a community and happen to work there and are taxed by that community?

Mr. WATKINS. I certainly do, Senator Dent, I would be mighty happy to be a co-sponsor with you on another bill to relieve them of that.

Mr. DENT. All right, then will you hold your bill on the calendar until I get the bill in, and you go along and co-sponsor it, and we will bring both bills up and pass them at the same time? I will vote for yours in a minute if you will vote for mine.

Mr. WATKINS. Senator, I have always been taught that a chicken in the hand is worth ten in the bush.

Mr. DENT. For a man that does not like eggs any better than you do, you certainly go for chickens.

Mr. WATKINS. This bill is on the Calendar, Senator, and we want to go ahead with it today.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might also remind the gentleman, without interrogating him any further and thinking him very kindly for the answer, that he stated the amendments we offered were offered for the purpose of easing someone's conscience or a problem when it arrived at a certain destination. I want to assure him that these amendments were carefully drawn and that if they were not constitutional, a saving clause in the bill would have saved that portion of the bill in which you are interested. If you wanted to show your intention and if the intention were honorable, in that you expected to relieve all citizens from taxation without representation, you would have accepted our amendments. However, the trouble was just as the Majority Leader said. He said a lot of these cities, townships and boroughs have need of this money to balance their budgets in their communities. That does not sound as though the high principle of taxation without representation is the motive behind the legislation.

For sixteen years, the Republican Party was in charge of the State of Pennsylvania in every category, but how come you could not muster the votes then among your own group to lay it on a Republican Governor's desk. You never had an opportunity then, but it seems that under this little, one generation Democratic Party's Administration in the State of Pennsylvania, every reform conceived in the sixteen years of Republican rule is brought to fruition during our short term of power.

You talk about exempting the manufacturer from the Capital Stock Tax for sixteen years and carried it in every one of your platforms. If you want me to read platforms, Senator, I can read you platforms where the planks are just as good as new, because they were never used and they were your own platforms. You wait until you get a Democratic Governor to relieve industry of the Capital Stock Tax. You have been promising to relieve the nonresidents of taxation in Philadelphia for sixteen years, but you wait until you get a Democratic Governor to create that relief.

All through this entire picture, all I see is an attempt to embarrass a Democratic Administration by removing finances, and not only from the State level of Government. We had a bill on the calendar today, another one of those embarrassing type legislative bills whereby we would cut the amount of money going into the Highways Fund, but we are going to increase how much we give to the local districts.

When do we cease being childish and act as men in the General Assembly and face up to the issues as they are presented to us by the problems that are bearing down upon the shoulders of the taxpayers, regardless of whether they are Republican or Democratic?

This is not a realistic view of the problem. This is not a realistic approach to the problem. You have no justification for the passage of this act anymore than you had justification for asking to have exclusive government in the city of Philadelphia. I voted many, many times on the floor of this Senate against setting up any exclusive type of government within the confines of Pennsylvania for any municipal district, whether it was Philadelphia or any other municipality of government, and I will continue to do so. However, you cannot correct it in your own four or five counties outside Philadelphia without correcting it in all the other counties of the State of Pennsylvania.

I will take my gamble on the amendments and if you are as sincere as I know and hope that you are, you will let us put in the amendments and exempt every non-resident from paying taxes outside of his own jurisdiction. I think that is the fair and honorable way to do it, that is the reasonable way to do it and that is the just way to do it.

To say to me that your communities should be relieved because they have nothing to say in the government of Philadelphia is perfectly right. I admire your fight for them, I agree with your fight for them and I stand with you shoulder to shoulder. Nevertheless, once you get this legislation through, there is no hope of relief for the citizens in my community who have to pay a nonresidence tax. Therefore, this vehicle should be used to relieve all of those oppressed by nonresidence taxation; all of those who have no say in the authority of the government which places the tax upon them or the spending of the tax.

I agree that your citizens should be relieved. I have my own conception of what caused the Boston Tea Party, and before it is all over I will brew some tea on the Senate floor when we get to that point in our discussions on the general budget and so forth. I want to say to all of you that you cannot ask us, as a group of honorable men, to vote to allow a nonresident to be taxed in our communities and relieve them in your communities.

Hold still for the amendments; stand up with us and vote to create the same situation, the same sense of justice which you uphold so well on the floor of the Senate for your people. Give my people the same consideration. Give consideration to the little people back in the districts who do not have the mighty weight of twenty-seven votes on the Republican side to protect them and help them out of a dilemma. Give them the benefit of your twenty-seven votes. Cast your party's vote once in this Session of the Legislature for justice, on the basis of justice itself and not for justice on the basis of political expediency.

Mr. DONOLW. Mr. President, I am always delighted to hear my good friend from Delaware County debate the bill exempting the people of his community from the Philadelphia Wage Tax. However, today he astounded me and sort of put me back a bit. I recognize the Senator from Delaware County as a successful businessman, a man who is held in great esteem because he has sagacity and he possesses a great deal of ability in the business world.

We must in this present year look at this matter realistically. It is no longer the suburbs versus the big city. In the year of 1957, the suburban communities of the big cities have come into their own. Mr. President, we must look at the over-all picture now as to the relationship of Delaware, Bucks, Montgomery and Chester Counties with the city of Philadelphia. Since 1951, the administrations in Philadelphia have been trying to work out an over-all scheme of water, sewerage disposal, roads, traffic problems, police protection and industrial development, which would affect the whole Delaware Valley, U.S.A.

It is important, Mr. President, that the big city of Philadelphia progress; that the big city of Philadelphia go on with its programs of development because we have found that when the big city dies, when the big city no longer is progressive, when the big city deteriorates, the suburban communities go with it. Delaware County will be no greater than the city from which she feeds, Philadelphia. If the city of Philadelphia's administration does not become progressive, if the present mayor of Philadelphia refuses to carry on his wonderful program of progress to make Philadelphia an A-1 city, then the good people of the suburbs will go down with it.

Mr. President, I would like to say to Senator Watkins that we want the people of Delaware County, Chester County, Montgomery County and Bucks County to come to our city. We want them to use our facilities. We welcome them. We want them to use our cultural developments, our Robin Hood Dell, our fine theaters, our operas and whatever else they can get out of our city. We welcome them because we feel we have something in common. The $14,000,000 which you people contribute to our city is important to the progress of it. Take away the $14,000,000, Senator, let our city become stagnated, and I am sure the people of your good community will feel the impact of same.

Therefore, it should be obliged on your part in this Senate today. I thought you would do that. I thought you would stand up here and say that the people of the surrounding suburban communities will contribute more taxes to Philadelphia so that we can progress and so we can take you with us. I was certainly disappointed when I heard that you would be again in favor of this bill to take the money from us.

I am certain, Senator Watkins, when you meditate back in your home and think of the far-reaching effect and the far planning, you will agree with me that the $14,000,000 which our good friends who surround us contribute to our treasury is, indeed, a worthy contribution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Edward J. Kessler) in the Chair.

And the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am not going to prolong this argument. I do want to assure Senator Dent that if he is going to introduce a bill which will amend Act No. 481 so that nonresidents all over the Commonwealth, who come under Act No. 481, will not be taxable under the wage tax, I will be a co-sponsor of such a bill.

My community, just about two months ago, put in a four-tenths of one per cent wage tax. The boroughs which come under Act No. 481 around us put on a similar tax, because they would rather have the money come to them than give it to Ford City. However, Manor Township, which surrounds Ford City, is a second class township and has a population as big as Ford City, and is much larger than some of the boroughs which have 200 or 300 people in them. This township is not allowed, under Act No. 481, to impose a wage tax. So, the whole thing, I think, is unfair and Act No. 481 is not related to the Sterling Act. In fact, Senator Dent almost admitted that when he said a saving clause could be put in the bill. If he were sure of its constitutionality, there would be no need for a saving clause. I want to assure him that I would be happy to co-sponsor a bill whereby all nonresidents would be free from a wage tax.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would like to address myself for a moment to the problem raised by the Senator from Delaware County, taxation without representation.

This has been the threadbare battle cry which has been used here almost every two years since I have been here. I would like to ask the Senator what voice he has every time he buys a pack of cigarettes and pays tax on those cigarettes, no matter where he buys those cigarettes, or when he buys other items of that type, such as gasoline. He has no voice if he buys these cigarettes or gasoline in the State of Virginia, North Carolina, Florida or anywhere else. He has no voice or no say. Every time he buys those items, he pays a State tax, even though he is not a resident and has no power to vote in that area.

I would also like to point out to the Senator, and maybe this will come to him as a shock, that in December of the past year, the mayor of Philadelphia and the responsible persons in the communities surrounding Philadelphia, from Bucks, Delaware and Montgomery Counties, signed a pact with the city of Philadelphia, ranging for a period of from thirty-five to fifty-five years which would take care of the problems of sewerage and water. At that time, all the responsible parties stated this was one area they had agreed upon and they felt there were other areas they should get together on and hoped to do so in the near future.

Not too long ago, I related to the Senator and to the Members of the Senate what has taken place in this Country in regard to people fleeing from the city and living in the suburbs, so that the city, as a core, became the place where the people earned their livelihood and the suburbs became actually where they lived. The result has been to leave the cities pretty bare. If the people in the suburbs are going to continue to thrive and live in the suburbs, they are going to have to take up some of the responsibilities of the core or the city.

Mr. Zeckendorf, who is one of the leaders in one of the largest real estate firms in the world, Webb and Knapp, at a convention of realtors held in San Francisco, said that the suburbs were "freeloaders on the cities," and unless the people realize their responsibilities, we are going to head into some real difficulties.

I heard the Senator cry—and I hope he will come over on this side when the appropriation bills come out because we can use his voice—how badly Philadelphia was in need of certain things, and money for one. I would like him to search his own conscience, along with some of his colleagues. How did he vote on the appropriation bill dealing with Philadelphia? How did he vote on the airport appropriation? How about the port authority and other similar matters? Did he just go along in the same old way, voting down all the things that were good for Philadelphia?

I think you should bear in mind that Philadelphia is the third largest city in the United States, bounded by the limits with which it is. Of course, Los Angeles has been claiming to be the third largest city because it has no city limits of the size of Philadelphia. What have we done up here to do anything to help the city of Philadelphia? The answer is practically nothing. It is a battle every Session that we come here, to help Philadelphia against the fight of the rural communities who have no feeling or no use for the large city.

The removal of this tax would create a hazard which the Senator from Bucks should bear in mind, as well as the Senator from Montgomery County and the Senator from Delaware County. The relief of this tax on their residents would do nothing to help their counties and would injure Philadelphia very heavily. The injury would result or find its form in higher real estate taxation in Philadelphia, which would actually drive business out of Philadelphia and then we would not have to discuss this bill or any other bill like it, because there would be no jobs for the suburbanites and they would not have to worry about paying this small tax that they now pay.

I think if you were to discard the selfish and political view and look at this thing as a trustee of the State, which we are, sitting in this Body, you would do nothing otherwise than vote against this type of selfish and self-serving legislation. I think we should vote against this bill

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I wish to point out to our brethren on the other side that this is a Republican tax. When this tax was instituted in 1939, it was opposed very much by the Democrats of the city of Philadelphia, but the band of brothers, who were all Republicans, without a dissenting vote in City Council passed this tax.

After eighteen years, we have gotten used to this tax and there is absolutely no way in which we can replace the tax at the present time. Therefore, we feel that the Republicans now should think twice before they undo the work of their brothers in Philadelphia, who later on were discredited by the people of Philadelphia for their corruption and for their misgovernment.

We know that they have brought this matter up before and even Republican Governors have vetoed the bill. I understand our immediately previous Governor vetoed it. I think that sometime we may have some irresponsible person in the Governor's office who might sign such an irresponsible piece of legislation for the same political reasons that our friends from Delaware County are introducing the bill every year, for some political advantage.

I hope that the Republican brothers on the other side will uphold their men who were in very great financial distress in Philadelphia back in 1939.

Mr. SEYLER. It is always a pleasure, Mr. President, for me to hear on this biennial occasion the speech of the gentleman from Delaware. He handles this problem in his usual fine fashion, but I am getting a little bit tired of the rather peevish way in which he drags the Governor into this dispute.

The Senator has gotten a lot of mileage out of that little pamphlet which some zealous, local candidates got out over in Delaware County. If he feels that this is the last of this issue for this Session, I would appreciate it if the gentleman from Delaware would give me that little piece of propaganda for my scrapbook, because I will always treasure it as a memento of the amusing speeches that the Senator from Delaware made.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO SUPPORT AND ENACT LEGISLATION WHICH WILL PERMIT DEDUCTIONS FROM FEDERAL INCOME TAX FOR AMOUNTS PAID FOR TUITION IN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. MALLERY, MAHANY, TAYLOR, BLASS, EHRGOOD, STEVENSON, BERGER, MADIGAN, WATKINS, WADE and WAGNER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 13, 1957.

The value of a higher education in the present day world cannot be over-emphasized. The high standard of living which we, in the United States, now enjoy and the rapid strides which we have made in all fields of endeavor can be attributed largely to the fact that we are the best educated nation on earth.

In order to maintain the heights which have been attained and to make even greater strides of progress, it is imperative that all possible obstacles be removed from the paths of parents wishing to send their children to colleges and universities. For many of these parents, the costs involved in a college education are extremely burdensome, and for others prohibitive.

If the amount paid for tuition in colleges and universities could be deducted from Federal income tax, it would not only help relieve those parents from their tremendous burden, but would also enable numerous other parents to give their children the higher education which both the parents and the children so earnestly desire; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact legislation which will permit deduction from Federal income tax for amounts paid for tuition in colleges and universities; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

materials to be used in a contract with a municipal authority.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT, from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 254, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," requiring preference to be given to residents of the Commonwealth over one year when appointments or promotions are made to public offices and positions; and imposing duties on the Governor and other appointing powers.

REQUEST FOR PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I am about to present a bill on behalf of Senator Elliot and myself, and I now ask unanimous consent to make a brief statement concerning the second bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if we are to take care of business tomorrow, it is quite necessary that we get some bills on the calendar in order for us to vote on the same tomorrow. If it is possible, I wish that the gentleman would refrain from introducing any more bills until tomorrow and then they may introduce any bills and resolutions. It would help us immeasurably if they would do that.

REQUEST FOR PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE WITHDRAWN

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I withdraw my request for permission to address the Senate, and I will refrain from introducing the bills until tomorrow's Session.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 229, Printer's No. 172;
Senate Bill No. 278 (Pink);
House Bill No. 300, Printer's No. 163; and
House Bill No. 319, Printer's No. 169.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 343, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 28, 1947 (P. L. 110), entitled "Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act," prescribing the method of fixing the fair market value of certain motor vehicles purchased under installment sales contracts and regulating the rights and duties of the parties thereto.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this bill was introduced to prevent abuses in the financing and repossession of automobiles which were uncovered by the Philadelphia Inquirer about two years ago. An out-of-State finance came into this State and bought up a lot of old judgments, entered them and repossessed cars which were repossessed ten and fifteen years ago. They then proceeded to make levies on former owners who had been in the service, who had long forgotten about them, and squeezed out settlements of $200 or $300 on judgments which they bought at two or five cents on a dollar.

Mr. President, I know there are certain objections to this bill, but the principle part of the bill is to provide that where an automobile is repossessed, a petition for a deficiency must be filed, if the debtor is not satisfied with the value of the automobile, within ninety days or he can no longer proceed. I think Mr. Hafer, who filed a brief here, agrees with that. I would like to say to the Majority Leader that Mr. Hafer held a meeting with the attorney and the Legal Aid Bureau in Philadelphia last Thursday. They spent three hours on it and they agreed that this bill can be amended so as to remove the objectionable provisions in it.

I would, therefore, request that your motion to recommit be reconsidered and that a motion to place the bill on the second Reading Postponed Calendar be made. I will make such a motion, if you will withdraw your motion.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think we can all agree that this is a lawyer's bill and may very well be studied again by the Judiciary General Committee, which is composed mostly of lawyers. At that time, the committee will give it consideration, and I am sure that Senator Silvert, and others, will be given an opportunity to be heard. When the bill is fixed up to their satisfaction, they may again report it out and then within a day we can vote on it on Third Reading. Therefore, I think the best way to do this is to put it back into the Judiciary General Committee.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, ordinarily, if we were not near the close of the Session, I would agree with Senator Mahany. However, I know that we are getting close to the end of the Session. I think satisfactory amendments can probably be prepared this week. I think all the purposes designed in this bill, as well as the objections to it, can be cured by amendments. If we put it on the Postponed Calendar, the bill will have a chance to live. Otherwise, if it goes back to committee, it may take a week or longer before we have a meeting. It will then have to go to the House and there may not be sufficient time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we Members of the Senate, on both sides, are often a target for brickbats. I believe, therefore, that when a Member of this distinguished body of Senators is about to receive a well deserved honor, it is proper that we take official note of it as his con-ferres and spread it on the record for all to see. I speak of Senator Albert Pechan, of Armstrong and Butler Counties. I particularly choose this day, Monday, May 13th, because it is his fifty-fifth birthday.

Senator Pechan, or Doctor Pechan, has been chosen for the 1957 Annual Award of the Pennsylvania State Dental Society, an honor established by his profession in 1946 and given in recognition of outstanding contributions to the dental profession. Senator Pechan, who is a member of the dental staff of the Armstrong County Memorial Hospital and who has represented the Butler-Armstrong District in this Chamber since 1948, was selected for recognition both as a practitioner and as a public servant.
Members of the Armstrong County and Allegheny-Kiski Valley Dental Society observed in nominating him:

"He is one of our fines practitioners and his public life and activities have reflected great credit to all of us."

Senator Pechan, a native of Ford City where he practices, is known as "the father of fluoridation" in Pennsylvania. His own Ford City was the first community in Pennsylvania to fluoridate its water.

Senator Pechan has also played a leading role in the adoption of legislation making Pennsylvania the first State in the Nation to include certain dental procedures in the coverage of the Blue Shield and Blue Cross.

Although I have known Senator Pechan for many years and have worked with him closely here, I am impressed and almost amazed at the list of his many achievements in addition to his position as Assistant Majority Leader in the Senate and as a practitioner of dentistry.

He attended the University of Kentucky, graduated from the University of Pittsburgh Dental School and the Dewey School of Orthodontia.

He has been on the Ford City Board of Education in a variety of capacities since 1929 and recently was elected as the first President of the newly-formed Ford City Union School District. He is most active in Ford City civic and fraternal affairs and is an honorary member of its volunteer fire department.

He volunteered for service in World War II, rose from private to major, and is now a lieutenant colonel in the reserves. He spent just short of four years in England as head of the 114th General Hospital as prosthodontist.
He also served as plans, training and executive officer.
After the war he activated Company "C" of the 112th
Infantry at home and served as its Commander.

He was the first World War II Commander of the American Legion in his home town and is a charter member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has been cited by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Joint Veterans Council for distinguished service to his community, State and Nation.

The Senator has been a trustee of Indiana State Teachers' College since 1947, served as a member of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and as Executive Committee Member of the Joint State Government Commission.

The regard the folks at home hold for Senator Pechan is highlighted by the fact that he is the only Senator from his District to be elected for a third term. I would add, he has done yeoman work for not only the residents of his District but for all Pennsylvanians.

Senator Pechan will receive his award May 24th during the 89th Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania Dental Society here in Harrisburg and it is my privilege, on behalf of all of the Senators here assembled, to extend in advance sincere congratulations to a fine man, a good Senator and certainly by the high honor which comes to him an outstanding member and credit to the Pennsylvania State Dental Society.

Mr. President,, I am about to present a resolution to the Chair, on behalf of Senator Dent and myself, and I believe all of the other Senators of the Chamber join with us.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING SENATOR ALBERT R. PECHAN
ON HIS BIRTHDAY ON HIS GOOD WORKS, AND ON THE RECOGNITION OF THOSE GOOD WORKS
BY THE MEMBERS OF HIS PROFESSION

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. MAHANY and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 13, 1957.

Today marks the anniversary of the birth of our colleague from Armstrong and Butler, Senator Albert R.
Pechan.

It is fitting enough that we do him honor on his birthday only because of the high esteem and personal affection we hold for him. But other reasons exist for our action, one of them being an effort to give recognition to his magnificent record of achievement. Consider a recitation of only part of his accomplishments and public services:

He attended the University of Kentucky and graduated from the University of Pittsburgh Dental School and the Dewey School of Orthodontia.

While at Pitt he played in the band, was the assistant editor of "Dental Rays" and was the first "Pitt Panther" to receive a letter for that activity.

He has practiced dentistry in Ford City, Pennsylvania since 1928 and has established an outstanding reputation as a dentist. He is a member of the dental staff of the Armstrong County Memorial Hospital.

During the second world war he enlisted as a private in the Army and was discharged four years later as a major. He is now a lieutenant colonel in the reserves. He served in the American and European Theatres as Chief of Prosthetics and as plans, training and executive officer.

After the war he activated company "C" of the 112th Infantry in Ford City and served as its commander. He was the first World War II commander of the American Legion in his home town and is a charter member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has been cited by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Joint Veterans Council for distinguished service to his community, State and Nation.

He has served as Republican State Committeeman from his district and as alternate delegate to the Republican Convention of 1940.

He has been on the Ford City Board of Education in various capacities since 1929, and recently was elected as the first president of the newly-formed Ford City Union School District.

He has been continually active in Community, Church, civic and fraternal affairs. He is a vestryman of St. Pauls Episcopal Church of Kittanning. He is a member of Masonic bodies, the Elks, K. of P. and Eagles. After serving as an active fireman he became an honorary member of Volunteer Hose Company No. 1 of Ford City.

He has been a trustee of Indiana State Teachers College since 1947 and has served as a member of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and as Executive Committee member of the Joint State Government Commission.

He has been a trustee of Indiana State Teachers College since 1947 and has served as a member of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and as Executive Committee member of the Joint State Government Commission.

Known as the "Father of Flouridation" in Pennsylvania he was responsible for his community being the first in Pennsylvania to add fluorine to its water supply. He has also played a leading role in the adoption of legislation making the first state in the nation to include dental work in the coverage of Blue Shield and Blue Cross.

He was elected to the Senate of Pennsylvania in 1948 on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. He was reelected in 1952 and in 1956 became the first Senator from his District to be elected to a third term. He has done excellent work in the Senate and now holds the position of Assistant Majority Leader.

We have still a further reason for honoring him today. It is to congratulate him in advance on receiving a well deserved tribute from his fellow dentists. On May 24th he will receive the annual award of the Pennsylvania State Dental Society, given in recognition of outstanding contributions to the dental profession.

The attitude of the society in choosing him is best expressed in the words of the members of the Armstrong County and Allegheny-Kishi Valley Dental Society when nominating him: "He is one of our finest practitioners and his public life and activities have reflected great credit to all of us." We in the Senate can say the same thing, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulate Albert R. Pechan on his birthday on his good works, and on the recognition of those good works by the members of his profession and be it further

Resolved, That we give thanks to his good wife, the former Lenora Shaffer, for the help she has given him in his service to his fellow man, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be delivered to Senator Pechan.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE RESOLUTION UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in seconding the motion for the adoption of this resolution, I would like to say a few words, some kind and some unkind, about the gentleman from my home county of Armstrong. I do not think it matters much to any of you, but I was born in Armstrong County. Except for the fact that I moved away and am a Democrat, I would probably be the Senator from that District.

Mr. President, I think the people of Armstrong County have shown their good taste in keeping Senator Pechan for his third term. I have quite a number of relatives and friends of long and dear standing over in that District, and they all speak well of Senator Pechan. To my own knowledge, having visited he and his gracious wife probably fifteen or twenty times in the last couple of months over at his home and in his dental office, I can vouch for both his social and his professional good fellowship. He is a very fine dentist and probably one of the few Republicans who has ever had me in a position where I could not do much about it.

Senator Pechan is an excellent Member of this Senate. He has given a great deal of help, I know, and it has been appreciated by the Majority Leader. One fellow from his county said there is one thing about Senator Pechan, he is a very promising Senator. That, most of us have learned to know. There are very few subjects he cannot promise on. One of the things I like about him is that you never need worry about him being too stubborn on a subject. He has a very flexible mind and uses it. He can change his position very fast and he is fast on his feet when it comes to shifting from one particular position to another. I am sure that whatever he does, he always feels he is justified in doing it.

There are times when some of us over here become a little exasperated with him, especially when he forgets that he is only the Majority Whip and starts to act as though he is the Majority Leader. Most of us on this side, particularly me, resent any of our subordinates trying to take over. I do not mean that Senator Mahany minds it so much, at least not where Senator Pechan can hear him. However, there are times when I am sure that Senator Mahany get a great kick out of being able to leave the floor and know that when he comes back he will have some work to do. I am sure that Senator Pechan, in his very quick and ambitious way, would like to get through the Calendar before Senator Mahany can catch onto what is going on. Senator Mahany, however, is an old-timer, too, and he knows that Senator Pechan sometimes will let a bill do something other than what Senator Mahany wants to have done with it and Senator Mahany will sit there and let Senator Pechan almost get away with it.

I want to say to all you Members of the Senate that I am happy to have been privileged, over the years, to have been considered a friend of Senator Pechan, and I am sure he knows that I consider him a friend of mine.

Mr. President, on behalf of all of his colleagues on this side, speaking for them on one of the rare occasions when I have the right to speak for them, I want to say that all of us wish Senator Pechan well, a long life, a happy death when that time comes, and a very short penance in heaven.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
The motion was agreed to and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I was all right until I got up. I will be all right in a minute. I am overwhelmed, and am a little bit of a sissy and a little ashamed of myself. I stand here in all humbleness. I appreciate the tribute not only from my colleagues in the dental profession, but I did not know Senator Mahany cared that much.

I certainly appreciate the very kind words that were said and I hope that I am deserving of them. I was surprised when I learned that my colleagues in the dental profession had selected me for the award and I hope I am deserving of that honor.

You know, Mr. President, the dental profession is a very fine one and the dentists of Pennsylvania are second to none. It is a challenge to us to continue to improve our profession. The fact that I am a Member of this fine Body, and had cooperation from the Members on both sides of the aisle in getting some legislation through, has helped my profession in its standing with not only the people we serve, but also with our allied healing arts people.

I again want to thank you very much. I appreciate it, and hope that I am deserving of the honor which is coming to me the latter part of this month.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, May 14, 1957, at 12:00 o'clock, meridian, Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. JOHNSON, DONALDSON, AUSTIN M. LEE and BREON. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 107.

In the House of Representatives, May 9, 1957.

Whereas, The problem of equal opportunity of all for higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has become a matter of widespread concern, particularly the question of state subsidization of qualified secondary school graduates without adequate financial means to continue their schooling at the college level; and

Whereas, A number of plans have been advanced seeking a solution to this problem and confining in many instances meritorious features; and

Whereas, The participation of the State in this field involves broad questions of financial feasibility, revenue sources, adequate administration and overall effectiveness and has led to widespread controversy; and

Whereas, The General Assembly requires additional specific and detailed information in order to determine intelligently the form and extent of any such program or programs; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), that the Joint State Government Comm. conduct a thorough study of the problems of higher education by considering the following factors:

1. Advisability of establishing free or loan scholarship funds for worthy students who have displayed a capacity for higher learning to be based upon a study of various existing scholarship programs.

2. Authorizing use of existing high school facilities as Junior colleges on a community level.

3. Extension of college centers similar to those throughout the Commonwealth to be operated by and through existing institutions of higher learning.

4. Whether the Commonwealth should expand its present system of State Teachers Colleges with a view to their eventually becoming State Universities.

5. Determine the capacities of existing institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania and the point at which they will have reached their maximum capacity.

6. Make a detailed analysis of the cost of such programs for higher education including, in addition to outright grants, the cost of overall administration.

7. Compile any other data or information that will be needed by the General Assembly to appraise the problem of higher education in the Commonwealth, while considering the task of doing a good job with respect to primary and secondary education; therefore be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission submit a report to the General Assembly on its findings and recommendations as soon as completed but not later than January 1, 1959.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS, WOOD, KELLER and LaFORE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 108.

In the House of Representatives, May 9, 1957.

The era of World War II produced serious questions as to the protection of records and archives of the State government, many of which are irreplaceable and vital to the conduct of government and the protection of titles of land and vital statistics, as well as historically important documents. The same questions are again aroused in the public mind by the possible threat of atomic warfare and surprise attacks upon the State and Nation.

Adequate information as to the nature, condition and location of State records, and possible protective measures which might insure their protection against the dangers of a holocaust such as might strike Harrisburg does not at present exist; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be instructed to make a full and complete study of the problem of care, custody and protection of State records and archives, and that this study be conducted in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission as the authorized official body concerned with authorization of disposal of State records; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission and the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly their findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 404 by placing a bracket before the word "or" on Page 4, line 4, and a bracket after the word "applicant" on Page 4 line 16.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, explain the meaning of these amendments and the purpose thereof?

Mr. PETROSKY. The amendments place brackets before the word "or" on page 4, of the bill and place an additional bracket on page 4, line 16, after the word "applicant."

The reason for the amendments is that I believe in this section of the bill we are approaching a different problem from that which is being approached in the amendment just preceding the lines which I want bracketed out.

I can appreciate this proposal does approach one problem. However, the secondary problem, in all the smaller communities throughout Pennsylvania we would place in discretion of the Board whether we shall allow any license regardless of the limitations which are placed upon licenses under the Liquor Code.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I was interrogating Mr. Petrosky. I believe he is debating the amendments, and I have not finished my interrogation.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I wanted to give him a good, detailed explanation so there would not be any necessity for too many questions.

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that the gentleman confine his answers to the questions which are directed to him.

Has the interrogation been completed?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. It has not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Westmoreland familiar with, for example, a growing community like Huntingdon Township in his County?

Mr. PETROSKY. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Under this amendment where a new development has been created and there are 2,000 homes established, you desire that the applicant for a license be given the absolute authority to establish a licensed establishment in that new community, is that correct?

Mr. PETROSKY. I do not by this amendment, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman show me where my question is not correct.

Mr. PETROSKY. In this respect, that we have sufficient statutes on the books that in the event the license is not feasible for a particular area which is predominantly residential, then the local authorities have the right to pass a proper zoning ordinance locally to take care of the situation.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, if the zoning board would allow a restaurant in a residential area, is it not a fact that under the zoning law a license could be given to that restaurant?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct, and that is exactly what I stated, if it were feasible the local people would know so, that it was feasible to have a restaurant established in that area. If it was not, then they would pass a zoning ordinance which would disallow it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that when he introduced his amendment with reference the discretionary power as to allowing more than three licensees in an area of a radius of 200 feet he took away that discretionary power?

In other words, Mr. Speaker, the way the amendment reads now, whenever there are more than three licensees within a radius of 200 feet the Liquor Board cannot even exercise discretion?

Mr. PETROSKY. I would not want it to be so, Mr. Speaker. If the gentleman would want to hold the bill over until I confer with him and prepare the proper amendments to effect that which I desire, I would be only too happy to have it done.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would not care to do so because there has been plenty of delaying action on this matter and Mr. Petrosky is a man of many years' experience and I believe he knows how to prepare amendments.

Mr. Speaker, I have completed my interrogation and, after Mr. Petrosky has spoken in favor of the amendment, I would like to be recognized.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, desire to be recognized.

Mr. PETROSKY. Yes, Mr. Speaker. I recognize that the amendment has been erroneously prepared and I would like to at this time to make a motion and appeal to the membership of both sides of the House to support the motion to take the bill, together with the amendment, and place it on the table, which will allow me sufficient time to rectify the error. I am a human being and I am subject to error, Mr. Speaker.

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE

Mr. PETROSKY. I move, Mr. Speaker, that the bill, together with the amendment, be placed upon the table temporarily until I have time to place the amendment in proper order.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman intend to have corrective amendments ready today?

Mr. READINGER. I suggest that this bill be passed over temporarily because the change in the amendment can be made in about three minutes. It is a very simple matter to make that change, if the Chair will return the amendment sent to the desk by the sponsor.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the bill will be passed over temporarily. The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 111, entitled:

An Act amending the "Local Health Administration Law" approved August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304) extending the provisions thereof to counties of the first class and to municipalities located in counties of the first class.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provision of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, House Bill 75.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed consideration of House Bill No. 75, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) relating to the discretion of the Liquor Control Board to grant liquor licenses.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the amendment originally offered to House Bill No. 75 and offer the following amendment:

The SPEAKER. Mr. Petrosky withdraws the amendment originally offered and offers the following amendment:

Amend Section 404 by placing a bracket before the word "or" on Page 4, line 4, and placing a bracket after the word "instance" on Page 4, line 10.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask the House to support this amendment, as it would be in the way of good legislation. It would not hinder the local authorities in making particular decisions as concern local jurisdiction in the municipality, and certainly they would be more conversant with a situation, rather than breaking down a situation where we were leaving to the discretion of an administrative body the particular decision whether a licensed establishment could be set up in a given municipality.

Further, I believe there should be the leeway this amendment gives, it should be written into the law for the reason that there are many small communities where it is feasible to place a restaurant establishment within that community, and with the proposal before us it could be outlawed by an administrative board because most of those small municipalities are predominately residential.

I can appreciate the problem you have in some cities, but there are local laws which govern and which can rectify any undesirable and given situation. In respect to those small communities which are not business communities in this day and age with the big shopping areas, smaller communities which need a licensed restaurant establishment, I ask the urban people, as well as the rural Members who represent that type of community, to recognize this amendment as a proper amendment to the proposal before us and to vote the amendment into House Bill 75 so we can have a licensed restaurant establishment based upon whether it is feasible or not by local authority, rather than leaving it to the discretion of an administrative board and breaking down our judiciary.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure whether I understand this amendment, and I wish you to correct me if I am wrong.

Under your amendment if the Liquor Control Board upon competent evidence being presented to it finds there are more than three restaurants within a radius of 200 feet, then they shall have authority to approve or disapprove a new restaurant license or the transfer of an existing license, is that correct?

Mr. PETROSKY. My amendment does not affect that portion of the bill at all, the way it is written now.

Mr. McCORMACK. Your amendment does not affect it?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct.

Mr. McCORMACK. Your amendment applies solely to the situation where there is a question of placing a restaurant license or transferring an existing license into an area which is predominately residential without regard to the number within that area, is that correct?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct, and you must add within a radius of 500 feet of the predominately residential area.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I was in favor of the bill as introduced by Mr. Goldstein, but it seems to me that the amendment now introduced by the gentleman from Westmoreland is all right and, unless I hear to the contrary some good reason why I should not be for it, I am inclined to go along with the amendment.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether my reasoning will compel Mr. McCormack to change his mind, but my reasoning is this:

The argument of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, indicates that he thinks the question of whether a license should go into a residential area should rest with the local authorities.

My bill in its second purpose provides that discretionary authority should rest with the state, the Liquor Control Board. I want to point out clearly to all the Members of the House that this bill does not affect clubs, it does not affect hotels, it merely gives the Liquor Control Board the power to say when it is against the best interests of a community that a liquor license should not be established in a predominately residential area, then the Board should have that power.

If you vote for this amendment, you are saying that where there is an area which is almost 99 percent residential nothing in the world can stop a licensed establishment from being established and operated in that area.

We think those who vote for this amendment are not in favor of temperance, they are merely opening the door to prohibition, because the people who live in these new areas have moved from the cities and do not desire that their communities have a tavern in their midst.

This is not an arbitrary decision on the part of the Board. I repeat, it merely gives the Board discretionary power. What is so unusual about that? The Board had discretionary power before 1956. What gave rise to the necessity for this law is that the Supreme Court said it did not have the power and they should go to the Legislature to effect a remedy.

We are asking you to defeat this amendment so that the remedy can be effected today in this House.

Mr. PETROSKY. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Will the gentleman tell me who would be more conversant with whether a licensed establishment would be feasible or undesirable in a given municipality? Would the local authorities know the situation better or would the administrative body located in central government in Harrisburg, namely, the Liquor Control Board, know better what was desired in that area?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, my answer is this, that neither would have the knowledge. The best knowledge would come from the people who live in the community. If that community is almost 100 percent residential and 2,500 people say they do not want to have a tavern in their community, then the Liquor Control Board should have the right so to say. Twenty-five hundred people in the city of Pittsburgh in the Point area Breeze area asked the Liquor Control Board to exercise this discretion. It did. Finally the Supreme Court said it had no discretion. I am not asking about power in Harrisburg or power in Westmoreland County, I am asking for power in the people.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman defeats his own purpose with that argument. I have said, and I know full well, that no local authority would be so naive as to not take advantage of the zoning laws and pass an ordinance when a predominately residential area did not want a licensed restaurant establishment in a given area, they would not so rule in a zoning ordinance to take care of the 2,500 people. The same would be true in municipalities of 500, or 1,000, or 750 population.

I further say we should not deny the right of a local community to have a licensed restaurant establishment, even though it is predominately residential, provided it would be a feasible establishment to service that community.

I ask the membership on both sides of the aisle to vote for the amendment to the proposal before us.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the amendment?

On a rising vote, fifty-three Members having voted in the affirmative and ninety-six in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the bill.

I believe in House Bill 75 we attempt in the event this is passed to break down the judiciary as applied to the broad power of discretion vested in an administrative board. I know this House has seen fit many times to disallow that, and I hope they will do so in this instance.

I further want to correct one statement in the discussion of the amendment. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, stated that the clubs were not affected by this bill. The club associations are opposing this bill on the basis of a wedge being driven in on this particular issue in question, and they feel sure they will be the next ones to be affected by the same.

So on behalf of the proper and orderly function of matters of this nature, which we have left to the discretion of the judiciary and which the judiciary has ruled on with wisdom in the past, and since we cannot say who the administrator will be in the future and what effect its decision will have along these broad discretionary powers, I ask the membership of the House to vote against the proposal before us.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to state that I think the reasons given by the Pennsylvania Federation of Fraternal and Social Organizations, representing the clubs, are slightly ridiculous. They claim the real reason for their opposition to this bill is, and I quote:

"What we object to is the breakdown of the judiciary by adding powers to administrative boards." The reason it is necessary to do this is to maintain socialism. We certainly will not have socialism if we pass this bill.

For years and years this Commonwealth has had boards which reviewed the courts, such as the Parole Board.

I state, the gentleman should visit our big cities and see the sections which we call the "Gold Coast" such as we have on Arch Street in Philadelphia, where businessmen have banded together to protest the granting of these licenses because people are afraid to come into the districts and shop. If the gentleman would walk past various areas in Philadelphia and see ministers from all denominations picketing taprooms because of the high degree of juvenile delinquency in those areas where they make it easy for people to go in and get drink, where crimes, vicious crimes, are perpetrated and planned, I think he too would vote for this bill.

Mr. SHIELDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to say a few words in support of House Bill 75.

I think it is a good bill. It is my humble opinion and it is the opinion of hundreds and thousands of other people that something should be done about the wholesale issuance and transfer of taproom licenses in residential neighborhoods.

Perhaps one of the best ways to curb this evil condition is to amend the Liquor Code and give the Liquor Control Board discretion in the issuance and transfer of restaurant licenses, commonly known as taproom licenses, as is provided in this bill.

Mr. Speaker, it is not my intention, nor is it the intent of the sponsor of this bill, to stop people from drinking. People have indulged in the use of spirits since time immemorial. What we are concerned about is the wholesale issuance, as I have previously stated, of licenses and the transfer of licenses in residential neighborhoods.

This is one of the greatest evils of our society today and it poses one of the greatest problems on our contemporary scene. The wholesale issuance and transfer of liquor licenses in residential districts is striking a mortal blow to society in which we live. It constitutes great problems, among which are broken homes, corroded morals, juvenile delinquency and its contribution to the ever-increasing crime wave.

The district which I represent and many other districts in this state, including Pittsburgh, are infested with taprooms and the citizenry have cried out for action, but no action has been forthcoming.

Numerous civic organizations have staged mass protests against locating taprooms in residential areas, but their protests have gone unheeded and consequently they have been of no avail. Just why is this? It is simply because the Liquor Control Board has no discretion regarding taprooms so long as they do not come within the 300 feet limit of a church or school.

The problems which beset us today in this respect are not unlike the conditions that existed in a bygone era. The only difference is that we have a remedy and our predecessors did not. When the colonists of this country dedicated themselves to the task of hewing an empire out of a wilderness, of pushing back the frontiers westward, of building the great railroads and the telegraph lines, the liquor dispensers followed them to the last outpost and created problems which the settlers could well have done without. In some instances the liquor dispensers sought to stifle progress by furthering their own selfish ends. As civilization pushed westward, there were no legislative bodies or no lawmaking bodies to limit the situation. Today we are more fortunate.

It is incumbent upon us as Legislators of this great Commonwealth to bring about legislation protecting the interests of the people who reside in residential areas. This bill in its amended form will not affect hotel and club licenses and it will not affect taprooms presently in operation.

I earnestly appeal to the Members on each side of the House to support this bill. To those of you who live in districts not plagued with this condition, we earnestly solicit your support, for the moral decay and crime this condition breeds in our districts is not always contained therein, but spreads to districts far removed from ours.

For the sake of humanity and for the sake of human decency, I appeal to you to support this bill.

Mr. FLOYD, Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purpose of making a few brief remarks in favor of House Bill 75, Printer's No. 401.

It is a pleasure to support House Bill 75, not because I believe it plays a major part in juvenile delinquency, but I think this is a good bill because it restricts the transferring of licenses in residential neighborhoods.

I regret this bill does not contain a provision revising the quota system, but I think this is a good bill for other reasons. I think this bill should have contained a provision revising and restricting the amount of taprooms to be located in each ward according to the population. The population should be based on the adults instead of the basis under the present Liquor Code. At present a liquor license can be obtained in a neighborhood as long as there are 1,000 inhabitants, including men, women and children. I think this is a discrepancy in the law and should be changed.

I believe some of the juvenile problems could be solved if the Liquor Control Board had more enforcement officers to investigate some of the profane language being used in some of these places.

I also think it is time for the district attorneys and their offices in some of the counties throughout the Commonwealth to do something about some of these characters who come out of the taproom using all kinds of profane language. These characters have no respect for themselves and no one else. The district attorney's office could do more about it in many cases than the Liquor Control Board, because the Liquor Control Board is restricted only to what happens in the taprooms, while the district attorney's office has the authority to take action against these characters inside or outside the taproom.

There are thousands of minority groups who are buying homes in every section of Pennsylvania, because they are trying to get away from sections that have three or four taprooms in one block. This is true in many cases. These citizens are tired of listening to the language used in some of these places.

There seems to be a whispering campaign going on to defeat House Bill 75. I believe this whispering campaign is only brought on because they do not understand the purpose of the bill. This leads me to believe there are many Members of this House who really do not understand the purpose of this bill.

The taproom owners seem to follow certain minority groups throughout the first, second and third class cities and even some of the large townships.

Let me speak about this condition. We have a most disgraceful situation throughout not only Philadelphia, as I stated before, but we have it in the first, second and third class cities in the Commonwealth. We find that this condition in the first, second and third class cities is going to get out of hand if the House of Representatives does not do something about it. This also includes townships, as I said before. These minority groups are buying thousands of homes and paying thousands of dollars for homes in many of the finest sections of the state.

It seems to me that every Member of this House should vote to restrict the number of taprooms which can be placed in residential districts.

I think this is a good bill. I would like to ask all the Members of the House to support this bill.

Mr. PETROSKY, Mr. Speaker, I just want to add that the proponents of this bill, it seems to me, use a hydra-headed argument in that they approach the possibility of eliminating the licensing of establishments in a residential area by saying that it should not be so, and at the same time approach the other issue in the bill, which is to eliminate the multiplicity of licensed restaurant establishments in a given area.

I do not know how they can face up to that argument, but I do say this, that possibly they would rather just vote on an out-and-out issue of eliminating any licensed establishment.

I must say if they want a crusade, they ought to crusade right in their own communities where the governing bodies have the police powers and the Acts of Assembly which allow them to zone their given area and do the job for their people, rather than try to take care of the problems here and still be in the good graces of the people affected back home on both sides of the issue. There is where they ought to crusade.

We do not have such a condition back in my constituency because we have municipal authorities who have enough fortitude to attack the problem when it arises and eliminate it, so we do not have to come to the Legislature begging for relief.

You ought to do your crusading at home on an issue like this. That is where it belongs. It should be left to local discretion whether it would be feasible to locate an establishment there or whether it would be undesirable.

I still say it is bad legislation. You are legislating away the powers of the Assembly and breaking down the judiciary, without question. You are letting your local authorities get away with murder by not approaching the problem where it should be approached, through the zoning laws.

We do it at home. We do not have this condition. You can do the same thing on a local level rather than coming to the Legislature crying for that kind of relief.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker. After listening to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I am convinced at least some Members of this Legislature do not understand the provisions of this bill. The way the gentlemen from Westmoreland construes it, it is in effect an outright prohibition where a proposed licensee is in a predominantly residential area.

This particular bill does not absolutely prohibit it. It places discretion where discretion ought to be, in the Liquor Control Board. After hearing competent testimony and evidence presented to the Board, the Board can decide after listening to live witnesses whether it is in the best interests of the community that a proposed transfer of license should be permitted.

It is a shame that a measure like this is designated "dry" as opposed to "wet." I am not impressed with the arguments of the wets or the dries. I am trying to do a job for the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania without regard to whether a club is for it or the tavern association is for it. I am concerned with the greater good.

We have listened to a few Members in this Legislature tell you of very real problems which exist, the rise in juvenile delinquency and the crime rate in those areas where members of the trade have put licensed establishments where the people are least able to resist the temptations that necessarily come about from too much drink.

It seems to me that when the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania decided the way they did and said the people have no right, in effect, to intervene and protest so long as the proposed licensed establishment is being transferred to an area not within 300 feet of a church, or school, or charitable institution, they did a disservice to the people of the Commonwealth.

If that is a breakdown of the judiciary, then I think that 210 Members of this House are better able to understand the problems rather than the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. It seems to me this wise exercise of discretion we are proposing to give the Liquor Control Board is sound and for the best interests of the people. Whether it is dry or wet does not impress me. I am going to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 75, Printer's 401, is not an attempt to correct juvenile delinquency so far as the city of Philadelphia is concerned. What we are doing in this bill is relinquishing our rights as Members of the Legislature to enact laws, turning it over to the Liquor Control Board, which for the last 25 years by regulation has usurped the powers of this Legislature.

I, therefor, am happy to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. HEAVY. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, under this bill could a saloon in the so-called "Barbary Coast" that Mr. Silverman talks about be transferred to your district?

Mr. McCORMACK. That is such a general question it is impossible to answer. There has to be administrative findings of fact with respect to the number of licensed establishments within a certain radius. If there is a determination based upon competent evidence that there are more than three licensed establishments within a radius of 200 feet of a predominantly residential district, then it could not be transferred, sir.

Mr. HEAVY. There has been a church group picketing these saloons in the "Barbary Coast" and their story is that there are too many saloons there and these saloons contribute to crime.

Mr. McCORMACK. That is precisely—

Mr. HEAVY. I am wondering if under this bill one of those saloons could be transferred to your district or the district of anyone in this Assembly?

Mr. McCORMACK. Did the gentleman understand my answer?

Mr. HEAVY. I will ask it in another way. Would you want one of these saloons in your district?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I say that I have all the respect in the world for tavern owners. I have absolutely nothing against them. They are fine people and it is a legitimate means of earning a livelihood. These tavern owners pay good money to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, far more, probably, than they should in relation to other businesses. I have absolutely nothing against them and if they want to move into my district, I would certainly welcome them so long as the people did not protest or so long as the people had a right to present their views to the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. HEAVY. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. That is all.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 356

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 9, 1957.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 356, Printer's No. 195, entitled "An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled 'An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond holding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws' further regulating the application for an issuance of hotel restaurant and club liquor licenses."

This bill amends Section 403 of the Liquor Code, the Act of April 12, 1951, P. L. 90. It is substantially the same as House Bill No. 76, Printer's No. 572 of the 1955 Session of the General Assembly, which I vetoed on April 6, 1956. I must again veto this measure.

Under the present liquor control law issuance of hotel, restaurant and club liquor licenses is dependent upon the applicant's filing certain information in writing with the Liquor Control Board. This information must include a description of the part of the existing hotel, restaurant or club for which the license is desired and must set forth any other description or plan of a part of the hotel, restaurant or club where the applicant intends to keep and sell liquor as the board requires.

The definitions of "hotel," "restaurant" and "club" in the liquor control law clearly indicate that in each case a going operation is a prerequisite to the issuance of a liquor license. Our liquor laws have never proceeded on the theory that the conduct, for example, of a restaurant should be dependent upon the owner's having first obtained a liquor license.

Again, in the provision of the law authorizing the board to issue a license to a hotel, restaurant or club the entire emphasis is on the issuance of a license to an already existing enterprise, not to one about to arise if it is granted a liquor license.

The amendments in the present bill, on the other hand, inject into one section of the law provisions which indicate that consideration of a license application is to take place prior to the construction of a building to be used for a hotel, restaurant or club or the alteration of an existing building. This represents a complete reversal of the plain meaning of the law and would make the conduct of a hotel, restaurant or club hinge upon the obtaining of a liquor license.

Equally important and disturbing is the injection into the liquor law of ambiguities which would hamper the effective functioning of the board. Several sections of the law require an already existing operation, while this bill inserts into another section a contrary indication. The board should not be required to pass upon applications under such confusing statutory requirements.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

GRADUATE STUDENTS FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, we have with us today a group of graduate students from Penn State University. They are taught by the Secretary of Agriculture, Doctor William Henning. I must also add that Doctor Henning told me he is not paid for this instruction.

Will these gentlemen please rise?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, the Chair certainly wants to welcome the graduate class from Penn State University. We hope that your visit in the Senate will be both instructive and interesting to you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, yesterday I tried to make this statement and got in the line of march of a "Senator Pechan for Governor" parade. I was, therefore, glad to step aside and partake of the birthday cake which followed the parade.

On March 6, the Senate passed, without a dissenting vote, Senate Bill No. 224, calling for open meetings of authorities and commissions within the Commonwealth. The Editor of the Centre Daily Times, in commenting on this legislation, wrote as follows:

"Unfortunately, a lot of people—and this includes

Assemblymen—feel that the open meetings and open records legislation are devices sought for the sole benefit of newspapers and other information media.

"This, of course, is absurd.

"One way or another, newspapers are able to get the news for the public.

"The people who will benefit from the legislation are the taxpayers—all citizens of the state, not just the newspapers.

"The peoples' right to know was provided for when the nation was founded in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution. It was designed to make this a government truly of, by and for the people.

"Pennsylvanians can strengthen that wise aim of our founding fathers by seeing that this legislation becomes law."

As all of you know, for many years all meetings of borough and city councils, school boards and road supervisors have been open.

Mr. President, I am now about to introduce legislation to extend such open skies of public observation to another important segment of the Commonwealth. It is the segment that plans and controls the program of higher education for the 55,000 college and university students who each year enroll in publicly supported institutions. It is that segment of the Commonwealth which has been allocated over $54,000,000 in the current budget of the Governor. As you know, the number of students is going to increase very greatly in the next decade and all of us can guess that the funds to be allocated in years to come will be much greater than the present $54,000,000. These institutions now handle large numbers, large numbers both of students and dollars, and will be responsible for many more in the near and far future.

The proposal that I am about to introduce, if enacted into law, would open all the meetings of boards of trustees of all the fourteen State Teachers' Colleges, the board of the State University, as well as the boards of the three State-supported institutions, as in Senate Bill No. 224 and the long-time law and practice of other governmental agencies. I believe that the professional heads of these eighteen institutions, as well as the majority of the trustees or board members, will welcome this exchange of the cloak of semi-secrecy for the open skies of public observation, which ordinarily carries with it the protection of the transparent umbrella of the public press.

I might add, Mr. President, that in a small way I have served in a public capacity in a position involving thousands of children and hundreds of thousands of dollars and I, personally, have always felt in a stronger position when decisions of importance were made in the full view of the public and the press. I believe that these eighteen bodies will have a similar experience.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HAYS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 784, entitled:

An Act requiring that all meetings of boards of trustees of State Teachers Colleges and State-owned and State-aided colleges and universities shall be open to the public, and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to present to the Chair a resolution which is always a welcome one. I am sure it will be welcomed by all of the Members at this particular Session. This is our sine die adjournment resolution.

Messrs. MAHANY and BERGER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 14, 1957.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That this regular Session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die on Saturday, the fifteenth day of June, 1957 at 12:00 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President. I might say that tickets are available, Senator.

Mr. BARR. I rose to give you a plug for your circus.

Mr. MAHANY. Thank you.

Mr. BARR. I figure that most of you are going out to look at the clowns and not at the elephants.

I was going to say that would be a good day for us to quit. I also want to announce that on the 19th, four days after adjournment, we Democrats are having our $100 dinner at the Zembo Mosque and Scottish Rite Cathedral. Ex-President Truman will be here to speak. I know that you all will be happy to come out and hear the "Happy Warrior." You can see me for tickets.

Mr. MAHANY. I will trade you, one for yours and one for mine.

Mr. BARR. Thank you.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MULLIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 789, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," changing the name of the State Board of Trade Schools to State Board of Vocational Schools.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I want to read a letter that I placed in the box of Senator Chapman, Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and I sent a copy of it over to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House. I say in the letter:

"On Thursday, May 2, 1957 Senator George N. Wade read a statement on the floor of the Senate dealing with the appropriation to the Department of Welfare and in particular used the Allentown State Hospital as a target relative to its appropriation, employees, etc.

"The statement presumably prepared by the Republican State Committee for delivery by Senator Wade contains numerous statistics, many of which are false, half truths, exaggerations, etc.

"After Senator Wade delivered the statement, I reserved the right to answer his charges upon receipt of a report from both the Department of Welfare and those responsible for administering the affairs at the Allentown State Hospital. I have both reports but I will not review them "because to review them would just muddle the situation. I will, however, say, that the facts and the figures presented by Senator Wade are in distorted form. "I believe that to get the truth, the Joint Appropriations Committee should invite the Superintendent and a representative group of the Board of Trustees of the Allentown State Hospital to a hearing and give them an opportunity to prove their financial needs. This request applies to all other state institutions under the jurisdiction of the Department of Welfare.

"I am satisfied that considerable progress has been made in the mental health program at the Allentown State Hospital and others. Therefore, I, for one, will not stand idly by and permit this progress to be scuttled by inadequate appropriations. I have been a firm believer in economy but not at the expense of human misery. Accordingly, I will appreciate if you will notify the Superintendent of the Allentown State Hospital and such members of the Board of Trustees, who care to accompany him to a hearing before the Appropriations Committee.

"Thanking you for your co-operation, I am

"Sincerely yours,"

Senator Wade, I am a little bit surprised that you would read the kind of statement that was prepared for you without checking the figures yourself because, as I said before, if I would want to go into the two reports that I received from the Department of Welfare and from the Allentown State Hospital, I could prove to you that the facts that were given to you and the figures that were given to you contain many, many inaccuracies and many distortions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have just heard Senator Yosko make some allegations on the floor of the Senate, and I want to say again that the figures I used, and I happen to have a copy of them here, were figures developed in the hearing of the Budget Committee.

At the time the statement was made, I do not have an accurate record of the date, Mr. President, but I stated that Secretary Shapiro had requested $6,868,466, which was $1,280,446 more than was recommended by the Governor in his budget as presented to the Joint Session of the House and Senate. I think the Senator will agree that those are the figures in the Governor's Budget. Any Member of this Senate or House, who was in attendance at that budget hearing, will agree that Senator Shapiro asked for $1,280,446 more than the Governor had recommended.

Further, in the discussion, it was pointed out very clearly—and the statement was prepared not by the Republican State Committee, which had no part in the discussion whatever—that the increase in the number of employees that took place at the Allentown State Hospital is a matter of record, as given at the hearing before the Joint Budget Committee.

INTERROGATION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Wade, the hearings on the Department of Welfare budget took days, I believe, to complete. Were you there during the period of the entire hearings?

Mr. WADE. My recollection, Mr. President, is that I was present.

Mr. YOSKO. Were you there the first day?

Mr. WADE. My recollection is that I was present the first day.

Mr. YOSKO. My information is that you were not there the first day. However, if you say you were there the first day, I will have to take your word for it.

Did you prepare the statistics which appeared in the statement that you gave on the floor of the Senate?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I, with some assistance, prepared the statistics in the statement.

Mr. YOSKO. Was that your statement?

Mr. WADE. That is right.

Mr. YOSKO. May I ask who assisted you in the preparation of that statement?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I refuse to answer that question because it is irrelevant entirely, and not a matter of public information whatever.

Mr. YOSKO. Are you pleading the Fifth Amendment?

Mr. WADE. No, I am not pleading the Fifth Amendment. I might say, further, that the Senator was there, so, and he, I think, will agree that the figures contained in this statement coincide with the figures given by Secretary Shapiro.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

FINAL REPORT OF SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE TURNPIKE, CREATED UNDER SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 26-A

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have here the Final Report of the Senate Committee to Investigate the Turnpike Commission, which committee was created under Senate Resolution, Serial No. 26-A.

Each of you will have a copy upon your desks. Copies have been made available to the newspapers and, pursuant to the resolution, copies have been sent to the Turnpike Commission and the Governor of the Commonwealth.

This committee is made up of Senator Fleming, as Chairman; Senator Irving Whalley, Senator Joseph Barr, Senator Thomas Harney and myself.

On behalf of the Chairman and the Committee Members, I wish to ask that this report be incorporated in the minutes of today's Journal.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This Report will be printed in the Legislative Journal, and copies will be placed on each Member's desk.

The Senate Committee investigating the Turnpike met in Senator Dent's Office, Room 400 Main Capitol Building on Monday, May 6, 1957 with the following present—Chairman, Senator Robert D. Fleming; Vice Chairman, Senator John H. Dent; Secretary, Senator J. Irving Whalley and members Senator Joseph M. Barr and Senator Thomas P. Harney. The committee herewith makes its final report.

The committee has taken cognizance of the fact that there has been some effort made to change the present status of the Turnpike Commission.

A proposal has been made that the Commission be changed from its present composition of paid commissioners to an unpaid commission and a further proposal that the Turnpike be freed of tolls.

Upon investigation this committee has learned that there are some problems involved that must first be resolved before any definite steps can be made in this direction.

(a) The Turnpike bonds are based upon indentures that clearly show the composition of the Commission and that in order to eliminate said Commission, it may be necessary to first pay off all of the bonded indebtedness of the Commission.

(b) There are two methods advanced for such action. The first would be the calling of the bonds and a re-issuing of Highway and Bridge Authority bonds to replace the present bonds and the indebtedness then would become a direct obligation of the Commonwealth to be paid out of the Motor License Fund.

It was noted at this point in the discussion, that said Turnpike was constructed on the theory it would provide a high speed shelter transportation artery and that as such, it would not compete with existing or parallel roads.

With this utility and expediency in mind, it was thought that users of the Turnpike would be willing to pay a reasonable rate of toll to retire the bonds required for the construction of the roadway. To date this has been true and our Turnpike bonds are still considered a very excellent investment by bond buyers.

In order to relieve the users of the road from this obligation and to put the system under direct state supervision, maintenance and financing would require a minimum of one cent extra gasoline tax. Some of the members of this committee feel this would place an unfair burden upon the many Pennsylvania gas taxpayers, who have no compelling or specific need for this type of highway.

(b) The second method advanced for the retirement of the bonds would be that this roadway be included in the inner-highway system and that the Federal Government would pay 90% of the cost against 10% by the State for the retirement of the indebtedness.

The committee feels this is the better of the two methods, if the freeing of the road is deemed to be the right move. The committee felt, however, if such is the case and negotiations are started with the Federal Government for inclusion into the inner-state system of the Turnpike that the amount required to pay off the bonds would not be charged against our total allocations from Pennsylvania for Federal funds.

TUNNELS

The committee has reviewed much of the correspondence received relating to certain phases of the Turnpike operation and finds that one of the main complaints is the one dealing with the lighting and general condition of the tunnels.

It has long been a very sore spot with the regular users of the Turnpike that nothing has been done over the years of its operation to relieve the blindness caused by both the lighting and dark walls when a driver comes out of the blinding sun into solid pitch darkness. The committee recommends that the Commission make every effort to develop a suitable surface covering in conjunction with adequate lighting to remove this hazard.

MEDIAL BARRIERS

The Legislature has taken cognizance of the fact that some permanent medial barriers have been built on turnpikes. This committee wants to recommend that the erection of a permanent medial barrier be set up as a safety measure for the driving public.

OFFICE BUILDING

This committee has discussed with the Turnpike Officials the probability of acquiring the abandoned Turnpike Commission offices situated on North Fourth Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. It is believed that since the building comes within the perimeter of Capitol Hill activities, that it should become the property of the Commonwealth for office use either as a general office or for a specific Commission or Commissions. To this end, this committee is introducing legislation calling upon the Department of Property and Supplies to make an immediate inquiry and investigation into the feasibility of acquiring this property. In line with this legislation, this committee is going to also amend General State Authority legislation that would enable the Authority to purchase and make ready for use this building, if the Department of Property and Supplies should recommend its acquisition.

CONCLUSION

The committee recommends that a sub-committee of the Joint State Government Commission keep in close contact with Turnpike activities to insure the users of the Turnpike, bondowners and taxpayers in general, the most efficient and economical operation of this very valuable asset to the Pennsylvania transportation system.

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,
 The Senate resumed the consideration of House Bill
 No. 18, entitled:

An Act requiring bills introduced in the General Assembly to be printed with punctuation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this bill for a very specific reason. All of us know, of course, that we must depend upon the judgment and the knowledge of the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office for the final punctuation of the legislative acts which are passed by the General Assembly. However, to incorporate into law the necessity to have the punctuation in the bills upon presentation and at all times during their passage through the House and Senate, may become a very costly procedure for the Commonwealth. To misplace a comma, period or colon may cost the entire printing of the bill. It may not be discovered until it gets over to the Governor's Office and then it has to be returned, with all of the necessary expense entailed in that particular procedure. We may then find ourselves spending the money which we have attempted to save in the printing of bills by not having the first printing of a first reading bill.

We have worked out a program during this Session whereby, until a bill has been amended, it only appears in the pink. That, I understand from our Secretary of the Senate and his able assistant, has saved the Commonwealth hundreds of thousands of dollars in the total printing cost of this Session of the Legislature.

Mr. President, I think it would be wrong at this time to compel the punctuation of legislation while it is in the process of being passed through either the House or the Senate. For that reason, I believe inasmuch as the Department of State is set up to do this job and has functioned in that capacity for many long years, that we should not disturb this procedure. Although there are records, of course, where the wrong punctuation may have changed the intent of the Legislature, I believe they are in the minority and are very rare cases and are the exception and not the rule.

Therefore, Mr. President, I rise to oppose this legislation.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am going to ask that the bill go over in order. However, yesterday, I was queried by Senator Seyler, and I was not very familiar with the bill at that time and with the number of States that did punctuate their bills. I find that Pennsylvania is the only State in the United States that does not punctuate its bills. Even the Congress of the United States does so. I received that on authority from William L. Frederick, Council of State Governments. He said:

"I have checked files of bills from various States. Believe Pennsylvania is the only State that does not punctuate printed bills."

I believe that during the last Session we had the Commercial Code and it cost something like $9,000 to print, and that is a lot of money in Ford City. Somebody down at the printers had to take the time to take out the commas and the periods.

I just wanted to submit that in answer to Senator Seyler's question of yesterday. I told him yesterday that I thought it was only in the case of New York.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I accede to the request that this bill go over in order. However, I might say to the gentleman that while he is studying the bill and he is learning that all of the States do punctuate their legislation on its way through both of their Houses, he must remember that we, peculiarly, in Pennsylvania have the kind of a setup that we have here in the Commonwealth. It costs Pennsylvania more to print our bills and to operate a Session of the Legislature on printing costs than any State I have had the opportunity to investigate.

I have served on a National committee that is dealing with the problem of cutting the cost on introduction of bills and passage of legislation. A great many States feel that although our system may be a little more expensive, we could make some refinements which would save us some money and we have attempted that during this Session of the Legislature very successfully. Our Legislators themselves are the best informed Legislators of any of the bodies of Legislators to whom I have talked. Every man in this Legislature has before him the latest copy of an amended bill at all times.

If you get into punctuation, as I said, the mere fact that a comma may be out of place will entirely change the concept of the bill and will necessitate the reprinting. Now, there are great arguments on the floor as to what the legislation contains. I can assure you that once you start discussing a bill on the merits or demerits of the legislation as to the intent of a comma or a period or any other punctuation mark, you can rest assured that we will go into many long debates on whether the period or the comma is in the right place. In fact, in the last Constitutional Convention, I think it was under Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania, a well-known lawyer, one of the best legal lights in the Commonwealth at the time, James Gay Gordon, made this observation and it defeated the punctuation of bills. He said: "Would you hang a man on a comma?"

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am glad that the bill is going over in order. I want to remind the Majority side that I think back in about 1943 or 1945, we had the same bill before us in the House of Representatives. If I recall correctly, Ellwood Turner at that time spoke against this legislation, primarily on the basis that if there was punctuation of legislation, there was a great chance of error. At that particular time, the bill was killed.

I talked with Senator Sarraf and he told me that later on they had a similar bill over in the House and it was killed for the same reason, because there was such a great hazard, as far as punctuation was concerned, that legislation might be misconstrued.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this subject was up for discussion in a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Joint State Government Commission. At that time, it was thought that the punctuation of bills was not, at this time, an advisable thing for the reasons stated by some of my colleagues here.

I believe that having met approval in most of the States of the Union, it would be a proper subject for the Joint State Government Commission to go into during the interim. We did not have a study of it made. It was merely up for a rather brief discussion. If that meet with favor, I believe that I will have a resolution prepared for that purpose.

I want to mention, Senator Dent, in connection with the anecdote which you told concerning the Constitutional Convention, that I related the same one in our Caucus today and the answer I got was, "Well, I would rather be hung by my own comma."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 18, Printer's No. 99, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 279 (Pink), on final passage go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 353, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law" making further provision for the lien of unemployment compensation contributions.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point out, since this bill has been on the Calendar a little while, one or two problems which the bill presents so that we can vote on it intelligently.

The liens of government have always had a certain place in every man's estate. What this bill does is divest the lien the government has. Now that, in itself, may not be fatal or crucial. However, if you will just think for a minute that the employer here who gathers this money together, based on the number of employees he has, and must pay it into the State quarterly, is in the position of a fiduciary or a trustee. If you remove this lien, what you are allowing to happen is to have some creditor come forward and take this money which the employer is holding as a trustee, and use it to pay off the debts which he may have incurred in the course of his business.

If we allow that to happen, what we are doing, in effect, is taking money that belongs to the State and using it to pay off private debts, which I think is a controversion of the basic premise of this law which was originally enacted. I think it is bad legislation. I think it will open the door to removing all liens if we are going to do it in this case, we might as well do it in all the rest of them. It will then prevent the State from getting money that is rightfully theirs and also prevent people, who would come under this law, from being properly protected as the law originally enacted was intended.

I, therefore, ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, what the gentleman says may be true, in part. I certainly am not in any position to get involved in a debate on corporate law or corporation law, but I do think that we should take cognizance of the fact that there has been some misunderstanding of this bill. In some circles it has been opposed because it is supposed to be a labor bill, which it is nothing of the sort. It happens to affect the Unemployment Compensation Law and that is why those words are used in the bill.

Under the present practice, if a banking institution were to loan a man a considerable amount of money on his equipment, for instance, they may be completely surprised when they go to collect on it, if necessary, to find that there has been a secret lien which takes precedence over their claim and against which they are absolutely helpless to defend themselves.

The correctness of the legislation, as I see it, is indicated by the fact that the sales and use tax, and other recent legislation, uses the identical language which is provided in this legislation in Senate Bill No. 353. It simply means that everybody has a fair and an equal chance and the unemployment compensation money, for which a lien is filed, would take its place at the time it is filed, which is simply and basically fair. Because it involves money which would go to the State is no reason why we should unfairly treat other financial institutions or any individuals who have such dealings.

Since these reports on unemployment compensation taxes are due quarterly, a banking institution or a lending agency would have to be a grasshopper almost to keep abreast of what is going on.

It does not affect unemployment compensation payments or claims. I mean by that, it certainly affects the laboring man in no fashion whatsoever. It accomplishes an equity which apparently is necessary, and is recognized in the sales and use tax and other tax legislation more recent than the act which this bill amends.

I sincerely believe that, in common justice, we can vote for this bill. There is no reason under heaven why anybody should class those who so vote as anti-labor. It is the most complete stretch of the imagination that is conceivable. I urge sincerely that the bill be approved.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to lengthen this argument or belabor this problem, but there are two or three things which the gentleman pointed out that I do not think are quite so, and I would be very happy, for my own edification, if he would explain them to me.

One of them is that all liens are a matter of public record. All you have to do is go down to the courthouse and turn to the page where they have judgments or liens and you can find out who have the liens. If the financial institutions want to further protect themselves when somebody comes in to borrow money, all they merely have to do is take an affidavit that the following are the man's debts and he lists them. If he should not tell the truth, you would then have not only recourse against him in a civil action, but you would also have recourse against him in a criminal action for swearing falsely.

Also, I do not follow the Senator's logic regarding money that you are holding for a fund. After all, the Unemployment Compensation Fund or any of the compensation funds are a series of persons, who happen to be employers, putting money into a central fund which their employees, when they have any difficulty, can draw from. If you take one of the persons who is a contributor to that fund and you cut him off, or cut off his contribution, the end result will be that people who are looking to that fund will be hurt and, in a sense, it will affect that entire fund and lessen the payments the people can receive.

This, in a sense, is not classified I do not believe as labor legislation as such. However, I think in good sense, and I think in clear thinking, this is not the type of thing to do.

Further, the fact that the liens are being removed, or the liens are being put on, is on all notices that are sent to every employer. At the end of the quarter, if he does not pay it, he is sent a notice or letter saying that he has not made the payment and unless he does make the payment shortly, they will file a lien against him which is automatic.

All that you are doing is divesting the State of the right to a fund which it has a right to look to, and also divesting the people, who are dependent upon that fund, from having a fund to go to when they need it in their moment of need.

The banks have a recourse and an action. All lenders have actions that they can take. I think as lenders, who receive a certain payment for making a loan and who also receive a certain beneficiary amount in the form of interest, that is one of the risks they should take as a part of their business.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to just make a comment at this point, and that is that one of my colleagues asked me for a copy of the bill. He said he did not find any in his pack. He could have saved his copy from last week, it is quite true. He was delivered one but, meanwhile, downstairs the supply was exhausted. If he did not save a copy from two weeks ago or whenever this bill came out, the gentleman is unable at his desk now to refer to a copy. He could rush up into the corner and quickly refer to it, but that would only do for two people because they only have two books.

I must make this point, Mr. President, to illustrate the importance, it seems to me, of having a file containing the pink bills on the Members' desks.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 416, Printer's No. 167, on third reading, go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE,
AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 446, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145) entitled as amended "Local Tax Enabling Law" providing that no tax shall be levied assessed or collected on admissions to regular motion picture theatres.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title by inserting after "theatres": "except those regular motion picture theatres situated in cities of the second class"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1) page 5, line 20 by inserting after "vehicles": "and shall not apply to admissions to motion picture theatres situated within cities of the second class"; Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 1) page 9, line 2 by inserting after "Including": "motion picture theatres in cities of the second class and all"; Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 1) page 9, line 4 by inserting after "theatres": "situated elsewhere than in cities of the second class."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I object to these amendments. I believe this bill should apply to the whole State of Pennsylvania and not with any particular part excepted. It should apply to every part of Pennsylvania or none at all.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Mahany, do you know how much this will cost the city of Pittsburgh if this bill passes in its present form?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not know exactly, Senator. I might say, if you are thinking about losing revenue, we are all faced with that situation.

I remember a time when Titusville passed an ordinance, placing a tax on admissions to theaters and when they found the attendance dropping off and one of the theaters closed and there was only one left, they had to drop that tax. If something had not been done to help them, we would not have any theaters left in Titusville. After they repealed the ordinance which put a tax on admissions in Titusville, there was a little more attendance; at least, the theaters were able to keep going. I feel the same thing will happen in Pittsburgh.

Mr. President, the theater business certainly is a very sick industry. They have competition from television, radio and other mediums of entertainment, and attendance at theaters is dropping off to a point where the theater business is in jeopardy.

I feel that this is an attempt to aid a very sick industry. The industry I feel, in Pittsburgh, is probably just as sick as it is in Titusville. Therefore, we should aid them by knocking off this tax on the admissions.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the gentleman did not get around to answering my question.

I did not ask how many people go to the movies in Titusville, but I asked him if he knew how many went in Pittsburgh and how much it would cost the city government in Pittsburgh in revenue.

Mr. MAHANY. I said I do not know, Senator, but I wanted to add the rest of that for your information, Mr. BARR. I liked it very much.

For the information of the Members of the Senate, for the last four years the tax on motion pictures in Pittsburgh has netted over $600,000 per year to the city government. I will grant you that television and things like that, have taken a lot of business away from the movie industry, but I still contend that the people of Pittsburgh are still going to the movies or we would not collect over $600,000 in taxation.

When you get ready to appropriate $600,000 to the city of Pittsburgh because of what you are doing here today, then I will go along with the bill. However, you have no substitute, I presume, Senator Mahany? I can tell by the shake of his head he means he has none. Therefore, he will be taking $600,000 away from Pittsburgh.

In fact, the Republican House the other day passed a bill cutting the firemen's hours, which would cost $600,000 more. So, this is just $1,200,000 which you fellows have tried to do the city of Pittsburgh out of in the last week. Keep going, boys, keep going.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to take up the time of the Senate, but I have a very amusing article here. I thought it was amusing, except it is not amusing to the cities which are affected here.

I have an article out of a local newspaper dealing with this same Act, Act No. 481. I thought maybe some of you would be interested in this article. It appears that one of the townships has decided on a new type of tax, in that particular township anyway, under Act No. 481. They have adopted an ordinance assessing a $250 a year tax on every truck dumping garbage in the established garbage disposal plants in the townships, and fifty cents per load on all the garbage and rubbish dumped in that township.

There are four or five boroughs and cities that have facilities in the township for the sanitary dumping of their garbage. I can easily see where we are going to start paying out taxes on our waste materials. If we can only get enough people to dump their garbage in Pennsylvania from the other states and charge them enough for doing it under Act No. 481, we will not have to worry about any new sources of taxation. The only trouble is we are liable to run out of garbage or we will run out of people, I am not sure which one.

The situation on the movies I think is one that is well known, and I appreciate Senator Barr's problem. I do believe that the city of Pittsburgh should be given consideration in their financial structure. We all know that over the years the city of Pittsburgh has been treated rather shabbily in the matter of revenue return to that community. However, Senator Mahany put his finger on the very sore spot in this whole situation.

Last week, just to learn for myself the truth as I found it to be, I stayed home Friday evening, Saturday evening and arrived in Harrisburg early Sunday evening, and watched television from approximately seven o'clock until away after midnight on each of the three evenings. I do not get an opportunity to go to the movies. I do not know how many Members of this Senate have been to a movie of late, but I want to assure you that I was surprised and shocked at the number of rather good movies which were being shown on those three evenings on television.

I can appreciate the problem that has been presented by the movie theater operators in my community, when they tell me that they are not only a diminishing industry, but that they are a dying industry.

For instance, here are the Pittsburgh theaters which I think are very important to Senator Barr. To show him something that he may appreciate, out of the $600,000 collected last year in the city of Pittsburgh, four hundred odd thousands of dollars of that amount was collected in the downtown theaters. We know that downtown theaters can and do charge a dollar, a dollar and a quarter or more and they can get it, because when we country folks go to the city, economy is out the window. We will spend a dollar to see a show and will not spend fifty cents to see one in our hometown. We have very good reasons for doing that because the cities are treated on a preferential base and they receive the first-run pictures. By the time those same pictures get out to my hometown, I can see them on television.

I would like to tell you one of the things that is particularly interesting to me, which I think Senator Barr and all of the rest of the Members of this Senate should take into consideration. I want to give you a comparison of a theater in the outside perimeter of Pittsburgh. They are the ones who are really paying because they have the least amount of revenue. For instance, here is something that may interest you. One of the big weeks in the movie business is the Easter week trade. At one time there were as many as 10,000 to 12,000 who attended this particular theater, which is one of the largest theaters on the outside perimeter of this main city. Of course, because of the advent of radio and television and other competing non-taxed entertainment sources, there has been a great drop in the attendance.

Here is a picture which I think is very important. This particular theater, using the Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday figures for Easter week in 1956, had total admissions paid of 3,472 and in 1957 they had total admissions paid of 1,349. In 1956, the total income during Easter week was $1,973 and they paid to the city of Pittsburgh $198 in tax. In 1957, the total income during Easter week was $782 and they paid to the city of Pittsburgh $78.00 in tax.

I predict to Senator Barr that if we do not pass this legislation to give these movies some relief, more theaters are going to go out of business. It may interest him to know that I received a communication today telling me that the old Enright, a landmark in the city of Pittsburgh, cannot stand the gaff any longer and this Sunday closes its doors permanently.

Throughout the entire city of Pittsburgh there has been a drop in admissions to the theaters. The drop in admissions to the Kenyon Theater was 15,195. the drop in admissions to the Enright Theater was 20,535. the drop at the Roosevelt Theater was 7,689; at the Camera-phone Theater, 5,864; at the Harris Theater, 5,876; and at the Memorial Theater, 14,398. These are facts and figures. These people are not coming here with their hats in their hands. We have the power to tax and, as Chief Justice Marshall said, "With that power we also have the power to destroy." When we come to the position where we are destroying, it is time that we take cognizance of the fact and if we have created any kind of a monstrosity on the tax books which is, in turn, depriving the people of their life savings and their means of livelihood, it is the duty of this Legislature to do something about it. That is what we are trying to do through this legislation that is before us.

I, and every other Member of this Senate, do not want to penalize the city of Pittsburgh. We know full well that we have to do something. One of the things we ought to do, and should do, during this Session is make a contribution from Commonwealth funds of at least $800,000 to Pittsburgh's Centennial Celebration. I think it is important that we do this because it is the key to the West. It is the opening road to the entire western emigration of the peoples of this Nation of ours. I think the commemoration out there deserves the support of the entire citizenry of this State and we can make it up in part, at least, by doing that particular job which is a job that comes within the duties of the Commonwealth. When you base your position on the fact that Pittsburgh is now receiving so much money, I can honestly predict to you from these figures—and I believe that I am predicting on a very conservative basis—that the tax which was $600,000 last year will not be over $400,000 this year and that the amount of tax coming from the downtown area will not depreciate to a great extent, but that the amount of tax coming from out of town will depreciate considerably.

I suggest to the Senate, and I am going to suggest to the House, that they change this bill to allow all theaters to be exempt except those that charge above a certain minimum admission price.

The Federal Government recognized this industry as a sick industry and removed the fifteen per cent Federal tax on movie admissions up to the figure of ninety cents per admission. We, in Pennsylvania, can follow that line. We can allow the city of Pittsburgh to receive the greater portion of the tax from the downtown theaters where the consideration is not the same as it is in the out of town theaters.

I am talking for the little communities around Pittsburgh that do not get the patronage they used to get in the old days. The trouble with the movie industry is this. In my opinion, the movie industry has been black-listed in the minds of many moral peoples for a long, long time because of the escapades and because of the great amount of publicity given to the topnotch stars. Because they are in the public eye, everything they do becomes either a scandal or a sensation. Therefore, that particular reputation is passed on to all of those who participate in the industry. However, there are many fine citizens of Pennsylvania who are in the movie industry, especially in that phase of the industry which has to do with the distributorships and with the presentation to the peoples of the fine wares made in our movie capital. They have none of the high salaries and none of the high pay that goes to the movie stars. They are citizens of Pennsylvania with their own investments and their own life savings tied up in the operation of the theaters.

Now very frankly, Sunday a week ago, Mrs. Dent and five of the neighbor women went down to see some particular show. That is another thing which has happened in the movie industry. It used to be when I was a young fellow that what we used to do was say, "let's go to a movie." They do not do that anymore. What they say now is, "let's go to a picture." They pick out the specific picture they want to see and then they go to a movie. In the old days, you went to a movie. You gathered the family and went to a movie. I did for years. I courted my best girl, whom I married, on Wednesday nights, Thursday nights and Friday nights in a moving picture show. That is what most of us did, those who are reaching near the half-century mark of life. Nowadays, that is not done anymore. They do not go to the movies. They go to some "swing shanty," or whatever they call them, and have a little more active participation in their courting than we used to have.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I say to you advisedly that we created this monstrosity in the General Assembly. We are the ones who put on the books the power now in the hands of the taxing authorities in the local districts. We have been amending that act almost every two years because we found many things which were wrong. Certainly, with this particular type of tax where the garbage disposals of the cities are going to be taxed on a per load basis, I want to tell all you that you are going to have some more amendments to put in under Act No. 481.

At one time we had a community in Pennsylvania which had seventeen different taxes under Act No. 481. They taxed coal before we amended it out. They taxed the hauling of coal, the dumping of coal and then they taxed the ashes after the coal was burned. They taxed billboards, they taxed motel rooms, they taxed hotel rooms, they taxed newspaper space, they taxed everything that they could possibly get their finger on. They went really tax-crazy.

We have given too much power. I fought the bill in the Senate until the last dying moment, around 2:30 o'clock in the morning, when suddenly three of my helpers ran out on me and we lost it. That bill should never have been passed, and the day will come when we will either restrict it to a very narrow base or we will repeal it entirely.

At this time we have an opportunity to correct an injustice. Therefore, I ask that the amendments be defeated.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, it is not very often that I fight with my floor leader, but now and then it is good for you. Usually he is pretty consistent but, today, he is the most inconsistent person I have heard. He has said on this floor of the Senate that if you take this penny off of gasoline, it will still stay on. He was right. They not only are going to keep it on, but they are going to add an extra penny. They added two cents and to pull a camouflage over it, they are going to take probably a penny off. Therefore, by so doing, they are going to get one cent more than they are now receiving.

Then we had the old soft drink tax. It was a penny on a nickel bottle. Instead of being six cents, they raised it to ten cents. We took the tax off and the price still remained at ten cents.

If you pass this bill, I will guarantee, and I will be back here to tell you, that it will not cut the price of the movies in either downtown Pittsburgh, East Liberty, Squirrel Hill, Shady Side or any one of them.

Maybe we will have to put a tax on garbage, as John says, unless you give us some other item to tax. I, for one, cannot think of a thing. We are not in the same position as Philadelphia. We put our wage tax on in the city of Pittsburgh and every borough and township surrounding us put one on so their residents who worked in the city of Pittsburgh would not have to pay our wage tax. Even the richest borough, which absolutely did not need the money, Fox Chapel Borough, the richest borough in Allegheny County, put a wage tax on and they said publicly, "The only reason we are putting this on is so we do not have to pay the tax in the city of Pittsburgh."

Yesterday, we fought one way here to save the city of Philadelphia. Today, we are fighting another way to ruin the city of Pittsburgh. How is that for consistency?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE BILL No. 416 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from Page 4 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 416, Printer's No. 167, which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE,
AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 416, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (P. L. 1944) entitled "An act providing a permanent allocation of a part of the fuels and liquids fuels tax proceeds to cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships for their road street and bridge purposes . . ." continuing a conditional appropriation beyond the calendar year 1957.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title on next to last line, page 1, by inserting after the word legislation: "increasing and"; Amend line 9, page 2, by striking out after the word than: "thirty million dollars ($30,000,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "thirty six million dollars ($36,000,000)".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move the adoption of these amendments.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am about to second the motion to adopt these amendments but, before I do, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, do you feel that there will be sufficient money in this fund to pay this $36,000,000 without levying an additional cent of gasoline tax?

Mr. DENT. I do not. The reason that I made it $36,000,000 instead of $30,000,000 is because there is not enough money in the till to meet the $30,000,000, and since we are giving money away which do not have, let us give enough.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in view of the fact that Senator Dent has informed me that there is not sufficient money to do this under the present tax on gasoline, I, therefore, do not wish to second the motion to adopt the amendments. I wish to oppose these amendments because we feel that there is sufficient money in the fund under the present tax, to pay the $30,000,000 and also take care of the other needs of the Department of Highways.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, unless Senator Mahany wants to be interrogated on the matter and is willing to be interrogated on the matter, I do not think it is fair for me to interrogate him. However, he may designate someone on that side who has the information. I would like to question whomever he designates on the other side as to the availability of the moneys under the present tax structure in the Department of Highways to meet the $30,000,000 minimum per year.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It seems we have a volunteer in Senator Wade.

Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you state how much money was allocated for the local districts in the past biennium?

Mr. WADE. For the years 1956 and 1957, not the biennium, but for those particular years, there was a floor under this allocation of $30,000,000 per year.

Mr. DENT. Will you state what the gasoline tax was during that period?

Mr. WADE. The tax for most of the last biennium was six cents per gallon.

Mr. DENT. What will be the tax after June 1, with your legislative act already passed in this General Assembly?

Mr. WADE. The tax would be on a level of five cents per gallon.

Mr. DENT. How much will each penny bring in?

Mr. WADE. Approximately $28,500,000 per year.

Mr. DENT. The Budget and the Highways Department differ on that figure by about a half million dollars. However, since you are giving away money you do not have, what is a half million dollars away?

You are going to have, then, $56,500,000 less in the next biennium than you had in the past biennium?

Mr. WADE. Senator Dent, you are referring to the one cent emergency tax which we put on for a limited period of time. This tax is to be used for emergency purposes.

Mr. DENT. Yes, but I asked you a question. Are we going to have less money than a total of $56,500,000 or not?

Mr. WADE. It would only stand to reason that we would have less money from a five-cent gasoline tax than from a six-cent gasoline tax; that is true. However, I again say that most of the funds from the extra cents which was levied for the specific purpose of relief in the flood districts and restoring damages in those districts, were used for that particular purpose.

Mr. DENT. How much would you say was used out of that emergency fund to meet the ceiling of $60,000,00 for return to the local communities?

Mr. WADE. I am not in a position to answer that directly without some research.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, I believe that is a figure which you should have at your finger tips if you are voting intelligently on this legislation and as Chairman of the Highways Committee, because it is upon that base that we made the allocation to the local communities of $60,000,000. The regular four and one-half cents tax money available to the Department of Highways, under the formula of twenty per cent of that total, is not sufficient to bring in $60,000,000 to be returned to the local communities. When we passed the emergency tax of one cent, we were able to sell to the Governor and to the Department of Highways the fact that having this emergency money, we could increase to the local communities the amount of return.

All of us recognize that the local communities are in dire straits, and what you are doing today with this bill is trying to cover up a political football. You are trying to cover up the fact that you are taking from the local communities approximately $8,000,000 of money which they would have received if you had allowed the emergency tax to remain on the books.

Since you did not know that figure, Senator Wade, can you tell me the total budget of the Department of Highways and where the funds are to come from?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman to repeat his question. I thought he was making a speech. I did not know that he was continuing to interrogate me.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, repeat his question.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, sometimes I know it is nice to be cute and funny on the floor, but there are other times when it pays even you to be serious.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am perfectly willing and anxious to answer any questions Senator Dent has. However, I would like him to make his questions concise and to the point. I do not like to stand here and listen to a long harangue or speech from the gentleman. I am perfectly willing and anxious to answer any of his interrogation.

Mr. DENT. How much money will be appropriated to the Department of Highways and how will it be divided for use this year?

Mr. WADE. The total budget for the Department of Highways is $722,000,000 as outlined in the Governor's budget.

Mr. DENT. How much revenue will the Department of Highways have to meet that $722,000,000?

Mr. WADE. The answer to the gentleman's question, somewhat off the point, is this. They have a reserve of some $400,000,000, made up by a law we passed at the last Session, granting an increase to the State Highway and Bridge Authority of $40,000,000 which, if used in the interstate highway system, would place at their command a total fund of $400,000,000, much in excess of what any Administration ever had in one single biennium.

That is the best answer I can give without going into a long history of figures.

Mr. DENT. You would not want me to say that you made a speech, would you? You actually talked longer than I did in answering me. However, you have the privilege to answer in any way you wish. I have no objections to the way you answer my questions. However, let us take an analysis of this figure that you are throwing out here as being a fact.

Your total Motor License Fund State money receipts are these:

The anticipated balance on hand June 1, 1957 will be $108,650,000.

All of us, I believe, know that one-half cent of the Liquid Fuels Tax is earmarked for return to the counties and has no use whatsoever to the Department of Highways. I know that you are tired, Senator Wade, and it is perfectly all right for you to sit down. However, when you quit using your feet, do not quit using your ears. I wish you would listen.

The Liquid Fuels Tax, at five and one-half cents, would be $312,000,000.

Your Motor License Fund Fees would be $171,300,000.

Your Political Subdivision Contributions, page 3, would be $12,000,000.

Your Miscellaneous Revenues would be $6,500,000.

Your Fuel Use Tax would be $4,700,000, and other miscellaneous incomes would be $800,000 or a total of $615,950,000. You add to this the $40,000,000 of allowable bonds, which can be sold by the Department of Highways under the Highway and Bridge Authority Borrowing Authorization, and you have a total State money available of $655,950,000.

Let us deduct from that total, $56,500,000 and you will come down to $599,450,000, that you will have available of State money. If you remove the three months which you have cut off of the emergency one cent tax, which amounts to approximately $14,300,000, you will have about $585,000,000 to meet the needs.

Let us see how it is spent. For Public Utility Commission payments, which have been required because of the public utility assessment against the Department of Highways for damages and so forth, you need $7,800,000, levied prior to June 1, 1957, and $7,500,000 levied June 1, 1957 to May 31, 1959. That will amount to $15,300,000.

Money required to pay right-of-way damages—some of them are as old as five years—amounts to $55,000,000.

Contract obligations to be paid prior to June 1, 1957, but which will be paid subsequent thereto because of the fact that the contracts have not quite been completed as a result of extensions due to weather and conditions in relation to the supplies, amount to $31,000,000 for execution of work retarded and $10,800,000 for plans delayed, or a total of $41,800,000 required by the Highways Department as prepared in the 1957-1959 budget.

Incidentally, if any Senator wishes to review the breakdown of each and every one of the items in the budget as contained in this statement, I will be glad to go over each and every item, each specific item, that any of you wish to have detailed for your information.

Maintenance, Administration and Design is $196,400,000.

Construction, matching funds to Federal Government and 100% State roads, $199,800,000, or $396,200,000 of construction.

Required June 1, 1959 to enter the 1959-1961 biennium, $58,600,000. That is the minimum amount which the department has said it should have on hand to enter into the next biennium for the continuation of the payments of retarded contracts and allocated funds.

Payments to other departments; appropriations to other departments, $6,700,000.

Executive Authorizations, $43,700,000.

Cities, Boroughs, and Townships—now, get this figure. If the original six cents and the budget requirements were met, the cities and boroughs would have received $63,300,000. However, that makes a total of $680,600,000 required to meet the specific items which have been read to you at this moment.

If you reduce the amount to local communities to $52,000,000, which is the amount that twenty per cent of four and one-half cents would bring in, you would save $11,300,000. If you take that amount and you reduce the budget further by cutting out the revenue by $56,500,000 and add in the $11,300,000, you will have a total of $655,000,000, or a deficit of $24,050,000 at the end of the biennium.

Senator Wade, when I said you do not have the money, you attended the Appropriations Committee Meetings. You heard the detailed report, the detailed analyzation of each and every one of the covered items in the item-by-item budget which was presented to us so ably by Secretary Lawler and his staff. At no time did I hear you question a figure; at no time did I hear you question any amount of revenue; at no time did I hear you question any of the proposals. You agreed I believe, at least by your silence, that the figures read were correct. If you had any questions as to the amounts in the budget or as to the amount of income, then that would have been the proper place to have presented them.

Here is exactly why I put this amendment in for $36,000,000. Before I would agree to commit myself, and the rest of the Membership on this side, to maintaining the six cent gasoline tax in Pennsylvania, I insisted that the Department of Highways and the Administration give us a concession for our local communities. There is no greater individual need in Pennsylvania than the need of street maintenance and street care and street widening and street construction in our local communities, and road and highway construction in our townships and outlying boroughs. These are needs which are real and I said to the Governor and to the Secretary of Highways that I, personally, would go before my group and try to have them go along on a proposal to keep the six cent gasoline tax, but add to the local contribution to the districts another $12,000,000 over the minimum of $60,000,000. Therefore, the local communities would receive, if you would go along on the proposal, $72,000,000.

I put two bills into the Senate, earmarking the entire amount from the emergency one-cent gasoline tax to the cities and local districts of Pennsylvania, the whole $56,500 to be specifically ear-marked to the local communities. Then, the addition, required to make $72,000,000, is to come out of the remaining four and one-half cent gasoline tax, for a total of $72,000,000 to be returned to the local communities.

I think it is an imposition upon the home owners and the real estate owners in the communities to expect them to carry the increasing burden of the need for transportation facilities in our communities by a real estate tax. I believe in the principle that the users have to pay for the roads.

I want to say to all of you that you have before you, I understand, a proposal to relieve a certain industry from any tax whatsoever in the matter of transportation tax or gasoline tax, which would be reflected in the amount that will come into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I just cannot make sense out of the direction in which we are flying in this low-flying Session of the Legislature. I am just trying to get through my mind what is going on. We are reducing the revenue by amendments to every revenue bill. We have taken away from this biennium $42,000,000 of capital stock tax; we have reduced $40,000,000 to $60,000,000 in the sales tax by removing industry and all industry representatives from the sales tax. We are trying to get rid of so-called nuisance taxes to the tune of $8,000,000 more. We are reducing all of these things. I understand from the newspapers that there is a proposition to remove the bus operators from any payment of State tax on gasoline. We are taking away the revenue, but on every hand we hear the argument that we must give more.

You stand up before this group of Senators today and you propose to pay $8,000,000 more than the formula allows under the existing four and one-half cent gasoline tax. However, what are you going to pay it out of? You are going to pay it out of thin air. I know what is behind it and that is that you know, and I know, that the Governor is honest in his interpretation of his duties as Governor of this Commonwealth and cannot appropriate moneys unless he has them. Therefore, if you pass this $60,000,000 bill without giving the one-cent gasoline tax, he will have to make a decision as to whether or not to cut from this particular budget either the amount which is owed to the citizens of this State for right of way payments or we cut back the amount levied by the Public Utility Commission, which has the force of law; or we cut back the amount to be spent in matching funds on the interstate highway system, which is $16,000,000 in his budget; or we default on our bond obligations, which is $17,000,000 in this budget; or we cut out the planning and the supervision which is to guarantee us the good and the high type roads that are required in this Commonwealth; or we go further and we cut out the matching funds which we match with the Federal Government on a fifty-fifty basis; or this will probably be what we will do. We will make the one hundred per cent State roads suffer because we will have to take advantage of every nickel we can get of matching funds from the Federal highways and we will take advantage of that. Therefore, the ones who will suffer will be the rural communities in Pennsylvania, in which most of the Pennsylvania one hundred per cent operated roads are located.

Therefore, the money that you get back will not benefit the citizens of the communities to which you are giving it, because the amount of the extra money they will have to spend will cut that much money from what the Department of Highways will have to spend on the very roads which service the communities that you are now giving this great big fake relief to.

For many, many years we fought for a greater return to the local communities and the highest we could ever get was $36,000,000. Then we, fortunately enough, happened to elect a Democratic House of Representatives and a Democratic Governor. We raised it to $60,000,000 and now what are we doing? You are cutting it to $50,000,000 in actual money, but you are giving fiat money to the extent of $8,000,000 and, therefore, you are giving them a fake bill of $60,000,000. I say that you should go along with the amendments. Let us give them $72,000,000 and let us have the courage to deprive the gasoline companies of the one cent and give it to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I say to all of you that you cannot meet this budget; you cannot meet the requirements of the Department of Highways today unless you do exactly what I am saying to you.

I put in another bill to take the extra cent, if you did not want to give it to the communities, and to divide it up on specific uses, to give that amount which would be required to meet the $72,000,000 after the twenty per cent of four and one-half cents has been taken on the regular gasoline tax, and then to take the remainder and use that which was required for flood damages and natural damages, caused by high winds, to our highway system and bridges. Then, take the next amount and pay out for the retirement of the bonds, under the Highway and Bridge Authority, and the balance then would be used entirely on State operated roads, the one hundred per cent roads in this Commonwealth.

I know that all this talking is to no avail. However, I want to assure you Members on the other side that when you come back here in 1959, if you are fortunate enough and the people are unfortunate enough to elect a Republican Governor, you will stand up on that side of the Senate, and I will take any man's wager in this Senate right now, and you will ask for the one cent to be put back on gasoline. In all probability, because of this action that you are taking during this Session of the Legislature, you may have to ask for two cents. Then you will stand up and bleed for the people of Pennsylvania and you will say how much you need it. Then you will have a Republican Governor and you will give him the money to work with.

How many bills have passed this Session of the Legislature, sponsored by Republic Senators and Democratic Senators, taking over or giving to the State Highways Department roads in your District? I know the trick. Sure, you take back a certain amount of road and you give the same amount to the Department of Highways. However, we all know what happens. I do not think we are naive enough to believe that the people do not know. What we do is take back the improved roads and give the mud roads to the Department of Highways. After they approve them, then we make another shift. In that way, the Department of Highways is fixing up all our roads. How many roads do you think they are going to be able to fix in Pennsylvania unless you give them sufficient moneys to do so? You are operating on the same tax ratio that you had in 1949 and you expect the people of this Commonwealth to believe that you are giving intelligent and honest government when you ask the Department of Highways of this State to participate in the greatest road building program ever conceived on the face of the earth, with the same amount of tax ratio that you had back in 1949. You know you cannot do it and the only thing this is for is to do one of two things, hamstringing the Governor's Highways Department or put this on his desk and embarrass him into the position where he may have to veto the bill.

I do not know what the Governor is going to do, but I have never seen any election plum yet that was big enough, ripe enough or pretty enough, or one which I wanted badly enough, that I would compromise my conscience on a matter of this grave importance. I, personally, will vote "no" on this bill unless the amendments are accepted and we put the additional penny on where it belongs, to take care of the needs of the Commonwealth.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's interrogation, which I agree was rather lengthy, I would like to submit some other answers.

I happen to have in my possession the statement from which he read so well. I might say to Senator Dent, at the outset, that I am for his amendments to increase this amount. He is a little inconsistent when he says that we do not have enough money to pass this bill, which requires $30,000,000 a year, and he wants to increase it to $36,000,000 a year.

Let me say, too, that I attended the hearing to which he referred and I do not believe that anyone here in the Senate who attended that hearing would agree that I did not ask as many questions, or many more, as any other member attending that hearing. We went into the figures very carefully. At that time, we received the statement which the gentleman has so well referred to.

When the Governor sent us his Budget of Special Funds in March, he estimated a balance, as of June 1, 1957, of $65,921,966. However, at the time of the hearing, which was held about three weeks ago, that balance was then admitted to be over $40,000,000 higher, making a total balance of $108,650,000.

I do not propose to go into a lengthy discourse on figures. However, I would like to point out two discrepancies. In the first place, after a discussion was held on the Senate Floor, Senator McMenamin at that time gave us figures alleging that three items were not in the Governor's Budget on Special Funds. One was the item which Senator Dent referred to a short time ago:

"Required to pay costs of Public Utility Commission action:

"Levied prior to June 1, 1957, $7,800,000.

"Levied June 1, 1957—May 31, 1959, $7,500,000," or a total of $15,300,000.

Then, again, another item was injected which was not in the Governor's Budget, totaling $55,000,000 of unpaid right-of-way damage claims. I want to say to you that when a contract it let, that is all taken into consideration and that is the reason it was not in the budget and does not, at any time, appear in the budget. Let that be as it may, however.

Accepting their figure which has been revised upward of over $40,000,000, there is no consideration taken at all of the Federal Funds for matching. In the first instance, the item of $199,800,000 is the State's share alone, matching or 100% State. Let us presume for the moment that the $992,800,000 is to be spent on State roads without any matching. That, according to past history, would be a good estimate. Therefore, we can add another $100,000,000 for fifty per cent matching to the balance of $655,950,000, which the Senator gave us a few moments ago.

Then, too, we have the $40,000,000 State Highway and Bridge Authority Borrowing Authorization which has never been used, but was authorized two years ago. Let us use that in matching for the Federal Interstate Highway System. That would add another $360,000,000 making a total of $1,115,950,000.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I submit to you that no Highways Department, during any biennium, had a fund nearly equal to that. I allege it is far beyond what the Department of Highways can honestly and properly spend during the next biennium.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote for Senator Dent's amendment. It is a good amendment. If we have the balances such as have been reported, we should give to these local municipalities the sum of $36,000,000.

When we first introduced the bill which we are now considering we felt that a floor of $30,000,000 was sufficient. However, after receiving these figures from the Department of Highways, I am sure that the department of Highways will have the funds to meet Senator Dent's request to raise the floor from $30,000,000 to $36,000,000 for the years 1958 and 1959.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am afraid I did not quite hear the amount of money we would have available. Would Senator Wade repeat the total amount which he said the Department of Highways would have? Did I hear him say one billion and some odd millions of dollars?

Mr. WADE. May I start, Mr. President and Senator Dent, with the sum that you gave us a little while ago of $655,950,000? Is that the figure you gave us, Senator Dent?

Mr. DENT. Yes, that is based, of course, on the six-cent gasoline tax.

Mr. WADE. All right, we will make allowance for that.

Mr. DENT. Go ahead.

Mr. WADE. Below in the statement, we have the sum of $199,800,000 for construction, matching and one hundred per cent State.

Mr. DENT. That is right.

Mr. WADE. If that is the State's share of that, we of course, will receive from the Federal Government their matching funds. We presume that we will use $99,800,000 for the altogether State-cost roads. Therefore, we will have the figure of $100,000,000, from which we will receive from the Federal Government another $100,000,000 on a fifty per cent matching basis. That will add $100,000,000 to the $655,000,000 figure which Senator Dent gave us awhile ago.

Mr. DENT. Would you kindly use the correct figure? You insist upon using $655,000,000 and you say that Senator Dent gave that figure to you. It is $655,950,000, less $56,500,000, or $599,450,000. You are not passing a six-cent gasoline tax. I said you are using fiat money, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. I have already said that we will make allowances for that.

Mr. DENT. All right, go ahead and keep analyzing your spending.

Mr. WADE. We have the State Highway and Bridge Authority Borrowing Authorization of $40,000,000, which appears on your paper, I presume, the same as on mine, as furnished by the Department of Highways. If that is used in the interstate highway program, which is on a ninety to ten basis, we would have nine times as much more money, or $360,000,000 received from the Federal Government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think it is important that the Members of the Senate do not become confused by the figures which Senator Wade is reading.

Yes, if you matched $40,000,000 and the Federal Government gave you nine for one, you would have the figure about which you are talking. However, you see, the Federal Government has allocated for this biennium to Pennsylvania $160,000,000 as the total interstate highway funds, of which we pay $16,000,000. Therefore, you cannot come up with $360,000,000 to make a billion dollars figure when the Federal Government has allocated only $160,000,000.

I thought somewhere along the line you were using life insurance figures and the patient was dead.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman that he has amply proved my point. We will have a reservoir of $400,000,000 from the Federal Government, and the $40,000,000 borrowing power of the State Highway and Bridge Authority which can be called upon, if we can get our projects ready and can go to the Federal Government and say that we are ready for its approval of our projects.

Our trouble is that our Department of Highways has not been able to get its plans ready and get approval from the Bureau of Roads in Washington for the expenditure of this money.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, you are usually very good at preserving the order of the Senate. Also, you have seen to it that the gentleman adhere to the rules of procedure and the rules of the Senate. I am quite amazed, therefore, that you have not called Senator Dent to order, because certainly he has been wandering far afield from the amendments which he has offered. There is nothing before the Senate except, shall we give $36-000,000 to the political subdivision or $30,000,000?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would say that the point of order is well taken. The Chair was a little lax in maintaining order. Both Senator Dent and Senator Wade, with their wide experience in the Senate, know that they cannot just engage in a conversation across the Chamber.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, any time an amendment is offered, one has the right to justify the amendment.

The statement made by Senator Mahany, upon interogation by myself when the amendment was offered, was that there was not sufficient money. I, therefore, went on to discuss the insufficiency or the sufficiency of money relating to the amendments offered. If you think you are going to restrict debate in this Senate, then I compliment the Chair for not trying to restrict debate on a matter of acknowledgeable facts which are required in order to vote intelligently upon any amendment offered.

In so far as the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, is concerned, he will persist because of his nature. It is a perversity of nature which many of us have along some line or other. However, Senator Wade absolutely insists on quoting and quoting and quoting, and re quoting figures, regardless of whether they come into the picture or not.

Senator Wade admitted that he attended the appropriations meeting. He was told there that Pennsylvania stands number one in the United States of America in its preparation and acceptance of plans by the Federal Roads Bureau. Senator Wade now stands before this Senate and deliberately says, in spite of the record contained in the recorded records of the hearings, that the reason we are not getting any more Federal funds is because we cannot get our plans ready. I do not think that is fair. The Department of Highways made its own record and it is contained herein. If you want me to, I will read it word for word to the Members of the Senate. Herein is contained the record as put out by the Federal Bureau of Roads. I think it is important to note when you stand up and say there is sufficient money to meet the needs of the Commonwealth in its Highways Department, that you are giving it the same ratio of taxation that you had in 1949, without a Federal-State highway program, and without the $17,000,000 additional money for the amortization of bonds.

Senator Wade insists upon using the figure of $655,000,000. When I interrupted him, he said he would make allowances later. He never made allowances. He used the figure of $360,000,000 matching funds and $40,000,000 of our own, or $400,000,000. Add that to $722,000,000 and he says, "We will have $1,122,000,000 for the Department of Highways to spend." Senator Wade knows that is not true. The Federal Government controls the amount of interstate moneys which come to the Department of Highways. Your Department of Highways, in an honest effort, prepared every stick and stone in its budget. Every fifteen-feet of road in Pennsylvania is contained in this booklet. It breaks down every man's District in Pennsylvania, represented in the House and Senate. It contains the number of miles of road, the amount of contract available for that particular community, and they all add up to the one hundred and ninety-nine odd millions of dollars.

If you want to restrict them, if you want to cut them, then cut them here in the Senate and do not give that onerous job to the Department of Highways.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I, too, would like to rise to challenge the statement made by my distinguished colleague from Cumberland, Senator Wade, that Pennsylvania is apt to lose any Federal funds.

I believe there is no other State in America that is farther along in co-ordinating its highway planning and programing with the Federal Government than Pennsylvania. I challenge Senator Wade to name one State that is ahead of us or to show one single dollar, in any given instance, which we have lost by reason of plans not being forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Roads.

I would also like Senator Wade to know that as of this week, in the year of 1957 and we are now in the fifth month, our Highways Department has already signed contracts for $100,000,000 worth of road work in Pennsylvania. This—and it is only May—is already the biggest year in Pennsylvania's history for highway building and expansion.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Wade, the figures that you have there, are they the figures which were submitted to you at the time we had the budget hearing with the Highways Department?

Mr. WADE. They are.

Mr. YOSKO. Did you get any other figures from the Highways Department since that time?

Mr. WADE. Yes, I have received figures since that time, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. The figures that you received, do they differ from those that were presented at the budget hearing?

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President, but, as I pointed out on the floor just a few moments ago, not all items were covered at that time. Not all items were included in the Governor's Budget.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to make a brief statement.

I attended that budget hearing with the Highways Department. I walked out of the room, after the hearing was over, with Senator Wade and the thing that shocks me today is his about-face from what he said to me. He told me then how impressed he was with the manner and completeness with which the figures were presented and explained by the various representatives of the Highways Department. He said it was the best presentation he evidenced since he has been attending the budget hearings. He agreed with me, at least while we walked from the Appropriations Committee room, that it would be a mistake, or it was a mistake, to take the one-cent emergency tax from the list and that it should be retained if we were to finance the budget as submitted to us before the Appropriations Committee.

I do not know of one person who was at that committee meeting, not one person, who asked questions. Everybody was in a position to ask them. There were plenty of questions to ask, but I do not know of one person who broke down any figures or any part of the program that was presented. Everybody agreed that everything was in order. When I left that room, the atmosphere in that room was that the one-cent should be put back again if we were to finance the highways program as it was presented and if we were to get the Federal money.

I cannot understand the about-face of Senator Wade and others from this Legislature who attended that budget hearing. I say here and now, unless that one penny is put back, the highways program in this State will suffer and we are liable to lose some Federal funds which are being allocated to the State.

Secretary Lawler told us at that budget hearing that the Federal-Roads Commission has asked for a re-survey of the total mileage of roads in Pennsylvania. He said that survey was almost completed and there was a strong possibility, after it was completed and submitted, that we would get an additional allocation of funds from the Federal Government to which we would only have to match ten per cent.

I think it would be a grave mistake to forfeit those funds due Pennsylvania and, as a result, have them awarded to some other State.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred):

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, may I inquire how the gentleman from Beaver, Senator Miller, is recorded as voting?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman is not recorded as voting.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, how did the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, vote?

Mr. MAHANY. I would like to inform the Senator, Mr. President, that I went over and asked the Minority Whip that if there were any bills which were in controversy, he ask for them to go over in order so that we may debate them tomorrow. The hour is growing late and I would like to get the noncontroversial bills through today. We certainly have argued enough about controversial bills. We will ask that this bill go over, Senator.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 720, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 31, 1949 (P. L. 372) entitled "The General State Authority Act of 1949," increasing the power of the Authority to borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness therefor and allocating the proceeds of the increased borrowing.

be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Whip or the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, is this not what is commonly known as the G.S.A. bill?

Mr. PECHAN. It is, as I understand it.

Mr. WEINER. Why then do we have to send it to the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. PECHAN. Because there is no appropriation set aside for the amortization of that $40,000,000.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, If I am incorrect, would you correct me please? Is not the G.S.A. a separate body that raises its own money by floating bonds, and then amortizes its buildings and bonds by public issue?

Mr. PECHAN. By rentals from appropriations that we make here in the Legislature.

Mr. WEINER. As the judge once said to the lawyer, "No coaching of the witness, please," Senator Mahany.

Then the purpose, you say, is to send this bill to the Appropriations Committee to raise money for what, sir?

Mr. PECHAN. For the purpose of amortizing those bonds. You are going to need $40,000,000 worth. You are going to need money to pay that debt off somehow.

I am for this bill one hundred per cent. I want you to know that this bill is not going to committee for burial.

Mr. WEINER. Well then, could you vote for it?

Mr. PECHAN. Could I vote for the bill?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I am for it one hundred per cent. This is not my bill. I do not even know the number.

Mr. WEINER. Well, you can be for it even though it is not your bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I now find I am one of the co-sponsors.

Mr. WEINER. That is what I was trying to get to.

Then you think it will come back from the Appropriations Committee and will pass?

Mr. PECHAN. I hope so.

Mr. WEINER. You are not sure whether it is for the purpose of burial or not?

Mr. PECHAN. I certainly would not be standing here making the motion if I thought it were going to be buried. If I thought that, I would have my Majority Leader get up and make that motion.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you, Senator.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 737, entitled:

An Act repealing the act of August 19, 1953 (P. L. 1152) entitled "An act providing for the selection of suitable lands in Delaware County for the erection thereon of a new State mental hospital"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I certainly will make this statement brief in reference to Senate Bill No. 737. I would have liked to talk much longer, but Senator Dent has lulled me just about to sleep and maybe I will forget to say some of the things I had in mind.

Senate Bill No. 737, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, has caused quite a little controversy in my county due to the misunderstanding of a newspaper article that was published some days ago. I would like to make the correction as part of the record so that maybe the newspapers this time will clarify the story and write it as it should be written, and let the people in my county know just why Senator Kessler and I sponsored this bill.

I would like, Mr. President, to read into the record, and I quote from the record of the Welfare Hearing of April 29, at which former Senator Shapiro, Secretary of Welfare, was questioned. The question was this:

"What is your position as to the new mental hospital in Delaware County?"

I will quote Mr. Shapiro's answer. I would like to call this to your attention and let this sink in a little bit, too, if you will:

"I would like to trade it for cash."

I would like to repeat that: "I would like to trade it for cash. In other words, when I first came here that new mental hospital in Delaware County was already attached under the law and it was for 3,000 patients. I told the Governor "—I am still quoting Mr. Shapiro and this is still his answer—"that I would under no circumstances participate in the construction of a new institution today for 3,000 patients. No institution should have more than 1,000 patients. Finally we got it down to 2,000 and by a lot of haggling, I got it down to 1,500 and today it probably will have 900 or less patients in that institution.

"It will cost around $15,000,000 or $17,000,000. What we have done there, what we propose there is to have a Delaware County Mental Health Center. In other words, we want to make that if we are going to have to have it . . ."

I would like to call that to your attention and I would like to read it again. ". . . if we are going to have to have it, we are going to have it as a total program for the community. That means if you lay it out to the full extent that we have planned, it will cost about $19,000,000 or even more—$21,000,000 I think is the figure."

Now, Mr. President, certainly with a statement like this, made before this committee, under no circumstances do I think that we could ever consider the building of a mental hospital in Delaware County.

Also, taking from the quote, he says: ". . . if we have to have it . . ." Well, my God in heaven, when did we ever have to spend $23,000,000 to build a hospital that is not needed?

This is the testimony from the Secretary of Welfare. How can you trade a General State Authority appropriation for cash? How can you do a thing like that? That is new in my book. I have never been able to understand how you could trade money. I also question how we can build a health clinic or a mental health center when the act calls for the building of a mental hospital with so many acres of ground to be used for the cure of the patients?

I am not quoting now, but rather I am making a statement myself. Embreeville State Hospital is in Chester County, the county of our good Senator, Senator Harney. From all the figures that I have received on the Embreeville State Hospital, I find that it is only at the present time eighty-nine per cent in use. I also find that at the present time, there has been authorized construction to build 700 additional rooms.

Then, too, I would like to question just what has become of the Mercy-Douglas Hospital, which was built during a Republican Administration and later turned over to the Secretary of Welfare? If I recall the statement, I was told that hospital—if my mind is clear and I think it is quite clear, even though I was lulled to sleep this afternoon—was supposed to be used for mental patients as an examining hospital, as a clinic to which to bring the people. With 850 rooms in other hospitals which are not filled, according to the statement of former Senator Shapiro, certainly we people in the Senate here can never vote for any expenditure for building a clinic such as the one about which he speaks. He said $19,000,000 or $21,000,000. What kind of a clinic is he going to build? He said he does not want the hospital. Now is he going to disregard this General Assembly by building what he wants to build or will he do what he was directed to do by the General Assembly?

I would like to know, Mr. President, whether the General Assembly means anything, and whether it is necessary for us to pass legislation appropriating $19,000,000 when some executive officer may change it and build what he wants at whatever price he wants?

If I recall, the General State Authority was authorized to spend $19,000,000 on this hospital. There may be a few odd dollars in there, but I know that the big figure was $19,000,000. That, in my opinion, is all they can spend. Maybe I am wrong.

I would also like to call to the attention of the Members of this Senate, Mr. President, that this ground has been purchased by the State of Pennsylvania and it has been paid for by the State of Pennsylvania. I also understand that they would be very happy if 120 acres of it could be sold, because they say they will not need it for this clinic. I would not think they would need 200 and some acres for a clinic. I do not think it would be any hardship on anyone if we disregarded the building of this mental hospital, based on exactly what former Senator Shapiro had to say. Therefore, I ask the gentleman of this Senate to save this $21,000,000.

Concerning the need for a clinic, I want it to be known right now that I would be happy to sponsor a bill if such a need can be proven to me. However, I certainly will not vote or would not approve the building of this hospital based on the statements made.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Mahany, you are a member of the the General State Authority, are you not?

Mr. MAHANY. I am.

Mr. YOSKO. How much money has been spent on this project to date? I understand that the General State Authority had a meeting yesterday and it was supposed to get a report. Just how much work has been done on the project and how much money has been spent?

Mr. MAHANY. In the first place, there was not a meeting of the General State Authority yesterday. A few of the Members of the General State Authority and some of the staff were in my office for an informal discussion on this proposition. Secretary Shapiro was there.

We bought the land down there and I think we paid out about $600,000 for it, which includes a building. We have architects on the job and I do not know how far they have gone in their work. The work has been held up for the past month or two because of the change in design.

This, originally, was supposed to be one big building. Secretary Shapiro now has converted it from one big building into about twenty or twenty-one smaller buildings. He feels it is better to have small buildings, with twenty to twenty-four people in a building than to have one large building with a whole lot of people in it. Therefore, there will be about twenty buildings with approximately twenty-four people in each one. I do not have the exact figure. It might be thirty buildings, but I believe it is between twenty and twenty-five small buildings.

Mr. YOSKO. Is it the opinion of the General State Authority, and the Secretary of Welfare, that you should go through with this project?

Mr. MAHANY. Secretary Shapiro sort of gives you a "yes" and "no" on that question.

Mr. YOSKO. First give me the answer of the General State Authority and then Secretary Shapiro's answer.

Mr. MAHANY. As far as the General State Authority is concerned, of course, we are subject to whatever is the will of the Legislature. If they do not want to proceed with this, and so indicate, we can sell the property and back out of the proposition in some way. We might be able to sell the property for enough profit to pay for our architects. However, I do not know, because we cannot tell how much we are going to derive from that property. I think we would probably break even.

Mr. YOSKO. Has that been explored?

Mr. MAHANY. No, we have not explored that. Until we are authorized to sell the property, we are not going out and get prices. The land prices in that area have gone up since we bought the property and I think we would be able to get out of the whole skid.

Mr. YOSKO. What was Mr. Shapiro's opinion?

Mr. MAHANY. Secretary Shapiro now feels that inasmuch as he cannot get the money for more doctors and more pills and things like that, he would like to have these buildings.

Mr. YOSKO. He would like to have these buildings.

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, sir.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I remember in the 1953 Session when Senator Watkins, from Delaware County, was very much in favor of this project. As a matter of fact, we tried to put an amendment in the bill to build this hospital in Philadelphia and Senator Watkins and his colleagues—they had the votes then also and we had only eighteen Senators on this side—voted for the bill and put the hospital in Delaware County. Then we discussed this again in 1955 and Senator Watkins was still for it. Here we are in 1957, and he is somewhat disenchanted with this project and he no longer feels any romance about it and would like to drop it.

I have received a letter, I think as other Senators have received, from the Health and Welfare Council of Delaware County. They point out in this letter—and I am not going into great detail—how important it is for them to have a hospital in this area which is concerned with mental health. They take that position, based on the Pennsylvania Mental Health Survey, conducted by the American Psychiatric Association, which recommends that top priority be assigned to the creation of a community mental health center, such as the one planned in Delaware County. I do not know how Senator Watkins overcomes that or how he says they do not need it. From their letter, and from other statistics they have given us, there are about 300 children who are badly in need of mental health programs and projects which they cannot get because they lack this type of building and this type of work.

Mr. President, I think it is unfair to Secretary Shapiro for Senator Watkins to read this material out of context. I happen to have attended that meeting and what Secretary Shapiro said was not that he did not want the building, but that what he would rather have, in lieu of the building, is the money. However, Secretary Shapiro, having been a Member of this Senate, realizes that he cannot get the funds that are in the General State Authority to be applied to the General Fund from which he could take that money and use it for the projects.

If Senator Watkins will recall, when Doctor Menninger was here, who is one of the foremost authorities in the field of mental health, he claimed also and stated specifically that in lieu of getting big, beautiful buildings and plants to work out these problems, he would rather spend the money on medication, doctors and technological help.

That is all that has been said. I do not understand, and it still has not been explained to me, why Senator Watkins is now against this project which he so badly wanted in 1953.

The reason they need the building in Delaware County is that many of the buildings they are using today for mental health have become obsolescent. As a result, they will have to put these people some place or rebuild those buildings. They were hoping to use the Delaware County Hospital primarily for the purpose of placing some of these people who would overflow these buildings, once they took out those buildings which were no longer in use.

I think the basic problem which we have here today is that the people who live in that immediate area do not want to have this mental health hospital in their area. They are all in favor of having it in the county, yes, but they do not want it near their homes. In reply to those rather selfish requests, I think Senator Watkins is moving in this direction today with this bill.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I hope the Senators will not moan, but I did miss, through leaving one of my notes on my desk, a very important phase pertaining to this hospital.

I would also like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that Senator Shapiro states, and I certainly hope it is right, that through the use of a new drug, 1,000 patients per year will be eliminated from the mental hospitals in Pennsylvania. I am not questioning that statement. However, again I only say because of that we possibly would not need as many rooms.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WATKINS. You say that you are alarmed because I asked for this hospital not to be built. Do you think that what was said in the Appropriations Hearing Room was testimony or was it idle talk?

Mr. WEINER. I think it was testimony and correct testimony. However, you are taking it out of context from the entire hearing. If I were to take some of your statements made here on the floor out of context, I think they would make a damaging case against you.

Mr. WATKINS. Now you are questioning me.

Would you be willing, Senator Weiner, to spend $21,-000,000 of the taxpayers' money when Senator Shapiro says it is not necessary?

Mr. WEINER. In answer to your question, I would say this to you, Senator. If it is not necessary to spend $21,-000,000, I, nor anyone else in this Senate, would vote for it. However, I do not think that is what Secretary Shapiro said. I think you are misquoting him or you are taking a single statement he has said and making that his entire testimony.

Mr. WATKINS. You have not answered my question, but I will take your answer. I do not want to put you on the spot too much.

Do you believe in the procedure of the General State Authority? Do you believe in legislation being drawn for the spending of certain sums of money by the General State Authority? Do you believe in our telling the General State Authority what they are authorized to spend that money for?

Mr. WEINER. If I understand your question correctly, Senator Watkins, I do believe that we should tell the General State Authority what we should have. I believe we should use them for necessary projects.

Mr. WATKINS. If Secretary Shapiro would like to change the type of construction and not build a mental hospital and build a mental clinic instead, would you say then that it would be necessary for him to have additional legislation in order to do that?

Mr. WEINER. If you will define for me the difference between a mental hospital and a mental clinic, and if there is that difference other than one of semantics, I will have to agree with you. However, if there is no difference and they are both the same thing, then I would disagree with you. I think that within the purport of the word "use" of the building, we could say that they are both the same thing.

Mr. WATKINS. What is your interpretation of the word "clinic" and "mental hospital"? You are more learned than I. I only went to the first year in high school. Senator Pechan went to college and so did you. I did not get that far.

Mr. WEINER. Subtlety will get you nowhere, Senator Watkins.

In my opinion, and I think in the opinion of most people who know a little bit about medicine, medical care, medical therapy and clinics, when clinics are used as out-patient clinics in connection with the hospital, they are considered one and the same thing as the hospital.

If I might again go back to Doctor Menninger, who spoke here at a Joint Session of the General Assembly, one of the things he said that was most successful in this connection was the fact that these people came into the clinics and spent perhaps an evening there or a day or two there, and then were able to go back to their regular jobs and receive treatment at the same time. In my mind, a hospital and a clinic, used in that way, are the same thing.

Mr. WATKINS. Thank you.

Mr. President, I would just like to say one more thing. I want the people of Pennsylvania, the Members of this Senate and the newspapers to know that if a mental clinic is necessary, I am in favor of sponsoring new legislation, if proof can be furnished to us showing that necessity. Since I have been a Member of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I have never voted against anything which I thought was fair, right and just, and which would help the health and welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. I never intend to. However, I do not intend to stay here as a Senator, representing the people of Pennsylvania, and let a hospital be built which Secretary Shapiro said is not necessary and not wanted.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just want to make a brief comment to this effect. The other day, the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins, made some remarks about a celebrated citizen of York County who, he said had changed his mind, and thereby finding something reprehensible about that. I want to rise to defend the right of the gentleman from Delaware to change his mind. If he was in favor of a mental hospital in 1953 and has now changed his mind and has come out against it, I want to say that I want to defend his right to do that. I wish to do it in the same, kind, understanding spirit in which he received the change of mind of another gentleman whom we discussed the other day.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I want to thank my good friend, Senator Seyler. He has been most kind to me. I do not know what is in the making, but something is on the way. However, it was very kind of him and I like him very much.

I want to say, however, that it was not my thinking which changed my mind. It was the thinking of Mr. Shapiro, the Secretary of Welfare of the State of Pennsylvania. When he can show me that he does not need $21,000,000, I am in favor of taking him up on that.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I have before me here an invitation, apparently sent out by the Commissioners of the Delaware River Port Authority, inviting certain people to attend ceremonies incident to the opening of the Walt Whitman Bridge in Philadelphia tomorrow. There is another invitation here which was sent out to certain individuals, inviting them to a reception at the Cherry Hill Inn.

Looking at this one invitation here, I will say it is one of the most elaborate and, perhaps, one of the most expensive that I ever had a chance to look at in my life. It seems to me that if the Delaware River Port Authority is paying for these invitations, they certainly did not learn a lesson from the investigation which was made of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as far as lavish spending is concerned.

I do not know why these bridge commissions that handle tollpayers' money cannot, as a few of the Senators here observed, send out invitations on ordinary letterheads, on ordinary paper instead of preparing these elaborate invitations that are engraved. By the method I suggest, they certainly would save a lot of the tollpayers' money.

I certainly hope this reception that is to be held after the ceremonies is not going to be similar to the one which was held at the opening of a bridge in the Delaware Water Gap area. There it was found out that after the ceremonies, a group of people were invited to attend a party, at the expense of the Commission, and they spent $6,770. At that party, they drank ninety-three bottles of champagne, eighty-three bottles of assorted liquors and 450 cocktails. They smoked 450 twenty-cent cigars and seven cartons of cigarettes. They occupied twenty-four rooms in the hotel, and they paid a tip of $700. They bought floral decorations which covered the entire first floor of the hotel. They bought orchid corsages and floral muffs. These corsages and muffs, Mr. President, were worn by six Powers models, who were especially imported for the occasion. In addition to that, they engaged entertainment by Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians.

If the Commission is paying for these elaborate invitations and if they are paying for that party tomorrow, it seems to me this Legislature should perhaps look into the activities of this Authority as well. If, as I heard from some sources, the contractors who built the bridge are paying for it, I look at the whole thing with an eye of suspicion. If the contractors are paying for it, they should publicly announce they are paying for it so as not to reflect suspicion of lavish spending on the members of the Port Authority.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want to be very brief because I think all of us have a good time coming tonight, but I did want to call this to the attention of the Members of the Senate.

Last week I had the pleasure and privilege of being with the administrators of five hospitals in Washington County. At that meeting, it was brought out that we are going to have in Pennsylvania a great problem with the aged. The administrators advised me that as of last week, twenty-five per cent of all the beds in the hospitals in Washington County were occupied by aged persons who cannot be assisted to any great extent by additional medical attention. Do not misunderstand me, these people are not indigents; they are paying their own way. The administrators advised me that in view of the fact of the advancement of our medical knowledge, people in this day and age are living longer and the problem is, what are they doing to do with the aged people who occupy twenty-five per cent of the beds in the hospitals in view of the fact that no additional medical attention will cure them.

I believe this is a major problem for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It may mean increased costs. I do not know. However, I am having prepared now a resolution, which I will submit to the Senate tomorrow—and I would like to have cosponsorship on it—asking the Joint State Government Commission to study this particular problem.

At that meeting, the administrators prevailed upon the county to do something about this problem. Most county governments do not have the facilities and I believe it is a State problem. They have statistics whereby they say that ten years from now, if the same conditions exist, around thirty-five or forty per cent of all hospital beds are going to be occupied by the aged who should be placed in proper nursing homes or in some sort of State institutions.

I did not want to talk while Senator Watkins was on the floor, but I believe our Welfare Department is going to have to look into this problem, not from the point of mental clinics or mental hospitals, but from the point of doing something to bring about the rehabilitation of the aged.

We are all happy that our people are living longer. We want to see that they are properly taken care of. I think if we have the Joint State Government Commission make a study of this problem, at the next Session of the Legislature we can do something constructive along this particular line.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Lane that the problem to which he refers is a very serious one, and we certainly do need to study it. I will be most happy to co-sponsor his resolution when he has it prepared.

As to Senator Yosko's remarks, I also regret that this Commission saw fit to expend money needlessly for high-priced invitations. It would have been much better if they had just sent out little cards as invitations. If I had been able to get down there, I would have attended the ceremonies, but I cannot get away because of the press of legislative business.

I also suggest to this Commission that they take a leaf from the book of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and at least not serve "hot williards" at the luncheon they are going to have at the Cherry Hill Inn.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, May 15, 1957, at 12:00 o'clock, meridian, Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, May 14, 1957

The House met at 12:00 noon EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Thomas M. Marpes, Assistant Pastor of St. Pius V Church, McKeesport, guest of the Reverend Walter H. Guigley, Ringtown, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, offered the following prayer:

Come, Holy Ghost, fill the hearts of Thy faithful, and enkindle in them the fire of Thy divine love. Send forth Thy Spirit, and they shall be created; and Thou shalt renew the face of the earth.

Let Us Pray: O God, who did teach the hearts of Thy faithful people by sending them the light of Thy Holy Spirit, grant us by the same Spirit to have a right judgment in all things, and evermore to rejoice in His holy comfort.

Let Thy inspiration precede our actions and Thy help further them, so that all our deeds may take their beginning from Thee, and, so begun, may through Thee reach completion.

Scatter the darkness of our minds, and give us lively faith, firm hope and burning love. Grant that we may know Thee well and may do all things in Thy light and in conformity to Thy holy will.

Teach us what we are to do and whither we ought to tend; show us what we must accomplish, in order that, with Thy help, we may be able to please Thee in all things.

Permit us not to disturb the order of justice; let not ignorance draw us into devious paths, nor partiality sway our minds, neither let respect of riches or persons pervert our judgment. Unite us to Thee, that we may be one in Thee and may never forsake the truth.

We thank Thee for the countless blessings bestowed on our great nation, and upon this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. May our praises to Thee not be meaningless, but may it be a dedication to the ideals and principles, established by those who have come before us, and by those whose sublime task it is to rule and guide this State.

With Your guidance and under Thy protection, we pledge ourselves to foster that freedom of spirit, which is peculiarly American, and which is well suited to Thy plan for our eternal salvation.

We are never to forget that a nation and a State cannot be built on material strength alone. Resources, guns and ammunitions are helpful only in so far as they preserve the spiritual values set up by a nation and a state . . . a nation and a state made up of men composed of body and soul, and made to the image of their Creator . . . United men whose strength is in direct proportion to the faith, hope and charity in the heart of the individual member . . . Men who share a deep and rich realization of their indebtedness to the one true God . . . Men who enjoy the confident hope that heaven and the rewards of God are within their reach . . . Men whose charity reaches past their own shores to the suffering of the less fortunate peoples of other States and other lands.

May the blessings and graces of Almighty God the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost descend in abundance upon our leaders and upon this assembly, and remain with them forever and ever. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. HENZEL and Mr. LAFORE.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 109.

In the House of Representatives, May 13, 1957.

The laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to the use of our highways and regulation and operation of motor vehicles are in many instances obsolete and badly in need of revision.

Due to the rapid advances which have been made throughout the years in the design and construction of both highways and means of transportation, the same cannot be adequately governed by an act adopted twenty-eight years ago. Therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), known as "The Vehicle Code", and the amendments thereto for the purpose of recommending an extensive revision and modernization thereof, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, because of its vital importance, I desire to center attention upon House Bill 183. I also desire to center attention upon this bill because of an apparent concerted effort to prejudice the measure by estimates as to local costs published in the Press, estimates which I believe to be grossly in error.

I have talked with some Members of the House concerning this measure. Some of them would be disposed to sweep this bill under the legislative rug. You can sweep this bill under the legislative rug, but you can not sweep under the legislative rug the problems which this bill is designed in part to help correct.

There have been continuing problems over the years concerning the financing of our public schools, and we have continually evaded making some basic decisions. As long as we do so, these problems will remain to haunt and harass us.

First of all, it is just plain nonsense to talk about holding the line in so far as school costs are concerned. As long as the parents of Pennsylvania keep producing babies, more and more babies, the costs of education will continue to rise.

We are approaching the time when, unless we lower standards and remodel our educational system, the school budget will approximate a billion dollars. We have eventually to determine from which pocket or out of whose pocket the cost of maintaining the school system must be obtained the money.

Mr. Speaker, we have on the one hand a movement designed to lighten the tax burden with respect to business and industry.

The SPEAKER. There is entirely too much confusion on the floor of the House. The gentleman is entitled to be heard. This is a very important statement and the Members desire to hear it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have always thought that perhaps it was the fault of the speaker rather than the listeners when there was confusion in the House. If I am unable to hold attention I regret it, but I do desire to speak for the record.

The SPEAKER. The Chair assures the gentleman his words are always words of wisdom and would request the Members give proper attention.

Mr. ANDREWS. I have pointed out, Mr. Speaker, we have in some respects, wisely I believe, decided to reduce the taxes imposed upon business and industry. That is one side of the picture.

On the other hand, we have an equally vigilant and aroused constituency operating at the grass roots level for the purpose of resisting any increase in the local contribution to schools.

Mr. Speaker, you cannot reduce taxes on business and industry at the present state of our finances and support the public school system without an increase of the tax burden at the local level. It just cannot be done. To the exact extent to which we reduced taxes imposed upon business and industry, we must shift the burden elsewhere, and insofar as the schools are concerned, we can only shift it to the districts for an increase in contribution at the local level. You just cannot educate more and more children for less and less money.

Some time or other we must reach the point where we establish a plateau so far as school costs are concerned. This is a measure heading in that direction. We can not forever keep increasing school costs. In view of the mandated subsidies, we have not yet reached the level where we can place school taxes, our tax system, on a more or less permanent basis.

It would be very, very unwise upon the part of this General Assembly not to make some direct specific contribution to the very desired objectives of approaching in orderly fashion, over perhaps a limited period of years, the plateau upon which we could hope that school costs, per pupil, should eventually rest.

I hope there will not be any disposition upon the part of this House, first of all, to accept erroneous figures as to the cost to districts of House Bill 183, and second, I hope we will not take a position absolutely opposed to the principle that there must be devised a system of perhaps improved assessments, one way or another, where we can in proper fashion place upon the local districts their proper share of the school tax burden.

I am very much in favor of the majority of the sections in House Bill 183. I think a study can perhaps temper some of them, but I am most earnestly of the view that it would be a tragic mistake to sweep this bill under the rug and dodge the problem which it has presented because we have for the last 20 years been doing that very thing, shifting the policy of opportunism without the development of a permanent program to which we can adhere through the coming years.

I would say to the majority party if they make a distinct contribution toward that end, they are to be congratulated and it will be a movement in which I will join.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would say by reason of the statesman-like remarks of Mr. Andrews on the occasions of recommending House Bill 183 back to the Appropriations Committee, it seems fitting and proper that a statement be made from this side of the House pertaining to the action here today.

Mr. Andrews says you can scuff the bill under the rug, but you cannot scuff the problem under the rug. That is true. It reminds me of that old song. "You can knock the 'I' out of Kelly, but you can't knock the 'ell out of me." I think it goes something like that.

I might say this session we started out with the very bold statement that we are going to try to live within $1.5 billion worth of taxes. I have repeatedly said the Appropriations Committee has worked tirelessly in analyzing the budget in trying to live within that sum of money. They have diligently worked. They have been here the last three Sundays from 2:00 o'clock until midnight and we have gone over each budget item and have tried to come up with a realistic budget figure on each item so we could balance the budget within that framework.

The Appropriations Committee at the present time has an area in which they can operate within that very realm of money available, and, as the Press has stated, if at all possible this week we hope to be able to introduce the general appropriation bill and other bills on Thursday so they will be available to the Members to take home and study. We hope when we get back after the primary election to have the bill on the floor for debate and whatever amendments may be offered.

I might say that in the last biennium the money for support of public schools was $424 million. The budget request this next biennium is $497 million, or a total for education this biennium of $642 million, and a suggested figure by the Governor of $740 million for the coming biennium.

I believe the appropriation bill for education will very closely approximate the sum of $497 million, because, as Mr. Andrews states, these sums are mandated and there is nothing this legislative body can do about it. We just have to foot that bill.

However, the Governor in his message in setting forth $497 million for education for support of the schools back home did not add in the $30 million which was vetoed last session. That is not in the $497 million figure. However, within the $1.5 billion we feel we have provided or can provide for approximately $30 million, which was the sum represented by House Bill 183, which would then make a total appropriation for support of public schools this coming biennium of approximately $527 million. That is a prodigious sum of money, but it is mostly mandated and there is nothing we can do about it.

In coming up with House Bill No. 183, it was an attempt to answer the problem of the future. Even House Bill 183 in its present form would cost us $30 million more money this biennium, it would cost $50 million the next biennium and $70 million the next. We have tried to hold the line on mounting expenditures for tuition and transportation, but even so the cost will go up in a staggering way.

We have tried to be fair in House Bill 183, but unfortunately many people in Pennsylvania do not realize we are providing $30 million more money than was in the Governor's budget. The schools are going to benefit to the tune of $30 million, but the wires have been hot between the hinterlands and Harrisburg. Everybody has been hammered over the head with the grave injustice in this bill. If the people of this state, our school boards and those interested in education would sit down and realistically appraise what we are trying to do this session in a fair way within the framework of a sound economical budget, I believe they would reconsider the action which has been taken.

We are hoping before the session is over that we can get House Bill 183 ironed out to try to please people. Yet we know that within the $30 million framework are going to be people who will not be satisfied. Nobody is ever satisfied when they have to dig into their pockets to raise a little money.

We are pledged to do the right thing for education. House Bill 183 is a step in the right direction. Whether it will ever get out of committee again, I cannot say. There are terrific demands for money. The Governor wants more money for his handicapped children program. They want more money to build up great airports in Pennsylvania. You would be surprised at the budget demands which have been coming in these last ten days since word has leaked out that certain pet projects are being cut.

We believe in education and we are going to try to save that $30 million for the school people, but they will have to be realistic about it. They will have to be fair about it, because we want to get out of here with the proposition that we have held the line against new taxes. That will rebound to the benefit of you fellows over on the other side, just as much as it will on this side. I am sure every Democrat in this House will be glad they can go home and say, this time I did not have to vote for that income tax, or, I did not have to put the sales tax on clothing, or, I did not have to take away the exemption from manufacturing corporations again. It will be a tremendous victory for this General Assembly and it will raise the esteem for this General Assembly in the minds of the people in this state that we sat down and attacked the problem in a sensible, sound, businesslike way and came up out of here, I would say, with honor and glory.

This $30 million should be enough for the schools under the House Bill 183. It is back in committee and at this time I personally cannot forecast what will happen to the bill because everybody has been so thoroughly discouraged about it. I am sure the schools back home have lost sight of the fact that it is $30 million more money they are getting. Whether they get it for teachers' salaries, or transportation, or what they are getting it for, the fact remains that they are getting 30 million more dollars.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, states that erroneous information has been distributed by people who are opposing House Bill 183, as amended. The only information I have received is from the school board of the city of Pittsburgh, and I have the utmost confidence in the figures given by our school board.

House Bill 183, as amended, will have a devastating effect upon the school district of Pittsburgh. As far as I am concerned, I am unalterably opposed to the bill as amended and I will do everything in my power to defeat it.

Let me give you the figures given from creditable sources for the board of public education of the school district of Pittsburgh. If this bill is passed in 1956-57, we will lose $500,000; in 1957-58 our cumulative loss will be $1 million; in 1958-59 the cumulative loss will be $2 million; in 1959-60 the cumulative loss will be $3.5 million; and 1960-61 the cumulative loss will be $5 million. We in the city of Pittsburgh have always done our share by local effort.

I have with me the data from the Department of Public Instruction for the entire state for 1954-55. It shows that our reimbursement fraction was .305. I will show you, for example, in the County of Cambria the average reimbursement fraction is about 80 percent. Who is making a better local effort? We are, of course. We have more behind us.

Under the circumstances, I say we in Pittsburgh are not getting a square deal. We do not like House Bill 183, as amended, and we intend to do everything in our power to see that Pittsburgh gets a square deal at Harrisburg.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, several prior speakers have made a declaration of position as regards House Bill 183. It seems evident to me that the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, talked at length and seemed to enunciate the program he stands for. In speaking, he stated there would be a spokesman from that side of the House. Others, I believe, spoke as well individually.

I am going to state my position as an individual and I feel sure many others are of the same opinion on this side of the House. I do not want the inference made by the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, to stand that we agree with his position on this side of the House, for we have taken no position as a collective group.

Personally, I think there is much wanting in House Bill

183. I believe many of us on this side of the House voted for a tax structure to bring in more revenue to the state government so we could do more things.

Mr. Johnson takes the position of holding the line. That in his position and possibly the position of his side of the House. Certainly it is not our position, because we voted for a sales tax bill—many of us did on this side of the House—which would bring in more money and give further necessary services to the people of the state.

I further want to make this one point and say we sit here and vote additional costs upon the local districts, yet we want to increase the local effort in order to settle the problem. Certainly, if we would give them jurisdiction or control of the cost of the problem, then we could say, you can take an additional burden on the local level. I think we must draw something up, compromise, if you will, at some part of the road upon the issue, then we can establish a position.

Let us discuss House Bill 183, when and if it comes out of committee, and debate the issue, but as far as a combined group taking a position, I have not seen any disposition to do so. I personally feel House Bill 183 is wanting in many respects.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, stated what it would do to his district. I believe it would have the same type of impact upon many other districts in the state of Pennsylvania.

I, for one, feel that if we take the initiative and increase the local cost of education, we certainly ought to be able to stand up and provide the revenues with which to pay for that additional cost.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MOSCRIP asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it appears at this point that to say anything further about House Bill 183 would be purely academic.

However, I would like to add one point in line with the statement of Mr. Andrews about erroneous information. I am reading now from the Harrisburg Evening News of Tuesday, May 14, 1957. On page 18, they have a column, "As Others See It," which is a digest of editorials appearing in papers throughout the Commonwealth relative to state school aid. Here is one entitled, "A Good Move—But" taken from the Meadville Tribune. After going on about the framework of the formula, the writer states as follows:

"The increased subsidy, however, will not help local school operations during the fiscal year starting July 1. The new formula applies to the 1957-58 school year and first reimbursements probably will not be received before September, 1958."

I do not see how we can make it any clearer that the subsidies actually start coming to the districts in the fall of 1957. This comment is typical of the erroneous information going about, whether it was deliberate or otherwise.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 143

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 143.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WALSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during debate last Thursday on the bill to take machinery tax off in Allegheny County it was brought out by my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson, and contended that in the past five years, 158 industries had fled from Allegheny County mainly because of the high tax on machinery. I asked where he got those figures, and Mr. Thompson produced a report containing them which was issued by Miss Genevieve Blatt, Democratic Secretary of Internal Affairs.

At that time I said I did not agree that the machinery tax had driven out any of these industries. Somehow or other the Secretary of Internal Affairs knew about the debate occurring on the floor and she came over here, but we had already left. She sent me a letter in which she said, "I am sending this copy to you because I want to be sure that you are correctly informed as to the only comment I have ever made on this subject."

In the Pittsburgh Press of Sunday, November 11th, appeared an article headed, "Machinery Tax Foes Confirmed by State." At that time the Secretary of Internal Affairs, Miss Genevieve Blatt, wrote to the Editor of The Pittsburgh Press. This is a very lengthy letter, so I will just take the meat out of it.

She said, "It seems to me that the headline"—Machinery Tax Foes Confirmed by State—"is indeed contradicted by the sixth paragraph of the story which said that industrial development experts point out that 'the decline in the number of plants may be caused by a combination of various factors'."

The report also shows that in these five years over the State of Pennsylvania there were 1,268 industries which left the State.

In another paragraph she says, "It is to be expected, naturally, that the decrease noted above occurred in the industrialized areas. In this connection, the following increases or decreases occurred during the period 1951-

1955 in the twelve leading counties of the State ranked by value of production."

The next paragraph says, "The above table indicates that, of the twelve most industrialized counties in the state, decreases occurred in ten and increases occurred in only two. Only in Allegheny County, however, is the machinery tax imposed."

The next to final paragraph says, "On the basis of the above data, it seems clear to us that, while the machinery tax may be one of factors influencing the growth or failure of industry, its significance as a factor is neither proved nor disproved by the use of Department of Internal Affairs data."

I also have a photostatic copy from the Editor of The Pittsburgh Press to Miss Genevieve Blatt, under date of December 12, 1956, "Your letter was interesting and informative and covered points of which we were not aware. I know you realize that, usually, when we miss a beat in a story it is the head which gets us into trouble although in this case I don't imagine any harm was done."

Ladies and gentlemen, there was a lot of harm done.

He said, "If we could get copyreaders and headline writers of the same caliber"—this refers to the previous paragraph which says, "Eddie Beachler's text matter apparently was satisfactory to the Department of Internal Affairs. At least I hope so because he is touchy about details . . . an attribute."

Then the following paragraph says, "If we could get copyreaders and headline writers of the same caliber there would be little reason for inaccuracies at any time."

Mr. Speaker, I would like to have this data made a part of the permanent record of this House.

November 26, 1956.

Editor

Pittsburgh Press

Pittsburgh, Penna.

Dear Sir:

I was very pleased to see the prominent coverage which you gave to our Allegheny County industrial statistics release in an article by Mr. Edwin H. Beachler in your issue of November 11. I was somewhat disturbed, however, by the headline above the story which declared "Machinery Tax Foes Confirmed by State." It seems to me that the headline is indeed contradicted by the sixth paragraph of the story which said that industrial development experts point out that "the decline in the number of plants may be caused by a combination of various factors."

In order to provide a more complete background regarding the reason for the decline in the number of plants in Allegheny County as compared with the rest of the State, it occurred to me that you would find the following information of interest:

1. It might be noted, first of all, that the total number of reporting establishments in the entire state declined during the period between 1951 and 1955. In 1951 there were 20,638 establishments reporting, while in 1955 there were 19,370 establishments. It is interesting to note that the percentage decline state-wide (6.1%) is very close to the Allegheny County decline (7.6%). The slightly higher rate of decline in Allegheny County might reasonably be attributed to the greater amount of industrialization in Allegheny County.

2. It is to be expected, naturally, that the decrease noted above occurred in the industrialized areas. In this connection, the following increases or decreases occurred during the period 1951-1955 in the twelve leading counties of the State ranked by value of production.

1. Philadelphia	-548
2. Allegheny	-158
3. Delaware	+ 1
4. Beaver	- 12
5. Montgomery	+ 11
6. Erie	- 12
7. Westmoreland	- 53
8. York	- 37
9. Northampton	- 14
10. Berks	- 42
11. Lancaster	- 10
12. Bucks	- 8

The above table indicates that, of the twelve most industrialized counties in the state, decrease occurred in ten and increases occurred in only two. Only in Allegheny County, however, is the machinery tax imposed.

On the basis of the above data, it seems clear to us that, while the machinery tax may be one of the factors influencing the growth or failure of industry, its significance as a factor is neither proved nor disproved by the use of Department of Internal Affairs data.

We are currently analyzing our industrial statistical data with a view to throwing some light on the causes for the changes in the location of plants within Pennsylvania. As soon as these studies are completed, we will, of course, release this information to all newspapers.

Sincerely yours,

GENEVIEVE BLATT.

Dear Miss Blatt:

I hope you will pardon my delay in replying to your very considerate letter of November 26, but when it arrived I was up to my ears trying to prepare a budget for 1957. I am sure you know what that means.

Your letter was interesting and informative and covered points of which we were not aware. I know you realize that, usually, when we miss a beat in a story it is the head which gets us into trouble although in this case I don't imagine any harm was done.

Eddie Beachler's text matter apparently was satisfactory to the Department of Internal Affairs. At least I hope so because he is touchy about details . . . an attribute.

If we could get copyreaders and headline writers of the same caliber there would be little reason for inaccuracies at any time.

With your permission I will turn your letter over to Beachler for his information. Should it be necessary to call your attention to any story concerning your department at any time in the future, I hope you will not hesitate to do so.

Sincerely yours,

The Honorable John T. Walsh

Dear John:

I was told there was some debate in the House today regarding a comment I am supposed to have made about the machinery tax. As soon as I heard about the incident, I went over to the House with the original of the enclosed correspondence file, because I thought that this was probably the matter under discussion, but you had unfortunately left. I am sending this copy to you because I want to be sure that you are correctly informed as to the only comment I have ever made on this subject.

With best personal regards and every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. VAUGHAN.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 852, entitled:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code" approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 732) authorizing recorders of deeds to appoint solicitors.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, this bill was defeated a few weeks ago and the majority of the Members from Allegheny County on this side of the House are still opposed to it. We think the bill is unnecessary and will only add an additional expense to the taxpayers of Allegheny County.

We therefore ask the Members to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, in 52 counties out of 67 in the State of Pennsylvania the recorders of deeds have solicitors.

Another thing about the taxpayer angle of this bill, this is a fee office and, if the fee office does not collect the money to pay a solicitor, the solicitor will not be paid.

Therefore, I ask the Members of the House to give the County of Allegheny a solicitor for its recorder of deeds, the same as the other 52 counties have.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 13 of today's calendar, Amended House Bill Returned for Concurrence, House Bill No. 369.

The Senate message was read as follows:

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 369.

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" providing for the creation of capital reserve funds for capital expenditures

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 13, after the part word "pose" the following: unless consent is first obtained by a majority vote of the electorate of the city by the use of a special question as provided in the Pennsylvania election code and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "provided that it be used for capital expenditure other than the purpose or purposes specified at the time it was created if city council by a four-fifths vote shall declare that the original purpose or purposes have become impracticable inadvisable or impossible or that conditions have arisen in the city which make other capital expenditures more urgent than those for which the fund was created."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand these amendments the bill first sets up a trust fund for capital expenditures and capital improvements, and so forth. That is a trust fund which should be sacred. Any trust fund should be sacred. It has always been regarded so throughout the entire law. Then they provide if the purposes for which these funds have been set aside are no longer necessary or not deemed necessary by council, the council, without the vote of the electorate and without the vote of the people whose money has gone into this trust fund, can change the purpose for which this trust fund was created by a vote of council. This can be done without taking into consideration the desires or wishes of the people whatsoever, and the council can set up a new purpose for which this trust fund moneys can be used.

I say that is contradictory to all purposes for which trust funds are created.

I ask the House to vote down concurrence in these amendments until we can get them straightened out with the other body as to whether or not a better and more satisfactory provision can be written. These trust funds when they are created will be either used for the purpose for which they were originally intended or else they cannot be changed without the vote of the people whose money has gone into the trust fund, and not imply by a vote of council whose Members are only elected for four years and who may go out of office in a year or so after they make this vote and not have any responsibility whatsoever.

I feel this is very important, that these trust funds should be held inviolable and not changed at the whim of four or five public officials who only hold office for a term of four years.

I sincerely ask the Members of the House to vote down concurrence in these amendments, and to see if we can find a better solution than contained herein.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the procedure followed in the amendments placed in House Bill 369 by the Senate, as we passed the bill when it was a local government commission bill, was that we started in each of the codes to provide for a capital reserve fund. This particular fund was to be specified what it was to be used for. Had we stayed in the same position as the gentleman from Blair requested we do, then if the fund would be established and it would start to multiply to a figure that is needed to do a specific project, and if for some reason something happened that would change the complexion of the political subdivisions—and this bill deals with third class cities—and something else became more urgent and important, that fund could not be used for any other purpose than for which it was created.

I believe the Members of the council of a third class city who are elected by the people as being their official representatives to govern their city should have the right to first establish the fund as was given to boroughs, first-class townships and second-class townships. Then after they have established this fund, they would also have the right, as the legal representatives of the people they represent, to use the fund if something should become more urgent for the use of that money than for which it was originally established.

I believe this is good sound legislation. I believe the Members of this House should concur in the amendments placed in the bill by the Senate.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, for the edification of the Members of the House, the original bill as passed by this House, as I read it and understand it has a clause which states that the purpose of this trust fund would not be changed, "unless consent is first obtained by a majority vote of the electorate of the city by the use of a special question as provided in the Pennsylvania election code." Now it comes back from the other body and, as amended, those words are stricken out and these other amendments are then inserted wherein the council can change the purpose for which the trust funds are to be used.

I have no argument at all with the way the bill was originally written, but I certainly do have now. When you set up a trust fund and the money that goes into that trust fund, that trust fund is never changed in law without the settlor of the trust fund having the say-so over it. In this case the money belongs to the people. It does not belong to the city council, it belongs to the people. When the purpose for which that trust fund is created is going to be changed, I think the people who furnish the money for it should have the right to say for what purpose it should be used if it is not going to be used for the original purpose for which the trust fund was established.

For that reason I am asking the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I think there is just a little bit of confusion about the creation of this fund, in the first place.

This is not a trust fund, one authorized specifically by the voters. It does not provide for an additional tax. As I understand it, this allows the council to set aside some money which it is collecting now under the regular tax measures, to set certain amounts aside each year and keep them from year to year.

I believe heretofore council was unable to do that. If they had any unexpended balance from the year before, they had to appropriate it in the following year and they were not allowed to accumulate any funds. All this bill does is to allow them to accumulate a capital reserve. Now they are accumulating funds they could have spent themselves without a vote of the people, in the first place. They did not have to, and they do not have to create the reserve fund now if they do not want to. There is no sacred trust about the creation of this reserve fund. It is not a trust fund, it is merely a reserve fund, taken out of tax money already authorized by law and not by special taxation.

The Senate has amended it, and I think properly so, that if four-fifths of the council, who had the authority to spend the money in the first place, decide that some emergency has arisen, that the money can be better spent for another purpose, it seems to me it would be foolish to require council to wait until they can hold a special election and decide how that money should be spent. We are placing a restriction on this money now that was not there in the first place.

I believe the bill, as amended by the Senate, is a good bill now and we should concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, the part of this bill stricken out in the Senate were my amendments in the House. I am the one who inserted those amendments in this bill, and at that time I had quite a long discussion with the sponsors of the bill and they agreed they should go in it.

However, after it got to the Senate, the reason for striking this out—and I agreed with it, I was over with Senator Stevenson just the day before yesterday—was because you may have a fund of $1,000 or $1,500 and in order to put that before the electorate it may cost $2,000 to hold the election and that would certainly be a waste of taxpayers' moneys.

So I say to you, the people who are going to have control of this money are elected by the people of the district. If they did not have confidence in them to take care of their money, they would not have elected them in the first place.

I am the one who put the amendment in, and I am perfectly satisfied that the amendment is in. I think as it is now it is a good, healthy piece of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 726, entitled:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Election Code" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333) providing for the use of buildings outside of the election district for polling places in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wanted some clarification on certain portions of the bill. Mainly, as this bill reads, in the event a public building is not available in the election district in question, does this bill prevent the use of a private building in that election district?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, it does not.

Mr. FINEMAN. Second question. The bill refers to an alternative public building which may be used in an adjacent district. Do I understand "adjacent" to mean the next contiguous election district? Or can "adjacent" mean a district other than one that is contiguous?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, as the bill is drawn it reads as follows: "such other building is immediately adjacent to the boundary of the election district for which it is to be the polling place." In other words, the public building would have to be immediately adjacent, and the intention is that it would be right across the street which is the boundary line between two election districts.

In answer to the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker, I would say it would have to be in an election district which actually touches the election district for which it is to be the polling place.

Mr. FINEMAN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like permission to interrogate the sponsor, Mr. Lee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of this bill, or I thought I was, but when the gentleman said in his opinion, it does not prevent the County Board of Elections from designating a private building, does that mean there is room for doubt or that it is possible to construe this as prohibiting the use of a private building?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. I would call the gentleman's attention to the language in the section as it now exists in the law which states the county board of elections should use public buildings where possible and where practicable. It would be a question for the County Board to determine as to whether it is possible and practicable to use the public building. In the event it is not, they could use a private dwelling or store or some other enclosure for the purpose of voting.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, in the gentleman's opinion then it would not be necessary to insert language specifically permitting the county board of elections to permit polling places in private buildings?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. In my opinion, no.

Mr. McCORMACK. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, under the law presently existing, when a county policeman is injured or becomes confirm as the result of his occupation he is continued on full salary until the disability ceases.

We feel this is a great measure of protection to the members of this department who number approximately 90 men. We feel these amendments, which will reinstate the law as it presently exists, will give this protection and in addition to that, will give added benefits that the amendments, we feel, would remove from the men.

I refer specifically to the fact that the proposed bill would transfer the men to the position of building guards, security personnel. The security personnel of the court house, the county buildings, now existing in Allegheny County have already voted to do away with civil service benefits and to accept the social security program which has been offered to them.

If the policeman who is injured is given the position of building guard as this bill calls for, he would, in effect, be earning $54 per month more than the other building guards working for the county. We are afraid such a differential in pay would do great damage to the morals of the other security personnel of the various county buildings.

Our principal objection to the bill is that it removes from the salary board the function of fixing the wage scale for the employees. We are and have been advocates of home rule. As such, we feel that what these amendments will do, namely, the return of the fixing of salaries to the salary board, should be done.

I would like to, with the permission of the House, quote a pertinent paragraph from an editorial which appeared in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette on Saturday, May 5th, of this year. The editorial begins by discussing salary raises legislated by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania for local communities.

But far more important, why should the subject of municipal salaries be left up to the state Legislature? This is a purely local issue and it ought to be settled locally where the people have to raise the money to pay the salaries.

It refers to certain Members of the other body by name and states that they have nothing to do with municipal internal affairs in Pennsylvania and continues:

We can see no reason why they should determine the pay scale. If the Legislature really wants to do something constructive for the municipalities, it ought to put into motion machinery to afford them a far greater measure of home rule. Then the people who pay the piper could properly call the tune.

We feel that taking away from the salary board the function of setting the wage of certain building guards, which is what this bill would be, is a violation of the home rule doctrine. For that reason we offer these amendments and ask the House to adopt them and put back into practice the home rule doctrine which we advocate.

I would point out to the Members of the House, likewise, that the amendments offered by me do away with another objection we have to the bill, namely, the bill states that if no vacancy exists in the building guards, the security personnel of the county buildings, the commissioners must create a position for such a policeman who has been rendered infirm or unable to perform his duties.

As I pointed out in my opening remarks, if we adopt these amendments we will be continuing the law as it is now and that will insure to the policemen who are injured or become sick as a result of their duties their continuance on the payroll at full pay so long as this disability or infirmity continues.

Members of the House, that constitutes the essence of the reasons for these amendments and I, therefore, request your support in adopting them.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments.

My good friend and colleague from Allegheny County made a statement that if an officer or county policeman, of which there are only 90 on the Allegheny County police force, is hurt or incapacitated in line of duty they will keep him on full salary.

According to his amendments, they give the county commissioners the right to move this man inside and lower his salary. We say a man who is injured in line of duty should have the protection of having his salary maintained the same as an outside county policeman.

These amendments give them the right to move this man in if the man loses a leg in line of duty such as riding a motorcycle, or one of the ponies which they have down there, and gives them the right to cut the man's salary. I feel these amendments practically nullify the reasons behind putting this bill in.

They say if a man is injured they keep him on full salary, which is just what our bill does, and that is what we want. We want to make sure they do keep him on full salary. It is not his idea to go out and get into an accident, or get shot, or something, in line of duty.

We feel these amendments practically nullify our bill and I ask both sides of the House to vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On a rising vote, fifty-eight Members having voted in the affirmative and ninety-six in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question, recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be ready by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1518), page 2, line 9, by inserting after "duties" due

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, on page four of today's calendar I wish to call up House Bill 606 Printer's No. 436 which was temporarily passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 606, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public Assistance Law" approved June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2051) defining "resident" and further regulating eligibility for assistance.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, I have conferred with Mr. Auker on this bill, and he has been thoroughly satisfied the bill is O.K. However, I observed some other Members of the House had some misapprehensions about the bill. I would like to clear them up.

Essentially speaking this bill makes only one major amendment to the Public Assistance Law of 1937.

That major amendment is this. At the present time if you happen to be a resident of the state of Pennsylvania, and you leave Pennsylvania and establish domicile in some other state, if you then decide to come back to Pennsylvania, under present law you can only qualify as a resident for relief in Pennsylvania provided you have 12 months consecutive residency in Pennsylvania before you left Pennsylvania to go some place else.

Under this bill we now change the law so that if you left Pennsylvania and came back, you would only have to have some 12-month period of consecutive residency here during the five-year period immediately preceding your leaving the state.

In other words, you would have to have 12 months, say in the first year and a half or two or three years, 12-months consecutive period would be required within the five-year period before you left this state. That is the principal change in the bill.

The other changes which have been made are of a minor nature. As you know under the present law a wife, even if she is not living with her husband in Pennsylvania, but is a resident of Pennsylvania, can qualify for relief in Pennsylvania separately. This now adds another item with respect to married women. It only applies to that particular type of specific case.

Suppose a Pennsylvanian leaves Pennsylvania and establishes domicile say, in California. While he is there, he finds himself a job and perhaps a wife. After he has worked for a while he decides to return to Pennsylvania. His wife can then qualify in Pennsylvania under this amendment for relief, provided her husband has the necessary residency of 12 months in the last five years before he left Pennsylvania.

Then there is another slight amendment with respect to veterans, but this amendment with respect to veterans is nothing new. This amendment provides that when veterans who are residents of Pennsylvania enter the service, they would not be docked for the amount of time they spent in military service. When they come back from the service it will be counted just exactly as though as they had not been in the service.

The law states practically the same thing now, except we have taken that particular provision of the old law from Section 9 of the bill and transferred it to Section 2 of this bill. So there is really no change.

I think this is a very good bill. It will add very few people to the relief rolls in Pennsylvania. This bill is in every way legally correct and has been so checked with the Attorney General's Department.

I hope the Members of the House will see fit to vote for it.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Polaski.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Polaski, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLASKI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman definitely state whether or not these amendments contained in this bill of his will make it easier or more difficult for more people to be on relief?

Mr. POLASKI. The change will take place only with respect to a very few people. In fact the principal changes, as I explained, are with respect to the 12-months provision. All the other changes are minor and are now being practiced, either legally under the 1937 law or by formal opinion of the Attorney General.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, if this only applies to a very few cases, what is the purpose of the bill?

Mr. POLASKI. The main purpose, as I explained it, is to clarify the residency provision and to liberalize the residency provision to take out just a few of the injustices.

In other words the person who goes out of the state, is married, and comes back into Pennsylvania, and can qualify as a resident, we certainly do not want to deny his wife relief in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, regarding this provision of relief, if I understand the gentleman correctly—I would like to word the question another way.

Let us take the laws which exist today, and suppose a person leaves the state of Pennsylvania for 14 months and comes back. How long does he have to live here before he is eligible for relief?

Mr. POLASKI. If he has stayed 14 months outside the state under the present law, he has to have 12 consecutive months immediately before he left the state.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Under your bill, if he goes out of the state and stays 14 months, how long does he have to live here before he is eligible?

Mr. POLASKI. Exactly the same 12 months, except the 12 months can be in any part of the five-year period immediately before he left. That is all we are doing.

Mr. MOSCRIP. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 788, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) prohibiting engaging in the business of buying selling exchanging trading or otherwise dealing in new and used motor vehicles and trailers on Sunday.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not rise to oppose this bill. I have received much correspondence, as a matter of fact, on the bill and I have yet to read one piece of correspondence which was opposed to the bill.

However, there is some language in the bill which I think is objectionable and carries the bill beyond the scope of the intentions of the sponsors.

As I understand this bill, it was the intent of the sponsors to make it mandatory that all automobile dealers, principally, close on Sunday.

On page 2, of the bill, line 4, section 699.9, dealing with definitions, the bill states, "The term 'motor vehicle' as used in this section shall mean every self-propelled device in upon or by which any person or property is or may be transported or drawn on a public highway."

Under a strict reading of that definition it is conceivable that a store that deals in tricycles, in kiddies' wagons, in bicycles, will be obliged to close on Sunday because of the provisions of this bill. I know many stores in the city of Philadelphia deal in these items and do business on Sunday. Perhaps a competitor could take advantage of this bill and insist, and justifiably so if this bill were to become law, that the dealer who is open on Sunday close. I do not think it was the intention of the sponsors that that should be the law.

I think this bill should be held over and properly amended.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield to my learned colleague from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, yields to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, a layman should know better than to get caught between two lawyers, but I will give it a try.

I assure the gentleman there was no intention to cover the situation he speaks about. However, I am not a lawyer, but I do believe the word "self-propelled" does not apply to the situation he mentioned.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think this is a case of dealing in words. I think the very obvious meaning of "self-propelled device" is any device which is motivated by the effort of the person who is riding it or using it. If I were to ride a bicycle, certainly that bicycle, not being motor propelled could only go under my power. It would have to be self-propelled by my own effort, and I feel that the definition would cover a bicycle or tricycle, and if it is not—

I withdraw my objection, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman has withdrawn his objections, I do not desire to discuss it any further.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I request that this bill get on the road real fast, because I am sick and tired of the telephone calls and telegrams, I received all day yesterday. I think it is a good bill and should be passed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am not so sure I am in favor of this bill. If we can control and forbid the sale of automobiles on a Sunday, what is to forbid us from forbidding the sale of gasoline or gasoline stations operating on a Sunday? What is to forbid us from closing restaurants on a Sunday? What is to forbid us from keeping big trucks off the highways on Sunday—which I would be very much in favor of.

Are we going to open a Pandora's box by the passage of this bill?

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to belabor the House with a dissertation on this bill. I think it is a very good bill, but I want to make a brief statement which might clear the air from my viewpoint.

House Bill 788 is not intended to solve any religious or moral issue, but right a serious social problem. The automobile sales business is one of the few classes of business which by reason of questionable competition is forced to remain open on Sunday despite the overwhelming desire of both the employers and the employes to have one day a week of rest. Employes now are working both day and night and they must also work Sundays. There is no public need served and, in my opinion, the dealers will sell just as many automobiles in a six-day week.

I solicit your vote for this bill.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 968, Printer's No. 441
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1014, entitled:

An Act fixing the time for levying taxes and water rates and making appropriations in cities of the second class and imposing duties on the mayor council and heads of departments in such cities.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, once again the city of Pittsburgh is singled out and is being compelled to yield to the will of the majority party in this House.

House Bill 1014 sets July 1st of each year as the time by which the heads of various departments must submit to city council a complete and detailed statement or report of the appropriations required for the next ensuing calendar year.

House Bill 1014 shackles the city council to September 15th as the time by which it is mandatory for the city council to fix and levy all necessary taxes. The fiscal year, however, remains the same and starts on January 1st. I think it is unfair to place such an imposition on Pittsburgh alone. City council should have the fullest possible time to study the city's budget and levy the necessary taxes.

I am also of the opinion that House Bill 1014 is opposed to the home rule doctrine. For these reasons I ask the Members of the House to oppose House Bill 1014.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the idea for this bill came from a man who is now deceased. He was Douglas Naylor, the city hall reporter for the Pittsburgh Press. Mr. Naylor had observed how the councilmen of the city of Pittsburgh had failed to carry out, in a calm and orderly manner, the problems of finance in that city.

I would be very glad if the city councilmen of the city of Pittsburgh had sat down from time to time to study a $50 million budget. But the facts are these the budget for the city of Pittsburgh, in many instances, is submitted blindly to nine councilmen who have not given it complete study. It is submitted to them late in December, and the tax rate is fixed late in December. If that is the way to fix a budget, amounting to $50 million, that I say is bad government.

Another reason why we must have this bill in the city of Pittsburgh is because we judge the councilmen of Pittsburgh and the mayor, David L. Lawrence, not by their promises but by their performances, and I will tell you why:

In 1954 the councilmanic candidates and the mayoralty candidate of the city of Pittsburgh promised the taxpayers and the residents of that city right before the election we would no have a wage tax. Immediately after election, they passed a wage tax. I repeat, let us judge these gentlemen by their performances and not by their promises.

What is wrong with having a budget prepared on July 1st, and having the taxpayers and the public press examine it to see whether there is some unnecessary fat in it? And what is wrong with having the millage rates fixed by September 15th? Nothing. The city of Cincinnati, which is recognized as a model city, as well as many cities in the state of Ohio, have such legislation.

I want you to know this is not a political bill. If you can say it is a political bill—and as Mr. Kamyk, the gentleman from Allegheny, says, the majority is trying to shove something down the minority's throat—it is not a political bill because I have deliberately changed the effective date from September 1, 1957, to June 1, 1958. I do not wish this to be an issue in the coming mayoralty campaign. I want the next mayor of the city of Pittsburgh and the next councilmen of the city of Pittsburgh, whether they be Republicans or Democrats, to determine their tax rate and their budget in an orderly manner. This is good government. And this is home rule. If Mr. Kamyk is so worried about home rule, the Act which says you can establish your budget as of December 1st, which is only directory, is the Act of 1901 passed by this Legislature.

If you believe in good government, you will vote for this bill whether you are Republican or Democrat.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I sympathize with the woes of the gentleman from Allegheny. If the government out there is as bad as he suggests, if its methods are so sloppy, why does he not do his preaching out in Allegheny County, in Pittsburgh, and vote the rascals out?

Heavens knows, you cannot reform either Philadelphia or Pittsburgh in this forum. There has to be repentance, and good works is evidence of the repentance out in Pittsburgh, Allegheny County.

The gentleman from Allegheny is very, very effective in this forum. He is a tower of strength. He leads us in the way which Pittsburgh should go, but Pittsburgh never finds it out. He does not preach in the home theater. He converts us, but he does not do anything to convert those sloppy councilmen out in Pittsburgh.

I say, more power to him. Let him get his political tent and start his evangelistic campaign out there in Pittsburgh and get them governing themselves right, because we have tried to govern them here for the last 40 years. Heavens knows, they backslide, they elect wicked Democrats and they do all sorts of things out there. I long for the time when the gentleman from Pittsburgh will raise his moral standard and voice his indignation in the ears of the unrepentant out there in Pittsburgh.

I hope this bill falls, but I doubt it will. He is so potent here and so impotent at home.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I may be more potent at home than you think, because the people of my district, which is a Democratic district, notwithstanding the combined opposition of all the powers that be in the state of Pennsylvania, including the unsolicited aid of the former Speaker, Mr. Andrews, were unable to defeat me in 1956.

I do not say this by way of braggadocio. I say it because the people of my district were interested in a man who was independent and who tried to do the right thing.

I am not trying to be a leader far ahead of everybody else, but I can recall in the history of this House, so they tell me, that Mr. Andrews was a one-man party who conducted his caucus in a telephone booth. I am proud that the Democratic party caught up with him and realized that some of the things he stood for were the right things.

All I want you to do is to catch up with me. I am not interested in trying to defeat somebody for city council.

I am not interested in trying to gain political advantage for the Republican or Democratic parties. I am a Republican, do not misunderstand that. My record here shows in most degrees I am not perfect, yet I try to protect the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh.

I say this is good legislation and I say it was well thought out. It was originated by a man who knew city hall and who was not a politician. Let us give the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh a break and forget about the politicians in Harrisburg.

Mr. ANDREWS. I must say to the gentleman from Allegheny, "Almost dost thou convince me." So, Mr. Speaker, I am almost ready to accept him as my candidate for Mayor out in Pittsburgh and get the mess cleaned up, so clean that as Mayor of Pittsburgh he would never have to come here and ask us to struggle with these Pittsburgh problems.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1025, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the second paragraph of section 5 of the act approved April 29, 1874 (P L 73) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" providing for action of directors in witing and without meeting and for an executive committee of the board of directors.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRISTI. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if I am right in assuming that this bill would permit the board of directors to conduct the business of a corporation by passing notes between themselves?

Mr. BOWMAN. This bill would permit the board of directors to take any corporate action at the board level by unanimous written consent of the board even though they are not in session.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I was not sure I was right in my assumption, but the sponsor of the bill confirms my thought. I want to register my opposition to this particular type of bill.

In other words, what we are permitting to be done is that the board of directors conduct its business by never talking to each other, but by having some messenger bring a bill or some particular thing around and say, "Joe is for this. How about you signing it," and not actually discussing it between themselves.

My experience over a period of years has convinced me that many times we think something is right simply by reading it, but when we have an opportunity of sitting down and discussing it among ourselves we finally come up with a different conclusion.

I believe it is inherently wrong to elect a board of directors and then permit them to do business without going into executive session.

We have just recently been investigating a certain body in the capitol. Among the things we discovered was that they used the round robin method of doing business. I believe the Committee felt at that particular time it was wrong because they did not have a chance to discuss among themselves the various questions involved.

Here we are starting a practice which will lead to loose management of corporate business. It will eliminate discussion among members of boards of directors.

I believe we should throw every safeguard we can around the investors, around the stockholders, of corporations. I believe it would be bad business to permit a law like this to pass in this House.

There is also another provision in the bill, which we discussed here in connection with another corporation bill possibly a week or so ago, and that was the delegation of the power by the board of directors to an executive committee.

I am wondering whether this bill would not permit the delegation to an executive committee by just simply writing a letter, the board of directors sitting down and writing a letter, saying, "I am for Joe. Are you for Joe? Any other fellows for Joe?" We could even appoint this executive committee—which I question the advisability of—by the round robin method.

I do not believe it is good business to run our corporations in that fashion. Therefore, I am opposed to this bill. I request that you sincerely consider your vote when it comes time to vote on this particular legislation.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, on the first point, that Mr. Lopresti speaks of, the question of carrying on board action by round robin methods, that same provision is found in the business corporation law which this Legislature passed.

This bill is designed to give the same powers to corporations operating under the Act of 1874 as are presently enjoyed by corporations incorporated under the business corporation law.

We are asking for nothing more under this bill than the same rights, powers and privileges enjoyed by corporations incorporated under the business corporation law.

Last week enough was said with respect to executive committee of boards of directors. I do not think I want to belabor that point. I do not agree with the gentleman. There are no sinister motives, there is no sinister purpose, behind the executive committee action and I do not think his fears are well-founded.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman again, if I may?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I desire that the gentleman explain to us the difference between corporations organized under the Act of 1874 and those under our general corporation law?

Mr. BOWMAN. Corporations which are presently operating under the Act of 1874 consist of utility companies, which are not incorporated under any special act of the General Assembly.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to carry my argument on just a little bit further.

Where we are dealing with a private business concern of perhaps only two or three stockholders, maybe four, maybe a family corporation, we can permit things to be done in a little different way than when we are dealing with a corporation organized under the public utility laws.

A public utility is one in which the public has an interest. The rights of the public utility are fixed by the Public Utility Commission. The proper management of the company, the costs, all of those things are taken into consideration in the fixing of the rates.

The utility corporations should be controlled. Their management should be above reproach, it should be as close to perfect as it is possible to get, because if you get mismanagement, if you get poor management in a public utility corporation, it will eventually be reflected in increased rates to the public. We do have a little different situation.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman misunderstands the distinction between the rights of the public and the rights of shareholders. The rights of the public in a public utility corporation are amply and fully protected by the public utility laws. The rights of a shareholder in a public utility corporation are affected by the powers and duties imposed and conferred upon the Board of Directors by the Act of 1874.

I do not see any distinction between the rights of shareholders of public utility corporations and the rights of shareholders of business corporations.

Therefore, I do not think the gentleman's statement that there is any public interest in this bill is sound.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I think we had better have our interrogation continue for a little while so that we understand each other more clearly.

I therefore ask to interrogate the gentleman once again.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Will the gentleman tell us what the basis for rates is in the public utility law?

Mr. BOWMAN. The basis for rates?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Yes?

Mr. BOWMAN. The basis for rates under the public utility law, if I remember correctly, is to obtain a reasonable return upon the service being offered and the investment of the corporation.

Mr. LOPRESTI. In figuring the return, does not the cost factor enter into the amount of profit that would be left in the return to that corporation?

Mr. BOWMAN. The cost factor, yes. All the expenses of the corporation obviously enter into the determination of the rate of structure, yes.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Yes, that is correct.

Now if the corporation is mismanaged and the costs increase, is not that a factor to be considered in the establishment of the rate?

Mr. BOWMAN. That can be considered separately and apart from the internal handling of the corporation and is determined separately by the Public Utility Commission.

It does not necessarily depend upon mismanagement if the Public Utility Commission considers it mismanaged in the sense of too high salaries. The Commission can take those factors into consideration in determining the rates.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mismanagement in the way of too high salaries? We are talking about many, many things this board of directors can do. Is it not possible that the rates of a particular company would be increased because of increased costs in that company, particularly caused by neglect of the directors in not attending to their affairs in the proper manner.

Mr. BOWMAN. No, I do not agree with that statement.

Mr. LOPRESTI. The gentleman does not agree.

Mr. BOWMAN. No sir.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I did not think we could get agreement on that point. However, I am quite satisfied, when the cost factor enters into the making of rates, that management of the corporation, if it is good, would reflect a lower cost and hence a lower rate; if it is bad, it will reflect a higher cost and also reflect an increase in rates.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire as to the purpose of this bill, delegating the power of the board of directors to two members.

Mr. BOWMAN. The purpose of the bill, as I explained last week as to the purpose of the other bill on the same subject matter, is to facilitate the handling of minor affairs of the corporation which are normally and under present law obliged to be handled at the board level by the board of directors acting in a body in regular sessions.

There are many, many activities of the board of directors which do not require consideration or debate and these matters are the type of matters which this executive committee is to handle in the absence of the board of directors sitting as a body.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it is not true that besides taking care of minor matters, the executive committee could also take care of major matters?

Mr. BOWMAN. It is true that they could, but I do not think it is true that they would.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. What would lead the gentleman to that opinion after reading the way this bill is drawn?

Mr. BOWMAN. Good management of corporations leads me to that opinion.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is his intention to put the same type of amendments in our general business corporation law?

Mr. BOWMAN. For the information of the gentleman, the present business corporation law already has those provisions in it.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I am referring to the provision which permits the board of directors by resolution to delegate its powers to a committee of two.

Mr. BOWMAN. If the Member will indulge me, I will give him the exact citation of the Act which already provides for that. It is so provided in the Business Corporation Law of 1933 at the present time.

It is 15 Purdon's Statutes 2852. 402 (6) that provides for an executive committee of business corporations.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. How many members of the board are required or provided for the corporations incorporated under this Act of 1874?

Mr. BOWMAN. Five or more.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I thank the gentleman.

Shall the bill pass finally?

STUDENTS OF LANSFORD HIGH SCHOOL, CARBON COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to present to you, and through you to my colleagues of the Senate, fifty-one students of the freshman class of the Lansford High School, Lansford, Carbon County. These students are under the guidance of faculty members, Mr. William Richards, Mrs. Sara Thomas, Miss Ida Wynn and Miss Emma Scott, who, incidentally, is my sister.

The PRESIDENT. Will this group please rise?

The Chair, on behalf of all the Members of the Senate, welcome this group here this afternoon. We hope you enjoy your stay with us and can visit us at a future date.

STUDENTS OF JEFFERSON SCHOOL, ALLENTOWN, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President I have the pleasure to present to the Senate of Pennsylvania today a very fine group of about one hundred students from the sixth grade of the Jefferson School, in the great city of Allentown, Pennsylvania. They are accompanied by their teachers Earl Fenstermacher, Mrs. Thomas and Miss Egizio.

The PRESIDENT. Will this group please rise?

The Chair joins with Senator Van Sant, and the other Senators, in welcoming this fine group here this afternoon. We hope that you enjoy your visit with us.

STATE SENATOR FRANK E. SHIPLEY, MARYLAND STATE LEGISLATURE,
PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. We are honored today by a visit of a Member of the Senate from the State of Maryland. It is my privilege to present to you now State Senator Frank E. Shipley, of Howard County, State of Maryland.

REMARKS OF STATE SENATOR FRANK E. SHIPLEY

Mr. SHIPLEY. Mr. President, and distinguished Senators of the State of Pennsylvania, I want to thank your President for the great courtesy he has extended to me by introducing me to this very distinguished Body.

I bring you greetings from the Senate of Maryland. We ended our Session, I am pleased to relate, on the first day of April. Of course, since the first day of April, we have been getting the repercussions, but that is as we expected.

I want to congratulate you on the beautiful Senate Chamber that you have. This is the first time I have had the privilege of being in this Chamber. I see you have quite a bit larger Senate than we have in Maryland. In Maryland, we have twenty-nine Senators. There are twenty-three counties in Maryland and Baltimore City is divided into six Districts. We have one Senator from each county in Maryland and one from each of the six Districts in Baltimore City.

It so happens that our Maryland Senate is composed of twenty-one Democrats and eight Republicans. I could not help but notice that I did not get unanimous applause on that. That is fine. Down in Maryland, we work together very harmoniously and very congenially. Of course, every now and then those eight Republicans try to pull something on the Democrats but, of course, the Democrats would not try to pull anything on the Republicans because they know better.

Mr. President, again I want to thank you, bring you greetings from the Senate of Maryland and give you a very, very cordial invitation if any of you perchance, or by intention either, happen to be in Annapolis when the Maryland Legislature is in Session, the President of the Senate of Maryland will be very, very happy to extend a similar courtesy to you and make you most welcome. Thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair might say that the Senator is also a member of the medical profession. He told me he is the only doctor in the Senate of Maryland, while we have several Senators here who hold the title of doctor.

The Chair might say to you, Senator Shipley, that we are more evenly divided here. There are twenty-seven Republicans—I hate to say this—and twenty-three Democrats.

We are very glad to have you and it is an honor that you came to speak to us this afternoon.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce that the President pro tempore of the Senate has designated the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, to preside in his place at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, yesterday, under Petitions and Remonstrances, I made a brief statement in regard to my meeting with five hospital administrators from my county of Washington. At that time, they informed me that over twenty-five per cent of their beds in the general hospitals were occupied by aged persons who are not indigents. They are persons who could pay their way. Unfortunately, they are persons who cannot be helped by additional medication in the general hospitals.

It was the consensus of opinion of the hospital administrators that this was a State responsibility and that something must be done to alleviate this condition. It was anticipated that within the next five or six years, if the record holds true to form, thirty-five to forty per cent of the hospital beds will be occupied by aged individuals who cannot fully recover as far as their health is concerned.

Therefore, Mr. President, after discussing the matter with various Members of the Senate, we felt this should be a job for the Joint State Government Commission.

The miracles of modern medicine have prolonged the life of our people and, in a great number of cases, social security has provided them with an adequate income. However, they must be rehabilitated and they must be given something to do. If they just lie in hospitals, they will waste away. I think this is a very humane resolution and I hope the Senate will adopt it.

Accordingly, I am presenting this resolution on behalf of Senator Ruth, Senator Mahany, Senator Derk, Senator Barr, Senator Yosko and myself.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY VARIOUS METHODS OF BEST SOLVING THE PROBLEMS OF THE AGED

Messrs. LANE, RUTH, MAHANY, DERK, BARR and YOSKO offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 15, 1957.

The wonders of modern medical science have done much to increase the longevity of human life. Federal social security benefits and pension and retirement benefits paid by private industry, provide many elderly persons with a means of support. These benefits do not, however, provide a means of occupying time or employing various skills to the elderly persons who have benefited from the medical achievement and humane pension laws.

It is a matter of record that approximately twenty-five per cent of the space in hospitals is occupied by persons over sixty years of age. Most of these aged persons do not need constant medical care. Occasional medical care, coupled with housing facilities and activities which will promote interest and intermingling with others is all that is required for these aged persons. If these necessities are provided, much expensive hospital space can be saved for those with serious illness.

It is the duty of the State to provide the least expensive solution to the problems of its citizens which will best suit their needs; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate various methods of best solving the problems of the aged, with a view towards setting up centers at which aged persons can be provided with care, housing and various recreational facilities which will be paid for largely by those who benefit from them; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly, its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate for one hour for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus and a Democratic Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate for one hour.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 630, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571) entitled as amended "The Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law" extending the time for the establishment of a uniform permanent records system in each county and providing for the enforcement of the provisions of the act.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, this is the bill which would extend the time for re-assessment, as I understand it, in the counties of the fourth class to the eighth class. Apparently, the purpose of this bill is to extend the time to give the county commissioners additional time to study the bill. If you are studying to learn, it is one thing. However, if you are just studying to delay, it seems to me it is another thing.

The counties have had six years in order to comply with this law I recall rather distinctly, I think it was two years ago, when a number of Senators told me that if we extended it one time, it would be the last time an extension would be requested. Now we have this proposal, again requesting an extension to January 1, 1959, I believe, which will just be, perhaps, two weeks before the General Assembly is in Session again.

Of course, most of the counties in the State have met the provisions or have started to meet the provisions of this law. However, there are some six or eight counties which have made no attempt to do so. They wait each year for the meeting of the General Assembly in order to have this re-assessing postponed. If we continue to postpone it, it seems to me we are just encouraging a kind of delinquency on the part of certain county commissioners within the Commonwealth.

The effect this is having on the cost of government in the counties that refuse to do their re-assessment is rather hard to understand. In some counties of the State, it is necessary for school districts to pay as high as five per cent on their bonds to borrow money because the assessments in the counties are so low.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am urging all my colleagues to vote against the extension at this time. To extend the time may seem like the wise thing to do now, but in 1997 we will not be here when these forty-year-old bonds are expiring, and our children and our children's children will not thank us for saddling them with the interest costs which are being created because county commissioners are failing to meet the requirements of the re-assessment law.

I, therefore, Mr. President, urge my colleagues to vote in opposition to this extension.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I will be brief and to the point. I wish to advise my distinguished colleague that we in Washington County, are not delinquent county commissioners. I might also say, for the information of the Members gathered here today, that twenty-six or twenty-eight counties in Pennsylvania, in the category of the fourth to the eighth class, are trying to do a job on re-assessing their entire counties. However, I believe that the ordinary individual does not realize the magnitude of the problem which they have before them.

In our county of Washington, we have been working on this since its inception. As a matter of fact, I was one of the members of a committee of ten who drew up the rules and regulations. Frankly, I will say that we cannot finish until sometime next year. In the original bill, I requested a two-year extension, but the Local Government Committee decided to make it one year. We will finish the job in one year.

From my contacts throughout the State, I feel there might be a few counties that are not trying to comply with the law. However, in most cases, the county commissioners are trying to comply with the law. When you get into assessing every lot, every building in every city, every borough and every township in a county, sometimes it amounts to 90,000 or 95,000 graphotype plates. That would mean each property must be appraised and assessed. On top of that, we passed legislation at this Session to provide for one year of hearings on the appeals from property owners on the actual valuation which might be put on by the appraisers. Therefore, it seems to me it is only fair, where the Legislature has forced upon the counties such a tremendous job, that they be given the time to complete it.

I did suggest an extension of two years, Mr. President, but the committee saw fit to cut it to one year, and I will go along with that. However, we need this legislation in order to protect our assessments and have the work completed properly and in the proper manner.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge all my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Hays. Everytime we have a Session of the Legislature there is an extension of time granted to the counties which are delinquent and the counties which just ignore the law. However Mr. President, in view of the situation that Senator Lane explained to us in Caucus, I think what we should do, as a compromise, is put this bill over in order and amend it to extend the time possibly just six or nine months. If we do that, the Legislature will not be in Session when the time for the commissioners to act expires.

Under the present bill, they would have until, I believe, January 1, 1959. The Legislature will meet a couple of days after that and those county commissioners who do not want to comply with the law, and want to continue to ignore the law, will just assume, as they have in the past, that when the Legislature convenes, it will take care of them again by giving another postponement.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. YOSKO. Therefore, Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that this bill go over in its order, on final passage. In that way, it will give us a chance to prepare amendments to lessen the time of the extension which is requested to either six or nine months.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that Senator Lane, who is also a county commissioner, knows the extent to which these systems have been put in force by the counties in the State of Pennsylvania. I feel that he also understands the necessity for a further postponement of these re-assessments in order to help other counties which have not as yet had an opportunity to establishing this system.

I do not think there is anything to be gained by voting this bill down or even by amending it so that the time would expire prior to the start of the next Session of the Legislature.

Senator Lane knows the situation as it exists among the counties. He attends the county commissioner's conventions. He also keeps informed on the needs of the counties, and I am sure he would not introduce this legislation unless it were necessary.

On this side, Mr. President, we feel that if some counties need further time to establish this system, we should give it to them. For the most part, the Republicans are ready to vote "aye" on this legislation.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, we spend a lot of time in talking about a lot of bills. We have one before us today which really deserves some consideration. I am interested in it because I am one who, as everyone present knows is very much interested in the schools of Pennsylvania.

Two years ago, I had the same experience as Senator Hays. Against my better judgment, I was persuaded to vote for a similar extension bill on the grounds of the expression then, "If you will just give us two more years, we will finish the job." It reminds me of the story of the boy who cried, "Wolf, wolf," and he continued to do it until nobody believed him. I think that is the situation we are in today.

Since that time, I have been present in many groups as panelist and as speaker, at which there were question and answer periods. Inevitably, the question that is asked of me in P.T.A. groups, in groups of school directors, in teachers' groups, is this, "Are you going to extend that time another two years?" The people of the Commonwealth have their eyes on this bill. The people who are interested in good schools and the people who are interested, let me say, in home rule, are interested in this bill. This bill goes right to the heart of the question of home rule. If you are not going to give local governments adequate taxing powers, adequate borrowing powers, then you cannot expect them to exert the functions of government in a manner that we can call home rule. They are going to continue to have to come to the Legislature and ask us for more money. It was my impression that the Legislators were pretty well convinced that a stop had to be made to this; that we had to get to the point where we gave local taxing authorities sufficient ability to raise money to take care of their own needs. However, now I find some of the same people, whom I have heard preach that argument taking the position that here again we should give another extension on this. At the next Session, we know what the story will be if we grant this extension. They will ask us for another extension, and this becomes a laughing stock as far as the Commonwealth is concerned.

The counties and the local taxing powers are convinced that all they need to do is to procrastinate and the Legislature will take care of them again. It has been said that this is only for one year. I ask everyone to look carefully at that figure. This bill would extend the time until 1959 and the Legislature convenes in 1959. The day after this bill goes into effect, Senate Bill No. 1 will be put in by some Member which will provide another extension, and so the story goes.

Mr. President, I believe we should look at these facts. In the first place, I think you should know that all except twenty-six counties, according to my figures have completed this job. All except eight counties have started this job. What does that mean? We are told that in one county they have tried their best; they started at the very beginning and tried their best to finish. It is hard for me to believe that, Mr. President. It is hard for me to believe that all these other counties have been able to get on the job. I know of one county, about which I am familiar, where they only started this job.

two years ago and they will finish in time. If that is true, then why is it that all these other counties who say that, in good faith, they have been working on the problem and cannot finish it, when comparable counties have been able to do the job in good time and some of them have had it in effect for some time? What is the matter with these eight counties that have not even started? The answer is, of course, that they are simply waiting for another extension.

I would say, Mr. President, from my own information, it is safe to predict that of these twenty-six counties which are alleged to have begun and have not finished, a sufficient number of them will be found to have simply gone through the motions of having begun in order for them to say to their electorate and to this Legislature, "We have begun, but we cannot finish." Actually, they have begun in the same way as when you put your toe in the water and let that go instead of a swim. They have not really made an effort to begin and, certainly, have not made an effort to finish.

I think it is important, Mr. President. I do not think this is a matter that we should push off easily. I think every advocate of home rule, and all the people who are interested in good schools, are watching this legislation. I, for one, do not want to be a party to putting off again this date in order for us to procrastinate for another two years. I want to be counted as being in favor of giving school districts, townships, boroughs, cities and all sorts of local municipalities the taxing power which they need to carry on adequate government without coming to Harrisburg and asking for further handouts. I want to give the school districts the additional borrowing power they need in order for them to finance their schools in the most economical way so they will not need to come to Harrisburg and ask for handouts or will not need to go through the authority method, which is going to cost them considerably more money.

This is important and it is the kind of legislation which I think every Member should think over carefully. Every Member should search his own conscience and should think about the affect of this upon the principles he stands for as far as home rule and local government are concerned. Every Member, I think, should vote on this matter according to principle and not vote on it as a matter of convenience to some people who have procrastinated but, rather, vote on this matter as it affects the welfare of local government all over this Commonwealth.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I will not object to the bill going over if the sponsor of the bill wants it to go over. I merely stated that we, on this side of the aisle, were in favor of voting for the bill. I think the sponsor can count on a majority of the Senators on this side of the aisle to vote in favor of this legislation. However, the decision is up to the sponsor. If he wants the bill to go over, I have no objection.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not want the bill to go over. Let us vote on it now. I would rather vote on it right today and see how we vote. I am for the bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I know that you and the gentlemen of the Senate will agree with me when I say it is always a distinct pleasure to have school groups, on any day and from any part of the Commonwealth, come and visit us.

It seems to me that over a great many years this Session highlights the number of school visitors that have visited the Legislature. I have a very distinct pleasure this afternoon in calling to the attention of the Chair the presence in the gallery of the junior class of one of our very excellent high schools in Schuylkill County. We have the Junior Class of Schuylkill Haven High School, under the direction of Miss Harriet Hoy, their class adviser, and Mr. Paul E. Hartranft, the high school principal.

Senate Bill No. 564, Printer's No. 192; and

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 659, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for the abolition of the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 3 of the title, by inserting after "Affairs": "and the appointment of the State Treasurer"; Amend Section 1 (Section 8), page 2, line 9, by inserting after "Commonwealth": "a State Treasurer";

Amend Section 1 (Section 8), page 2, line 17, by striking out "State Treasurer";

Amend Section 1 (Section 21), page 4, line 4, by striking out "terms" and inserting: "term";

Amend Section 1 (Section 21), page 4, lines 4 and 5, by striking out "and the State" in line 4 and "Treasurer" in line 5;

Amend Section 1 (Section 21), page 4, line 5, by striking out "each";

Amend Section 1 (Section 21), page 4, line 5, by striking out "they" and inserting: "he";

Amend Section 1 (Section 21), page 4, line 8, by striking out "or State Treasurer";

Amend Section 1 (Section 21), page 4, line 9, by striking out "same".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have often heard that the way to kill off a bill is to kiss it to death. It looks to me as though that is what Senator Miller is trying to do with his legislation. Certainly, the Office of State Treasurer bears no relation to the Office of Secretary of Internal Affairs. I think this legislation, Senate Bill No. 659, should rise or fall on whether or not we feel that the people should vote on the question of whether or not the Office of Secretary of Internal Affairs should be abolished.

If the Senator feels that also the Office of State Treasurer should be abolished, then I think he should introduce a separate bill for that purpose. I do not believe this type of amendment is in good order. I would like to argue the bill on the way it was originally introduced and not the amendment. I do not care about debating whether or not the Office of State Treasurer should be abolished. I believe it is obvious that we certainly do need an elected State Treasurer. We certainly are not for abolishing that office.

Therefore, Mr. President, I oppose the amendments offered, and ask my colleagues to vote "no."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RE-REFERR BILL

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think this particular bill needs a great deal more study, especially since the subject has been studied at length by the Chesterman Committee, by the Reorganization Commission of this Governor and they come up with different answers

Therefore, I suggest to the Senate that we should study it a little more thoroughly, and with that in mind, I move that Senate Bill No. 659 be re-referred to the Committee on State Government for further study and possible action in the far distant future.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Did the Chair understand the motion correctly? Does the gentleman mean the Committee on State Government or Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations?

Mr. DENT. The Committee on Constitutional Changes might be even deeper.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if the gentleman will yield, I wanted an opportunity to interrogate Senator Miller about this. I have been asking for Senator Miller for many days now, and he has finally shown up. He seems to have an advocate over there in Senator Dent, who wants to shield him from me for some reason or other.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I yield to Senator Miller.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Miller, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Miller, is this your work, the sponsorship of this bill and the idea of abolishing the Secretary of Internal Affairs? Did you have the aid of Senator Hays and Senator Derk in relation to this subject?

Mr. MILLER. Senator Mahany, it was principally my idea. I asked these two gentlemen to go along with me, which they did. That was about a month or so ago I think since then they have had a little change of heart.

As far as this amendment is concerned, it is one that was sent over from the Governor's Office.

Mr. MAHANY. The Governor wants the Office of Secretary of Internal Affairs abolished?

Mr. MILLER. I think that would fit in with the recommendations which were made only a couple of months ago. Senator George Wade was a member of the committee which made a study on governmental reorganization, and I think all of us received one of these books not too long ago, with a request for an appropriation to the Internal Affairs Department of $2,600,000. I think a lot of these functions could be transferred and cut down considerably and thereby, save the taxpayers of this State a great deal of money.

Mr. MAHANY. You, therefore, feel that a lot of the work that Miss Blatt is doing is needless and is a waste of the taxpayers' money. Is that what I understand you to mean? Is that true?

Mr. MILLER. The coach here said to say, that "you said that."

Mr. MAHANY. That is what I understood you to say; that to cut down this big appropriation, that Office should be abolished which would be in line with the Chesterman Committee Report. Did the Chesterman Committee not recommend that this Department be abolished?

Mr. MILLER. Yes, that was four years ago I think. We voted here in the Senate on that.

I did not say that Miss Blatt is not doing a good job. I have no quarrel with Miss Blatt at all. When Bill Livengood was holding that position, I tried to be friendly with him and cooperated with him and vice versa many times, and I have no argument or quarrel with Miss Blatt.

Mr. MAHANY. Well, I understood you to say she was spending too much money and a lot of the things they were doing over there could be eliminated. Did you not say that just a minute ago?

Mr. MILLER. Senator, I think this has been kicked around for many years. I think Republicans and Democrats alike have, at different times, stated that we could cut out or transfer the duties of that department somewhere else.

Mr. MAHANY. The Chesterman Committee did make this recommendation? This was one of their many recommendations, that this Department be abolished, is that not true?

Mr. MILLER. Yes, that is correct.

Mr. MAHANY. When we had the Chesterman bills before us, one of the bills provided for the abolition of this Office back in the 1953 Session. You no doubt voted in favor of that bill, did you not?

Mr. MILLER. No, at that time I voted not to abolish the Department. That was four years ago.

Mr. MAHANY. Do you remember how Senator Leader voted? Did he vote for that? He voted for most of the Chesterman bills.

Mr. MILLER. I believe he voted for most of the Chesterman bills.

Mr. MAHANY. He campaigned over the State to put these Chesterman Committee recommendations into effect and thereby save about $100,000,000. Is that not true?

Mr. MILLER. I believe to a great extent that is true.

Mr. MAHANY. You were so convinced that he was right, and the Republicans were wrong, that you saw fit to change your registration and go on the other side of the aisle there, to get this Chesterman Committee Report adopted into law. Is that not true?

Mr. MILLER. Not necessarily.

Mr. MAHANY. You are still in favor of this legislation, is that right?

Mr. MILLER. That is right.

Mr. MAHANY. You would like to see it enacted?

Mr. MILLER. That is right.

Mr. MAHANY. Do you have many of your Democratic colleagues over there who will vote for this legislation? Have you been able to convince them that your position is right?

Mr. MILLER. I do not know how many will go along.

Mr. MAHANY. You still have got your two sponsors, Senator Derk and Senator Hays. Are they still with you?

Mr. MILLER. They are.

Mr. MAHANY. That is all the interrogation I have at this time, Senator.

Mr. President, I feel that this is one of the Chesterman Committee Report recommendations and I would like to vote now in favor of one of them. Senator Leader certainly proved to the people of Pennsylvania that we were wrong in turning those recommendations down, so now I have an opportunity of having another ride on the merry-go-round and this time I am going to try to pick up the brass ring and vote in favor of this bill.

Senator, Dent, please allow me to vote in favor of this legislation today and do not put it back into committee. I object to its return to committee. I want to vote in favor of it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Wade, were you a member of the Commission on Governmental Reorganization for the Commonwealth?

Mr. WADE. I was.

Mr. BARR. Did you sign this report?

Mr. WADE. No, unfortunately none of us signed the report. I beg your pardon; only the Chairman, General Biddle signed the report.

Mr. BARR. Do you agree, generally, with the substance?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if the gentleman is referring to the particular recommendation which was before the committee regarding the Department of Internal Affairs, I shall be glad, upon request, to read a portion of it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have it in front of me.

How did you vote, Senator Wade, on this amendment a few moments ago which Senator Miller offered?

Mr. WADE. I voted "no" on the amendment.

Mr. BARR. However, in the report, you asked to discontinue the separate electoral office of the Department of the Treasury. Is that right?

Mr. WADE. No, that is not correct. The recommendation which the committee was considering was to: "Discontinue the separate elective status of the Secretary of Internal Affairs and provide for the appointment of this officer by the Governor."

Mr. BARR. Secondly, it says, to: "Eliminate the independent office of State Treasurer and merge the functions of that office and those of the Department of Revenue in a Department of the Treasury, under the Governor." Is that right? It appears on the top of the same page from which you just read.

Mr. WADE. I presume the gentleman is reading from the same report that I have, although there are several issues of it. However, I do not believe this is the issue before us now, since the amendment has been defeated.

Mr. BARR. Is your face as red as Senator Miller's?

Mr. WADE. I am sure I could not answer that. I have no mirror with me, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. I guess it is just from playing golf, Senator Wade.

Mr. President, if you are going to be consistent, his amendment is perfectly proper. This committee on governmental reorganization also had as members Albert Johnson, who is the Majority Leader in the House; Albert Readinger, the Minority Leader; Mr. Wueller, of the Joint State Government Commission; and Miss Blatt, herself.

Therefore, Mr. President, if it is good for the goose, it is good for the gander. I do not think you can vote against the Treasury amendment and in favor of the Internal Affairs bill. I do not think you can be that inconsistent.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, when the Chesterman Committee recommendations came before the Senate, I voted for the recommendation to abolish the Office of Secretary of Internal Affairs. I am going to vote against this bill today and I want to explain why.

I believe everybody in this Senate will agree that since Miss Blatt has taken over that office, there has been a great improvement in it. She has been rendering the people of this Commonwealth a great public service. I have received, and I am sure most of the Members of this Senate received, some of the finest statistical reports that were ever issued by that office or any other office in this Commonwealth. Miss Blatt has made the office a useful office and, above all, she works at the job. You can find her at her desk most any time of the day.

Mr. President, this was not true under Mr. Livengood. It was a broken-down, dilapidated, neglected office and was not serving a useful purpose. Even the employees who are in that department now, many of whom are holdovers who have been retained, will tell you that story. As long as the office is being operated efficiently and as long as it is performing an efficient public service, I think it would be a mistake to abolish it.

For the reasons stated, Mr. President, I intend to vote against this proposal.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I agree with a great deal of what Senator Yosko has just stated. However, I think that two and one-half million dollars is a great deal of money for the functions which the Department of Internal Affairs is taking care of.

It is true that Miss Blatt is working hard. You see her here everyday and she is doing a fine job. However, I still feel that for years the Democrats were against this proposal. Senator Holland, I think, had this as one of his pet bills. Just because we have a Democrat in office, I do not think some of the Democrats should now take the position that they hate to vote against the person who is holding that position.

Mr. President, this bill calls for a constitutional amendment and should Miss Blatt be interested in running next year, and should she win, she would have three-quarters of her next term served before this proposal would be moved out for a vote. Therefore, I do not think any of us are particularly trying to step on her toes. I feel this is a move for the sake of economy.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not want the comparison to be made in the record that Mr. Livengood was no good and Miss Blatt is such an excellent administrator. I feel that Bill Livengood did a good job over there and he did everything he could with the money he had. If you give your wife this year three or four times as much money to run the household as you did last year, no doubt your meals will be better.

When Senator Leader was campaigning over the State for the Office of Governor, I often said there was not much wrong down here which money could not cure. If you give these department heads a lot more money, of course, they are going to be able to put on a lot more employees, put out a lot more reports and so forth.

The question we must decide, Mr. President, is whether or not this office should be abolished, regardless of who happens to be in it. As to who holds the office is not the question. The question is whether or not the office should be abolished.

We feel that this was part of the Chesterman Committee report which the Governor wanted to have enacted. He stated in his Inaugural Speech that we had been surveyed and re-surveyed and now was the time for action. We have waited here for the action now for a long time. We have waited for them to send over plans. We did get about seven or eight plans from the Reorganization Committee the last time. I have not seen anything here in the form of plans which would hit our calendar and be enacted, according to the act which we adopted at the last Session. However, perhaps they will come later.

We do have this bill before us now, Mr. President, and I feel we should vote in favor of it. Whether or not the State Treasury should be abolished is another item and another argument. If they feel that office should also be abolished, I would suggest they put in a bill abolishing it. It will appear on our Calendar and then we can argue on that when it comes before us. However, the issue now is whether or not this particular office should be abolished, and that is the one on which we want to vote.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the vote now be on by motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Your motion was not seconded, Senator Dent. Therefore, because of the lack of a second to that motion, it fell. The Chair heard no one second the motion. I am willing to entertain the motion now if you want to make it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if it is going to be a party vote, there is no sense in delaying the action this afternoon. If they are going to vote as a group over there, not to send the bill back to committee, what is the use of wasting time?

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Meadville, Senator Mahany.

Mr. MAHANY. You mean Titusville.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I know the gentleman is from Titusville because I have had the occasion to visit him up there. However, when he goes through Meadville, he always says, "This is one of my towns."

Mr. MAHANY. It is, but I am not from there.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, do I understand, and interpret the vote on the other side to mean, that your party, as a group now, is of the opinion that the Office of Secretary of Internal Affairs should be abolished?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, we are of the opinion that the question of whether or not it should be abolished should be submitted to the people of the Commonwealth, to allow them to vote on whether or not it should be abolished.

Mr. DENT. What is the party's status in the matter?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not know what stand the party will take. I am not in authority to speak for the Republican Party as such. I am here just to speak on behalf of the Republican Senators. I think a majority of the Republicans in the Senate would like to have this question submitted to the people.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, is this not the same question that was up before? The question of whether or not this matter should be submitted to the people came before this very body, and many of the Senators on the Republican side, in fact all of them, voted against it then.

Mr. MAHANY. I cannot remember exactly how each of the Senators voted. I believe I voted against it, however, at that time. I evidently was proven wrong because the people overwhelmingly voted for Governor Leader. One of the big things he had to offer to the people at that time was that we should have adopted these Chesterman Committee recommendations. He said that if we had adopted these recommendations, we would have saved $100,000,000. Therefore, he said he would pick up that money and we would not need the sales tax money. He said he could then abolish the sales tax and still run the government on the same amount of money by this saving.

Mr. DENT. Is there anything in this bill which abolishes Governor Leader?

Mr. MAHANY. No, but if you want to put an amendment in it, Senator Dent, I will be glad to vote for it.

Mr. DENT. I understand that, because the record proves that if it happens to be a Republican officeholder, you will not vote for the abolishment, but if it happens to be a Democratic officeholder, you will vote for it. Let us not, therefore, fool the people; at least those who are intelligent enough to read between the lines and even the lines themselves. You are voting now to abolish not the office, but to abolish the person.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President—

Mr. DENT. What was that you said yesterday about interfering?

Mr. MAHANY. I thought you were finished, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. You knew I was not. I was just filling my lungs.

Seriously, though, Senator Mahany, is it not true that you are not voting to abolish the office because you had that vote up before? At that time, you refused to abolish the person, who happened to be a Republican. Incidentally, I voted with you. I voted "no." Today, it happens to be a Democrat. It is the same office, but you are now going to vote to abolish it because it happens to be a different person.

You said that if I amended it to include the Governor, you would vote to go along with that. What if I said we would abolish the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs today, would you Republicans say, today, that you are not going to have any candidates for the office next time, since it is a useless office? Will you allow us to claim it without a contest? Will you put candidates up for the Office of Secretary of Internal Affairs next year or will you let the office go by the boards because it is a useless, wasteful office, and you certainly do not want to waste the people's money by putting a Republican in a wasteful office?

Mr. MAHANY. Are you asking me?

Mr. DENT. I am asking you questions which I am answering, because I can trust my answers better than yours. I can trust my answers better than your answers.

Mr. President, I do not think it will do us any good since they have made their minds up. It is another one of the pegs being driven into the board in order to embarrass the Governor. They always feel that when a bill gets to the Governor's desk, if they can embarrass him with it, that is the point behind it. That, however, should not be the point when you are dealing with legislation of a serious nature.

I am sure, Senator Mahany, that I voted "no" in the past. I will guarantee you, if you elect a Republican Secretary of Internal Affairs and a similar bill comes up next Session, I will vote "no" then, too. I will stay right with the job.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to point out to the Senator, and I have no doubt that he knows this, that this is the first time around for this Constitutional amendment. If it is adopted, it will have to be enacted again by the next Session of the Legislature and then be submitted to the people. By that time, Miss Blatt's term of office will have expired. I do not know whether she is going to be a candidate to succeed herself; therefore, there is certainly no attempt to get rid of Miss Blatt by this legislation. There is no attempt to embarrass the Governor because this legislation does not need to be signed by the Governor. Therefore, I do not know how it could embarrass him. All those arguments which the Senator has advanced, I think, can fall on that theory.

Yes, Senator, we hope to have a full ticket next year and I think you predicted that we will probably win. If you want a place on our ticket to run for this office, if you will change your registration, I have it from high authority here, Senator Taylor, that he will be glad to consider you for that position.

Mr. DENT. It is probably more than I would get from my own side.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I cannot argue with that.

Mr. DENT. It is a very tempting offer. I will tell you what; if you raise your sights a little, I might consider it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would suggest to Senator Taylor, since I may not be available for the ticket next year, that he look at the negative roll on this roll call and he will find some good candidates.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—19

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask permission to put into the record a column which appears in today's Philadelphia Inquirer, written by our good friend, John M. Cummings, in which he has some very pithy comments relative to the Governor's education program.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. As requested by the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, this article will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

John M. Cummings

A WAY FOR EVERYBODY TO GET ON BY DEGREES

Harrisburg, May 14.

Extension of the Compulsory Education Act to require all Pennsylvania children to remain in school until they receive a college degree or attain the age of 25 appears to be the ultimate aim of the higher learning program Gov. Leader is urging on the Legislature. An age limit of 25 is being suggested because even some supporters of the plan are convinced that a scholar who fails to prove his capacity at that point in life ought to try something else.

Nevertheless, there is a group, known in educational circles as the "persistent parasites," which believe the age limit should be fixed as 30 years with time and a half paid by the State after the quarter century mark has been passed.

Under existing law Pennsylvania children are required to pursue their studies until they are 18. Amish farmers—and others—will tell you that many a lad of 14 would be better off at work in some useful endeavor. But the law is the law and although a lunk of a lad may have a head fashioned from a fence post, he must remain with his books and believe in the story of the birds and the bees until the magic age of 18 is attained.

Why stop at 18? This is the question confronting Pennsylvania today. Gov. Leader has addressed himself to it, manfully and with an eye on next year's U. S. Senate election. But he has only scratched the surface, as the saying goes. He would start out by providing a college education for 5000 youngsters in the first year of his proposed plan. The number would gradually be increased until 20,000 scholars were in college at the State's expense. Not only would their higher education come off the Commonwealth's cuff, they would be paid to boot. And if the need should arise they could negotiate a loan, also from the State.

But the friends of real education, those who believe nothing is too good for the boys and girls of Pennsylvania, feel the Governor should shoot the works, throw the book, as some put it, before the present session of the Legislature adjourns sine die. This is a Latin expression all our boys and girls will understand when they get their college degrees. To this proposal Mr. Leader, himself a college man, says "tempus fugit."

An ardent advocate of the plan, A. Scurvey Sailor, president of the Alumni Association of the Institute Polyclinic on the Corn Planter Indian Reservation, envisions the day when no man or woman will be permitted to work in Pennsylvania unless he or she has at least a B.A. A student who fails to attain a passing mark after having reached his 25th birthday, or 30th if he takes the extended course, would be retired as incompetent.

While he has as yet had no opportunity to examine the blueprint of the Leader Plan, Mr. Sailor says he has a general idea of what it contains. Especially pleasing to him was an hour study break in the morning and another in the afternoon.

Incidentally, this plan is not tied in with Walter Reuther's program calling for a four-hour day. It has been estimated that a man with say a master's degree can do as much in one hour as a B.A. holder can do in four or even six hours.

It is for this reason that Republican members of the Legislature, the Harvey Taylors and such like exponents of higher learning, are urging on the Governor that he correct his aim to include a Master's degree magna cum laude for every Pennsylvania child.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Thursday, May 16, 1957, at 8:30 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 4:18 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, until Thursday, May 16, 1957, at 8:30 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. O'BRIEN. RESOLUTION No. 110.

In the House of Representatives, May 14, 1957.

It is reported that the Blue Cross proposes to increase its membership rates as much as 40 to 50% in the Metropolitan area of Philadelphia. It is also reported that the Blue Shield is contemplating a similar increase throughout the Commonwealth. Such drastic increases in rates will be extremely burdensome to many of our citizens, and for others it may even place hospitalization and medical insurance beyond their means.

It is imperative that before these increases are approved the basis of Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage be reappraised. One possibility worthy of thought is to broaden Blue Cross and Blue Shield payments to cover medical care in the home. This would not only decrease the cost of such service because of lower charges for home care, but would also help relieve our overcrowded hospitals. Another possible reduction in cost well worthy of investigation is a reduction in the administrative staff of these organizations and the excessive salaries they are receiving; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to carefully scrutinize and investigate any request by the Capital Hospital Service, known as the Blue Cross and the Medical Service Association of Pennsylvania, known as the Blue Shield, for any increases in the rates to be charged members of the Metropolitan area of Philadelphia and throughout the Commonwealth, paying particular attention to the possibility of home care coverage and also the fact that the increases requested may be necessary because of excessively high administrative salaries being paid the officers of these organizations; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Insurance Commissions.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. UJOBAL, BROWN and ASHTON.

RESOLUTION No. 11.

In the House of Representatives, May 14, 1957.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proud to record official recognition to its greatest industry—steel—on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of its mass production in America. As the industry which typifies America's strength and leadership in the free world, steel has a particular meaning to each and every family. Every day, our lives and actions feel the influence of steel and the projects which it makes possible. Our buildings, bridges, trains, ships, planes, automobiles, weapons for defense and countless other essentials, all are made possible by steel.

Here in Pennsylvania, we are singularly proud of the steel industry which gives employment to hundreds of thousands of our citizens and creates jobs and prosperity for so many related industries, therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends to the steel industry of Pennsylvania and the nation its congratulations on one hundred years of progress and its best wishes for a future of continued prosperity and growth, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be spread upon the record of this body and that copies of it be made available on request to leaders of the steel industry throughout the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ADAMS.

RESOLUTION No. 112.

In the House of Representatives, May 14, 1957.

Anyone who wishes to purchase an American flag within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is required to pay a State tax on such purchase.

The Selective Sales and Use Tax imposes upon each separate sale at retail of tangible personal property within this Commonwealth a tax of 3 per cent of the purchase price. Although it is not specifically included thereunder the term "tangible personal property" has been interpreted to include the American flag.

The imposition of a tax upon the sale or use of the symbol of our great Nation certainly should not be used as a means of obtaining revenue. Furthermore all of our citizens should be encouraged, and assisted, not deterred, in showing their patriotism by purchasing and displaying the American Flag.

The Department of Revenue has the power and authority to adopt, promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to the administration, enforcement and collection of tax; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives recommend that the Secretary of Revenue of this Commonwealth immediately adopt rules and regulations which will exclude the sale at retail or use of American flags from the Selective Sales and Use Tax; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Revenue.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL ON SECOND READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar, by Mrs. Henzel.

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 537, entitled:

An Act imposing liability upon parents for the tortious acts of children under eighteen years of age setting forth limitations and providing procedure for recovery.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mrs. HENZEL offered the following amendments:

Amend Bill, page 1, by inserting between the enacting clause and section 1, the following Section 1. As used in this act—

(1) "Person" includes natural persons, partnerships, associations, private and public corporations, authorities, fiduciaries, the United States and any governmental agency thereof and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and any agency or political subdivision thereof . . .

(2) "Parent" includes natural or adoptive parents.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out "1" and inserting "2".

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by inserting after "years" is found liable or.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the Minority Floor Leader has not received a copy of the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was informed that these amendments had been cleared with the Minority Leader.

Mr. READINGER. I have discussed them, but I have not seen them. I would like to see them.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will send a copy of the amendments to the Minority Leader's desk.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have these amendments explained by the sponsor before we agree to them.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. HENZEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, will the lady explain the amendments which have been read to date?

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones.

The SPEAKER. The lady from Montgomery yields to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I do not have a copy of the amendments either, but I think I remember them well enough to explain what we are trying to do.

This bill as originally written would have placed financial responsibility in a limited amount upon parents of children who were taken in front of a juvenile court. That was the theory upon which the bill was written. It says something to the effect that if any court finds a child guilty, it uses that word "guilty," of destruction of property or injuries to the person, then the parents become liable.

It was the thought of my co-sponsor and myself, under the theory which we were using, that we wished to place liability upon parents for the torts of their children generally, that the word "guilty" was of limited application, and that we should extend the liability of parents to cases where children were found civilly liable in non-criminal proceedings and where the children would not pay the judgment rendered against them, possibly.

So these amendments make, in effect, insurers out of parents.

Does the Minority Leader understand that?

Mr. READINGER. No, I do not understand fully, but since these amendments appear to spell out some of the ideas you have in mind, I am not going to object to them. I will agree to let them go in so we can read the bill as it has been amended.

It does not change the basic philosophy that liability is being imposed on parents, regardless of fault on the part of the parents, is that right?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. That is right.

Mr. READINGER. It just changes the procedural aspects of how that liability is brought into effect, is that right?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I would say that is correct, that is the intention.

Mr. READINGER. Then I have no objection to these amendments at this time.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain to the House that there are other Members who wished to amend this bill. I have agreed with those Members who spoke to me that they may amend the bill further on third reading, but I have requested the courtesy of getting the bill in the kind of shape that the co-sponsor and I wish to have it before we proceed.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mrs. HENZEL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 2, by striking out "2. The" and inserting in lieu

3. (a) In any proceeding of a criminal nature against a child under the age of eighteen years and in any proceeding against a child in a juvenile court the

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 4, by striking out "order" and inserting "direct."

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 7, by inserting after "the" where it appears the first time "direction of the."

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 7 by striking out "order."

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, by inserting between lines 8 and 9

(b) If a judgment has been rendered against the child in a civil proceeding and such judgment has not been satisfied within a period of thirty days the injured person may petition the court for a rule to show cause why judgment should not be entered against the parent. A parent shall have the right, to file an answer to said petition, and if there is any dispute as to unlitigated facts the case shall be set down for trial. If there is no dispute as to the unlitigated facts the court shall authorize the entry of a judgment against the parent. In no case shall the judgment against the parent exceed the limitations set forth in section 3 hereof.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mrs. HENZEL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 9, by striking out "3" and inserting "4."

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 17, by inserting after "court" or the judgment against the child.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fourth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mrs. HENZEL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 12, by striking out "4" and inserting "5."

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 15, by inserting after "child" Any judgment against a child resulting from a tortious act for which a parent makes payment under this act, shall be reduced by the amount paid by the parent.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

SENATE BILL No. 312 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the membership turn to page 22 of today's calendar, Senate Bill 312. The Ohio Legislature is in session and, in the event this bill passes, it would also have to be passed by the Ohio Legislature. It has been on our calendar quite a number of days because we have not been able to get to the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate Bill No. 312, Printer's No. 156, on page 22 of today's calendar, bills on third reading be made a special order of business immediately. The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being Senate Bill No. 312.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 312, entitled:

An Act amending the compact contained in the act of June 5, 1937 (P. L. 1664) entitled "An act to ratify and adopt a compact or agreement negotiated by commissioners designated by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and commissioners designated by the Governor of the State of Ohio relative to the development use and control of the Pymatuning Lake and the State-owned land surrounding said lake for fishing hunting recreational and park purposes" designating the lake area on which motor boats may be operated limiting the horsepower of the motor boats operated thereon and fixing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill, if I am in order at this time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion the passage of this bill eventually have a detrimental effect on the stability and growth of the Shenango and Beaver Valleys.

There are approximately a half a million people and diversified industries in this valley who are completely dependent on the water from the Pymatuning Dam for their existence.

Mr. Speaker, I hope you will bear with me, this may be a trifle lengthy.

The industries and those employed in the valley are very much concerned about this bill. I will attempt to give you some of the history of this dam, the reason for its construction and how it was made possible, especially so by the industries of this valley.

For centuries the Pymatuning Swamp was a wild desolate area of about 7,500 acres in size, located about four miles from one in Pennsylvania. Part of it was in Ohio. A heavy growth of trees and a treacherous spongy terrain made it dangerous for human beings to enter, and rarely one ever did. The interior was a natural refuge for wild life, and animals, birds and snakes. About 500 acres at the edge were under cultivation in onions.

For many years industry in the Shenango and Beaver Valleys was subjected to flood conditions almost every spring. The loss was in millions. About 1910, when it was suggested that the Pymatuning Swamp be drained and turned into a giant onion ranch, a waterways engineer by the name of E. E. Haslam of New Castle suggested the area be cut over, a dam installed and thus provide a flood prevention dam and insure a uniform supply of water in the Shenango River in the summer months. At that time floods raged in the spring and low water resulted in the summer with both an inconvenience and loss to industry, commerce and residents.

Some preliminary surveys were made, but the flood of 1913 pinpointed the dire need for a flood prevention dam. The loss in 1913 was tremendous to industry and the residents as well and was in the many millions of dollars. Action towards a dam was started immediately.

One state cannot purchase land from another state and because about one-fifth of the swamp was in Ohio, Pennsylvania could not purchase this land. The industries, and I repeat, the industries of the valley put up approximately half a million dollars and purchased the Ohio land and announced that they would lease it to Pennsylvania for a long period of years for $1.00, or some such trifling amount.

The work of purchasing the land took some years, but by 1925 the Ohio land had been purchased. In 1927, Governor John S. Fisher approved a bill for $350,000 for land purchase in Pennsylvania and in 1929 approved another bill for $400,000 thus completing the land purchase necessary. It then became necessary to get money for the dam itself.

In 1931 State Senator George T. Weingartner of New Castle headed the fight to get money for the dam and convinced Governor Gifford S. Pinchot that $105 million was needed. This was appropriated, as it had been estimated this would be needed for the dam.

In the meantime engineers had worked out a new method of building dams, using a heavy earthen bank, with steel in the center and riprapped on the inside with stone. This plan was adopted and the cost was found to be $400,000, thus leaving $1.1 million unexpended. A new bill was approved providing that the $1.1 million would be used to clear the swamp and build the causeway between Espyville and Andover.

At the suggestion of the late Mayor Fred L. Rentz, Representative Bart Richards convinced Governor Pinchot that the state should clear the land with unemployed men. This plan was adopted and Engineer Ralph J. Ferris put in charge.

Employment offices were set up in various cities, New Castle, Sharon, Butler, Beaver Falls, Conneaut Lake, etc. Men were assigned terms of labor in order to spread it out and the work was done by state labor, the first large project ever completed in this fashion.

In 1934 the lake was dedicated. The primary purpose of the lake was for flood water prevention and uniform water supply in the Shenango River, vitally needed by industry.

Before the bill was finally drafted it was suggested that recreation be included in its uses, but this was merely secondary and at no time during the preliminary work and the actual installation of the dam was there any mention of recreational facilities or the use of the lake for such purposes, only where it would not interfere with the primary purpose.

For a number of years motorboats were prohibited on any part of the lake, rowboats being all that were allowed. Finally a compromise was reached and low horsepower motorboats were permitted on the lower level of the lake. On the upper level north of the causeway and on to Linesville motorboats were and are still prohibited for two reasons.

First is safety. The lake is shaped somewhat like a saucer, it tapers towards the center. At present the law permits 400 cubic feet of water per second to be drawn. Today we draw only about 200 cubic feet of water per second, but in dry weather we draw close to the 400 cubic feet of water. In years to come I believe the situation will become more acute because of the many air conditioning units being installed.

It creates a serious condition in this area. In clearing the swamp thousands of trees were cut down. The upper level of the lake is comparatively shallow and in times of low water the stumps are perilously close to the surface and in exceptionally dry seasons the stumps do protrude through the waters. In addition, the release of water vitally needed in the valleys affects the upper level first and mud flats occur for as far as 25 to 50 feet from the shore.

To permit motorboats to operate in a stump infested area is an invitation to suicide, and hence permission for motorboats now would inevitably—this is a point I hope to bring home to the Members of the House—lead to a demand for a uniform level of the lake at all times. If this is ever done, industry, commerce and residents in the valley would be in dire straits and future industrial development would be shunned for fear of lack of water.

Secondly, the state has a wild life sanctuary in the upper level of the lake and motorboats would disturb the wild life.

Those of us who are familiar with the need of constant water in the Shenango valley have lived with the Pymatuning project for years. We are not opposed, and I repeat this, we are not opposed to recreational facilities and the fact that the lower shore line is dotted with cottages attests to this. In 1956 there were several thousand motorboats licensed on the lower level.

The reason we oppose motorboats at this time is because such legislation would inevitably lead to a demand for a uniform lake level. If that day ever comes, industry in the valley is doomed.

The Pymatuning was and still is a flood preservation project and a guarantee of a uniform level in the Shenango River in dry seasons. To pass this bill is to open the way for the dam, handicap industry and thus reduce the number of jobs in the valleys.

Apparently, this bill is being supported by motorboat salesmen and realty salesmen. If the real estate on the shore line of the upper level were sold for cottages, purchasers would probably resent the fact that in very dry weather they would have a mud flat of so many feet, possibly, in front of their cottages. Hence it follows naturally that once cottages are built the owners would want a guarantee that no mud flats would occur.

Finally, because of the guaranteed flow of water in the Shenango River, the Pennsylvania Power Company installed a power plant at West Pittsburgh, which is in Lawrence County. It is a small community which is located at the mouth of the Shenango River. This has been expanded three times and now uses—I wish to bring out this point very vividly, because it has quite a bearing on this bill—800,000 tons of coal per year. They have a very modern plant which uses and reuses the water over and over again. If the water supply from the Shenango River is ever reduced, this power plant would be in trouble. This is merely one of the instances of the industrial distress which could follow the passage of this bill.

I would like to go back to this power plant again. This power plant uses as much water in one 24-hour day as a community of 50,000 would use in one month.

This bill on its face appears to be rather minor or an innocuous thing. It seems to merely a recreation bill. Actually, it is the door-opener to legislation which would be a severe blow to Lawrence, Mercer and part of Beaver Counties.

Someone very conveniently left this Pymatuning Dam leaflet on my desk, and I am hoping everyone received a similar leaflet because it has one point that is very effective in addition to my remarks.

At the bottom of the page where the picture shows the Pymatuning dam it shows the spillway. There is this notation at the bottom which says, "Water impounded by the Pymatuning Dam turns the wheels of industry in Shenango Valley."

We agree that we need vacationists, but we also need the industries. It is for the interest of industry in our valley that I rise in opposition to this bill. I hope the Members on both sides of the aisle will view this in the light of the industries needing this water, as I do, and that you will vote "no" on the bill.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to the discourse just delivered by Mr. Cioffi, and particularly as it related to the historical background of the formation of this dam and its attendant waters.

I would like to assure you, ladies and gentlemen, that the things this man is disturbed about do not reflect in any way the feelings of the hundred thousand people in Crawford County. Neither does it reflect any concern particularly of the people in Mercer County. Last week you received a little pamphlet which was unsigned. I suspect this was prompted and perhaps edited by the gentleman who runs a newspaper in New Castle. He at the time of the formation of this dam was very much opposed to it, and then, as now, he has by editorial comment attempted to persuade the people of his own county, as well as the people of Crawford County, that this bill, if passed, would be a very, very bad piece of legislation.

If you read the bill in its simplicity, it says simply this, that in the upper regions of this lake, which consist of 12,500 acres under water, there is an approximate depth of five feet.

We have thousands of people coming to the Pymatuning section every summer. These thousands of people are coming from Pittsburgh, New Castle, Lawrence County, Mercer County, Erie County, and all other adjacent towns, to fish and enjoy the recreational advantages of this place.

In this upper regions of the lake many of the people who fish, and we have thousands of them coming there, are prevailed upon to use the ordinary boat to propel themselves to the fishing spots in the lake. If a sudden storm arises, I think we are all aware that with that shallow type of water it is even worse than Lake Erie in a high storm. We have had many deaths on that lake because of the inability of the people in the rowboat to get to shore.

I believe, Mr. Cioffi also brought out the fact that this place was extremely dangerous because of the stumps and things which might be submerged in the lake and which might cause damage or an accident. Let me assure you, ladies and gentlemen, over the period of years, to wit, from 1939, the creation of this dam, the erosion, the wind, the water and the workings of nature have erased and eradicated every stump or log there. If he were in as close proximity to this lake as I am, he would not have the audacity to suggest to you that it would cause anything other than complete safety to anyone on that lake as used today.

All we are asking is simply this: If you will read the bill, the guaranteed water flow is present as it was in the Act which created it. If you will look on page 3, line 12, it says this:

Nothing contained in this subdivision shall be interpreted to effect a change in the level or flow of water as determined or fixed by the Water and Power Resources Board.

That takes care of that. We have the guarantee, and it was guaranteed when this Act was passed, that you would have sufficient water. You will get the water. If you can imagine, and project your thinking to this extent, in the 25 miles of lake under water we have trillions of gallons of water impounded. This will in no way affect the game preserves and it will in no way affect the water. This lake was created ostensibly for the purpose of flood control, as well as to provide water for the people to the south during period of drought.

All of this, I am sure, is imaginary. It will never happen that we will demand a constant water level. For the thousands of workers who come in there from Pittsburgh for recreation on the weekends, I ask you, let us give them something in the form of a small horsepower motor to get to shore for their own personal safety.

I respectfully ask you to vote for this bill.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman who just spoke permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Magee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAGEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman spoke about the safety of the area which I had mentioned in my remarks, claiming that the stumps are not perilous. Did I understand you correctly, sir?

Mr. MAGEE. If the stumps were there, they might be perilous, but if you had been up there lately you would know they are no longer there.

Mr. CIOFFI. Just a moment, please. I made somewhat of an investigation, I have contacted a number of people who have gone to Pymatuning Lake Dam to fish, and I ran across two or three of them who claim that only last year they got out of their boat—one of them said that he stood on a stump which was not too far beneath the water, and another one at a drier time of the season, sat on a stump to fish. I do believe if the stumps are that close to the surface of the water, it would create a condition whereby it would be dangerous. Will you agree with me there?

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. Cioffi, which portion of this lake are you talking about?

Mr. CIOFFI. I am talking about the area where the bill wants to permit the use of the boats.

Mr. MAGEE. As a matter of fact, as you know from your investigation, in the lower reaches of this lake in which we have boats today, there are some obstructions in the form of wood, old planks that may be floating, debris, and even cut wood. So on this upper part I do not follow the type of thinking which has given you the idea that these logs are ever-present there, or these cut trees, because they are no longer there, I can assure you of that.

Mr. CIOFFI. You would say they are no longer there?

Mr. MAGEE. I would say they may be in the upper reaches of the lake, at the very extreme northern part, which is about three and one-half feet deep. I have been up in that section in a sailboat with the rudder attached and it is very safely negotiated. We saw no obstructions at all, and I mean that sincerely.

Mr. CIOFFI. May I ask you another question? If this bill should pass, would the boats be allowed to go in the area which you just described?

Mr. MAGEE. I do not know why not, because they could safely trespass up in that section.

Mr. CIOFFI. Then it possibly would be in a dangerous area, would it not?

Mr. MAGEE. I would not say so, no.

Mr. CIOFFI. I am now reminded of a great author who once said, "Many people complain about the weather, but no one ever does anything about it," or some such statement as that. In contrast to that, Mr. Speaker, many comments have been made on the floor of this House about how we can keep our industries in Pennsylvania. In my humble opinion, this Bill will eventually hurt the industries in our area. So unlike the complainants about the weather, we Members of this House can do something about this bill and protect our industries.

I am also reminded that on numerous occasions I have heard it stated here about the keenness of competition in the industrial expansion between the State of Ohio and our state. We in Lawrence, Mercer and Beaver Counties perhaps feel this keenness a little more because the three counties border the State of Ohio.

It is for this reason, Mr. Speaker and Members on both sides of the aisle, that I appeal to your good judgment and hope you will vote "no."

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say that in previous sessions we from Mercer County have opposed this bill. We have used the same kind of sales talk I have listened to, but we have taken time out to investigate what we were talking about.

I have a map here showing that there are stumps within that area, but there is a large area within which to do motorboating.

I also happened to go to that area in a motorboat, in a Department of Forests and Waters motorboat, a 25 horsepower, 1,800 pound boat, and nothing ever happened to it.

I also know during the war the Westinghouse Corporation powered a motorboat with two 60 horsepower engines, 8,000 pounds, on that body of water. I also know the Westinghouse Corporation tested torpedoes in that body of water.

We are now supporting the bill and we would like to have all of you vote for it.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, it depends upon how good my memory is, but this bill was before the committee of which I was a member two years ago. I had communications from every official up and down the line in the communities surrounding this place. I had the support of Members on that side of the House urging me not to bring the bill out.

I was only urged by one Member of this House from that side to bring it out. To convince me, he brought two business men who sold motors and asked me if I would not consider the fact that they wanted to sell their motors over there and that the people were in favor of it. I said, Well, I cannot see it according to the communications I have received, at least a hundred or more, and not one communication did I receive in favor of the bill.

Consequently, the bill was allowed to take a long sleep in my committee.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, it does my heart good to see the majority party going on record in favor of the "little man" and exploding the fallacy that the minority Members of the House are in favor of the "little man," but are now speaking for "big business" instead.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 489, entitled:

An Act amending the "Banking Code" approved May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) increasing the unsecured amount a bank bank and trust company or trust company may loan its salaried officers or employees or those of affiliated banking institutions

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Guthrie, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GUTHRIE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand this bill, it has the effect of allowing a bank, or bank and trust company, or a trust company, to lend to any of its salaried employees or officers without security a sum of money up to $2,500. Is that correct?

Mr. GUTHRIE. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not correct. It allows them to loan $2,500, but they would have to furnish security the same as any other borrower would.

Mr. FINEMAN. What security would the salaried employee or officer have to furnish?

Mr. GUTHRIE. An unsecured loan, of course, would be a character loan. If he were buying an automobile under present day prices, a $4000 automobile, he would only be allowed to borrow $1,000 under the present law.

Mr. FINEMAN. If the bank were to make a character loan, as you term it, it may do so without the employee or the officer putting up any kind of collateral, is that correct?

Mr. GUTHRIE. That is correct.

Mr. FINEMAN. Therefore, this bill does have the effect of allowing a bank to lend to its salaried employees or officers a sum of money up to $2,500 without the employee or officer depositing any collateral with the bank, is that correct?

Mr. GUTHRIE. That is correct.

Mr. FINEMAN. On page 3 of this bill, which part of the bill deals with the aggregate amount of loans, does the gentleman agree with my interpretation that that provision deals with the total amount of loans which the bank can make to all of its employees?

Mr. GUTHRIE. No, they can loan $2,500 to each and every employe.

Mr. FINEMAN. I believe you misunderstood my question. Perhaps I did not phrase it correctly. There is a provision in this bill which is, as a matter of fact, a restatement of the existing law that the aggregate amount of loans to employes cannot exceed 10 percent of the unimpaired capital, plus 10 percent of the unimpaired surplus. Do you agree with me that that provision is applicable to, and speaks of, the total loans which may be made to all employes rather than to any one single employe?

Mr. GUTHRIE. Yes, I agree to that.

Mr. FINEMAN. Let me ask you this question: is there any provision in this bill or in the existing law which in any way restricts the total amount of individual loans that any one salaried employe or officer can make from the bank without depositing collateral?

Mr. GUTHRIE. $2,500, of course, would be the total they could borrow under any circumstances.

Mr. FINEMAN. Can you point out to me language in this bill which has that effect?

Mr. GUTHRIE. "A bank a bank and trust company or a trust company shall not grant a loan in excess of two thousand five hundred dollars to a salaried officer or employe thereof or to a salaried officer or employe of an affiliated bank bank and trust company or trust company or an affiliated national banking association as defined in this act unless the amount of the loan in excess of two thousand five hundred dollars be . . ."

He can never owe the bank more than $2,500 on collective loans.

Mr. FINEMAN. What you have read describes a single loan. It says that a bank cannot make a single loan to any salaried employe or officer over and above $2,500 if there is not certain collateral deposited. Where does the Act anywhere at all, either in the changes you seek to make by this bill or in the existing law, state that a bank cannot lend more than $2,500 on a series of separate loans to one employe?

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, all I know is that the bank examiners as of today are adhering to that principle. They are interpreting that $1,000 is the amount any individual of officer can borrow as a total personal loan, automobile loan, or any type of loan. It must not exceed $1,000 under the present law. All this does is change that to $2,500. If they are interpreting the law today that they cannot borrow more than $1,000 and all we have done is change the amount, I do not know why they would take a different view on the law.

Mr. FINEMAN. Of course, I have nothing before me to be guided by in knowing whether there is such an interpretation. But in reading this type which I have before me and in reading the law, I see nothing in the law which prevents a salaried officer or employe from, let us say, on January 1st of any particular year getting an unsecured loan of $2,500, coming back to the bank on February 1st and getting another unsecured loan for $2,500 and doing likewise on the succeeding months of the year until he might reach the point where the total of his loans came to an amount which approximated 10 percent of the unimpaired capital, plus 10 percent of the unimpaired surplus. I see nothing to prevent that kind of action taking place.

Mr. GUTHRIE. I am associated with a bank and I know that is the position the bank examiners take in our bank. I know we adhere very definiaely to that principle and I think all the other banks do.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to pass judgment on the wisdom of increasing the amount of the loan which can be made from $1,000 to $2,500. Nevertheless I am constrained to vote against this bill because the bill as it reads in conjunction with existing law makes this type of situation possible.

I can easily foresee where the president of a bank or trust company who by reason of his position as president, or by reason of other influence, can prevail upon his board of directors on January 1st of any given year to give him an unsecured loan for $2,500 and come back to that same board for additional loans, each loan not to exceed $2,500, and in no instance will he be required to put up any collateral for the money he has borrowed from the bank.

I think this is bad legislation, and until the limitations on the amount of money an officer can borrow is more clearly spelled out I am going to vote against this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia the words on page 3 of this bill, starting on line 7, which says that the banks cannot lend more than $2,500 unless the amount of the loan in excess of this $2,500 be secured by the cash surrender value of life insurance in an amount equal to the amount of that portion of the loan which is in excess of $2,500, or by collateral having an ascertained market value of at least 20 percent more than the amount of the loan which is in excess of $2,500.

So the way this reads to me, the bank could not lend more than $2,500 to any of its officers or employes unless either life insurance or securities of a market value of 20 percent more than the excess over the $2,500 was put up.

Maybe the gentleman probably overlooked that part of this section when he first read the bill.

Mr. FINEMAN. I respectfully disagree with the gentleman from Berks, I did not overlook that part of the bill at all, because that paragraph starts with this language:

"A bank," and so forth, "shall not grant a loan"—a loan, singular, a loan. It does not say shall not grant loans in excess of $2,500, it refers to one loan. An employe cannot go into a bank and get a single loan in excess of $2,500 without depositing security or collateral, but nowhere in here does it say that he cannot get a series of loans, several loans, each in the amount of $2,500 without depositing collateral.

I think that position is correct.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, applying that reasoning, is it not true that under the present law a bank officer or an employe of the bank may obtain many loans not exceeding $500 up to the 10 percent of the unimpaired capital and the unimpaired surplus?

Mr. FINEMAN. He may secure a number of successive loans under present law up to the sum of $1,000 on each loan.

Mr. McCORMACK. A thousand dollars, is that correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. That is right.

Mr. McCORMACK. So there would be, applying your reasoning, no necessity for this increase because an employe or an officer could borrow that amount, is not that correct?

Mr. FINEMAN. Technically, that is correct. But an employe or an officer, I would imagine, would not like to make a series of repeated requests to his institution for loans. He would like to go in at one time and with one shot get as much as he can.

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, but you are only arguing about $1,500. If an employe can go to the bank and borrow on ten different occasions $1,000, or if he can go and borrow $2,500, or less, on an equal number of occasions, why it seems to me that there is no harm done?

Mr. FINEMAN. I am not arguing about $1,500, I am arguing about the bad state in which we find the existing law today. This bill is a vehicle by means of which we can make legislation which has merit, even better legislation by providing these limitations I am mentioning.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the way I understand this bill, I am inclined to go along with the sponsor. I believe if an employe wants to borrow $1,000 and he does borrow it, he cannot again while that loan is outstanding borrow an additional amount. But if the law is as Mr. Fineman interpreted it, then the employe can go there and borrow as many thousand dollars as it is possible to obtain under the present law. So I think this does absolutely no harm.

Mr. FINEMAN. May I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman point out to me any law with which he is familiar which would prevent a salaried employe or officer, who once made a loan of $1,000 from a bank, from going back to the bank and making another loan of $1,000 without depositing collateral?

Mr. McCORMACK. As the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Guthrie, said the bank examiners do not permit it. Unless we have specific information to the contrary, I think we are entitled to accept his statements as verity. If that is not the law and an employe or an officer of the bank can borrow as many thousand dollars as he cares to so long as it does not exceed ten percent of the unimpaired capital and surplus, I think that possibly could be changed, but this bill does not affect that in any way.

Mr. FINEMAN. I suspect that the gentleman's observations represent nothing more than a mere gratuitous offering on his part. He has nothing to indicate to me that there is such a rule, a regulation, a law, or any kind of dicta, a referendum, or anything, which absolutely says that an employe or an officer cannot get more than one loan up to these limitations.

Mr. McCORMACK. I think, Mr. Speaker, when a Member of this House makes a statement of fact such as the gentleman from Armstrong did, we not only are entitled to, but we should demand that it be taken as verity unless there is contrary information or facts forthcoming.

Mr. FINEMAN. I certainly did not intend any of my remarks to be in derogation of what the gentleman from Armstrong has told us. But it is conceivable to me that if any one bank examiner makes this new policy and says an officer cannot make a second loan after he has made one loan, another bank examiner might have a different philosophy about it. Without having express rulings, or regulations, or law, to be guided by, there can be this difference of opinion between bank examiners.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I dislike coming between my golfing partners, but I recall the gentleman who spoke previously stating something about if a Member of this House makes a statement on this floor, and so forth. I seem to recall a statement made by that Member which he had to retract soon afterwards.

It seems to me we are arguing about strictly nothing here. The bill as presented seems to be a good bill. It does not change the pre-existing law. If they can borrow $1,000 under the present law, under the old law, there is no reason why they should not borrow $2,500 under this amendment.

If there is a defect in the bill, and I believe there is and Mr. Fineman has found it, perhaps he ought to ask unanimous consent to amend that portion of the bill to suit his purposes.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to put the state banks in the same position in relation to their employes as the national banks are.

Presently the national banks can loan an officer or an employe $2,500 unsecured, and this bill would make it possible for state banks to loan an employe or officer on an unsecured basis $2,500.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Mr. Guthrie?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Guthrie, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GUTHRIE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Apparently we are arguing for the same ultimate end. I would like to see some expression in the law which would restrict these loans to a single loan. You have assured me the interpretations by the bank examiners are to that effect. Would you, therefore, have any objection to holding this bill over until amendments were prepared confirming our mutual understanding about what the law is and what the law should be?

Mr. GUTHRIE. No, I will not agree to the amendments at this time. The language of this bill has not been changed in any shape or form. The Banking Department has accepted this bill as it was previously. The only thing we have done is change it to $2,500 and the Banking Department has no objection to that.

I think the bill is a good bill and I am asking the Members to support it.

Mr. FINEMAN. I can only conclude from the gentleman's failure to agree to hold this bill over for amendments, that the conclusions I have reached must be correct conclusions.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 741, entitled:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code" approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) providing that the compensation of county policemen shall not be diminished in certain cases.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill because I believe it to be a special class type of discriminatory legislation. I believe that for the following reasons.

It pertains as it now exists to one man. It affects a department consisting of 90 men and prescribes certain advantages to the members of that department who might become ill or injured in the line of duty.

I say it is discriminatory because it does not apply to equally hazardous occupations of other employes of Allegheny County. I say it represents a reversal of the philosophy of this House in the years gone by of letting local salary matters up to local salary boards by taking away from the salary board of Allegheny County the right to set the remuneration to a building guard, who is such as a result of having become ill or infirm while serving as a county policeman.

I submit for your consideration that there are other hazardous jobs carried on by employes of what has been referred to as the "Great State of Allegheny." I submit the guards at the jail, the guards at the workhouse, the operators of heavy equipment on the roads, the electricians who are exposed to high tension wires, are all employed in hazardous occupations. We are not making any special provisions for them, we are making special provisions only for one department which now consists of approximately 90 men.

I say this is class type legislation which is going to injure morale for this reason. A building guard, who is such, because of being appointed to that position and who was formerly an electrician or formerly a jail guard, will make $340 a month, but a building guard who was formerly a county policeman will make $394 a month for the same work. Why should we tell the salary board back home what they should pay, that they should pay two different amounts to two men doing the same job?

I do not doubt or question the good intentions and the good faith of the sponsors of this bill. I do think this bill will have ramifications which they did not contemplate.

I am trying to point some of these out to these sponsors and to the Members on both sides of this House in an effort to secure a negative vote on this bill.

I will not belabor the principle of home rule which I discussed yesterday when offering amendments. I think the doctrine perhaps is better known to most of you than it is to me.

I will merely remind you of the comments I made, ask you to remember them and ask you to remember the editorial comments which were read from the Post-Gazette editorial of May 5th of this year.

In view of these reasons, Members of the House, I urge you very sincerely and conscientiously to let the salary board in Allegheny County decide what its employes will receive, all of its employes, including any county policeman who might become ill or infirm as a result of his work.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I rise in favor of this bill I want to explain one thing. This bill does nothing more than protect the salary of a man, a county policeman, in case he is in an accident or he is injured in any way in connection with the duties of his job and is unable to work outside. When they bring him in, it just protects his salary.

Why should a man who is injured in line of duty be penalized any portion of his salary? This bill does that one thing and that one thing only.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. S. A. ANDERSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the house.

Mr. Speaker, three years ago the United States Supreme Court handed down a momentous decision which outlawed segregation in the nation's schools.

The third anniversary of this historic decision is scheduled to be celebrated in Washington, D. C., Capitol of the United States, on Friday, May 17th. More than 50,000 people are scheduled to attend.

What will be the character of this celebration?

It will take the form of a huge religious convocation in recognition of the fact that this historic, legal victory for democracy has not yet become a reality among all the people of this country, in every section of our land.

It will reaffirm our deathless faith in the Declaration of Independence, the United States Constitution and our Bill of Rights.

It will renew our spiritual faith in our determination, together with all people of good will, to make this historic victory for democracy, justice and brotherhood a reality for the present and future generations of American children of every race, creed and nationality.

It will be led by religious leaders of our people, in concert with leaders of the NAACP, leaders of labor and other organizations.

Thus will we make known to the peoples of Africa, Asia, Europe, the Islands of the Seas and to ourselves that this historic battle to save our country and its democratic institutions can and will be won.

To understand the creative strength of a people which makes this event possible, we shall have to go back to the days of Frederick Douglass, orator, preacher, organizer, abolitionist, statesman and prophet.

For in the "Life and Times of Frederick Douglass" and John Brown we will find the answers to the question of what gave our people the strength to fight during the dark days of slavery.

We will find the answers to our special love for voices that sing, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory," and "I Ain't No Ways Tired."

And we will also understand the long and valiant history of our ministers and leaders, the source of their strength which comes from you and me, and why it is possible for them to lead our people with such courage and humility today. We think these leaders who are embraced in the warm bosom of millions of our people understand the challenge of the words in this hymn:

A charge to keep, I have A God to Glorify
A never-dying Soul to save
That leads beyond the sky.

Truly these leaders have accepted the challenge of these words. Truly they have "A charge to keep," and they are keeping that charge, not only for our people but for all the people of the world.

It is in this light today that the Superintendent of Public Instruction in our state releases the report of the survey on Desegregation in Pennsylvania schools. Though the survey is one of self-evaluation, it has in its quiet, unassuming way initiated a feeling of brotherhood and an awakening of the fact that education is the preparation for citizenship in the broader senses. Only through fair and equal opportunity in educational training can we have American democracy in action.

Legislation concerning desegregation in schools of higher education has been introduced in the House. I would hope that this legislation would receive affirmative action by the Committee. And, when such legislation reaches the floor of this House for deliberation and unbiased consideration, I beg each one of you to feel that you, too, have a charge to keep.

And so, Members of the House, it is in this light that we see the character of the Washington Pilgrimage on May 17th, and as it prayerfully unfolds before the Lincoln Memorial, before the people of the United States and before the people of the world.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to speak on House Bill No. 1349. I understand there is a series of four bills prepared by the Decedents' Estates panel and I understand these are very intricate bills.

One of these days I will be a decedent myself and I will want a very careful and explicit explanation of each one of the four bills. I will want them explained. I understand that in the Judiciary Committee there was some disagreement as to what these bills did. So I would prefer that they went over until we can have an extended explanation of these particular four bills.

Maybe the Majority Leader will take time to study the intricacies of these bills and tell us what they are about. If he wants to start now, he can start on the four.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to oppose in any way the Minority Whip's request for a full and detailed explanation, but I do want to observe that it is certainly a way to save lawyers' fees.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 399

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 399, Printer's No. 419, entitled "An act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled 'An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto; regulating and restricting the manufacture, purchase, sale, possession, consumption, importation, transportation, furnishing, holding in bond, holding in storage, traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors, alcohol and malt or brewed beverages, and the persons engaged or employed therein; defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores, for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships, for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant; prescribing penalties and forfeitures; providing for local option, and repealing existing laws,' changing provisions relating to offers in compromise in lieu of suspension," was defeated on final passage on Tuesday May 14, 1957, be reconsidered.

Mr. SELTZER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Post vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Seltzer vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SELTZER. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed in the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. READINGER. I rise to oppose the motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order and may speak on the motion.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I look around and I notice we are all here and wide-awake. Since we have all of the arguments on this bill fresh in mind, I think we should vote on it right here and now.

I am asking the Members to vote against this motion to put it on the postponed calendar, and I am asking for a roll call.

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, it is the intention to amend this bill to be re-considered next week, if we can have the House agree to placing it on final passage postponed calendar.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, if the motion to place it on the postponed calendar is defeated, what position is the bill in?

The SPEAKER. The question recurs, shall the bill pass finally, on the defeat of the motion.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. HENZEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe before we vote on this motion and in view of your expressed intention to amend the bill, for the information of the House do you have an idea just what your amendments would be like? It might make a difference in the vote.

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I think I can conclusively say that at the present time it is intention to amend the bill to permit three payments in compromise before a suspension without the privilege of payment in compromise. There is also consideration being given, but not conclusive at the moment, to setting up a period within which these payments in compromise in relation to violation may be had.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the lady from Montgomery.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, permit herself to be interrogated.

Mrs. HENZEL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I desire to ask the lady whether this new idea of the amendments is something which was never conceived before this bill was first defeated?

Mrs. HENZEL. It was.

Mr. READINGER. And it was rejected by the sponsors of the bill?

Mrs. HENZEL. The sponsors of the bill were never consulted in relation to any amendments or changes in the bill as voted upon yesterday.

Mr. READINGER. Are you a sponsor of this bill?

Mrs. HENZEL. Yes, I am.

Mr. READINGER. My question was, these amendments you are speaking about which you would like to get in the bill, were they not thought of before the bill was voted upon?

Mrs. HENZEL. No, they were not, for the reason that there seemed to be no lack of satisfaction with the manner in which the bill was written.

Mr. READINGER. In other words, if you would have been able to get the bill through the way it was before, that is the way you wanted it? Now you are proposing some amendments which will sweeten it a little bit?

Mrs. HENZEL. I would not say that, Mr. Speaker. I think all of us are willing to see the other person's point of view, if we are approached and asked to share that point of view.

Mr. READINGER. I am still opposing this motion. I think we should wait until the next session, then adopt the new version and vote on it at that time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I think I should make a statement regarding the situation which has developed.

I had a conversation with the lady who is a sponsor of this bill and I did say that as far as I was personally concerned if the bill was so changed that a second violation was a purely technical violation, a small matter involving no moral turpitude, or no violation of any major part of the Liquor Code, the penalty for second violation should not be so severe, but if it was a major violation, then, of course, the bill should apply.

The lady agreed. I do not know whether she was influenced by my statement. I was only making a personal statement, I disagree with the Minority Leader. I think if the bill could be amended so that the penalty for a second violation, being a minor matter, would not be so severe, it would be all right and I will go along with the lady.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I am only seeking some information. I would like to know whether the Liquor Control Board distinguishes between major and minor violations or whether they are all violations?

Mr. ANDREWS. If the Liquor Control Board has the sense that God gave geese, it does not count a purely routine violation as a major violation. I will illustrate that.

If you get into trouble with the Liquor Control Board because there are some irregularities in your caterer's license, you served sandwiches, which you did not have any right to do, and you are called to account on that score, if that is the second violation, then I would say it should not be severely punished.

Mr. MAXWELL. Thank you, Mr. Andrews, but you still did not answer my question.

According to your mind, it is a minor violation, according to my mind it is a minor violation. What I want to know is, what does the Liquor Control Board consider as a major or minor violation?

My question is still unanswered.

Mr. ANDREWS. I have no intention of continuing the interrogation. I have known of the Liquor Control Board for a great many years, and like other governmental agencies its decisions are frequently unpredictable by any known rule of logic.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to cut anyone off from debate, but in case anyone else is going to debate I think I am going to take a point of order that a motion to postpone is not debatable except as to postponement, not as to the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The question is on the motion to postpone.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to belabor this point, but I do want to state this one thing in connection with the debate on this motion to postpone.

If this motion to postpone is allowed on the avowed statement that amendments changing this bill in some respects will be sought, then we are going to get into a pretty dangerous field in the future. Many time a person wants a bill through the way he wants it, he takes a crack at it and it goes down. Then he gets reconsideration and he says, now I am going to make it much better and this is what I am going to do. So we will have that practice followed consistently from now on, I think.

If somebody wants to propose a bill, he should make up his mind how he wants it and stand by it. If it fails, it fails. If he brings it up the second time, it should stand on its own feet the way it was, not as somebody amends it in the morning. If one of my bills goes down, I will shop around and find out how many votes I can get by offering amendments. It is going to lead to a bad practice and I do not think we ought to start it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. READINGER and PETROSKY.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. KOOKER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 15, 1957.

During the last few days the members, officers and employees of the House of Representatives, have been using the word "sir" when addressing Marvin V. Keller, and while in his presence they have assumed that attitude of deference, respect and awe which is the due of every grandfather.

On May eleventh he ascended to that exalted status, when his daughter Barbara, the wife of Richard Booth gave birth to Cynthia Jane Booth.

It is believed that Cynthia Jane has had something to do with the tremendous grin grandpa Keller has been wearing and with the glow of happiness that radiates about him, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend our heartiest congratulations and best wishes to Marvin Keller, and Barbara and Richard Booth. To Cynthia Jane we wish a long and happy life and congratulate her on acquiring a very wonderful granddaddy, and be it further Resolved, That Marvin V. Keller be directed to deliver a copy of this resolution to Cynthia Jane Booth.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the new grandfather and hopes he has a pocketful of cigars.

Mr. KELLER. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I certainly appreciate this Resolution. I will be very happy to pass it on to Cynthia and to her mother.

I certainly appreciate it very much. I do not feel a bit older and I hope I do not look any older.

Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MILLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I have a resolution I would like to introduce at this time, which was given to me by one of the veterans' groups. This resolution, I think, will be in order and help quite a number of veterans of World War II. It memorializes Congress not to forget the World War II veterans.

Since we are not going to be here next year when these provisions run out, I think it would be a good thing at this time to enact this resolution to remind our friends in Congress that the provisions will have to be extended next year when they expire.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT INTO LEGISLATION AN ADEQUATE EXTENSION IN TIME OF THE BENEFITS TO VETERANS OF WORLD WAR II

Mr. MILLER offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 16, 1957.

Certain benefits which were made available to the veterans of World War II in appreciation of their sacrifices for our country are due to expire in July 1958. Many deserving veterans have not yet been in a position to take advantage of these benefits, such as receiving a loan to build a house or to go into business, but may be in a better position to do so within the next several years.

In order that all of these men, to whom we owe so much, will be afforded equal opportunities the time limit on these benefits should be extended; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact into legislation an adequate extension in time of the benefits to veterans of World War II, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would suggest that Senator Miller, and these veteran groups, go down to Washington where this legislation is pending. We seem to have enough to do up here in taking care of our own business without getting into Washington affairs.

Mr. President, I would suggest to Senator Miller that he allow this resolution to go to the Rules Committee. We will take a good look at it in that Committee, on which both Democrats and Republicans are represented. If we feel it is needed and necessary, we will report it out next week.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection, and the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I noticed in the various newspapers of yesterday and this morning, that pictures have been printed of Governor Leader and other officials participating in the ceremonies which marked the end of the taking of tolls on the bridges throughout the State.

It is very regrettable that my old friend, the former Secretary of Highways, Ray F. Smock, was not present to see the fruits of his labors. Unfortunately, Secretary Smock passed from this world several years ago. However, he did a wonderful job in instituting the labor and the legislation which resulted in the freeing of these bridges. Secretary Smock was one of the early ones to get the proper negotiations made in order to accomplish this purpose.

All of us have been laboring for many years and thinking about the time when these bridges would be freed. I think we all should receive a pat on the back for having done this work. Unfortunately, it often occurs in this world that many of the people who work early in the vineyard, and throughout the heat of the day, are not present when the fruits of their labor are available and others have the opportunity of picking the grapes when the harvest is on.

I feel it is well that these bridges have been freed. From now on, when I come down from Crawford County and cross over the bridge to get into Harrisburg, I will not have to dig into my pocket for a nickel. I will personally receive some benefit from this legislation.

I predicted a couple of years ago that when these bridges were freed, Governor Leader would make a great to-do over the taking of the last nickel from the motorist using the toll bridges. Therefore, my prediction has proven true, because I see the Governor pictured here in the Evening News of yesterday. He is standing on a step-ladder and pointing to a sign indicating May 15, 1957, as the date marking the end of the taking of tolls on these bridges.

I do feel that the Republicans, who were in charge for many years of the Department of Highways and the State Government, should be given credit for having instituted the legislation and having seen to it that this deed was finally accomplished.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to join the gentleman in commenting on the freeing of the bridges, and take a little of the credit also for the Democrats who have paid many nickels over the years to help free them.

Of course, one thing about it is that the Republicans were in power so long, there were not too many Democrats coming to Harrisburg, and so we did not pay too much toward freeing the bridges.

Just as soon as we won the election and found out how expensive it was for our Democratic voters to get in and out of Harrisburg, we decided to free the bridges and let them come into Harrisburg without paying toll.

I might say to the Senator, though, that there is a serious note which he had better take into consideration, and that is this. In searching through the Highways Budget, I find that provision has not been made in that Highways Budget for the added cost to the Highways Department, during the incoming biennium, for upkeep and maintenance of these bridges.

We are going to have less money in the Highways Budget than we have had at any time since 1949 for maintenance and repair and for construction of new one hundred per cent State roads. I am very fearful, although at the moment the cutting out of the nickel toll may seem to be a blessing, that unless we find some more resources and some more revenue for the Highways Department, we may have to put the tolls back on, not only upon the bridges we have just freed but upon many of the other ones which have been free. Unless we get more money, you are going to have, in the very near future, a break down of the one hundred per cent State roads and free bridges in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 107 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Resolution No. 107, Printer's No. 539, on page 28 of today's calendar, be made a special order of business immediately. The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Resolution No. 107.

The resolution was read as follows:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 107

In the House of Representatives, May 9, 1957.

Whereas, The problem of equal opportunity of all for higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has become a matter of widespread concern particularly the question of state subsidization of qualified secondary school graduates without adequate financial means to continue their schooling at the college level and

Whereas, A number of plans have been advanced seeking a solution to this problem and containing in many instances meritorious features and

Whereas The participation of the State in this field involves broad questions of financial revenue sources adequate administration and overall effectiveness and has led to widespread controversy and

Whereas The General Assembly requires additional specific and detailed information in order to determine intelligently the form and extent of any such program or programs therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) that the Joint State Government Commission conduct a thorough study of the problems of higher education by considering the following factors

1. Advisability of establishing free and loan scholarship funds for worthy students who have displayed capacity for higher learning to be based upon a study of various existing scholarship programs

2. Authorizing use of existing high school facilities as Junior colleges on a community level

3. Extension of college centers similar to those throughout the Commonwealth to be operated by and through existing institutions of higher learning

4. Whether the Commonwealth should expand its present system of State Teachers Colleges with a view to their eventually becoming State Universities

5. Determine the capacities of existing institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania and the point at which they will have reached their maximum capacity

6. Make a detailed analysis of cost of such programs for higher education including in addition to outright grants the cost of overall administration

7. Compile any other data or information that will be needed by the General Assembly to appraise the problem of higher education in the Commonwealth while considering the task of doing a good job with respect to primary and secondary education therefore be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission submit a report to the General Assembly on its findings and recommendations as soon as completed but not later than January 1, 1959.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe the matter of scholarships and the expanding of our facilities for higher education asked for by our Governor has, supposedly, become a vital issue in Pennsylvania. That, of course, is a debatable question.

There was a series of bills introduced into this Legislature last week which is the administration's answer to what he says is a tremendous problem which requires immediate solving.

However, we on the Republican side have given quite a bit of study to the so-called problem of higher education, and we have on our calendar now for consideration a Resolution asking for a complete and thorough study by the Joint State Government Commission of the whole field of higher education, with a report due as soon as possible so that the people of the State will have the answer not later than the next session of the Legislature.

We did not read the Resolution at length. I take it the membership has read the Resolution. We are asking the Joint State Government Commission to study the free scholarship plan, study existing high school facilities to see whether they could take on junior colleges, study the effectiveness of presently existing college centers, of which you will hear something from another speaker, whether we should expand our present State Teachers' Colleges, make them state universities, and also study the capacity of our existing liberal arts colleges throughout Pennsylvania to see what kind of a job they can do, and then a final "catch-all" request that they study costs and any other matter or thing which is of interest to us from an educational standpoint.

We feel the answer at this time would be for an intelligent, thorough study of the situation so that when we come in here for the next session of the Legislature we will be able to intelligently approach the matter and with the factual data given us by our own disinterested research arm we can approach the problem intelligently, as I say, and really do something good for the state.

You might say this problem is so acute that we must do it now. We have some figures here which will prove interesting, I believe, to show you what the trend has been in public school enrollment and graduation from public high schools in Pennsylvania. I did not realize the situation until I received the figures.

For instance, the public school enrollment in Pennsylvania in 1933 was 2,028,000 students. The public school enrollment in Pennsylvania today is 1,800,000 students, or 200,000 less than in 1933. Let us study the high school graduates. In 1941 there were 99,000 graduated from our high schools. It dropped to 77,000 in 1951. This year we will graduate 83,000 students, or 16,000 less than we graduated in 1941. The figure does not start to climb until 1960 when 101,000 will be graduated. In other words the 1960 figure will equal the 1941 figure. It will take that time to reach the 100,000 mark. We, therefore, want to point out that the problem is not as great, shall we say, today as it might have been in 1941, if there is such a problem, because only 83,000 are graduating from high school this year compared to approximately 100,000 in 1941.

Therefore, we cannot see that a delay in having a thorough study by the Joint State Government Commission will create any hardship on anyone in Pennsylvania. However, it is admitted that by 1965 there will be 122,000 graduated from our high schools and conceivably our institutions of higher learning will not be able to take care of all those who might graduate at that time.

We want the Joint State Government Commission to not only study the junior college problems, but also to study our present State Teachers' Colleges. At the present time before the General State Authority there are requests for approximately $20 million for new buildings for our State Teachers' Colleges. There are many bills in the Legislature to permit our State Teachers' Colleges to buy additional land, the theory being that we should expand our State Teachers' Colleges, some of them up to an enrollment of 2500 students, and the plan might be to eventually make our State Teachers' Colleges state universities. Yet the problem of higher education is going to require bigger and bigger institutions. We have presently, I believe, 14 State Teachers' Colleges which could well be expanded at a minimum of cost.

Also, we have a total of 114 institutions of higher learning in this state. I believe we have more institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania than any other state in the union. Perhaps California has more because they have established the junior college program, and the reason they have done that is because they are a relatively young state and do not have the traditional, fine liberal arts colleges we have in this state.

The reason we have so many liberal arts colleges is that William Penn early gave true religious freedom in Pennsylvania, religious tolerance and free speech, and therefore many, many, many church schools were located in Pennsylvania. They teach which is known as "Christian Education." What could be finer than, instead of expanding into the junior college field, giving a real good boost to our present liberal arts colleges? As I say, almost 90 percent of them are carried on by a church group. Let them teach the fine type of education they are presently teaching in this state of ours.

Also, I believe Mr. Breon will talk to you about the expansion of the college center idea in the state, which could be the answer to the problem.

Therefore, we feel this is a sensible way to approach the whole matter at this time.

We also have on our calendar today a bill which will provide loans for those who would like to work for the state. That is the answer to the Department of Welfare's farming out students today to work for the state and the Department of Welfare. The bill goes farther and would permit any department which wants technical, trained people to have them go to college. We would loan them the money, but they would have to pay the money back. That is a sensible approach to the idea of getting trained workers. When they come out they must work for the at least three years, otherwise their loan becomes immediately due and payable.

The Governor's plan, as I say, calls for the immediate establishment of junior colleges. It calls for these 5,000 scholarships to be given, not to needy students, but to those who take a competitive examination and receive the scholarships because of being able to pass a qualifying examination. In a way he is defeating the idea of giving poor children in this state the opportunity to have a college education. Also, he does provide for making loans to deserving students. We are not saying that the junior college idea is not a good idea. Of course, the Governor's idea is to appoint a 14 man commission on higher education, Council of Higher Education. They would have complete, autocratic control over the junior college system. It would give the state a stranglehold on higher education, which we feel would not be a good idea.

The Joint State Government Commission should study that very, very carefully along with all the other problems which might come before them. So we say the problem is not as acute today as the Governor would have you believe. He is going on television and is trying to stir up a lot of enthusiasm around the state for his plan. Then he wants to put on the soft drink tax, which you people on the other side have bitterly opposed as being a tax on the kids. It all should be looked into very, very thoroughly before we jump into such a colossal venture on the part of the Commonwealth, as I say, to the detriment of free educational institutions in Pennsylvania.

I ask you to vote for the Resolution as the best step to take at this time to study and solve this problem.

Mr. BREON. Mr. Speaker, may I say first that I concur in the statement made by the Majority Leader.

The people of Pennsylvania recently have been hearing on the radio, watching on television and reading in the public Press many impressions of the administration's plan for higher education.

My immediate concern at the moment is with that portion of the Governor's plan which is devoted to junior colleges. We have been hearing that this is to be a vast network of junior colleges over the state of Pennsylvania, in fact, one within commuting distance of every child in the state.

A program as vast as this, of course, has many implications and many ramifications, both financial and otherwise, which I believe must be given every consideration before this Legislature can act wisely and proceed in an intelligent manner.

I believe the Members on this side recognize and accept their responsibility, but we shall determine the extent of our responsibility based on an intelligent report from the Joint State Government Commission.

In Resolution 107, Article 3, we refer specifically to the investigation which should be made into the existing university centers.

I would like to point out that our great land grant institution, the Pennsylvania State University, has now in operation 12 undergraduate centers, spread throughout the state, Hazleton, Pottsville, York, Allentown, Erie, and so forth, and at these centers we have over 14,000 undergraduate students. We have 1,200 students preparing for associate degrees, two-year degrees. We have 1,500 students preparing in their first and second year in the baccalaureate program and we have 12,000 part-time students in higher education. This is a system that is now in operation. It is a working system now in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

My thought in this resolution is to have this system thoroughly explored and investigated with the intent that it may be applied on a cooperative basis with the private institutions as well. This system we have in operation through the Pennsylvania State University is being paid for by all the people of Pennsylvania.

The system of junior colleges proposed by the Governor would, of course, be paid for on the local level by the school authorities, which I say are, at the moment unable to bear the cost.

So I submit that a report and an intelligent survey, as we ask for in this Resolution, will go a long way toward solving our problems for junior colleges in Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. Does the gentleman believe the situation at the present time with reference to schools of higher learning is not a serious one?

Mr. JOHNSON. Is the gentleman referring to the institutions of higher learning?

Mr. SHERMAN. That is right.

Mr. JOHNSON. Does the question pertain to secondary and primary education or higher education?

Mr. SHERMAN. It refers mainly to colleges and universities.

Mr. JOHNSON. In answer to the gentleman, I have talked to several college presidents who were in town the other day. They feel the present system of State Teachers' Colleges, institutions, that is, our universities, and our present liberal arts colleges, together with the centers, together with the business schools which are operating in the state, can adequately take care of the need of the students who should go to college during the next four years. After that there will be a problem in higher education, but they claim that right now they can handle all the students who apply that are of college timber and should go to college.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that the entrance requirements of students from high schools have been advanced to such an extent within the past few years that our schools of higher learning are now requiring examinations and restricting admissions, which they did not do two years ago?

Mr. JOHNSON. No. In answer to the question, I have some other figures here which I should have given, which are very interesting. While I pointed out that there are only graduating from high school now some 80,000 students a year compared to 100,000 in the 30's, there were 70,000 institutions of higher learning in the state in the 30's, 70,000 despite the fact that we were graduating almost a third more students than we are today.

However, today because of the tremendous industrial progress and wealth and the high earning level, there are 115,000 students in Pennsylvania schools, or a jump of from 70,000 in the 30's to 115,000 today. That means at the present time those who are brilliant students are in college, those who are average are in college those who are down in the lower two-fifths, some of them are in college. It is true that the person who is in the lower one-fifth of his high school graduating class has a little trouble getting into college today. They do give them an aptitude test to find out whether they are college timber, rather than waste the time of the college and have that person flunk out at the end of the first semester. Pretty generally they do not get in. I believe that is true.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, instead of your long speeches with reference to what existed during our depression years of 1931 and 1932, what I am interested in is what is going to happen and what has happened to the war babies of 1941. I would appreciate your concentrating on those in your reply. Therefore, have you made a study of the possible entrance of our students into our colleges and universities within the past five years?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Sherman, the war babies are about 15 or 16 years old, they are still in high school. I have a daughter who has applied to go to college this fall. She is a senior in high school. She has taken the Princeton test which is given to all high school graduates throughout the nation. She happens to be in the upper half of her class and I believe she has not had any difficulty passing the examinations. From my discussions with my daughter I do not believe the examination she took was any more difficult than the examination I took when I went to college a few years ago.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, have you inquired of those institutions and commissions who have actually made a study of conditions as they existed for the past five or ten years, or, say, the Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia?

Mr. JOHNSON. The Governor's report on higher education, which was given to each Member, said the increase in enrollment in colleges will only be one-half of one percent a year for the next five years.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, but do—

Mr. JOHNSON. I am going to answer your question. You want to know whether entrance requirements are more difficult today and have been raised within the last five years. With my personal knowledge of it, I would say they have not been raised. We are taking twice as many students into college today than we did in 1930. I would say every child today gets a square deal in entrance exams regardless of race, color or creed.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I did not ask for a political speech in reply to my question. I thought Mr. Johnson did not understand my question. If he does not, I would appreciate his asking me to repeat it.

I asked whether any inquiry has been made by you of any associations, commissions, or authorities, who have actually made a study of conditions within the past five or ten years, mentioning specifically, the Fellowship Commission in Philadelphia? Whether you have those results, whether you based your reasoning on those results, or whether it is based on reasoning within the past month?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, I have not received the report. I have only read the Governor's report on higher education.

Mr. SHERMAN. Therefore, only on the basis of the Governor's report on higher education you have come to the conclusions in the speech you have made today, is that right?

Mr. JOHNSON. No. What I have said today is based upon a study of that report, it is based on my personal knowledge of pretty close contact with schools and colleges since I have been here in this Legislature attending meetings of the Appropriations Committee when the college presidents have come in, my experience with my own family, with reports of the Chamber of Commerce and the Governor's Commission on Higher Education and my personal knowledge generally. My knowledge of the fact that we have, although we have fewer high school graduates today by almost a third, approximately double the number in college today.

Mr. SHERMAN. Does the gentleman have any figures, Mr. Speaker, showing the difference in those trying to get into college three years ago and those today?

Mr. JOHNSON. Three years ago the enrollment in college was 96,900 in 1953, it jumped in 1954 to 101,000, and today there is 115,000 in our state schools, a good share of whom, however, are from out of the state.

I was going to talk about overlapping applications, but you did not ask me that question.

Mr. SHERMAN. We are all familiar with overlapping applications, Mr. Johnson, but that is not the problem. I noticed from your statement, that there is an increase of at least 20,000 within the past three years? Am I correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is right, and I said the universities can for the next four years handle the students that want to come in who are of college timber.

Mr. SHERMAN. What additional universities, if you do know, have been provided to take care of steady increased enrollment anywhere from 10,000 to 15,000 a year?

Mr. JOHNSON. The enrollment at Pennsylvania State University at State College in the last five years has jumped from 7,000 or 8,000 students to 18,000 or 19,000. I believe Mr. Breon pointed that out. The State Teachers' Colleges have expanded. We have built new buildings for them. We have built new dormitories. Down here at Dickinson they are expanding, they are building new dormitories. As I say, we have 115 institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania, greater than any other state, and everyone of them is expanding. As I said, they will be able to take care of the situation for the next four years, based on my conversations with college presidents in town here the other day.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with this Resolution, would it not be true that nothing whatsoever could be done for at least two or three years from now?

Mr. JOHNSON. The present institutions of higher learning in this state, each and every one of them, are expanding. They are building new dormitories. As I said, we are expanding our State Teachers' Colleges, we are building new science buildings, new dormitories and administration buildings all over the state. We have not scratched the surface on the extension of the college center idea. We had a college center in my county and Penn State had to take it out because of a lack of interest, there were not enough students going to it. Why? Because they were being taken care of at the State University or at other college centers.

Mr. SHERMAN. Does the gentleman realize, Mr. Speaker—from my reading of the Governor's report, a brief reading only—that the basis of a scholarship is not only based on ability, but based on both need and ability?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, the scholarship bill that is presently in committee is based entirely on a competitive examination. It is not based on need.

Mr. SHERMAN. Does it not also provide for an interview after examination?

Mr. JOHNSON. The bill says, "which scholarships shall be awarded on the basis of competitive examinations held at a time and place and on subjects determined by the State Council of Higher Education." It says nothing about giving free scholarships to poor children in any of the Governor's bills. If you can point it out to me, I will be the first to admit I am wrong.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that nothing whatsoever has been done by you or your party within the past five months of this session to see that a Resolution of this type was introduced in January, so we can have some report before the close of this session?

Mr. JOHNSON. In answer to the gentleman, since we came here this session, the question of higher education has been before us. We have had the Governor's report of his commission in February, which did not spread any alarm of a presently frightening situation. We have had, as I said, the matter before of the General State Authority of whether we should expand our State Teachers' Colleges to a maximum of 2,500 students each. There has been under consideration how much money we would give to Pennsylvania State University and our other state-aided schools. The General State Authority is just completing buildings at Penn State. Whether we had a resolution then or now, I cannot see that it makes much difference.

Mr. SHERMAN. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is willing to take the responsibility for the statement that there is no over-crowding of our colleges and that there are sufficient facilities to take care of those children who desire learning in our higher schools?

Mr. JOHNSON. In answer to your question, I am reading on page 13, of the Governor's report, and it says, "statistically the size of the college age population in Pennsylvania will begin to show significant increase from 1960 on." My point today was, sure we are going to have a large population that wants to go to college, but I say it should be thoroughly studied before we put on a soft drink tax and put on the people of this state a system of junior colleges paid for on the local level when we cannot even do a good job today on primary and secondary education.

Mr. SHERMAN. The gentleman feels, Mr. Speaker, that it is more important to adjourn sine die than to take care of this problem now?

Mr. JOHNSON. I say, Mr. Speaker, that there is no problem at the present time, in the words of the presidents of the great universities of this state.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I have an opportunity to interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, can we assume at this point that in the 1957 session the administration package dealing with higher education, including the tax measure to pay for it, will not be released from committee for action on the floor of this House?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say, Mr. McCann, that the present thinking of the majority party is, yes, we would rather have a thorough study of this matter by the research arm of the Legislature with some very fine recommendations, so that next session we can go at the problem, if there is such a tremendous problem as the Governor says there is. Our answer to the scholarship program is this study, that is correct.

Mr. McCann. Mr. Speaker, then I can assume that the answer would be "no." A further question would be: This same package was introduced in the Senate, except for the tax measure, and should by some chance of fate that package come to this House, it would then be received in the same manner because the bills are identical? Would that be correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. JOHNSON. Unless there is a change in the thinking on the majority side, that would be true. Unless there is a change before adjournment sine die, that would be true.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, one further question: If we assume this position is a firm position regarding the higher education program as it has been presented, we can then assume that neither package will have any favorable action in the House of Representatives during the 1957 session since we have somewhat agreed temporarily on the sine die date?

Mr. JOHNSON. To repeat, that is the present thinking of the majority, we would prefer to have the Joint State Government Commission study this rather than put a system of junior colleges on the people, superimposed on top of our very splendid, presently existing fine institutions of higher learning, which could expand and do the job, we feel, if an impartial study should show that.

Mr. McCann. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, very kindly.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have discussed this situation for quite a number of years in an effort to find a solution to the supposed number of students who will come into higher education.

As Mr. Johnson has pointed out here this morning, his statistics regarding the number of students are in complete agreement with the reports we have in front of us.

There is no question that there are some parts of the gentleman's statement which we cannot quite concur in at this stage. For example, the statement dealing with poor children, that this program is not for poor children, what would lead you or anyone else to believe that poor children when they have an opportunity to take competitive exams cannot qualify the same as the rich children? All it needs is the opportunity to take the exam to have the opening to go to college. We feel this, in turn, gives that child, the same as your child and any child, an equal opportunity in higher education.

The loans to students is an item which we have discussed for many years. Really, in Pennsylvania we have actually loaned money to students indirectly from the day that we started the 14 State Teachers' Colleges of Pennsylvania for we, in turn, have subsidized the program to the full extent of the taxpayers' money. As we have argued year after year, we have not received full return from those students in whom we have invested state capital each year. That really was our fault for not providing the proper opportunities after they graduated.

But that is an indirect loan, and this particular piece of legislation on loans to students is, of course, of important value to students who would attend other types of universities or schools of higher education.

As we sit back and think this morning, we find ourselves in this particular position, that we have no other choice except to act upon Resolution 107 which is before us now in the House. It has been rather clearly defined that the administration package dealing with higher education would not be released to the floor of this House, that if the package from the Senate came over, which are the identical bills except for the tax measure, it would be considered in the same light. Therefore, we have no choice except to state our position clearly on Resolution 107, which has been covered here this morning.

Perhaps we do not think far enough ahead. Perhaps this program has somewhat disturbed the Majority Floor Leader and his party, because even though there be many who would say it is a socialistic state view, there is always a question in years to come of what may be socialistic or a socialistic state view, by reason of the fact that the ideas which you incorporate in your party today were certainly branded by the same name 20 years ago, and you and I accept them today as part of our society and part of the law under which we operate.

The next phase we would like to state on this Resolution is that we actually feel on this side of the House, and as a party as a whole in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the report which you desire is certainly, and will be, beneficial to the thinking of the Members of the House and the Senate in making their decision. But certainly it will also delay, for at least three years, the adoption of whatever program the report will recommend on the date it is given to this House or to the Senate.

Let us think for a moment why this problem has become acute, and acute it is regardless of what you or I may think

There is no question as to the population trend of the youngsters in Pennsylvania, and basically in the nation, that during the depression years, as you are well aware, the production of children dropped to a low level.

After World War II, as the boys came back from service and were taking up homes all over this state of ours, there was certainly a greater number of children and an increased birth rate in Pennsylvania. Those are the children we start this cycle with.

We start it from 1945, and we start to work the cycles steady. If you will follow the report you have in front of you, you will notice the increased population in elementary schools and you will notice when the cycle begins. It starts to increase steadily in 1950 and 1951, and continues to increase in numbers each year.

As Mr. Johnson stated, we will reach the 2 million enrollment that we had in 1933. At that time we had approximately 2,030,000 in our public school system. We will again reach that enrollment in a couple of years in 1961 to 1965, true, the figures will continue to increase, assuming that the youngsters who are in elementary schools will come on through the secondary education system and be ready for the higher education we are talking about here this morning.

These are the youngsters we are talking about today. If we delay for two more years this report, and we can assume the report will be rendered and we can assume the report will receive legislative action in this House and the Senate, whatever plan they adopt at that time would certainly first become effective at the earliest date in 1960, or perhaps a year later.

Mr. WOOD IN THE CHAIR

Any plan attempted would certainly have to begin on a smaller scale and expand through the years, the same as the higher education program.

This higher education program is based on a four year plan, as you can read, starting each year after the adoption of these laws and moving steadily in the direction of 50,000 aided scholarships in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

If we think carefully, and we certainly must, we have more youngsters today who are applying for higher education. We certainly have every right to believe our universities will handle some additional students because they have an expansion program, and we certainly know our 14 State Teachers' Colleges in Pennsylvania at the present time have in their higher education program a combined plan dealing with enlarging those schools to approximately 2,500 to 3,000 students, should they ever receive the necessary money from the Commonwealth to make such an enlargement.

Each year they do a part of that enlargement program, but they can only do as much as we give them the right to do financially. As you noticed here a week or so ago in the rotunda of this State Capitol, each of the fourteen State Teachers' Colleges has a complete outline of their proposed plans, if you and I are able to give them the money to carry through the plans.

On this item about taxation for higher education, perhaps Mr. Johnson misstated the record for a moment. I was not a Member of this House, but I feel confident that history, and from talk I have heard around the Hill in Harrisburg, would certainly lead me to believe there were a certain number of Democrats who brought the bill through when the chips were down to impose the soda tax, for the party in power could not produce the votes on that given day.

So actually it was the combined effort of the two parties and should not be classified as an item which carries one particular party label. Many of us may not temporarily agree with the source of revenue needed for higher education. We may not agree as far as the source from which the money should come because many of us have been committed publicly to certain taxes to pay items other than education which will be voted upon by the people of Pennsylvania in the fall election. I refer to the referendum dealing with the Korean bonus. It is not a question, actually, of finances at this given point, for we have not debated or made our position clear either in the Republican or Democratic party as to the taxation, the source of revenue, to pay for this program.

The item which is being discussed deals entirely with the need for the program, the survey that should be completed and the report that should be given to this House.

We, in turn, as Members of the Democratic party in the House have but one alternative today, we can support the Resolution and vote in favor of it this morning because we have been assured that in the present session prior sine die, unless there is a clear-cut change in the thinking, there will be no chance to vote for the administration package for higher education.

As a personal matter, I would have enjoyed the opportunity to speak and vote for the higher education program, to be able to debate to the Members of the House the full needs of each of the bills, but I have only a second choice this morning. That second choice in my opinion is not as good as the one I would like to vote for.

It certainly is a delay in the program, but I am hopeful that as time proceeds we will come to the same thinking only a few years later and achieve the same results we are trying to do under this particular piece of legislation.

The last item I would like to mention deals particularly with our Pennsylvania State University. I think this particular school has set an outstanding example for us in Pennsylvania in establishing the centers in the various parts of the state for students who have the opportunity to attend these centers.

Perhaps it will be an expansion of this program which will eventually become the higher education program. But if it should be decided that we follow that pattern, then again we are not solving the entire problem. We can establish as many centers as we desire, we can place these centers in each county in Pennsylvania, and that would give us approximately 60 centers other than the main University in Centre County in Pennsylvania. If we do that and work this program up to that point, we still have not completed the one part of higher education which you and I feel should be done and accomplished as soon as possible, and that point is that we must provide new facilities in addition to the buildings now in existence in Pennsylvania which the taxpayers have paid for. Under the junior college plan we would be using wherever possible the existing building, or buildings, located in that area.

Let us take your own particular county. Perhaps there would be a building in that county which could be used for the junior college plan. Again it would be a saving of taxpayers' money to be able to use the facilities of existing capital outlay which are there paid for, or being paid for, by the taxpayers of Pennsylvania. That in my opinion is sound capital investment because you are re-using something you have already paid for or are paying for.

If that program could be expanded in the field and we were to make use of some of our better high schools in Pennsylvania for the junior college plan, can you think for a moment of the great number of buildings which could be used? In addition to being able to use that building perhaps 12 months out of a year, many people in Pennsylvania as a sound business proposition tell us today that that is the largest investment we have in each community and we use it the least number of days as far as getting a capital return from what we have invested in the building.

If we follow that pattern and work in that field, which this particular package would certainly permit us to do by creating the Council of Higher Education, we feel confident that such a program would tend to place all the children in Pennsylvania in a position to receive higher education.

So today as we proceed to vote on Resolution 107, we on this side of the House who believe in higher education, have no choice but to say to you and to say for the record and to the public of Pennsylvania, we don't like what we are getting, but we have no other choice.

Therefore, I personally will vote for the Resilution with the hope that the report will be here as soon as possible and we will have an opportunity to vote on a higher education program.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I had some remarks which I was going to make this morning in connection with this problem. In view of what has been said, I think I will alter my remarks somewhat and perhaps answer in some measure, what the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, has just said.

In the first place, as to his most recent remark about the use of existing high school and other school facilities throughout the Commonwealth for either centers or junior colleges in connection with an educational program, in my own personal opinion I know of no legal inhibition at the present time to the use of those buildings for such purposes under proper supervision and with proper cooperation between the various school districts and the colleges and universities of this Commonwealth.

The fact that they do not vote for the bill in this particular package, which has to do with the construction of facilities, and so forth, would not seem to me to prevent us from taking advantage of those buildings in the event the need arose to use them for college centers.

I would also like to refer back to one other remark which was made as to the scholarships being awarded on the basis of merit. That problem is one of the cornerstones of this particular program. In the report by the Governor's Commission it is very definitely and specifically stated that these scholarships will be awarded on the basis of a competitive examination and on the basis of merit.

I would like to point out, first that the awarding of those scholarships on the basis of merit will not in any way enable colleges and universities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to accommodate any more students. In other words, the brighter children who are able to pass those examinations will go to college. Presumably, having proper educational background, they would have been able to go in any event.

Also on the question of merit, I would like to point out to the gentleman that this is a broad decision which was made by the Governor's Commission and it seems to me, in my own humble opinion, it is a very serious and challenging thing. I certainly feel that that decision by the professors should be reviewed by the Legislators, because we, the Members of the General Assembly, in our own judgment may decide that these scholarships should be awarded on some basis other than that of merit alone. If we did that, we would then be able to direct this money to aid the people who most need it, the ones who have the merit and also have the financial need. In my opinion, that is the way this program should be run and should be carried forward. The Governor's program does not do that.

I would also point out to the gentleman another problem that arises in connection with awarding these scholarships on the basis of merit alone, and that is that the award on that basis presupposes that the level of instruction in every school district in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the same. I submit to the Members of the House that that is not true. We all are familiar with the problems of many school districts. The salary schedules are different in many of them and I think it goes without saying that the level of instruction is not the same. Some districts are overcrowded, some districts have proper sized classes, but the important point is this, that until we are able through our program here and the local programs back through the school districts to make the level of instruction equal throughout the entire Commonwealth, a program awarding scholarships on the basis of merit will not really and truly mean equal opportunity to all for post-secondary education.

I would like to say one further word in connection with this program. I think His Excellency, the Governor, has perhaps moved too rapidly in connection with this matter and he has done a bad disservice to the cause which he espoused. By that I mean he has wilfully and ruthlessly plunged this entire program into the field of partisan politics and he has distorted figures with a view to creating wide-spread public agitation about this program.

In Philadelphia last week the Philadelphia Inquirer carried a headline, "Colleges to Bar Two-Thirds of Applicants Here." The news article went on to detail a speech which His Excellency made to the $100 a plate Democratic dinner in Philadelphia. In the course of that speech he pointed out all these figures in connection with 5,000 applications for admission and only 1,500 students admitted. He went down college by college throughout the Commonwealth showing the figures of applications and the number of admissions.

Everybody in the Hall of this House, I am sure, is familiar with the situation which has arisen since the war in which a student as he approaches graduation from high school files an application with two, three or even four institutions, and as a result of that we have this tremendous inflation of these figures on applications.

I am advised, and reliably advised, that at the present time the colleges and universities in my own area are accepting all qualified applicants. They are also accepting students from outside of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I think the report by the Governor's Commission is a very interesting one, but, we should all remember the fact that while the gentlemen on this Commission have done important spade work, they have only scratched the surface of this problem.

I do not feel this General Assembly can take effective, enlightened legislative action without an intensive study as to all the alternatives in connection with this problem, so that when we do legislate in this field we can come up with a workable, sensible program to meet the need which will be present in the next few years.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, first of all, I would like to concur in every word Mr. A. M. Lee of Philadelphia has stated.

Secondly, I think we are putting the cart before the horse, that we had better first of all think of the elementary and high schools and our teachers back home before we think of higher education.

Furthermore, from the words of Mr. A. M. Lee, I think he is too much of a gentleman to state so, but I agree with him and I think this whole program is a phoney program and it is as phoney as a $3.00 bill.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I just rise to inform Mr. A. M. Lee that the Governor's remarks were made at a $25 dinner and not a $100 dinner, as he stated. I think the inflation has probably hit him. I was afraid for a while he might have had it confused with the $100 a ticket circus at Hershey.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, just in reply to Mr. Silverman, I think the reason for my ignorance as to the price is obvious, I did not buy a ticket.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. A. M. Lee, maintained the dignity which is preferable when the Members of this Assembly do their speaking, rather than the manner which is used by my associate here from Pittsburgh, in regard to the courageous and real inspiring leadership of Governor Leader in connection with this educational program.

Actually the majority party has just jumped on the bandwagon which was started by Governor Leader in a matter which really should have received the attention of this Assembly when I first came here in the 1951 session.

I live in a district which has twice as many people as the district from which Representative A. M. Lee comes. We have 82,000 people, a very large residential area. We literally have thousands of students who are constantly seeking admission into the various colleges in the area.

I know from my own personal experience in the last six years, and this is my seventh year in the House, I have had any number of applications for admission which have caused a problem because the colleges cannot really cope with the situation. Even in the Philadelphia area, despite the size of Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania, it is necessary for members of our community to approach Members of the House and Senate to cope with the admission problem and we must go to directors of development and ask them to admit these students, because they do not have the facilities, they do not have the staff, they do not have the teachers. They just do not have the facilities to take care of the vast number of people who want to go to college.

The Majority Leader himself called it to your attention when he said that the difference between those who graduated from high school in 1930 and those who graduated in 1941 is only a 17 percent reduction, whereas the increase in the number of children who go to college is over 60 percent. So you can readily see it is an impossible situation, and it took the Governor to point it out, and now the majority party jumps on the bandwagon with some watered-down issue of the same problem.

Naturally we are going to vote for it, because anything is better than nothing. Even if we get it through in 1960, it is better than not getting it through at all. But the situation is absolutely acute today.

I feel if you are as courageous as the Governor, you will bring those bills out and give us a chance to vote for them in this session.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, without laboring the point,

I would like simply to remind the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, that the scholarship program itself is not going to add one brick or one dab of mortar to the physical facilities of the institutions of higher learning in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

As I pointed out previously, if the need is really there for additional facilities, I do not believe there is any legal inhibition against the colleges and universities, through cooperation with the local school districts, using the present secondary and even primary education facilities for the purpose of college centers.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like very briefly to come to the defense, although he needs normally no defense, of my good friend and colleague, Representative Vaughan, and point out to the House that in this particular instance my good friend, Mr. Vaughan, while not a Member of the Bar, I believe shows a greater knowledge of the Constitution than does the learned gentleman and lawyer from Philadelphia.

It is apparent to everyone here, I believe, that tax bills in this Commonwealth originate in this House. They do not originate in the other body of this Legislature, nor in any body of the Congress of the United States, and I refer to the Senate of the United States and to candidates for the Senate of the United States.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to approach the issue before us objectively rather than endeavoring to debate a program which is not before us.

I believe the majority party is taking the position that there is no dire need for the program at the present time. We on this side disagree with that position.

We on this side of the House feel there is an absolute need for this program at the present time. We are willing to sit here and take the package of bills, or any other package dealing with this particular problem, and go to work on it, if need be, another 30 days, another 60 or another 90 days, to decide what would be the best approach to this program and the thinking of the Members of this legislative body.

Too many times when one tries to set up a set of figures, or a graph, or a diagram, upon a particular issue, those figures are pointedly directed toward making his side look good. Certainly we could use figures to make our side of the argument look good.

We need only to refer to what we see in our own home communities, the desire of many secondary graduates to enter schools of higher learning and not being able to get entrance. We, too, on this side want to say we believe that with the high cost of education there is much merit to the plan of providing 5,000 and eventually 20,000 scholarships from a revolving fund.

We, too, want to say that too many times, and I am speaking specifically of this Resolution, have passed the problem by referring it to a commission for study and then it becomes lost. Let me state to you specifically that hundreds upon hundreds of studies have been made. Yes, a few of them have materialized to where we have acted upon them and passed some legislation.

Just in the past interim there was a Joint State Government Commission study made in reference to a bill co-sponsored by a Member from each side of this House, namely, House Bill 1013, setting standards and specifications, and how we could effect a good program to save money for this Commonwealth.

Such a study was made and certain findings were arrived at. The bills are in the House. Have they come forth? Have we solved the problem? Let's not put this thing aside. This may be another position taken of setting aside a problem because of resistance from people who are not interested in trying to do the proper thing for the long term.

We have waited too long up until today. Certainly, if we wait two years longer, it will again be a case of too little too late. Recognize this problem. The Governor recognized it. The President of the United States recognized it, he has said so on many occasions.

We find ourselves behind the competitive nations in this world in the training of technicians. It is a known fact, the U. S. Department of Labor statistics have that information.

I know that we on this side want to give this time and study. We are willing to stay here two additional months, if necessary, but we should do it now. We should solve the problem that is upon us and will continually mount. We find that that is exactly what occurred with our primary and secondary educational program, we got started at such a late stage that today it seems to mount on us to such proportions in financial consideration that we want to build up a resistance to it. We still have not solved that.

So before the higher education problem gets out of hand, let us not delay. Sure, we will vote for the Resolution because as my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, has stated, this is better than nothing. Maybe we will get something two years from now. Rather than that, I implore the majority party in this House, let's stay here another three months. Let's study this thing out now. Let's get on the ball as far as higher education is concerned for the people of this Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR

Mr. BUCHANAN. Mr. Speaker, I represent the district which contains Indiana State Teachers' College, the largest State Teachers' College in Pennsylvania.

I believe public opinion has not been formed on this question. You recall four years ago the Governor appointed a committee and this committee recommended that we discontinue one-half of our State Teachers' Colleges. Public opinion did not support this recommendation.

The Governor has now recommended a new school system in Pennsylvania, the junior college. I do not believe that public opinion is supporting this program, at least, at this time.

I have two questions which I would like to ask and I do not believe anyone in this chamber has the answers to these questions.

No. 1: Do we have the qualified, and I say qualified, teachers to staff a junior college system? There is no use of buying textbooks, constructing new buildings, or using the facilities which we have now, if we do not have the qualified personnel.

The second question is: How many counties do not now have a college? Very few counties do not now have a college. The ones which do not have a college are located in the sparsely settled sections of Pennsylvania. If they have high school graduates who desire to go to college, I am sure an institution in Pennsylvania will establish a center in that area.

Indiana State Teachers' College is planning to admit several hundred more students next year. My church is expanding its college facilities in Pennsylvania.

I believe this problem definitely needs more study, so I am going to vote for the Resolution.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank you for the courtesy of recognizing me this late in this debate.

I am going to make just a brief statement, Mr. Speaker, because I think that the majority party has, by the speakers on the other side, been placed in a position which is unwarranted. They apparently have the idea that the majority party got on this junior college scholarship plan as a Johnny-come-lately.

I want to refute that. In January of this session I received from certain learned members of education in the state of Pennsylvania a review of the junior college program. I studied it very carefully. It is somewhat similar in nature to the bills which the Governor has been espousing all over the state.

I have talked formally and informally with members on this side of the House. In our consideration and deliberations we felt it were better to handle this entire problem by Resolution No. 107, since the matter requires judicious and considerable study.

It is not, therefore, a fact that we have gotten on to a situation which the Governor is presently making an issue of throughout the State, but one to which we have given early in the session careful consideration and which we believe requires that type of consideration for it to be brought to a successful end.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, whether Resolution 107 is politically inspired, I do not know.

There are some who might take the view that it has been politically inspired, there are some who might take the view that the Governor has raised a question which is of vital importance. He raised it first. The majority party recognizes that it might be of vital importance and so we have Resolution 107, a substitute.

Now a substitute has been defined as an imitation of the real thing. This, in my opinion, is an imitation of the real thing, the real thing being the program itself and getting it started.

It would seem to me that the chief difference between the majority and the minority at this point is not that there is a social problem existing, but the chief difference between the parties at this particular moment is as to the urgency of that particular problem. We, on this side of the House are of the opinion that we should go about our business now, that we should proceed to tackle the problem immediately, and apparently the position on the other side of the House is that we should move more slowly, that we do not face an immediate problem and that we have a lot of time to do it.

As I say, our position is that the problem is one of immediate consideration, one that should be considered now and not delayed. I believe His Excellency, the Governor, while he may not see his program enacted into law, has at least accomplished one thing which will be of great benefit to the future generations of Pennsylvania. He has made the majority side of this House conscious of the fact that something will have to be done to aid the program of higher education.

I regret from the minority point of view that we cannot proceed with our business of aiding this higher education program immediately, but since we cannot, since the prerogative at the present lies with the majority, I believe we on this side should support the Resolution a substitute, as I say, of the real thing. We think it will not accomplish much, but at least it will keep the problem before the public so that in future sessions of the Legislature something surely will be done.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 122 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate Resolution Serial No. 122 on page 28 of today's calendar, be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being Senate Resolution Serial No. 122.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 122

In the Senate, May 1, 1957

The highway system of the Commonwealth is of the utmost importance to the general public due to its constant use and great cost.

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has been the center of much controversy in regard to its operation and methods of administering the State Highway System.

It is of the utmost importance to the public that an impartial and factual study be made of the Highway Department, and that the facts secured by such study be made available to the public; therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Automotive Safety Foundation is hereby requested to make a study of the Pennsylvania Highway System and the Pennsylvania Department of Highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the report of the findings made by such study be published for the information of the general public and the General Assembly of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to take any necessary action to concur in the request made by this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Automotive Safety Foundation, and that the expenses of said investigation be paid out of the Motor License Fund.

On he question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the Resolution which we are acting upon now is Senate Resolution, Serial No. 122. I notice many of the Members are wondering where or how they can look at the Resolution to know what it is about. I would like to suggest to the Members who are interested in looking at the Resolution—it is not too long—that it can be found on page 192 of the Senate History.

At this point, Mr. Speaker, I might say I would ask the Members on this side of the House to support the Resolution. I do not believe there will be any debate on this particular Resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 644, Printer's No. 487

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 800, Printer's No. 489, and

House Bill No. 1220, Printer's No. 570

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 423, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 216) entitled "The Dental Law" regulating the use of dental technician services by dentists imposing duties on dentists and dental technicians and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Majority Leader a question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to know what happens if out-of-state work is received by a local man on a general prescription, and then the state inspectors come around and say, we don't have a prescription number, it doesn't meet our requirements. Does this bill do anything to prevent that situation?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe Dr. Whittaker was handling this measure for us, so may I yield to the gentleman from Lycoming, Dr. Whittaker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson yields to the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Whittaker.

Mr. WHITTAKER. Mr. Speaker, to take care of that across-the-state business, we amend out the word "Pennsylvania." The man's number on the prescription will be on his state license. If it is a Jersey license, he has a number on that and he will put his Jersey license number on the prescription.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Do all those states require the license number to be on the prescription?

Mr. WHITTAKER. Thirty-seven states now have this bill.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Yes, but suppose it comes from a state where the license number is not required and a Pennsylvania inspector comes in, what happens?

Mr. WHITTAKER. A Pennsylvania laboratory cannot accept it without a number. It has to have an identification number.

Mr. SILVERMAN. I thank the gentleman. I think it is a good bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1195, Printer's No. 466

House Bill No. 1202, Printer's No. 569

House Bill No. 1212, Printer's No. 378 and

House Bill No. 1219, Printer's No. 453

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1252, entitled:

An Act amending "The Borough Code" of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519) providing for the treasurer and secretary of borough council to be appointed instead of elected and providing for the term of office of certain appointed officers and employees including the street commissioner and the borough solicitor to be determined by the council.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, for more than 25 years as a borough solicitor for a number of boroughs I have had no trouble living with the law as it presently exists. I am very frank to say that I probably would have no trouble living with House Bill 1252, neither would the boroughs and the boroughs' official families.

However, I think it is a move in the wrong direction for the reason that the Borough Code now, in Section 101, provides that the borough council shall organize at 8:00 o'clock, and so on, each even numbered year by electing a president, treasurer and secretary. This present bill eliminates the election of a secretary and treasurer in the organization meeting of council.

It is my opinion that that is the proper time for a treasurer and a secretary to be elected and I believe the law should make it mandatory upon council to so do.

If we eliminate these two particular offices from the organization meeting, it is conceivable under the Borough Code that the borough can then continue to operate for a period of time over a controversy as to who should be one or both of these officers and for some time you will have no one being in the official position of secretary or treasurer.

I believe the law as it exists today is as it should be and, while as I say we would have no trouble living with it if it were changed, because I believe most boroughs would appoint a treasurer and a secretary, I do not believe it is wise to make the change and leave these two offices hanging in the air, allowing appointments to be made at any time that the council may see fit.

There is another amendment called for in this bill and that is another section which provides that the council can by motion, ordinance or resolution appoint—and at this point we are adding a treasurer and a secretary. In other words, we are moving it from one place and putting it in another place. Then it goes on to say that all officers and employees appointed by council, with the exception of those under the provisions of this or any other act, or under civil service, or having a definite term of office, shall serve for an indefinite term at the pleasure of the council.

That seems like it might be a good idea, but it has actually been the law ever since we adopted our Pennsylvania State Constitution. Our constitution provides under Article VI, Section 4, that appointed officers other than judges of a court of record and the superintendent of public instruction may be removed at the pleasure of the power by which they shall have been appointed.

There are cases decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and several in other courts of Pennsylvania stating that the president of council, who was in this previous section here amended, is an appointive office even though the reorganization section says he shall be elected. All these offices, it has been decided by the court, are appointive offices and serve at the pleasure of the appointing body and can be removed at any time.

So it would seem that this last amendment really has no effect whatsoever. It changes the law in no way. Therefore, in my humble opinion, the only real significant change in this bill is that it delays the time at which a secretary or a treasurer of the borough is appointed, or elected, as you might want to call it.

I do not think that is good law. I think we should provide in our borough code that when you organize a borough council you elect a president, you elect a treasurer and you elect a secretary. Since, as I say, under the Constitution they are removable at any time by council, the rest of the bill actually means nothing.

I am opposed to the bill, not because I think it is an onerous bill or something that borough councils cannot live with, but simply because I believe it is a digression from proper procedure.

Mr. BREON. Mr. Speaker, may I first point out that Section 1006 of the Borough Code with which I am sure the gentleman from Cambria is familiar, Article 7, providing and prescribing the duties of council, specifically states that it shall be the duty of council to appoint a secretary and a treasurer.

The other day we passed House Bill 1249 which does for borough managers the same thing that this bill proposes to do for secretaries and treasurers.

There are several good reasons, I believe, why we should pass this bill. First, it is in the interest of uniformity. There is no good reason to single out a few of the appointive borough administrative officers and employees and provide fixed terms, while solicitors, street commissioners, and so forth, have no fixed terms. There is no good reason, in my opinion, to have to appoint every two years secretaries and treasurers.

The person holding these jobs as secretaries, as treasurers and as borough managers to a greater extent are looking towards their work with borough government as a career. This, in effect, would mean that every two years they would not have to be reappointed, but council would have to extend their prerogative and fire them or relieve them from duty. This is often coincident at the time of appointment with a political change in council. So should the political complexion of a council change, council needs no other reason to get rid of secretaries and treasurers than to say, your term is up.

This bill provides a sort of job tenure, and the secretaries would like to have it and the treasurers would like to have it. Also, the Borough Association would like to see the bill passed.

Mr. DAVIS IN THE CHAIR

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if this bill were to give treasurers and secretaries some sort of tenure, I could possibly follow the gentleman's reasoning. But he has called to the attention of this body that the one section of the Code, 1006, Section 7, specifically gives the right to appoint and remove a secretary and a treasurer. It says not only to appoint, but also to remove.

I am not so naive as to believe that simply because we say they do not elect them every two years a council which has changed political complexion is not going to remove somebody they do not want. There is nothing in these amendments which will prohibit the council from removing him, and I am quite certain if they do not want him they will remove him. There is nothing in the law as it stands now, or as it is amended, which will prohibit them from removing him. As a matter of fact, in order to do that you would have to have a constitutional amendment.

The only point I want to make is that the only proper time to elect a secretary or treasurer is at your organization meeting. If we strike that out—it is the only place in the Code which says that you must do it at any particular time—then it is conceivable they might try to operate without any treasurer or without any secretary. Anybody who knows anything about borough business knows that it is very, very important to have a treasurer and a secretary at all times.

Therefore, I am saying we are striking out the very thing which fixes a time when it should be done. I think it makes for orderly business to establish a time when it should be done. The fact that the term is for two years, or three, means absolutely nothing because, as I pointed out, Section 7, referred to by the gentleman, gives them the authority to remove and it is just reaffirming a provision of the Constitution which gives them that right also. So I can see no good reason for it and I think we would be actually making our Borough Code worse, instead of improving it.

In addition to that, there is another section which holds that the office of treasurer and secretary shall not be held by the same person. It is conceivable that the borough manager might be interested in some tenure, and as we have pointed out, we have given some definite relief on that score. He might be the treasurer or he might be the secretary, but since he cannot be both there is at least one place where there should be an appointment made at a particular time.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1260, Printer's No. 457 and

House Bill No. 1262, Printer's No. 458

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1264, entitled:

An Act amending the "State Highway Law" approved June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1242) requiring the department to designate or lay out detours over the shortest available route on existing public highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY, Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to explain to the House the meaning of the word "available" as it has been inserted into this bill.

Mr. STROUP. Our understanding of the use of the word "available" is either a local or township road or a state road which could be used properly and feasibly, and with safety, by the Highway Department for an alternate route as a detour when the original route is being repaired.

Mr. GAILEY. I do not think I am not in sympathy with the purpose of this bill, but I did want to have that point cleared up. Do I understand, then, from you and the sponsors of this bill and the Committee's interpretation of the word "available" is that it is synonymous with "feasible?"

Mr. STROUP. That is right. Feasible and safe travel, passable travel.

Mr. GAILEY. So that the situation where heavy truck traffic may conceivably be diverted through a residential district, merely because that is the shortest route, would not necessarily occur by virtue of this bill?

Mr. STROUP. That is the reason for the word "available," Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker. Under those circumstances I feel this is a good bill and I personally, have no objections to it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:
